Several changes in ownership were made during the week with the first change in the Grigsby Grocery and Market. Men Serving In National Guard to Register If Dismissed

Men who have served in the National Guard are required to register immediately upon expiration of their service, even though they are not, under certain conditions, liable for further peacetime training and service under the Selective Service Act.

That was stressed today by General J. Watt Page, State Selective Service Director, who said that all such men should present themselves to a local board for registration immediately upon their discharge.

"The act is specific," General Page said, "in requiring registration of men within the age group of 21 to 36 who have served in the National Guard. Men who were members of the active National Guard on October 16, 1940, and who have completed six or more consecutive years, are relieved from liability for peacetime service and training, but they must register. Those who were members of the National Guard and have served less than six years are relieved neither from registration nor training."

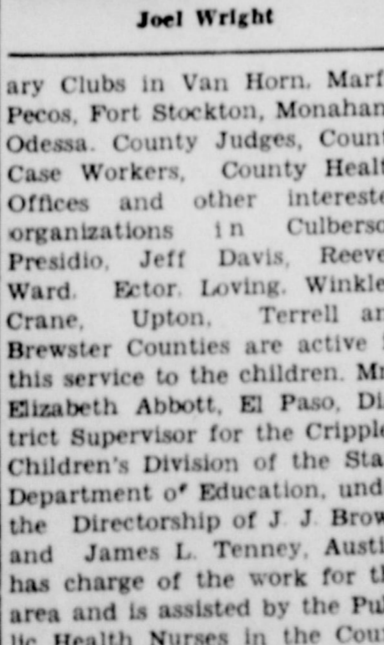

General Page said that his attention has been called to the fact that some men in the National Guard in federal service who have been discharged because of expiration of their service have not registered. They should do so immediately, he declared, and added that the war Department has now issued instruction that such men shall be notified by their organization commander at the time of their discharge of the necessity to register.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Cochran and son, Bill, and Mrs. J. S. Nance and daughter, Miss Ethel Laura, left Wednesday for San Antonio where they will visit a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Turk and baby attended the Jubilee at Brady during the 4th. Charlie won in the team trying one of the days he was entered.

W. B. BURLESON BUYS FRIEND'S VARIETY STORE

A deal was completed Thursday afternoon whereby Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Burleson became the owners of the Friend's Variety Store.

The firm was owned and operated by Mrs. Theresa Friend and son, Houston Stokes, who with A. P. Prater, established the business in Sanderson in March of 1938. They later bought the store from Mr. Prater and have owned and operated the firm since that time. Mrs. Friend will return to Sonora where she owns her home, and Mr. Stokes has made no definite announcement as to future plans but states that he will remain in Sanderson.

Mr. and Mrs. Burleson come to Sanderson from Lamesa where they have owned and operated a general mercantile business for the past 16 years. Previous to that time they were also engaged in public business and are well qualified as to the requirements needed to meet and serve the public in a business-like manner.

They will be assisted in the Variety Store by Mrs. Mabel Yeates and by Joe Alvarez who has been with the firm for the past several years.

More than sixty of these little cripples have had treatment since that day. More than $15,000.00 has been invested in this work by the Crippled Children's Division. The Alpine Rotary Club will pay all local expenses of the Clinic.

The Big Bend Medical Society will hear an address by Dr. Goodwin at its regular meeting at the evening following the Clinic. Many doctors from the area are expected to be in attendance at the Clinic and the Meeting. Those in attendance at the Society's Meeting will be the guests of the Doctors of Brewster County.

Fred Savage left Wednesday for a visit in Houston.

Contribution of Old Aluminum Utensils Asked

An appeal to rural people to contribute aluminum in a drive announced recently by the Office of Civilian Defense, has been made by Director H. H. Williamson of Texas Extension Service. Governor W. Lee O'Daniel has called upon county judges to assume leadership of the campaign.

County Extension agents have been asked to assist with this work as it relates to rural areas. Gathering of aluminum is to begin during the week of July 21, and according to the plan, local committees or 4-H Club members, home demonstration clubs, land use planning committees and other groups will call on farm homes in the community to collect the aluminum scrap.

Anything which is made of aluminum will do. Among the items suggested for donation are pots and pans, radio parts, toys, shakers, screening, old washing machine parts, picture frames, book ends, ice trays, measuring cups, camera equipment, kettles and double boilers, bottle and jar caps, refrigerator plates and electric appliances of all sorts.

Earlier the Office of Production Management had asked the citizens to defer collecting scrap aluminum until the week of July 14 and warned against "sharpsters" posing as legitimate government purchasers buying scrap. It is estimated that the campaign to collect secondary aluminum will result in obtaining 20 million pounds throughout the nation. This would result in the release of 20 million pounds of first-class metal for use in 2,000 fighter planes.

The metal collected will be to smelters at a special uniform price fixed by the government. Entire net proceeds will be in the proper defense of the civilian population.

Well Arranged Kitchen Saves Many Steps

Summertime may be the season for travel but not "kitchen travel" which refers to unnecessary steps and wasted energy in the preparation of meals.

Louise Bryant, Extension Service specialist in home management, says lost motion can be eliminated by efficient arrangement of the kitchen. This will make all meal-time duties—preparation and serving of food as the subsequent dish washing—less difficult she says.

Here are some tips on kitchen arrangement which will help reduce "kitchen travel":

If the stove, sink, and cabinet or work table are arranged around two or three adjoining walls unbroken by doors this will form a continuous working surface so that utensils will be more accessible.

If doors break into the wall space, a continuous surface may be provided by a drop leaf of a table mounted on casters.

If a working surface with cupboards above can be placed at the left of the sink, dishes may be put away as soon as they are dried without extra steps.

If all the doors opening into the kitchen are at end and there is no passage way through the work center, work is usually simplified. Where work centers cannot be conveniently arranged, a service wagon will cut down the travel, Miss Bryant pointed out.

W. E. James is in Austin this week visiting with Mrs. James and other relatives. His son, W. E. James Jr., with Mrs. James and baby son of Peacaonica, Ill., were enroute to Austin and stopped by for him Sunday. They visited in Texon with relatives Sunday and Monday before continuing to Austin.

Help Your Schools

Voters are called upon, at a special election to be held Tuesday, to express themselves as to whether they are for a slight increase of school taxes and a better school system, or against the additional increase which would mean that Terrell County Schools would face the loss of its present scholastic.

For the past two years or more it has been difficult to secure and keep efficient instructors in our school system because of the meager salaries paid. Capable instructors we have had, and still have, but many of the teachers have resigned during the term to accept better positions somewhere else, possibly in schools no larger than Sanderson but where salary is more in line with what it should be.

The matter of salaries is not the only thing to be considered in the desire to acquire more funds. Terrell County Schools at the present rank at the top, and to retain these high standards and efficiency of the system it has become necessary that more money be had. Thus, the necessity of the small maintenance tax which would increase the present rate of 55 cents to 68 cents.

Education of your children is an important matter. A job that should be done well if they are properly prepared to take over the responsibilities of life and fill their places as good citizens. Don't neglect them. Go to the polls Tuesday, July 15, and vote FOR.

AUTREY RIDES RIDES AGAIN IN NEW RANGE FILM

Gene Autry rides again — this is the clarion call that will bring patrons in droves to the Princess Theatre, where Republic's "The Singing Hills," is scheduled to open Friday for a two day run.

Autry, as forman of the Circle R ranch and head of the Cattleman's Association, is concerned over the future of his friends and associates when Jo Adams, youthful owner of the Circle R (played by Virginia Dale), announces her intention to sell the ranch to John Ramsay. Jo is young, frivolous and extravagant — sentiment means little to her, and she is unmoved by the fact that it has been a tradition in the Adams family, begun by her great-grandfather, the first owner of the Circle R, that its vast grazing land may be used as "free range" by all the ranchers in the neighborhood. If Ramsay succeeds in buying her out, he will close the free grazing land to the ranchers and they will lose their means of livelihood.

Simple Treatment of Homespun Theme In Scattergood Film

Second in the screen based on the famous Scattergood Baines stories of Clarence Budington Kelland, "Scattergood Pulls the Strings" proved to be a worthy successor to the first — and will doubtless prove even more popular. Guy Kibbee again plays the central character of the salty old philosopher-merchant of Coldriver.

This newcomer is characterized by the same simple treatment of a homespun theme — complications arising in the life of an American village — as has been observed in all the rendering of the Scattergood stories, whether in magazine, radio or film form.

Scattergood Baines, "the most famous storekeeper in the World," finds himself with a two-fold problem of human relationships when a runaway lad in search of his father comes to Coldriver, and two of the local younger set seemed destined to be parted by lack of funds for the consummation of their romance.

The manner in which the kindhearted sage of the small town manages to thwart the efforts of the community's busybodies to keep each pair apart makes for an enjoyable hour of entertainment.

Featured in a part destined to tug at the heartstrings of movie patrons, Bobs Watson, a young lad, lends his able support to the star Monte Blue, Susan Peters and James Corner are also new additions to the cast which brings back the favorites of the initial film, Emma Dunn, Dink Trout and Paul White. Rex, a cute mongrel, supplies much of the comedy.

Christy Cabanne directed "Scattergood Pulls the Strings," which derives its title from the
