

Stand-In

By Don

Our faithful editor, David F. McReynolds, who, as most of you know, is down in sunny Geiverton living it up, promised us faithfully he would send us a set of Mack's Tracks before deadline this week.

He goofed. For over a year now I have had my hair pinned back over that little thing called deadline. And who always slicked my hair back? None other than David T. McReynolds.

I realize it is taking undue advantage of him while he is enjoying his leisure on the white, sandy beaches of one of Texas' favorite playgrounds, but I would just like to say one more thing concerning our beloved editor. The very next time he yells at me about a deadline, I'll jump as always.

But, in all seriousness, I do hope the man is having a grand time and if anyone in the little West Texas town of Friona is deserving, he is.

Since this issue of the Star has gone all out on the baseball season, I should like to add one further note on the sport.

The cover of this month's issue of the VFW magazine carries a message, humorous though the painting is, that we could all heed.

The painting depicts two small boys at home plate, calmly discussing the ball, while two irate mothers are standing behind them, facing the umpire, who has a most perplexed and bewildered look on his face from the chewing he is obviously getting.

To me, there is more than humor in this particular situation. It would do well for all of us to remember the program is for our youngsters; to teach them not only the game, but sportsmanship and physical fitness.

If the adults lose their presence of mind and forget the object of the sport, no one in the whole wide world can blame our youngsters when they also throw temper tantrums and become poor sports. Let's all remember this during the season ahead.

Trying to follow in Mack's true tradition, I have a joke I would like to pass on to you readers, at the risk of incurring the females' wrath.

Seems as though the Mrs. was applying the last of her make-up for the evening of entertainment she and the husband had planned. Knowing her husband had been ready quite some time, she called downstairs.

"I'll be ready in a jiffy, dear."

"Don't hurry, honey," the husband called back, "I have to shave again anyway."

Around our house, there is more truth to that than poetry.

I may be presumptuous as all get out when I write this next vein, but I am going to take the risk anyway.

As most of you who read June Floyd's column will know, the Star will be losing her beginning next week. Although the office is acquiring a woman of high caliber, one who is in the know and is professional as can be, it is to me, and I feel the same holds true for McReynolds, like pulling eye teeth, to see "Our June" leave the old place.

When I first began working for the Star last summer, I

Much Moisture In One Week

During the week of hard downpours, Parmer County received an average of from six to eight inches of moisture, according to reports from farmers in different sections of the county.

Included in the same reports is the fact that the fields can be entered and cultivation begun in earnest, which seems to be the case over the entire county.

Out in the Hub community, Dub Ingram, who farms about five miles south of town, reported approximately three

Squaws To Meet Duggins

Coach Baker Duggins, girl's athletic director of Friona High School, has announced that any girl wishing to participate in the basketball program the coming year can meet with him on Monday, Wednesday and Thursday nights at the high school gym at 8 p. m. until further notice.

The reason for these meetings is to enable a unified program to be carried out. There have been numerous times the past weeks where individuals have called Coach Duggins asking him to open the gym. In this way, he believes, the girls who wish to work-out will not have to do so alone and will not necessitate having to open the gym on so many different occasions during the week.

Duggins is quick to point out, that although Tulsa and Dimmitt are holding work-outs for their girls, the Friona participants do not have to attend. The gym is being open for those that have expressed a desire to work-out and anyone else who is interested may feel free to come on the nights mentioned, either grade school or high school age levels.

inches of rain since June 5. He adds, however, that in the beginning his rain gauge was not put up and that it is highly possible that more rain fell in his area. He reports he is able to get in the fields at the present time.

The Black community received about six inches, according to Tom Lewellen, who is located about five miles east of the city. He too reports that he is able to get in the fields.

Mrs. Ralph W. Shelton, located six miles west on the Clovis highway, reports six to seven inches, with three inches falling in one night. They too, like the rest of the county, are able to cultivate.

Taking care of the vicinity due west of town, Forrest Osborn has reported over eight inches of moisture during the week of hard rains but the fields have dried sufficiently to allow work.

The consensus of the area farmers seems to be that the crops were not damaged to any great degree during this spell of adverse weather and if the sunny, clear skies continue, the harvest will begin in full swing in the very near future.

What with the first load of wheat brought in Monday, it would seem this is being proven.

Funeral Conducted For Mrs. M. Mabry

Shriners Donate Money To PCH

Shriners from the Oasis Shrine Club of Parmer, Deaf Smith and Castro Counties presented the Parmer County Community Hospital with a check for $600 Thursday evening at 8 p. m. The money is to be used toward purchasing a whirlpool machine used in the treatment of athletic injuries and hydrotherapy, which is care of muscular ailments.

This is the second in a series of $600 donations to hospitals in the three-county area. The first donation was made to the Hereford hospital in 1959 and the third and final donation under this particular goal is slated for 1961 and aimed for the Dimmitt hospital.

The money for the Parmer County Hospital was raised from a barrel painting project. Accepting the check for the Parmer County Hospital was G. B. Buske, who is president of the Board of Directors of the Parmer County hospital. Presenting the check was Ross Latham of Hereford, president of the Oasis Shrine Club.

Present during the ceremonies were Latham, Dub Reeves, Pete Braxton, Bob Rule, Sully Gleaton, Bill Hampton, Harry Bennett, Troy Moore, George Stambaugh, Hugh Moseley, J. P. Jones, Dr. M. C. Adams, Granville McFarland, Claude Miller, Sloan H. Osborn, Charley Noland, J. B. Noland, Joe Fallwell, Van E. Nicholas, Blue Turpen, Grady Dodd, A. W. Anthony, Jr., Harry Charles, Carl Schlenker, Aubrey Brock, Grady Looney and H. E. Barnett. Dr. Paul Spring represented the hospital during the ceremonies.

McFarland, Osborn, Buske, Anthony and Schlenker are all members of the hospital's board of directors and H. E. Barnett is the hospital administrator.

HOW ABOUT A PUSH, MISTER?--Don't know why a machine like a Caterpillar would be needing a push but that is exactly what is taking place during a grading process on one of the dirt streets in the city, preparatory to its being paved.

School Will Help In Summer Program

Highlights of a Monday night meeting of the board of directors of Friona Independent School District included appointing a board of equalization and contributing to the city's summer recreation program.

Members of the equalization board, in addition to school board members, are Clyde Goodwine, M. B. Buchanan and Wright Williams. Date for the meeting will be sometime in August.

Since the school sponsors no summer program for youth, members voted to divide $300 in the community services fund of the budget between the Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture sponsored swimming program and the little league ball program offered by the American Legion. Money given to the swimming program was designated for transportation and instruction.

In other routine business Superintendent Alton Farr was appointed authorized representative for lunchroom commodities and Mrs. Mary Mayfield was named his assistant. Farr also gave reports on the transportation, cafeteria and activity funds and the general budget. Tax Assessor-Collector Dan Ethridge also gave a brief report.

Resignation of Mr. and Mrs. Luther J. Hayes was announced. The couple will teach in Floydada. Hayes was a high school teacher and his wife was on the elementary school faculty.

Members present were D. C. Herring, president; Arthur Drake, secretary; and W. M. Massie, Clyde Weatherly, Cordie Potts, and John L. Ray.

First Wheat

N. A. Brown and Sons, who farm northwest of Bootleg on the Harrison highway, brought in the season's first load of wheat to the Friona Wheat Growers elevator Monday at 4:30 p. m.

The wheat weighed in at 56 pounds per bushel and is cutting eight bushels to the acre. This is dry land wheat of the Concho variety and the bushel per acreage is after hail and drought conditions.

The moisture content has been tested at 14 per cent. There have been an additional two loads from the same fields since the initial load was brought in Monday.

GRAND AVENUE--It may well be a fitting name when all the new paving and curbing is completed. The curbing on the west side of the street is completed and bracing for the east side curbing is coming along rapidly.

Expansion, Changes Due At Plains Publishers

Expansion of the building facilities, broadening of the lines of business, and changes in personnel were announced as an immediate prospect for Plains Publishers this week, by W. H. Graham, manager.

Also the personnel switches will spread into the Friona Star, a close-knit business associate of the printing plant, which shares the same building with Plains Publishers.

Construction began today on a 40x50 foot addition to the plant. Contract for the improvement was awarded last week to Carl McCaslin Lumber of Friona. Bill Nunn, manager, says the construction period should last "about six weeks."

The addition will adjoin the existing building on the south. Its main purpose will be to house the web-offset rotary printing press, which will be moved from the old structure.

Newsprint storage for two carloads of paper will be provided in the addition. One of the major problems of Plains Publishers during the past year has been a lack of adequate storage space. As the business has grown, paper rolls have been crowded outside to storage in other buildings nearby. This has presented difficult handling problems, because the rolls, depending on size, weigh from 550 to 950 pounds each.

Also, a portion of the new building will be used for office space.

One phase of the projects improvements has already been completed. That was installation last week of re-ventilation air conditioning for the present building.

"One of our prime concerns in making the changes is to improve working conditions for employees," says Graham. "I think that a comfortable and pleasant working environment is very important."

In addition, partitions are planned to provide isolation from some of the noise-making machinery now closely associated with certain steps of the production which results in less than ideal conditions.

Relief from noise and crowded conditions, plus modern climate control is expected to result in a working atmosphere not often found in communities of this size.

One of the major shifts in the nature of the business which will be effected in conjunction with the addition to the building will be installation of a commercial printing department. Ronny Ferguson, who has been associated with Plains Publishers as camera and pressman, will assume the management of this new department.

When Plains Publishers began operation in the fall of 1958, the management concentrated wholly on publication work. Specialized equipment for that particular work was purchased.

Now, the business seeks to diversify its printing lines, and is adding presses and other equipment necessary to serve the commercial printing needs of the community. It previously had been necessary for Plains Publishers to have commercial printing done out of town for local customers.

"Ronny Ferguson has a solid background in commercial work, and it is with pleasure that we announce the establishment of a new department under him in that field," Graham says.

June Floyd, who has been society editor and "Girl Friday" of The Friona Star since May of 1956, will assume a new role, this time with Plains Publishers. She will do secretarial work for Graham.

Succeeding her at the Star "soc desk" will be Laurie Cooper, who has assisted Graham for more than a year in a supervisory capacity. Miss Cooper is also well trained for her new duties. She is a graduate of Eastern New Mexico University in Portales, holding a bachelor of arts degree with a major in journalism.

Plains Publishers and The Friona Star are partnership businesses of Graham and Joe Osborn. The men purchased The Star from Bert Neeley in the spring of 1956.

The obsolescent plant of the newspaper was disposed of shortly thereafter, and late in 1958 Plains Publishers was created and The Star moved into a new building with the new business.

Plains Publishers has 27 publication printing accounts. In a typical week, from 12 to 17 newspapers will be printed in the plant. From one-quarter to one-half million printed pages are produced each week at Plains Publishers. Customers are from such points as Amarillo, Lubbock, Roswell, Albuquerque and Denver, as well as many smaller communities.

The business pioneered the use of photolithography in newspaper production. Many difficult and technical problems have been encountered and most of them overcome by the persistent efforts of dedicated employees.

"Not many people realize what we have managed to do here in a small West Texas town," points out Graham. "There are still many cities of up to a quarter million population which do not have the productive facilities that we have. Through close co-operation and much hard work we have earned great achievements in the field of the graphic arts. As long as we keep our spirit and determination, I am sure that this is only the beginning."

Plains Publishers and The Friona Star together employ from 20 to 28 persons regularly.

The Poll Tax Has Got To Go

The Texas poll tax is a hangover from Civil War days that is an antiquated remnant of things that no longer exist. It would be a quaint tradition worth preserving for mere historical reasons were it not for the fact that it is frequently a stumbling block to a fundamental American right--the right to vote.

Many names have been given the Texas poll tax, and many arguments have been advanced to preserve it. All have proved to be invalid and have passed away, but the state poll tax, which is little more than a nuisance tax, still holds sway. The idea of licensing voters originated as most licensing programs do; the object was to restrict and control the number and class of people who could cast a ballot. That is still the fundamental premise upon which the poll tax system is built.

Poll tax taking has been used to great advantage by exponents of racial and religious intolerance. This is best shown by the states now still clinging to the medieval principal: Texas, Virginia, Mississippi, Alabama, and Arkansas. The fee is usually small (in Texas $1.75), but even so modest an outlay as this disqualifies many voters in the lower economic brackets. However, the most effective use of the tax is for purposes of intimidation. It just somehow seems more pleasant, or more convenient for certain classes of people to pay their poll taxes. Certain other groups are made to feel very self-conscious whenever they approach the tax collector's booth.

The poll tax in Texas is an historic freak, as the American constitution is concerned. As a revenue-producing government activity, it does not do much better. Receipts from poll taxes fall far short of paying the cost of elections. Furthermore, the cost to administer poll tax programs is enormously disproportionate because of (1) the irregularity of the tax, and (2) its negligible per capita assessment.

The poll tax theory is defenseless insofar as it does not belong here--or anywhere else for that matter. It should be outlawed.

The Timid Soul

A NEW TEENAGE VOGUE

Real cool? That's the way some suburban teenagers feel about "patio parties," according to the American Association of Nurserymen. Small groups of friends in seasonal weather go to one home or another as the spirit moves them and dance on the grass in their bare feet, like to the tune of favorite records. Refreshments are more formally served than in the small fry cook-out and it all appears to be wholesome fun, a welcome change from indoor dancing.

Garden living rooms, terraces and patios serve equally well for serving the refreshments, but the dancing apparently is on the grass.

Parents seem to like patio parties because the teenagers either are at home or at the home of a friend, while the cost is low. Perhaps this started the dancing-on-the-grass innovation in the first place--it stretches teenage allowances.

OUT WHERE THE COUNTRY CAN TEAR A TRUCK TO PIECES--

Chevy middleweights get 1/3 more work done in a day!

Where they used to deliver 2,300 gallons of liquefied petroleum gas in other trucks, Petrolane Gas Service of Long Beach, California, can now deliver 3,500 gallons a day! That's 7 days a week usually, over back trails and up into high rock country with maximum GVW loads. And with Chevy's Torsion-Spring Ride paving every foot of the way! "You don't get any more jolting on washboard roads than you do in a passenger car, or any sidesway on curves," says driver Bernie Stone. "I used to take some rough roads at from 5 to 8 miles an hour. Now I can go 30 over them." Petrolane has over 200 Chevrolets hauling for them.

If you think we're excited about Chevy's independent front suspension, you ought to talk to the truck owners who are profiting by it. They'll tell you Chevy's torsion-spring design is the hottest thing to hit the industry since trucks began. Drive one--that's the proof, short and sweet.

DO YOU MEASURE UP?

Each of us may well begin taking his own measurement to determine whether he is advancing toward "the measure of the stature of the fulness of Christ," by asking himself the following questions:

- Am I big enough to forgive and forget?
- Am I big enough not to be offended?
- Am I big enough to "keep on" when others faint or when others receive the glory?
- Am I big enough to be faithful to my responsibility?
- Am I big enough to speak well of my fellow workers?
- Am I big enough to love all men for Christ's Sake?

HURST'S FRIONA

Baseball --

Hurst was Tommy Shirley, who was knocked out of the box in the first inning, the bank garnering 10 runs during the initial period. Shirley gave up five hits, walked three men and was responsible for 10 runs.

Shirley's relief was Scott Cummings who went the remaining six and one-third innings, striking out 14 men, allowing four hits and giving up only three runs. However, Cummings is on the records as the losing pitcher.

The bank had two double plays during the game. The first was when Brewer caught a fly ball and caught Shirley off third base, throwing to Morris for the out.

The second double play occurred when Brewer once again caught a fly ball, this time catching Hand off base, throwing to Wood for the double play.

The second game of the evening saw the Reeve nine down Hub by a score of nine to five. Winning pitcher for the second game was Joe Aleman and losing pitcher was Teddy Renner.

Aleman gave up three hits, two walks and struck out 15 men. Renner gave up eight hits, five walks and struck out 12 men. Renner downed the first eight men to face him.

There was one double play during the game, this made by Garth of Hub catching a fly ball and throwing to Johnson, catching Grimsley off base for the out.

Aleman was instrumental in winning his own game. In the top half of the fifth, on the first pitch, he hit a three run homer over the left center field fence, breaking open the game for Reeve.

The second week's schedule, which is the week of June 20 to 25, is as follows.

- Monday: McCaslin vs. Reeve Brookfield vs. Hub
- Tuesday: Friona State Bank vs. Associated Growers Rockwell vs. ESA
- Thursday: Reeve Chevrolet vs. Star-Hurst Co-op vs. Benger Air Park
- Friday: McCaslin vs. Hub Friona State Bank vs. Brookfield

The Days were accompanied by their son, Emmett Jr. of Lubbock.

During recognition ceremonies Mrs. Day received a corsage. She and her husband were recognized as the couple who traveled the longest distance to attend the reunion.

Stand-In --

knew from nothing, but regardless of the numerous questions I plagued her with, she took the time and patience to answer.

Whenever I needed information about the town, residents, directions and so on ad infinitum, that gracious lady was ever there with the necessary and correct information and when a caller phoned the Star, it was June who was ready with the answers.

I would like to take this method of saying thanks ever so much to a wonderful worker and woman of the community.

In closing, let me say, if you have any complaints on this once-in-a-lifetime column, don't see me. Wait until Mack gets back. After all, he's the editor.

SPORTS AFIELD

By Ted Kesting

First step to becoming a successful bass fisherman is to keep changing lures and methods. You can always make at least a fair catch if you strike on the right combination for the time.—Sports Afield.

An attendant at the museum was showing Lord Nelson's waistcoat to an old lady. "Now that," said the attendant, pointing to a hole, "is where the bullet that ended his life went through."

The Bible Teaches ...

that there are some things we MUST DO to be saved! Have you read of the conversion of the jailer at Phillipi? The story is told in Acts 16. He said, "Sirs, what must I do to be saved?" He expected to do something.

The teachers present gave him something to do. They said, "Believe on the Lord, Jesus, and thou shalt be saved..." They taught him so he could believe. After the period of learning he was baptized. Following the things he did he "rejoiced greatly." Do you ask why? The answer is simple. He had done what he was told to do and his sins were forgiven. He was a child of God. There is no greater cause for rejoicing.

1. The following definitions shall apply in the interpretation and the enforcement of this ordinance:
A. LIVESTOCK: Livestock is hereby defined as any or all of the following: Bovines, equines, swine, goats, sheep, rabbits, guinea pigs, hamsters, white rats, poultry, including turkeys, ducks, geese, guineas, chickens and peafowl; cats and dogs when kept for commercial purposes; or any other animal or fowl which may cause a health hazard within the meaning of this ordinance.

E. PREMISES: Premises are defined as a parcel of land owned, leased or controlled by the person, corporation or partnership making the application for a permit and upon which livestock are kept.
F. FLY BREEDING: The presence of flies in the larval stage shall constitute fly breeding within the meaning of this ordinance.
G. STOCK TRUCKS AND/OR CARS: Stock trucks and/or cars shall include and mean vehicles of every character and kind used for the transportation of livestock.
H. COMMERCIAL PURPOSE: Commercial purposes are defined as the keeping of livestock for the purposes of gain.

the enforcement of this ordinance:
A. LIVESTOCK: Livestock is hereby defined as any or all of the following: Bovines, equines, swine, goats, sheep, rabbits, guinea pigs, hamsters, white rats, poultry, including turkeys, ducks, geese, guineas, chickens and peafowl; cats and dogs when kept for commercial purposes; or any other animal or fowl which may cause a health hazard within the meaning of this ordinance.

Hurst was Tommy Shirley, who was knocked out of the box in the first inning, the bank garnering 10 runs during the initial period. Shirley gave up five hits, walked three men and was responsible for 10 runs.
Shirley's relief was Scott Cummings who went the remaining six and one-third innings, striking out 14 men, allowing four hits and giving up only three runs. However, Cummings is on the records as the losing pitcher.
The bank had two double plays during the game. The first was when Brewer caught a fly ball and caught Shirley off third base, throwing to Morris for the out.
The second double play occurred when Brewer once again caught a fly ball, this time catching Hand off base, throwing to Wood for the double play.
The second game of the evening saw the Reeve nine down Hub by a score of nine to five. Winning pitcher for the second game was Joe Aleman and losing pitcher was Teddy Renner.
Aleman gave up three hits, two walks and struck out 15 men. Renner gave up eight hits, five walks and struck out 12 men. Renner downed the first eight men to face him.
There was one double play during the game, this made by Garth of Hub catching a fly ball and throwing to Johnson, catching Grimsley off base for the out.
Aleman was instrumental in winning his own game. In the top half of the fifth, on the first pitch, he hit a three run homer over the left center field fence, breaking open the game for Reeve.

Days Attend Homecoming

Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Day Sr. returned late Monday from Whitney, Texas, where they had spent the weekend attending the annual homecoming in the Prairie View community near that city.
The Days were accompanied by their son, Emmett Jr. of Lubbock.
During recognition ceremonies Mrs. Day received a corsage. She and her husband were recognized as the couple who traveled the longest distance to attend the reunion.

knew from nothing, but regardless of the numerous questions I plagued her with, she took the time and patience to answer.
Whenever I needed information about the town, residents, directions and so on ad infinitum, that gracious lady was ever there with the necessary and correct information and when a caller phoned the Star, it was June who was ready with the answers.
I would like to take this method of saying thanks ever so much to a wonderful worker and woman of the community.
In closing, let me say, if you have any complaints on this once-in-a-lifetime column, don't see me. Wait until Mack gets back. After all, he's the editor.

SPORTS AFIELD

By Ted Kesting

First step to becoming a successful bass fisherman is to keep changing lures and methods. You can always make at least a fair catch if you strike on the right combination for the time.—Sports Afield.

An attendant at the museum was showing Lord Nelson's waistcoat to an old lady. "Now that," said the attendant, pointing to a hole, "is where the bullet that ended his life went through."

The Bible Teaches ...

that there are some things we MUST DO to be saved! Have you read of the conversion of the jailer at Phillipi? The story is told in Acts 16. He said, "Sirs, what must I do to be saved?" He expected to do something.
The teachers present gave him something to do. They said, "Believe on the Lord, Jesus, and thou shalt be saved..." They taught him so he could believe. After the period of learning he was baptized. Following the things he did he "rejoiced greatly." Do you ask why? The answer is simple. He had done what he was told to do and his sins were forgiven. He was a child of God. There is no greater cause for rejoicing.

OUTDOORS IN TEXAS

BY VERN SANFORD
Have you noticed the trend in lures?
Remember when an artificial bait had to be big and brawny? Not today! Nowadays, the little ones are taking over . . . just like the little cars are doing.

And just take a look at the assortment of lures. There are thousands to choose from, in varied sizes and a multitude of colors.
Don't know whether the color is there to appeal to the women—as car manufacturers do—or for the catch'em-fish effect. Anyway, you can buy your artificial bait today in coal black or all white, in polkadot—black dots on white or white dots on black—plus a mixture of other colors.
You can buy them in solids and various shades of yellow, green, gold, blue, chartreuse, orange, grey, tan, red, or what have you. And in chameleon too, if you like, I imagine. Also, you can get them straight as a stick, or curved, or round, or flat—and in lots of in-between shapes—including cubes.

Peculiar part of it is, they all catch fish. Some do it better than others—natch. But we've never seen a lure yet that you couldn't catch a fish peace, health and safety of the City of Friona, Texas, and the inhabitants thereof, that the rule requiring ordinances to be read on three separate readings be dispensed of and that this ordinance become in full force and effect from and after its passage by a four-fifths vote of the City Council and signature of the Mayor, as made and provided by law, and this ordinance shall become in full force and effect from and after its passage by a four-fifths vote of the City Council and the signature of the Mayor, as made and provided by law.

of some size or breed. In fact, it's reported that one big bass on the highland lakes was found with an empty beer can in its tummy. (Evidently a goat-fish.)
Nothing seems to discourage the lure makers. Anglers too, for that matter, because they buy up the lures about as fast as man and machines can make them.
Anyway, our hat's off to the bait manufacturers. They have more competition than a big white bass after a large school of shad.
And these bait boys really are on their toes. Surely they must be awake nights dreaming up new shapes, sizes and colors of lures. And I imagine when they can't sleep they count lures instead of sheep.
Don't know how many lure manufacturers there are in Texas, but I'm certain that Texas has its share.
One of Texas' oldest firms is the Bomber Bait Company of Gainesville. Another old-timer is the Whopper Stopper of Sherman. Then there's the Old English Lure Company of Corpus Christi, and the Pico firm (Padre Island Company) of the same city.
Over in Houston is the Schumacker Company, one of the few that specializes in spoons.
Then there's the Hump Lure Company of El Campo. And the Hawk Lure Company of Austin. And a newcomer in the field, Schoolmaster Bait and Tackle of San Antonio.
Chances are Texas has a dozen more that we don't recall, or haven't seen or heard from. Anyway, it's a thriving business that these bait boys operate, run by very able men, all keen fishermen as well as sharp idea men.
But what's ahead for them? There's a new craze now. The trend is toward artificial worms.
It seems that these multi-colored, hook-imbudded, slimy

William Holden Tells How The Right Insurance Saved Him From Big Loss

tion picture actor William Holden. "At the time it happened, all I knew was in a cablegram. It read, Don't worry. Part of house burned."
William Holden goes on to say there was a happy ending to the story. When he returned to the United States several weeks later he found that the insurance claim had already been paid, and his home was already completely repaired. In fact, he had to ask, "Where was the fire?" because the repair job was so perfect.
William Holden has nothing but praise for his independent insurance agent. "In the first place it makes sure you're insured only with companies that pay claims promptly and fairly. Then, if you have a loss, he helps you collect. You get first-class service—and protection—all along the line."
You, too, can count on getting the right insurance when you buy from the man who displays this Big "I" Seal. To display it, we have had to meet professional standards designed to protect you.

family ice cream supper in their home in honor of the visitors. Guests included the California group, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Latta, Mr. and Mrs. Johnnie Bengier and Mr. and Mrs. Loyde Brewer and sons.

On Thursday they all attended a dinner in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Latta in Friona. Mr. and Mrs. Johnnie Bengier, Mrs. Mertie Kelley, Riley E. Kelley, Mrs. C. L. Kelley and Judy were supper guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hand Outland in Friona Thursday evening.

TRIP TO NEW YORK

Mrs. Jerry Houlette left Tuesday, May 24, and returned to Friona on June 4. Mrs. Houlette had a very enjoyable trip to New York where she went to meet Jerry on the plane as he returned from Bremuda, where he has been in the service for 2 years.

They enjoyed several sight seeing trips which included the Statue of Liberty, Empire State Building, boat ride around Manhattan Island, Central Park, Wall Street, Rockefeller Center, Coney Island, Chinatown, Greenwich Village, Pattery Park, Macy's Dept. Store (largest in the world), Times Square, and they went to the top of the 666.

While they were at Rockefeller Center they had the pleasure of seeing "Pollyanna". They also saw a lot more interesting sights but I think Jerry and Mary were pretty glad to get back to Texas.

While in New York Mr. and Mrs. Houlette stayed with Mr. and Mrs. Ben Konis. They attended the Perry Como Show and The Price is Right, where Mrs. Konis (formerly Eugenia Landrum) appeared on the show and won over $3000 worth of merchandise.

Jerry and Mary left via 707 Jet at New York International Airport and arrived in Dallas 3 hours later. They visited relatives in Albany, Texas, before returning to Friona.

Jerry, Mary and Debbie are going to make their home in Borger where Jerry will be employed at the Davis Chevrolet Company.

Play Ball!

ORIGIN OF BASEBALL--

Still Undecided

BY DON WATKINS

Baseball--that grand ole American sport. We read it in the papers, we see it on TV and in the parks of every town and city of size across the continental United States and in many foreign lands.

We see local youngsters in action with the American Legion teams and with the Little Leagues across America. Here in Friona, civic-minded businessmen have provided a new park at great expense to serve the local boys. Baseball --it's all around us from the moment the season opens until it closes.

But, will all that, how many can tell when and where it started, and who was responsible for it? Who can say off-hand when the World Series first began and who won it? I dare say, not many. I certainly couldn't unless there were a set of books entitled Encyclopaedia Britannica. And, even at that, the so-called baseball experts are still in disagreement as to how and who started the game of baseball, so loved by millions.

It is generally accepted that Abner Doubleday, later a general in the United States Army and a hero of the Battle of Gettysburg, first began baseball in Cooperstown, Otsega County in north-central New York State.

In 1845 the first Code of Rules was adopted and used until 1854, at which time a revision was made concerning the size of the ball to be used.

On March 10, 1858, a first attempt at organizing clubs was made. During those days, the cities played town ball only and did not venture out to challenge distant cities.

From 1859, the game spread rapidly over the country, with the years 1861 to 1865 exceptions as the armies of the Civil War were the only participants in the sport.

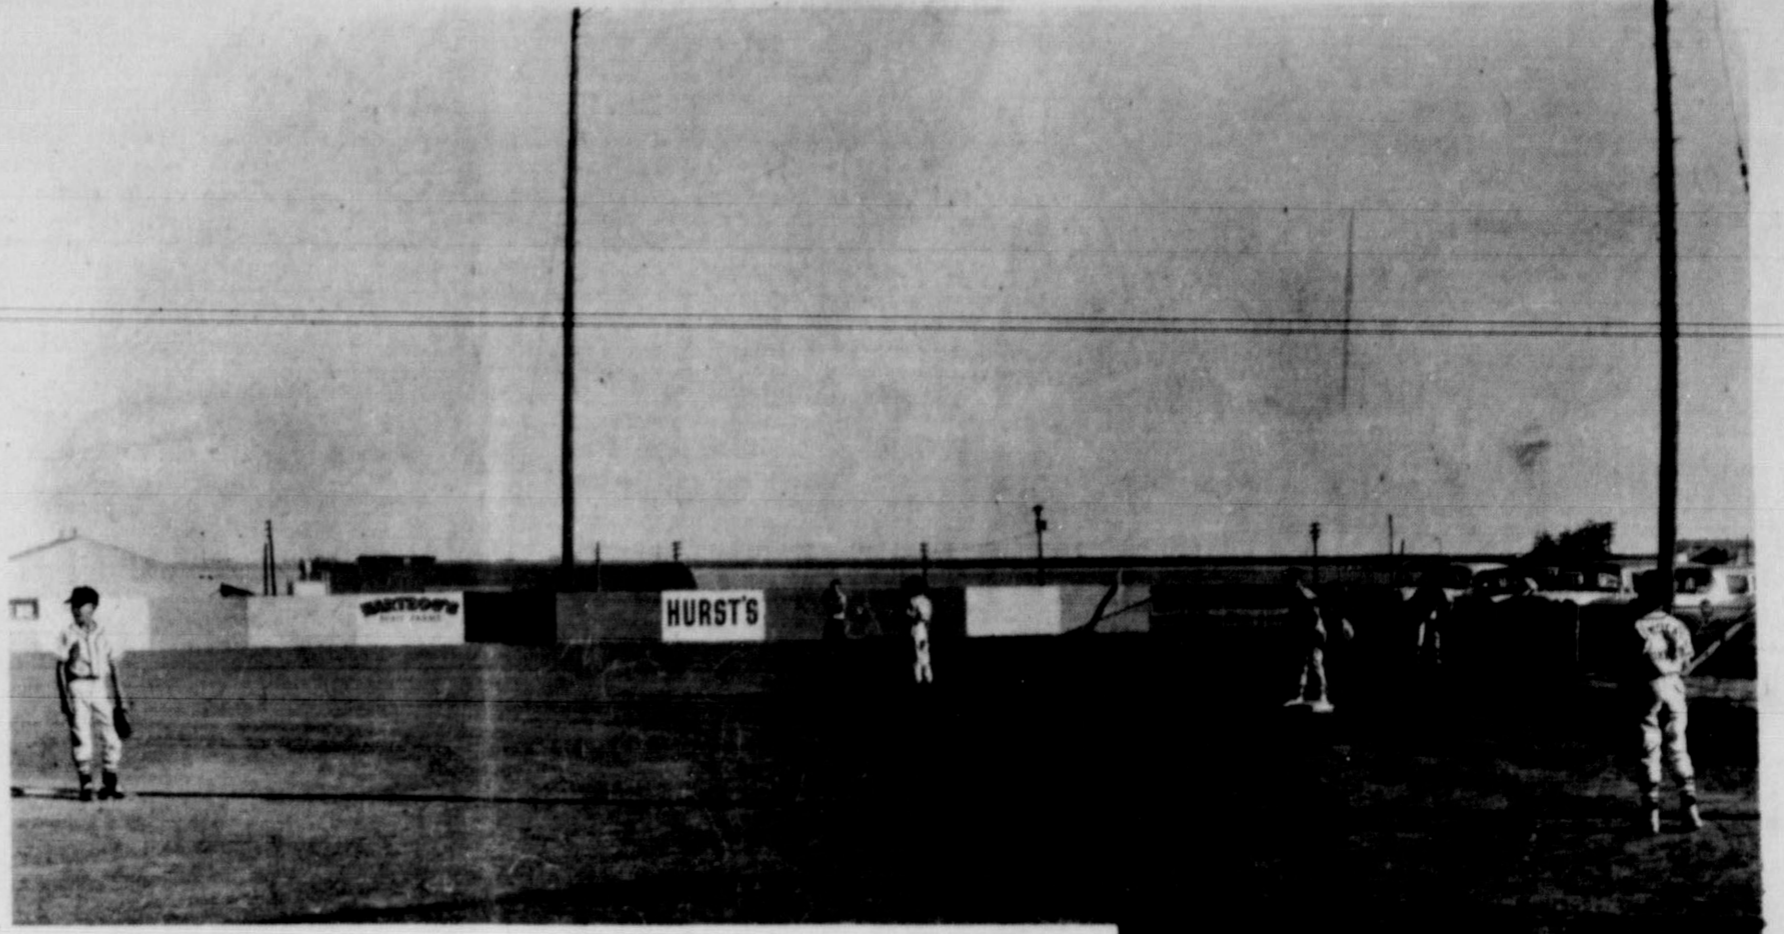

The years 1865-1866 saw the advent of professionalism, small though it was, as players began accepting money to play occasional games. The following year, 1867, the town of Rockford, Illinois, began paying salaries to some of its players and in 1869, Cincinnati became outright professional with salaried athletes and began touring the eastern United States.

In 1871, the National Association of Professional Baseball Players was organized in New York, and though lasted, only five years, it was the forerunner of the National League, which was organized on February 2, 1876.

In 1900, the American League was organized, which precipitated a "war" between the two leagues, lasting for two years. However, out of the chaos grew the present day leagues, strengthened by the passing years which two world wars and a great depression failed to hamper.

The World Series began in 1903 when the Boston Red Sox of the American League defeated Pittsburgh of the National League. Again, in 1904, Boston won their league pennant and issued a challenge to the New York Giants. The Giants refused to play because the series were not being conducted under a code of rules or supervision. Thus no contest was held that year.

The following year, 1905, again saw the series take place, this time under a set of rules

MISS ELAINE HOLCOMB

Elaine Holcomb Sets Wedding Date

Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Holcomb have announced the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Helen Elaine, to Jerry V. White, son of Mr. and Mrs. Austin S. White of Midland.

Wedding vows for the couple will be read at the Sixth Street Church of Christ at 3 p. m. Sunday, July 31.

Formal invitations are not being mailed but all friends of the couple are invited to attend the ceremony.

The question we've been called upon to answer more times than any other recently is "What's going on over at your place of business?" It is really a difficult question to answer since no one seems to know for sure.

Perhaps that is one of the nicest things about working around a newspaper office. You never know one minute what is likely to happen the next.

Each member of the Star staff appreciates the interest of friends, neighbors and townspeople, so an effort will be made to answer the question to the best of our ability.

The one thing we know for sure is that some changes are being made. With a growing concern such as Plains Publishers, with which the Star is affiliated, nothing stays the same very long at a time.

Many of our readers will probably be surprised to know that in less than two years Plains Publishers has grown from a publishing plant turning out four or five weekly papers to one that turns out an average of 15 or 16 each week.

This firm has also outgrown its building and plans are being made for an addition onto the south side of the existing building. Visible evidence of this addition will begin taking shape real soon.

The outcome of this growth has been that Sonny Graham, publisher of the Star and manager of Plains Publishers, needs someone to assist him. In order for the writer of this column to fill this slot, some changes are necessary.

Effective immediately the slot of society editor for the Friona Star will be filled by Laurie Cooper. Miss Cooper isn't a stranger to many Frionans since she has been an employee of Plains Publishers for quite some time.

Those of you who haven't met her will probably be interested in knowing that she is a graduate of Eastern New Mexico University with a major in journalism. In the future she will write society news, take pictures and otherwise assist Editor Dave McReynolds in getting out the Star.

Miss Cooper, a former member of the Dallas Times Herald society staff, was employed by the State Line Tribune before coming to Friona.

This announcement would not be complete without an expression of appreciation from us to all of our news sources. Without the assistance and cooperation of so many wonderful people it would have been impossible for us to have filled this position the past four years.

Working with you has been a pleasure and we earnestly solicit the same cooperation for our successor.

This isn't really a farewell message although it sounds like one. In and Around Friona will still be a regular part of the Star and the author will still be around, but in another capacity.

What farmers in our area really need this week is some kind of fertilizer that will assure maturity of cotton in about 120 days. According to the records, the average frost date is about that far away and in most fields it is still too wet to plant.

A number of farmers will probably re-plant cotton this week. After that . . . it will just be too late. Some Hale County farmers are reportedly going in for large acreages of castor beans. Haven't heard of any Farmer County farmers who are considering this route, but there may be some.

Watching the late planted cotton should prove interesting and in all probability some of it will mature.

Gardens that have been hailed out and washed away will be replanted this week. In spite of the damage the weather has done most of us will be able to fill our deep freezes with vegetables this fall.

Haven't heard a report on wild plums this year. Many local homemakers look forward to being able to either pick or buy this type plums for jelly making.

Apparently John Renner forgot to change his glasses before going bowling recently. At any rate, he removed his aviation type prescription sunglasses at lane 10 at the local bowling alley and forgot to pick them up.

He needs the sunglasses very badly and they would be of little value to anyone else, so he hopes someone will return them to him. His home telephone number is Hub 2423. Or, if that line is busy, a call to 2291 will be greatly appreciated.

Any errors in the Star this week may be charged off to Editor Dave McReynolds. We know, of course, that he hasn't been here and didn't make them. Passing the buck is just one of the hazards of the trade.

STRENGTH FOR THESE DAYS
The Bible
Search me, O God, and know my heart; try me, and know my thoughts.
—(Psalm 139:23)

When we pray to God to search our hearts, we humbly place ourselves in His hands, knowing and admitting our weakness, seeking His love and guidance and strength—seeking to know and obey His law and His will. It is only through our humility and prayer that God, ever present and willing, can enter our souls.

Nothing can supply the place of books. They are cheering or soothing companions in solitude, illness, affliction. The wealth of both continents would not compensate for the good they impart. —Cheeping

A background of candles centered with a large arrangement of white stock and camador set the scene for the candlelight service. Each of the candelabra trees contained 29 long tapers arranged at graduated heights. Officiating minister at the wedding was Rev. J. B. Sharp, pastor of the church.

Pews were marked by bouquets of white stock and white satin bows and the lighted tapers in the chancel and windows along the aisles gave a mellow softness to the white floral decor.

THE HIGH PLAINS FARM AND HOME

Wheat Turns Swiftly Under Summer Sun

Parker County area farmers were beginning to get a little weary of all the wet weather--until Sunday. That day, the dark blue clouds which had shrouded the Plains for over a week suddenly vanished, and a brilliant summer sun ended the damp and cold.

The return of sunshine over the weekend ended one of the wettest spells of weather to visit the area in many years. Nightly showers occurred around most farms, and the result after about ten days of rainy weather was from four to nine inches of moisture.

The average is somewhere between five and six inches, which is an abundant supply for this time of the year. Cotton, wheat, and grain sorghum all have plenty of moisture.

In fact, there has been quite a bit too much rain for the benefit of the now maturing wheat crop. The majority of farmers report that this is going to be one of the best years for wheat (irrigated) they have ever had, provided they can get the crop in.

The rain and winds that accompanied the moisture were pretty rough to quite a bit of the better wheat of the area. This "better end" of the 1960 wheat is susceptible to moisture and winds because it is tall, the heads are heavy, and in many cases the ground is soft from recent irrigations.

For those reasons, a large part of the best wheat has been blown down or twisted and matted together in the past two weeks.

To farmers who have suffered this damage, the return of the sunshine is welcome indeed. Their fields are yellowing rapidly, and just as soon as the ground dries out enough, the combines will be put to work trying to salvage the endangered grain.

Early cuttings of wheat were made the first of the week, and if dry weather holds, the harvest is expected to be underway generally by the first of next week.

WITH THE COUNTY AGENT

JOE JONES

Thrips are rather wide spread over the county and many farmers have already started their early season control program. All cotton farmers should give serious consideration to getting their early season control program under way when the weather clears up and you can get in your fields. Below you will find a schedule of cotton insect meetings I am calling to go out in the field and look cotton over and discuss early and late season insect control.

June 23	Black	10:15 A. M.	Tri-County Gin
June 23	Rhea	2:30 P. M.	Parish Hall

Following a sound insect and watering program will pay off in early mature cotton at the gin this fall. With our present moisture we should not need any water on cotton until it starts blooming which in most cases will be July 10 to July 20 in most instances.

I have a real good bulletin on Spot-Spraying of Johnson-grass put out by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station. This publication discusses the use of all materials put out for spot control of Johnson grass and tells how they should be used. Some of the more common materials discussed are C-56 and diesel, naphtha, naphtha and diesel, Downon, TCA, HCA, and maleic hydrozide. The Texas jetgun many have asked about can be ordered from Gibson Machine Shop, 804 East 27th Street, Bryan, Texas. The cost is $20.00 F. O. B.

Orders for quail are to be sent off on June 16, and before very long these quail will be delivered to your place. It would be a good idea to use any time you have in improving your cover. I notice A. L. Hartzog and Walt Mabry have made tepees out of post which is an excellent way to provide cover. I have ordered blanks for ordering fish which some of you may need now that our water supply is in such excellent condition for fish.

Foliar feeding of plants is applying plant food to the foliage and thus feeding plants in this manner. With the condition cotton is in following the cool rainy weather you are likely to hear that foliar feeding will bring it out and cure its ills. Don't be misled by too much by this idea. What cotton needs now is dry hot weather, cultivation, and insects controlled. If you have plenty and plant food in the soil your cotton should over come the seedling diseases and be on its way if we have favorable weather.

NEWS FROM THE FARM BUREAU

BY RAYMOND EULER

We of Farm Bureau join all others in expression of sympathy for the families of John David Miller and E. C. Wilson who lost their lives by drowning last week. Our hall adjuster, Johnny Vinyard, and Mr. Miller were unable to help, even though they swam fifty or so yards out to the raft in a desperate effort to save the boys, as soon as they saw they were in trouble.

We would almost bet that all the dogs in Rhea Community got vaccinated last Wednesday afternoon at the Rhea Grain Elevator. Everyone was notified, and those people out there usually do things in a grand and complete way. And, if anyone has noticed many grasshoppers, they are probably doomed, because Wednesday night they got together to make plans to get rid of them on a cooperative basis. Carl Schlenker was the one who notified us to notify all the Rhea people.

Scholarships For First-Rate 4-H Projects

A local 4-H Club girl who really knows her way around the home may be the lucky winner of a $400 Montgomery Ward college scholarship this year, according to the National 4-H service committee, Chicago.

The young homemaker must be enrolled in the 4-H home economics program, have satisfactorily completed at least three years of club work, and be over 14 years old before she can compete for this top honor.

Work in the home economics project includes cooking, food preservation, sewing, meal planning, housekeeping, buying and budgets. Developing exhibits, displays and demonstrations are among the stated objectives of this genuinely useful project directed by the Extension Service and the USDA.

The national judging is done on the member's 4-H record book which is compiled during her club career. The comprehensive report contains not only highlights of the home economics projects and other 4-H achievement, but also evidence of leadership, community service, scholastic standing, and personal recommendations from 4-H Club leaders.

Work qualifications are high and competition keen since only six girls will be selected from all 50 states and Puerto Rico where 4-H Clubs are well established. Besides the scholarships, a trip to the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago is waiting for the highest ranking member in the state.

Farmers Check With Court On Bindweed Kill

The county-wide bindweed eradication program in which the county has cooperated for years with individual landowners, has been changed some, according to announcement by County Judge Loyde Brewer this week.

Landowners who want county assistance in the county rights-of-way, have to meet with the Commissioners Court to gain approval for this aid. The Court meets on the second and fourth Monday.

Brewer adds that the county agent recommends the use of sodium chlorate, 5 lbs. to a square yard or about 800 lbs. per acre.

If a landowner wishes more information, he may contact Judge Brewer or check with his county commissioner.

And having thus chosen our course without guile and with pure purpose, let us renew our trust in God and go forward without fear and with manly hearts.--Lincoln

Rate of Water Use in Relation to Plant Development

Cotton Moisture Now Sufficient

High Plains cotton farmers are in good shape moisture-wise as nature has recently dumped several inches of water over the area. For the time being, irrigation will not be necessary, says Joe Jones, Farmer County agricultural agent.

"The condition is now that we have plenty of subsoil and topsoil moisture," says Jones. He feels farmers will not need to irrigate until their cotton begins blooming.

"They need to keep the moisture level high during the blooming period.

"A general guide would be to start watering when bloom period begins and stop when it ends.

"Farmers normally expect it to take two irrigations from July 10 to August 20." Cotton usually begins blooming about the middle of July and ends about the middle of August.

"Cotton uses very little water until blooming. Peak use of water occurs during the fruiting period. When bolls develop, need for water drops off and supply should be cut off."

During the first 45 days after planting, cotton requires less than one-tenth an inch of moisture each day. Water usage reaches as high as four-tenths of an inch moisture during the peak bloom period about three months after planting.

By about the fourth month after planting, the first bolls should open. This is the time watering should cease, he says.

How Do You Check For Bugs In Cotton?

Each year the Texas Extension Service has volunteers in the Farmer County area to make periodic checks in cotton fields to determine the extent of insect infestation.

These reports are compiled regularly on an area-wide basis so that progress of the crop and control measures--where necessary--may be easily seen.

Farm and Home this week is reprinting the instructions used in such reporting in the hope that the methods employed may be of assistance to individual farmers who seek the same information for themselves.

THRIPS: Walk diagonally across the fields, inspecting many plants at several representative places, using the following as a guide:

Light--When the newest unfolding leaves show only a slight brownish tinge along the edges with no silvering of the underside of these or older leaves and only an occasional thrips is seen.

Medium--If newest leaves show considerable browning along the edges and some silvering on the undersides of most leaves, and thrips are found readily.

Heavy--If silvering of leaves is readily noticeable, terminal buds show injury, general appearance of plant is ragged and deformed, and thrips are numerous.

field and record the number of damaged ones as the percent damage.

When using light, medium or heavy, inspections should be made in several representative points in the field using the following as a guide:

Light--When only a few small squares show injury.

Medium--When injured squares and bolls are readily noticeable over most of the field.

Heavy--When numerous injured squares and bolls are noticed over the field.

BOLL WEEVILS: Reports of boll weevils on cotton before fruiting begins should be made on the basis of the number of weevils per 100 feet of row. After plants are squaring freely or have produced as many as 3 squares per plant, boll weevil reports should be based on punctured squares. The 100 squares examined should be 1/3 grown or larger and an equal number should be picked from the top, middle and lower branches of the plants while walking diagonally across the field or from several representative spots within the field. SQUARES FROM THE GROUND OR DRIED SQUARES HANGING ON THE PLANT SHOULD NOT BE COUNTED. Both feeding and egg punctures should be counted and the percent of punctured squares recorded in the proper space.

FLEAHOPPERS: While walking diagonally across a field, inspect 33 terminal buds approximately 50 feet from each of the 2 corners and 34 terminal buds at the center of the field, or inspect 100 terminal buds at several representative spots over the field for the fleahopper record. Count both adults and nymphs found in the top 3 or 4 inches of the cotton plants and record the total number. When using light, medium and heavy, use the following as a guide:

Light--Estimated 1 to 10 fleahoppers per 100 terminals

Medium--Estimated 11 to 25 fleahoppers per 100 terminals

Heavy--Estimated 26 or more fleahoppers 100 terminals

BOLLWORMS: Examine the terminal buds and several of the lower branches of 100 cotton plants and record the number of worms found as the percent bollworm infestation or examine 100 consecutive squares and bolls at each of several representative points in the

THE HAPPY HOMEMAKER

BY JUNE FLOYD

As warm weather approaches each year, outdoor cookery comes into the spotlight. Very closely associated with outdoor cookery is barbecue. Any kind of meat can be used for "Ham-WotAmBurgers." They are also very easy to prepare.

Toast your buns quickly on the grill, add your meat; then finish with salad dressing, lettuce, tomatoes and other favorite additions. Many people like cheese and others prefer pickles and olives.

A basic recipe for barbecue sauce for "Ham-WotAmBurgers" can be made as follows:

- 1 teaspoon Adams butter flavor
 - 1/2 cup vinegar
 - 1/2 cup catsup
 - 1/2 teaspoon minced onion
 - 1/4 cup Worcestershire sauce
 - 1 tablespoon brown sugar
 - 1/4 teaspoon black pepper
 - 1 teaspoon paprika
 - 1/2 teaspoon salt
- Measure liquid then dry ingredients into saucepan. Stir well. Bring to a boil, but don't boil. Simmer 30 minutes. Refrigerate until needed.
- Use this sauce to brush on your meat once or twice during the grilling period.

When using light, medium and heavy, the following should be used as a guide:

Light--When only an occasional green square is found to be punctured. (Less than 25 per cent)

Medium--When flared squares are readily noticeable while walking through the field. (25 to 50 per cent infestation)

Heavy--When numerous flared squares are noticed over the field. (Over 40 per cent infestation)

LEAFWORMS: Inspections should be made in several representative points in the field and the following used as a guide:

Light--When 1 or only a few larvae are observed per field.

Medium--When 2 or 3 larvae are partially destroyed by ragging, with 2 to 5 larvae per plant.

Heavy--When ragging of leaves is extensive with 6 or more larvae per plant, or if defoliation is complete.

preserving flowers now for arrangements next winter. It is easy to bake fresh flowers in the sun if you will follow these instructions.

Leave five or six inch stems on your flowers when picking. Be sure to pick them at their peak. There must be no dew or moisture on the petals. Pick the leaves from the stems.

Sift dry sand through an old sifter. Pour two or three inches of sand in a cardboard box or pan. Place blooms upside down on the sand, then pour more sand over them. It will take an inch to cover them. Space the blooms so they don't touch.

Set box or pan in the sun. If the sun is very hot, the flowers will dry in two days.

Remove flowers gently when no longer damp and brush petals with small brush to remove sand particles.

The sand may be used over and over. It may be kept in a covered box from one year to the next. Flowers baked in this manner will keep all winter.

Present during a demonstration of bindweed killing done by the Santa Fe Railroad recently were, left to right, J. T. Jones, an unidentified poison spreader, Ronald E. Mock, division engineer with the railroad, and Vernon Symcox. The railroad has undertaken to poison all bindweed which grows along their right of way in Parker County.

Santa Fe Joins Against Bindweed In County

Continuous efforts to rid armer County of bindweed are effect as divisions of the State Highway Department, the Santa Fe Railroad Company and the weed committee of the armer County Farm Bureau work hand in hand with the county Agent and county farmers to find and destroy isolated patches and crowded elds of this noxious and fast rowing weed.

the farmers were aware of this weedy menace, the committee then began working on the highway department and the Santa Fe Railroad to begin a program along their respective rights-of-way that would destroy any bindweed in these particular areas.

At the present time, the Santa Fe Railroad is taking necessary steps to rid the entire county of bindweed as long as it is along their right of way. They will not and do not go into the farmers' fields.

Ronald E. Mock, who is with the division engineers of the Santa Fe out of Amarillo is spreading Benzabor, a dry acid made by the Borax company, all the way from Farwell to Bovina. He has already covered the area from Black to Bovina, and when the present right of way is covered from the county line to Bovina, he will have covered the railroad's entire right of way in Parker County.

want to be certain to destroy the weeds. The dry acid is applied with a PCB spreader, strapped to a person's shoulder. It will carry a 25-pound bag of the compound and will spread the acid in an eight to 10 foot area. The 25 pounds will cover 1/8 of an acre as a 200-pound bag is needed for one acre of ground.

Mock keeps a date on each area he has treated. In this way, he can return at a later date and examine the results.

The acid compound, though it is applied dry, needs at least 1/2 inch of water for the chemical reaction to set in. However, the 1/2 inch need not come at one time; it can take a matter of days and the reaction of the compound will be just as effective. The compound can be spread in winds up to 20 to 25 miles per hour so the possibility of wind carrying the acid away before the necessary water reaches it is remote.

The present weed committee, with J. T. Jones as chairman and Vernon Symcox as secretary, has gone to considerable effort to make a chart of the railroad right of way so the Santa Fe engineers will have less trouble finding the patches of bindweed. There is no question that this chart has expedited the poisoning of the weed along the tracks.

County Agent Joe Jones has explained that bindweed, in one year's time, will expand one-third its original size.

Applications For Cotton Classing Service Due Aug. 1

Cotton farmers who have not already filed applications to receive free classing and market information for their 1960 crop have until Aug. 1 to apply for these services.

Applications should be filed with W. K. Palmer, 610 23rd St., Lubbock, Texas. Palmer is in charge of the Agricultural Marketing Service's area cotton office which includes 37 Panhandle counties and the New Mexico counties of Quay and Roosevelt.

Procedure for preparing and filing applications has been considerably shortened and simplified this season. However, promptness in filing is necessary, as time is needed for each group to arrange for submitting samples to the classing office.

Palmer said. Applications and instructions for applying may be obtained from Palmer's office or from the county agricultural agent.

Under the free classing service, organized growers learn the grade and staple of each bale of cotton they produce. Through market news they learn what cotton is selling for. These two services put them in better bargaining position when they sell their cotton.

More than 13.7 million bales of cotton, about 95 per cent of the 1959 crop, were classed under the Smith-Doxey program last year. This is the largest proportion classed for any crop since the service became available in 1938.

Questions And Answers On "$50,000 Limit"

Note: The following story is furnished in response to suggestions that farmers in some areas are not sufficiently aware of the $50,000 price-support limitation.

Chairman Archie Tarter of the Parker County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee reminded farmers that the 1960 crops of most of the major price-supported commodities are subject to a $50,000 limit. Following are answers to some of the most frequently asked questions about this feature of the program.

Q. Just what is meant by a $50,000 limit on price support?

A. It means that the amount of nonrecourse price support that may be received by an individual producer of one of the surplus crops is limited to $50,000 unless he cuts his acreage of that crop by at least 20 per cent.

Q. What is the meaning of "nonrecourse" price support?

A. Nonrecourse support means support in the form of a loan that may be settled in full by delivery of the commodity to the government. It also can mean support in the form of a purchase.

Q. How do we happen to have this $50,000 limit?

A. It is required for 1960 crops by a provision of the Agricultural Appropriation Act for the 1960 fiscal year.

Q. To which crops does the $50,000 limit apply?

A. It applies to wheat, barley, grain sorghums, upland cotton, extra long staple cotton, rice, peanuts, tobacco, corn, rye, oats, cotton seed, flaxseed, and soybeans.

Q. What can be done to get a larger loan than $50,000?

A. Loans can be made in excess of $50,000 on a recourse basis, with the farmer agreeing to repay all amounts advanced in excess of $50,000. Also if you reduce acreage of a crop at least 20 per cent below what it was in 1959, there is no limit on the amount of nonrecourse price support you may obtain on that commodity.

Q. Does the limit apply to all price support crops on the farm or to each crop individually?

A. To each one individually.

Q. What do I do if I want to get price support in excess of $50,000 on a surplus crop?

A. Talk with your county ASC office. There is a special application form that will have to be filed in advance of harvest.

SAVE COLOR AND FOOD VALUE IN VEGETABLES

Limp, over-cooked, drab-looking vegetables have little appetite appeal, and little food value. You will save color and food value by using proper cooking methods, reminds Frances Reasonover, extension foods and nutrition specialist of Texas A&M College System.

Serve three vegetables each day -- a green or yellow vegetable, sweet or Irish potatoes, and one other vegetable. Here are some pointers to remember in cooking vegetables.

*Use fresh, crisp vegetables.

*Cook in as little water as possible.

*Cook vegetables in their skins whenever possible.

*Cook only until tender -- don't overcook.

*Cook most green, and all yellow vegetables in a covered pan.

*Never use soda in cooking vegetables--it destroys part of the food value.

*Serve vegetables as soon as possible after cooking.

The longer they are exposed to heat and air the more vitamin C they will lose.

Directions and special recipes for tasty vegetable dishes are given in Extension Bulletin 923, "Vegetables--Selection, Care, Cooking." You can get a copy from your county home demonstration agent's office.

HOME ECONOMICS BRIEFS

DON'T SKIP BREAKFAST

When you skip breakfast, you miss a third of your day's energy--a very important third, say extension foods and nutrition specialists of Texas A&M College System.

Research has shown that an adequate breakfast should supply a fourth to a third of the day's total food requirements and make a good contribution of most of the essential nutrients. That eliminates the doughnut and coffee type breakfast, which does not supply essential nutrients.

You need fruit, egg, meat and/or breakfast cereal, milk, bread, and butter. Such a breakfast pattern is termed "basic" because it contains foods that should be included in every morning meal. It is a basis on which a breakfast of any desired size may be developed.

PLAN GOOD MEALS EVERYDAY

Your daily meals should supply you with many different nutrients, according to extension foods and nutrition specialists of the Texas A&M College System. You need protein for growth and for repair of the body; minerals and vitamins for growth and to keep the body functioning properly; and fat and carbohydrates for energy.

It's easy to combine foods into tasty, attractive meals, but it does take planning. Suggestions for doing this job are given in "GOOD MEALS EVERYDAY," a colorful bulletin written by foods and nutrition specialists.

Ask for a copy at your county home demonstration agent's office.

BUYING NEW FURNITURE

In the market for furniture? Charlotte Tompkins, extension home furnishings specialist, suggests you follow the rule of simplicity. Select the easy to live with, easy to look at, and easy to care for style.

So, whether you are buying furniture replacements, or just starting to furnish, take time to plan and shop carefully.

NEW GUIDE FOR PLANNING FAMILY FINANCIAL SE-

USDA Revises Standards For Sheep, Lambs

Revised standards for grades of live slaughter lambs, yearlings and sheep will become effective June 19, the USDA announces.

Changes made in the standards are similar in nature to those adopted for lamb yearling mutton and mutton carcasses on March 1.

USDA market news reports for live lambs and sheep have been on the basis of the revised standards since March 1. Closely related grades for slaughter animals and the resulting carcasses are essential to meaningful market reports. Both conformation and quality requirements for the prime and choice grades are reduced under the new standards.

Minimum conformation requirements are lowered by about one-half grade in each of these grades. Quality requirements, as evaluated primarily by considering external fat in relation to the age of the animal, are reduced from about one-half grade to as much as a full grade, depending upon the grade and age of the animal.

CURITY

There is no magic formula for achieving financial security, but there are some guiding principles that any family or individual can use to develop a workable plan. These ideas, tested by many families, are given in a publication entitled, "On Your Way To Family Financial Security." Space is provided in the booklet for developing your own plan of action.

Copies of this publication, written by extension home management specialists of Texas A&M College System, are now available from your county extension agent's office.

CHOOSE PATTERNS WISELY

It pays to choose your patterns with care, according to extension clothing specialists of Texas A&M College System. Taking time to determine the size and type best suited for you will save time later in cutting down on alterations needed. And less handling and fewer fitting problems will give a more professional look to your finished garment.

Dairy cows need from 100 to 120 pounds of fresh, clean water per head each day. An adequate supply of water, conveniently located for the cows and of the desired temperature, can be a major factor in keeping milk production on a steady basis.

President, Congressmen Have Different Viewpoint On Sugar Import Problem

Parmer County area farmers are watching with interest the volatile sugar problem of America. There are some sugar beets grown here (and profitably) and farmers would like to have a chance to produce them, but markets are tangled up in international affairs.

The biggest problem is what to do about Cuba as a supplier of sugar to the U. S.

Highlight of the week's hassle over extension of the Sugar Act was an indirect slap by President Eisenhower at Congressman Harold D. Cooley (D., N. C.), Chairman of the House Agriculture Committee.

The Sugar Act, which allocates the U. S. sugar market among various domestic and foreign sugar producers through a system of quotas, is due to expire at the end of this year.

Main point of issue is whether a renewal of the Act should include authority for the President to cut a foreign sugar quota, particularly when Congress is not in session, should such action be in the national interest or be necessary for assuring adequate sugar supplies for American consumers.

The quota-slashing authority is viewed here as a possible tool for dealing with the Castro government in Cuba, which now has a U. S. sugar quota of more than 3.1 million tons, larger than any other supplying area, domestic or foreign.

Although proposals to give this discretionary power to the President are sponsored by Democrats and Republicans in both houses of Congress, Congressman Cooley has bitterly opposed them.

At an executive session of Cooley's Agriculture Committee on Wednesday, the House group voted 20 to 13 to report Cooley's own sugar bill, which would extend the present Act for one year with only one minor technical change and without any Presidential power over quotas. One Democrat joined the 12 Republicans on the committee in opposition to the bill, which falls to equip the President with power to deal with Castrolism.

Within 24 hours the President released an exchange of letters between him and Senator Wallace F. Bennett (R., Utah) in which the President said he attaches "particular importance to the recommendation that the President be given appropriate authority to adjust certain foreign quotas when he finds such action is called for -- either in the national interest or to insure adequate domestic supplies of sugar."

Senator Bennett had called the President's attention to an imminent automatic increase in Cuba's 1960 quota of about 160,000 tons--which would result from reallocations, under the present law, of expected deficits in the Hawaiian and Puerto Rican quotas.

"Moreover, there is every indication that the same situation will occur again next year, so a law extending the Act without change will not only confirm this year's windfall, but guarantee a similar one in 1961," Senator Bennett wrote to the President.

Informed sugar trade sources here estimated that the 160,000 ton "windfall" to Cuba would net the Cuban sugar industry, now largely controlled by the Castro government, about $16 million dollars.

"It would be like handing Castro 16 million dollars on a silver platter--on top of the 310 million dollars the Cuban sugar industry will get from its present quota," one sugar trade expert said.

Following a White House conference, Congressman Charles B. Halleck (R., Indiana), House Minority leader, said the Cooley bill "is a pro-Castro bill which would give Cuba a better quota position than in the past."

The next battle over the Cooley bill is expected this week in the House Rules Committee, which schedules bills on the house calendar.

There is no profit in farm accidents. It is often hard to place a dollar value on a farm accident, points out the Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Council, because of the indirect as well as the direct costs which must be taken into account. But, they add, most accidents are preventable and farm profits can be increased by keeping accidents from happening.

How much of your food dollar gets back to the farmer? Economists say it is about 38 cents. The remaining 62 cents goes for the costs of getting the food in the form you want it, at the time and place you want it. Food costs less now in terms of minutes of work necessary to buy what you need to eat than ever before in history.

Texas Agricultural Extension Service Dairy Husbandmen say research shows that improper feeding and management of the dry dairy cow can reduce milk production as much as 20 to 30 percent during the following lactation period.

Farm tractors can be killers. If you don't think so, points out the Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Council, watch the reports on farm accidents. The next fatal accident, they warn, could involve you. Don't take chances that could lead to disaster.

THE PARMER FARMER

By W. H. Graham Jr.

This is the season of transformation for the Plains. Transformation from a flat, treeless, dusty plain to a horizon-to-horizon panorama of gold and green.

We think that from June 1 through July 1 there is a bigger change in the farmland of this part of the country than any other comparable 30 days.

The green wheat turns into waving seas of yellow grain. The milo, cotton, sesame, sudan, and other crops almost spring from the ground. It seems that they grow inches each day.

In a 30-day period, fields can transform themselves from shallow lister furrows to a cloak of verdant foliage. It is truly remarkable how fast the changes can come.

The weather has proved again that we are never satisfied. When our fields were dry and dusty through the spring, we wished that every little cloud that floated over would just open up and dump out some rain.

Until this weekend, when the sun began to shine once more, we moaned about all the wet weather. And it had been wet less than 10 days!

We're all happy the sun has come out again, but ere long, we'll be pulling for the clouds--just wait and see. People just weren't made to be happy.

Parmer County in a nutshell: population 9500, school enrollment 2459, farm families 1000, farms 1300, gross farm income $30 million, land available for cultivation and grazing 540,000 acres, in cultivation 450,000, irrigated 400,000, irrigation wells 2400.

Farm tractors 3700, trucks and pickups 3000, irrigation motors 2550, combines 700. In an average year we have 240,000 acres of grain sorghum (irrigated) that yields 18 million bushels, 10,000 acres of dryland that yields 160,000 bushels, 42,500 acres of cotton that yields 53,125 bales.

Our irrigated wheat will produce 3,040,000 bushels from 80,000 acres, and the 15,000 acres of dryland will account for 120,000 bushels.

It looks like the farmers of this part of the High Plains have finally developed the "touch" for getting huge yields of wheat under irrigation. For several years it was thought that fertilizing and wheat was not a paying proposition. And look how things have changed.

Just six or eight years ago about the only folks getting over 50 bushels an acre were a few farmers in the "hardlands" part of the county. Today, you will find big yields all over the county, on both tight and sandy soils. It is amazing what technology has come to our irrigated wheat production.

If we were still depending on Mother Nature to produce a wheat crop for us, we are afraid that 1960 would be a very disappointing year.

Halfway Station Expands Experiments In Cotton Research

Dr. T. C. Longnecker, director of the High Plains Research Foundation announced that the Foundation is increasing its cotton research 34% over previous years. Dr. Longnecker stated that the Foundation has 20 more acres of plot research with cotton this year than in 1959.

This accelerated program in cotton research is a result of a cooperative research agreement that has been worked out between the High Plains Research Foundation and the Texas Agriculture Experiment Station No. 8 at Lubbock and College Station.

This cooperative arrangement in research will enable the Foundation to better serve the High Plains area. Personnel from the Agricultural Research Service of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, and the Foundation are co-operating as research teams in conducting the joint research projects.

On commenting about the scope of the increased program of cotton research, Dr. Longnecker stated that the following cooperative projects are being conducted at the Foundation this year.

- (1) Regional cotton variety test;
- (2) date of planting experiment with cotton;
- (3) a climatology study involving different varieties, moisture levels, dates of planting, fertilizer levels, and varieties;
- (4) an in the furrow fungicide experiment;
- (5) a cotton harvesting study involving different varieties and various methods of harvesting;
- (6) planting equipment test using different types of planting equipment; and
- (7) a cotton irrigation experiment consisting of a detailed evaluation of different varieties, fertilizer treatments, and irrigation methods on the yield and quality of cotton.

Dr. Longnecker emphasized that the cooperative research program is just one phase of the Foundation's over-all research program with cotton. In this regard, the Foundation is conducting additional cotton research involving different varieties, fertilizer treatments, irrigation methods, and cultural practices.

Texas Panhandle Will Remember CROP With Wheat

Farm families, elevator managers, ministers, bankers and others of the Texas Panhandle are working together for CROP during the 1960 wheat harvest.

As the wheat comes into the local grain elevators, many producers have a share of it put aside for the Christian Rural Overseas Program. Following the harvest local CROP officers will check these elevators and arrange for the movement of the grain to those in need overseas.

Many refugees from behind the iron or bamboo curtain are kept alive by bread from wheat contributed thru CROP. Children born in refugee camps

Cooper Young

Local Boy Is Named Delegate

A Parmer County boy has been elected 4-H Extension District 1 delegate to the annual State 4-H Council meeting.

He is Cooper Young, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Young, who farm five miles east of Lariat. Young, who will be a junior at Lazbuddie High School next year, is also active in FFA work. He has been active in 4-H work for seven years.

Young was elected at the District Council Meeting held at Camp Don Harrington near Canyon on May 31, and June 1 and 2, by the 44 county delegates attending from 22 counties in this district. One boy and one girl attend from each county. The state meet is attended by one boy and one girl from each district.

"I have held the district vice-presidency also," says Young. He held the office in 1958. Presently, Cooper is raising five acres of maize and five of cotton as his 4-H project.

The 16-year-old plans to enter college and, after finishing his education, work in the Baptist Foreign Missions program. Time and place has not yet been announced for the state meeting, at which Young will represent his district.

Funeral Services Conducted Friday For Lake Victims

Funeral services were conducted in the First Baptist Church Friday for two 16-year-old Friona youths who were drowned in Whaley's Lake Wednesday, June 8, about four miles north of Friona.

Services for Elmer Clarence Wilson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Winston Wilson, were held at 10 a. m. with the Rev. C. M. Fields of Slaton, the Rev. L. A. Sartain of Oklahoma City and the Rev. Russell Pogue of Petersburg, all former pastors of the Friona church, officiating.

Pallbearers were Floyd Reeve, Charles Ray, Lee Gibson, Tommy Roberts, Carroll Bennett and Larry Drake.

Honor guard members were T. I. Burleson, Earl Smith and J. C. Lane.

Honor guard members were T. I. Burleson, Earl Smith, J. C. Lane and Billy Dean Baxter.

Miller was born December 18, 1943 in New Orleans, Louisiana. He would have been a junior student this fall.

He is survived by his parents, two brothers, Roy V. Miller Jr., of Denver and Ross Miller of Friona; four sisters, Mrs. Mary Lou Glass of McLean, Mrs. Donna Mears of Borger, Mrs. Linda Tims and Janice Miller, all of Friona; his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Roysden of Ninnekah, Oklahoma, Mrs. J. F. Miller of Friona and a great-grandfather, Dan Roysden of Ninnekah.

Burial for both youths was in the Friona Cemetery under the direction of Claborn Funeral Home.

Murphree, the Claborn Funeral Home and members of the Friona Volunteer Fire Department were quickly on the scene. Small craft and grappling hooks were rushed to the lake and before both bodies were recovered, some 22 boats, including rescue units from Amarillo, and approximately 60 men, with firemen from Bovina and Farwell and skin divers from Hereford, took part in the search.

The body of Miller was first to be found. It was found at approximately 4 p. m. the same day of the accident, which was about three hours after the drowning. The body of Wilson was not recovered until 8:15 a. m. the following morning.

Some of the local residents who were present in the boats that found the two bodies were Earl Smith, D. C. Herring, Ray Castleberry, Doris Buske, Ralph Taylor and others. Over 500 people at one time stood on the banks of the lake and watched the search.

T. Dement Graduates Recently

Huey Tillman Dement, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ervin T. Dement of Friona, graduated from recruit training, June 3, at the Naval Training Center, San Diego, Calif.

The graduation exercises, marking the end of nine weeks of "boot camp," included a full dress parade and review before military officials and civilian dignitaries.

In nine weeks of instruction, the new recruit is developed into a Navy Bluejacket, ready for duty with the fleet.

Troop 56 Camps At Buffalo Lake

Sixteen Boy Scouts and three adults, spent Saturday night of last week camping out at Buffalo Lake. Hayden Cason, scoutmaster, Robert E. (Preach) Collier, assistant scoutmaster, and A. L. Carlton were the adults accompanying the group.

Scouts making the trip were Ronnie Brookfield, Mike Wilson, Wayne Cason, Ronnie Altman, Larry Hollis, Kenny Squyres, Richard White, Tim Rhodes, Jim Bob Jones and Terry Fite.

Also Tommy Jay Sanders, senior patrol leader, Darrell Collier, Jerry Don Carlton, Billy Edelman, Joe Don Edelman, Greg Jarrell and Kim Buske.

Four members of this troop, Tommy Jay Sanders, Jerry Parker, Ronnie Brookfield and Wayne Cason, have qualified for attending the National Jamboree at Colorado Springs July 20 through 30.

Scout leaders report that it is unusual for one troop to have this number of boys qualify for this honor. Scouts from all over the world will attend the jamboree and about 55,000 are expected to be present.

Still Undecided-

offered by the New York president John T. Brush, and from that date on, during wars and pestilence, the games have continued uninterrupted.

The New York Yankees, by the way, have garnered most of the series, winning 16 of them up to 1955, and I would venture a guess and say that most fans could have guessed that.

We mentioned that it is generally accepted that the game began in Cooperstown, thus it was only fitting that the Baseball Hall of Fame was erected there.

On the one-hundredth anniversary of the Doubleday venture, formal ceremonies at the hall took place, with Ty Cobb, Babe Ruth, Walter Johnson, Honus Wagner and Christy Mathewson the first five players selected to grace the halls of the building.

As the game grew in popularity, an increasing demand was made by the working public to hold the contests on days other than during working hours. As early as 1889, experiments were conducted with lighting the playing fields, but proved unsuccessful.

It was not until May 2, 1930, that the first successful night game was played at Des Moines, Iowa, pitting Wichita against the home team. Still, it was not until five years later, in May of 1935, that the Major Leagues held a night game, this at Cincinnati.

We said in the beginning the origin of the game is still in doubt. There are old English readers which refer to some of their children's games as "rounder" and "feeders." The descriptions of these games closely resemble the modern day version of our baseball. The stories date back to 1744 and longer.

The issue became so heated in 1907 that A. G. Spalding, former player and founder of the Spalding Sporting Goods Company, created a commission to study the origin of the game. This commission decided emphatically that the sport was American in origin, that Doubleday began it and that it was in Cooperstown in 1839. It is interesting to note that the commission consisted of former ball players and not scholars.

According to the reports still attainable on early day investigations, however, it is unlikely that Doubleday actually laid out a baseball diamond or that he

Army Pvt. Paul D. Coker, 23, whose wife, Margaret, lives in Friona, Tex., recently participated with other personnel from the 8th Division's 26th Infantry in Operation Bayonet Blue in Germany.

The field training exercise, conducted under realistic combat conditions, was designed to determine the effectiveness of units of the 8th Infantry Division, a major element of the NATO shield of defense in Europe.

Coker, who arrived overseas in April of this year on this tour of duty, is assigned to the Infantry's Combat Support Company in Baumholder.

The former Friona High School student worked at White Auto Store before entering the Army in November 1950. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. James R. Coker, live on Route 3.

Friona's Delegate Active At Boys State

JOBEY CLABORN

Jobey Claborn, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Claborn, took an active part in affairs during his recent stay at Lone Star Boys State at Austin. Young Claborn was sponsored by the local American Legion post. He returned home about 8:30 p. m. Saturday. Some of the highlights of the trip were: (1) he served as chief of police of Davis City; (2) he was the Whip of the Longhorn party; (3) he was a candidate for associate justice and advanced through two primary elections; (4) he was elected to serve in the House of Representatives and served as assistant adjutant general; (5) he met Governor Price Daniel and talked to him ten minutes.

On the humorous side, he was voted "most hated bugler." This came about as a result of the person responsible for awakening the buglers getting his time mixed up. One morning he awakened Jobey and he blew the bugle at 5:30 a. m. instead of 6:10 a. m.

Trip To New Mexico

(Editor's Note: The following report of a Boy Scout trip to Pete Buske's ranch near Fort Sumner was written by a member of the troop.)

The Scouts in Troop 53 met with three advisors at 1 o'clock Saturday to go to Pete Buske's ranch south of Fort Sumner. As soon as we got there we pitched camp and then went to seine minnows so that we could fish.

That night L. D. Taylor and Joe Mann caught four fish. For supper we ate steak and potatoes. We got a little rain and some heavy wind that night about 7 o'clock. Then we went fishing again after it quit raining. Then we went to bed about 11:45.

The next morning we got up and fished a little. Then we all cooked our breakfast which consisted of flapjacks, eggs, and bacon. After breakfast we had church service and L. D. Taylor gave the sermon. After church we went hiking to the edge of the mountains. We crossed a creek that was about 4 or 5 feet deep in the middle and it had about five or six rapids. After we got back to camp we pulled up camp and then fished awhile. Then L. D. took us out in a rowboat three at a time.

Then we had a dinner of steak, biscuits and a salad. Then we cleaned up the camp grounds and left. We stopped at Fort Sumner for cold drinks then went to the grave of Billy the Kid then left for home.

A TRIBUTE TO FATHERS!

There's an old saying that "mother knows best". Well it seems to us that Father, bless him, should come in for some compliments, too, once in a while. It is true, of course, that upon mother's patient shoulders rest the upbringing of the children. And that is as it should be. But let's not forget that Pops is generally the family breadwinner and it is up to him to pay the bills. When day is done and he comes home, make things as cheery and loving as you can. Have a nice dinner ready. Lay out his slippers and his beloved pipe. Show him how much you love him by being kind and considerate. He may not tell you how he appreciates these attentions. But he will... as all good fathers do!
