TIME...

NOW DOUBLY VALUABLE!

World shaking events have placed a premium on time. It is no longer a question of whether things can be done. The problem is can they be done soon enough. Quick action is more essential than ever before. This applies to the nation as a whole... and to every individual.

You save time when you deal with your local bank, because of its nearness to you and the ability of its officials to take prompt action. Time is a national resource. To save it is to aid in defense. Every important banking service is available at this convenient location. We cordially invite your business.

A Smith returned home last Thursday evening from Washington where he had been for the past several weeks seeking a priority rating for the municipal power plant which was under construction here. Mr. Smith reports that a section of the War Production Board had rejected the city's application, and that the case had been appealed. He also stated that some four or five similar projects had been approved, but that he had no idea when the final decision would be made.

Leakey Leader—Due to a shortage of materials amounting to a total lack, REA work in the Frio Canyon which had been in progress for the past several months was closed down last week, and the workmen who had been living in Leakey were either transferred or have found work elsewhere.

Big Bend Sentinel, Marfa—A practice blackout for Tuesday night, April 28, at 9:30 and lasting fifteen minutes was announced this week by Lt. Col. Bertram Frankenberger, Post Commander, Fort D. A. Russell, for men stationed there.

Fort Stockton Pioneer—a large barn containing 13 saddles—five of them new—and a quantity of harness, spurs, chaps, saddle blankets and other ranch equipment were destroyed in a blaze of unknown origin Saturday night at 10:30 o'clock at the headquarters on the Elsinore Cattle Co. 20 miles southwest of Fort Stockton.

Two valuable horses also were burned to death, but a number of other horses were removed to safety.

Alpine Avalanche—A $1,880,000 improvement of important U. S. highway 90, east-west artery in the military network, has been approved by the federal government, it was announced in Austin last week-end.

Ninety-eight miles of the road from Houston to Alpine, the major part of the work—86 miles—in Brewster and Terrell counties is to be improved to conform to military standards, it was announced.

The work in Brewster County includes re-routing and rebuilding of five and one-half miles from the east edge of Alpine and re-building the remainder of the old road, paved nearly 20 years ago, from five and one-half miles east of Alpine to 14 miles east of Marathon.

Asherton Tribune—C. C. Caperton, manager of Asherton Municipal Airport, announced last Saturday that officials of the Civil Aeronautics Administration and Department of Commerce had inspected and approved the local airport and in the future the field will be used officially by the Army, Texas Air Patrol, Border Patrol, civilians, and for student practice flights.

EQUIPPED FOR A RAID—Reconnaissance missions call for alert minds and sharp eyes. Hundreds of infantrymen are receiving special instruction in this type of work to attain self-reliance and confidence. They carry side-arms instead of rifles.

TARGET FOR TONIGHT

(Friday & Saturday, May 1 & 2)

How does a pilot feel; what does a pilot do; and how does a pilot know where to go—on an air raid?

"Target for Tonight" in an instructive picture about the British Royal Force, and its raids on Nazi-occupied territories. There are no big name actors in it because its cast is the R. A. F., from mechanic to Commanding Officer. It is not a picture planned and carried through by script writers; but it is a case where a photographer accompanied an R. A. F. squadron in one of its many and thrilling forays on enemy depots, factories and military connections.

The "F for Freddie" is a bombing plane, unassuming by itself, but dreadful with its fellows in flight, and on it went raiding a cameraman. He made no difference to the pilots—they did the same work, they received the same fire, and they flew the same course as though he were a part of the regular equipment.

And "Target for Tonight" was filmed. Then the cameraman went back, having seen the deliberateness of the flyers, their confidence, almost cocksure, in what they were doing. And he filmed the procedure that goes before the flight. First reconnaissance: what should be bombed and where. Then planning the flight, a procedure that takes more time, study and men than the flight itself. And when all decisions are made, the party selected, and the planes moved up, another flight of R. A. F. takes off.

★ ★ BAHAMA PASSAGE

(Sunday and Monday)

The South Seas are romantic-point one; the South Seas are dangerous-point two; and the South Seas are unpredictable-point three.

Madeleine Carroll and Stirling Hayden went picture-making down in the lazy, carefree Bahamas. They decided to take a boat out to sea across to another island. They left and those behind began worrying when they didn't return in due time, and a search party went looking for them. They found them on an island marooned by a high tide. Both were tired and hungry, but they admitted "it was fun."

After that adventure they started on their picture, "Bahama Passage", and for once the actors felt how they should feel. It's a gangster picture with a lazy setting, and it'll have its fun as well as its frills.

Flora Robson and Leo G. Carroll are the menaces; Cecil Kellaway is the humor; and Mary Anderson, a very nice extra.

★ ★ RIDE 'EM COWBOY

(Wednesday and Thursday)

A rodeo setting with Abbott and Costello in the whirl is the centerpoint of the picture, and Dick Foran and Anne Gwynne do the romancing. Songs aplenty, topped by the almost forgotten "A Tisket, A Tasket" with the original Ella Fitzgerald, fill the show. The Merry Macs and a Ranger Chorus of 40 present the rest.

The theme concerns Abbott and Costello's method of bringing the hero out of a mess. It revolves around Foran's championship team, and the kidnapping of the principles by the rodeo gambler. And then came the Indians.

Cub Reporter: "How shall I handle the story about the two peroxide blonds who raised such a fuss at the ball game?" Editor: "Just say the bleachers went wild."

Teacher: "James, your report should be written so that the most ignorant can understand it." Jimmy: "Which part is it that you don't understand, teacher?"

"Was her marital trouble incompatible?" "No, just the first two syllables."

I've been there once, and it's such a nice little town. The people let you have anything and do anything. And it doesn't take much money. By the way I have to buy a horse and so could you send me five hundred dollars? Love, Jim

BROWSING IN THE LIBRARY

CROSS CREEK
By Marjorie K. Rawlings

CROSS CREEK, which might be called the "Florida autobiography" of the author, is the Cross Creek which is only a bend in the road in a country where a few Negroes and whites live. The villagers who live in Island Road, a nearby village, believe the people of Cross Creek to be crazy. A good description is given of the country around Cross Creek, which has many frogs, lizards and rattlesnakes. The author relates her experiences with the Negroes, who are religious as well as superstitious, and her adventures during her trip down the St. John River from Florida to Georgia. This book quotes a great many passages from the Bible as well as describes Cross Creek during the various seasons of the year.

LIFE OF A SENIOR

By Lois Bea Osgood

Simon Shaw, better known to his friends as Sambo, was born August 18, 1922, in Del Rio, Tex. Sambo finished school here in January and will receive his diploma with the other seniors in May.

Simon says he has one big ambition—to become head clerk in Mr. Smith's store in Dryden. He admits one bad habit—drinking—coca colas. Some of his likes are pecan candy, red beans and salt pork, blue (eyes), brown (eyes), and green (eyes), Hedy Lamarr, Mae West and cute blonds.

When you hear Simon singing "She'll Be Coming Around the Mountain," you know Simon has had a letter from his girl and is happy.

Well, Snooper had a shock. Joe Ross, Betty Frazor and Marshall Cooke report a profit on their dance.

That poor little baby—Joe Ross. He plays with anything—spoons, watches, etc., but the teachers must think they are just as cute by the way they take them away.

Can't someone find out something about Mabel? She isn't all that quiet, is she?

Since when has Loyd Deaton started spelling his name LOUD? Maybe it does fit.

Miss Nixon has Curtis under a spell since he let a "little secret" slip. Billie, and everyone else, has her curiosity up.

"And why," said the spider to the fly, "won't you go to the dance with me?" In the form of Janice and Marshall.

We wonder what Snooper Joe Ross had when Clara Alice begged him not to turn it in.

Who was the comely junior who crashed the senior party?

If everyone were as congenial as Maurine Cox and Ross U. this dreary old world would be a swell place to live in.

Boys say there should be more shows like "Swamp Water". The scary scenes made the girls a trifle more friendly.

That dazzling blond, Marybelle, can't someone catch up with her?

That dashing senior, Billie Jo, seems to be longing for her childhood days. We all agree though, cutting out paper dolls is fun.

"Flowers for the teacher", so someone remarked as Bland went by with a bouquet. However, he said they were for biology. We wonder.

Bill, you have Clara Alice wondering. Wondering about what? Consult Snooper for important information.

H. E. Girls Complete Dress-Making Work

The girls of Homemaking 1B have completed their dresses which they have been working on for about six weeks. On Friday, April 24, the girls styled the dresses and scored them with a score card which they had made out.

The girls learned that there are many things you have to consider in making a dress. First, your design, which is determined by figure, size and personality; second, your color, which is determined by figure, personality and own personal coloring; third, the material which should be sanforized, shrunken, color fast, durable, does not wrinkle easily and is easily laundered.

They also learned how size and personality affects choice of design and color. If you have large hips and want stripes, have them running up and down instead of around. Also, if you are large in size, you should not wear large flowers or checks, but wear dull colors. Your personality affects your design and color also. If you have a dainty personality, wear soft colors, and the design should be simple. If you are an athletic person you should wear the subdued colors and the design is more tailored. The dresses were selected to each girls own personality color and figure.

Virginia Byrd, who is large in size of delicate personal coloring and a somewhat quiet, sweet, schoolgirl personality made a dusty-rose, bottom dress trimmed in wine buttons and machine stitching.

Marilyn Blackwelder, who is medium size and is the more athletic type, made a dark blue dress trimmed in white rick-rack. It has a bolero to go over the dress.

-Billie Babb, who has a dainty personality, made a very simple dainty dress. It has a white background with light green flowers in it.

Clara Alice Bell, who has an athletic type personality, made a rose-jumper dress with a white batiste blouse.

Virginia Ruth Raney, who is the more athletic type, made a white and green tailored dress with vertical stripes.

Vima Cash, who has a dainty, quiet personality, made a pink jumper with bit white buttons on the straps.

The prices of the dresses range from $1.53 to $2.23. The estimated cost of ready-made dresses like the ones the girls made is from $2.00 to $3.50.

A sample score for dresses:

- I. Grooming (15)
- II. Hair: neat and becoming; make-up: nails; posture; accessories neat; dress pressed neatly suited to wearer (35)
- III. Design suited to figure and personality; color suited to personal coloring, personality and figure; Material suitable to design; Material durable and color fast.
- IV. Construction (50)
- A. Fit. B. Seams: even and straight; well stitched; well finished; pressed open. C. Hem: even; neat; wide enough. D. Fastenings: neat, securely sewn on. E. Placket: neat. F. Neck. G. Armhole. H. Pleats, darts, neat and finished.

Your Electrical Appliances and the War

BY JUNE 1, the manufacture of virtually all electrical appliances will have ceased for the duration. This action was taken by the War Production Board to conserve vital metals and to speed the conversion of the appliance industry to war production. Appliance manufacturers are cooperating wholeheartedly as their contribution to the all-out drive for victory.

How will the cease-production edict affect you? What can you do to assure a continuation of the necessary functions that electricity performs in your home? Here are some timely suggestions:

- 1 If you have appliances that are in good condition, keep them that way by giving them proper care and attention. Continue to use them for essential purposes, but avoid wasteful and unnecessary use that causes needless wear.
- 2 If some of your appliances need repairs, have them attended to now by a competent serviceman. Often a small part or a minor adjustment will make an old appliance as good as new.
- 3 If other appliances have outlived their usefulness and cannot be repaired, replace them now with best-quality new ones that will give you trouble-free service for the duration. We still have a stock of new appliances to meet essential needs and we will endeavor to take care of the requirements of our customers as long as our limited supply lasts.

It has always been our policy to help our customers make the best and most economical use of their electrical service and we plan to continue this policy to the fullest extent possible. We invite you to consult us or any electrical dealer regarding your appliance maintenance and repair problems. We'll help you in every way we can. We suggest that you try to make your present appliances last for the duration, but if you need new equipment, we urge you to buy now while stocks are available and you can purchase on present favorable terms. Waiting may entail disappointment.

WITH NEW REGULATIONS

Restricting new construction, we cannot stress too strongly the wisdom of keeping every piece of property you have in good repair—it will always be possible for you to do that, and with a scarcity of some materials already evident, you risk too much by not making economical repairs now.

There are few, if any, repair materials that we do not have in stock, or readily available. YOUR interest is ours, and we are anxious to serve every way we can.

Chapters to Make Mittens for Raid Demolition Squads

Washington, D. C.—Men in Great Britain's air raid demolition squads will be furnished with 40,000 pairs of heavy work mittens to be crocheted by Red Cross women volunteers from strong white cord, it was announced here.

These unusual mittens, of a type never before seen in the United States, were designed by a British woman chochet artist. Lady Reading, of the British Women's Voluntary Services, asked Red Cross Women here to help supply England's air raid wardens.

The gloves, crocheted of heavy white cord in a stitch that will not unravel if broken, are of the usual mitten type—one compartment for four fingers, and a second for the thumb. They are unusually flexible, will not absorb water, and will enable the demolition workman to move beams, stone, broken walls, glass etc., without injury to his hands. The Red Cross found no similarly strong glove manufactured in America, and it was decided to ask women, expert in crocheting, to make them. The Boston Metropolitan chapter will chochet 2,000 and other chapters are expected to rally crocheters to supply the balance. Prompt shipment of the gloves is asked by the W. V. S.

120 Persons Killed In Texas Fires First Three Months

Austin—Fire has cost the lives of 120 persons in Texas during the first three months of this year, Marvin Hall, state fire insurance commissioner, said this week.

From the list of fatalities by fire, Hall revealed that the year had a horrible beginning. Forty-one persons were burned to death in first 10 days of 1942, with a single fire resulting in seven deaths.

Twenty-eight persons died in eight fires which caused two or more deaths during the three-ties of the Christian faith.

At the close of the program, a large basket with a note in it was presented to Mrs. Holt, who, with her family, is soon to leave our community. The note contained directions for Mrs. Holt to follow, and after following them, her efforts were rewarded by a package. On this package were directions to another package. And on from one hiding place to another till her basket was full and overflowing with lovely gifts presented to her by her many friends.
