Mother Shipton Foretold Future Five Centuries Ago

(Taken from McCamey News)

If you are a comparatively young person, you may have heard somehow, somewhere of Mother Shipton's queer personage and her queer prophecy, or prophecies. If you are, like the present scribe, "rock-ribbed and ancient as the sun," you may even own a copy. Mine is very old and yellow and some of the words are blurred. The clipping was given to my mother when she was very young, and had endured some wear and tear even before coming into her possession.

According to tradition, Mother Shipton was born in Yorkshire, in England, July, 1488, and died about 1550. She was baptized Ursula Shipton, and later married a distant relative, Anthony Shipton. Ursula, herself, was said to be the child of Agatha Shipton and the devil. With a pedigree like that, it is not surprising that this lady turned out to be rather an unusual person and the fact that she escaped being burned for witchcraft or something, is not the least remarkable thing about her.

However, it is possible that her contemporaries did draw some distinction between prophecies and a witch. As far as we know, and a witch. As far as we know, (Continued to Page Four)

Parents-Teachers Hear Annual Reports At Thursday Meeting

The Sanderson Parent-Teacher Association met in regular session Thursday, May 14, with the meeting being called to order by the president, Mrs. Tol Murrah. Following the business session, the meeting was turned over to Mrs. H. E. Ezelle who was program leader.

The program was opened with prayer by the Rev. J. A. Bell. A radio skit was offered as the first number on the program with Jim Turner acting as master of ceremonies at the improvised microphone where the skit was broadcast as a radio program.

After an interesting article on "Constructive Leisure Time Activities", by Mrs. Ezelle, the president, again took charge and called for yearly reports of all officers. Mrs. C. P. Peavy gave an interesting account of her trip to El Paso where she attended the fifteenth district convention.

Mrs. Murrah recalled to memory the "fruit cake" she put in to cook last fall, in the form of the various departments of the organization, and expressed the hope that it had been a good cake and everyone had enjoyed their share. Mrs. J. W. McKee was in charge of the installation of new officers.

At the conclusion of the meeting everyone was given the opportunity of seeing the publicity book which tied with the book from Pecos for first place at the fifteenth district convention held in El Paso. Since no further competition was held in this district both books were awarded first place.

Room attendance was won by the first grade.

SUGAR ALLOWANCE FOR CANNING FIVE POUNDS TO PERSON

Each person is allowed five pounds of sugar yearly for canning and preserving purposes, according to information issued by Region Director Max L. McCullough of the Office of Price Administration. He advised that housewives should avail themselves of their sugar allowance so that ample canned stuffs will be in each home pantry.

"Any person who has issued a War Ration Book may apply the printed form or by letter to the local ration board for a canning sugar allowance," Mr. McCullough said. "Specific forms for this purpose will be provided later, but in the meantime, a letter of application will do."

He explained that such application letter should give clearly the name and address of the applicant, list the number of persons in the applicant's family and the number of War Ration Books they hold, and the purpose for which the extra supply of sugar is needed.

Copies of the printed form for this purpose—R-315—are being sent to all local rationing boards and will be made available to wholesalers, retailers, industrial and institutional users, as well as to individual household consumers.

At the same time, Mr. McCullough pointed out that retail grocers will not be permitted to maintain stocks of sugar they now have on hand which are in excess of the amount of sugar allowed them as "working inventories" under the rationing regulations.

"No grocer is required to surrender any present excess sugar inventory," he added, "but he cannot accept any future delivery of sugar until he has first turned over to his local board for cancellation enough War Ration Stamps or sugar purchase certificates to equal in weight value the excess amount of sugar his earlier inventory showed. The same rule applies to wholesalers."

HOW OLD IS THE SANDERSON TIMES

As stated in an article which appeared in last week's issue of the Times, an old copy of the Sanderson Times was handed us by Miss Ella Savage. This copy is dated Saturday, October 12, 1918, and is Volume 18. The number is missing.

Volume 18 would indicate that the Sanderson Times or its successor had been established eighteen years before, or in 1900. Present records and date lines of the Times indicate that the paper was established in 1908. The Times at present is in its thirty-fifth year, according to these records.

After noting the old issue of 1918 was Volume 18, the files were checked and it was discovered that in 1925 a second volume 18 was printed. If readers of the Times know in what year the first newspaper was published in Sanderson and whether it was the Times or a newspaper of some other name and later named the Times, the information would be greatly appreciated by the present owners. It's awful not to know how old one is—maybe thirty-five or maybe forty-two.

The hostesses served punch and cookies to nineteen guests.

Building Restrictions Do Not Prohibit Remodeling, Repairs

The recent conservation order issued by the War Production Board, restricting the use of lumber and building materials, has caused a great many people to believe that no civilian construction will be permitted for the duration of the war. This is not correct.

The order places absolutely no restriction on necessary maintenance and repairs to existing structures of any kind. In addition to this, the order permits construction of a new residence costing not more than $500.00, or alterations and additions to existing structures, costing not in excess of $500.00.

A farmer or rancher may build new barns, goat sheds, poultry houses, and any other type of farm building, except a residence, just so long as the cost of such building does not exceed $1,000.00.

A new commercial, industrial, or recreational building may be constructed if the cost is not in excess of $5,000.00.

The limits on costs as set by the order include both labor and materials.

The War Production Board recognizes the need for every property owner to maintain and keep his properties in good condition, hence there is no restriction set on such work.

Ten conferences are being held throughout Central, South Central and parts of West Texas in order that all officers might be able to attend them, Acers said.

Andrew Jackson finds trouble in this story that makes the Battle of New Orleans look like a rock fight. It's such a job he has that he has to call in reinforcements in the persons of George Washington, Thomas Jefferson, Chief Justice John Marshall, Jesse James, and other historical notables.

The occasion for the General's return to earth is that one of his ardent admirers innocently gets involved in some crooked city politics; and the General is handicapped by the fact that the fellow won't let him cut off the villain's head and get the trouble over with. The fellow insists that the job be done legally, which stumps the General, and he calls in the cohorts.

Brian Donlevy, 'The Great McGinty', is Andy Jackson's spirit; William Holden is the bookkeeper Andy wants to help; Ellen Drew is the girl friend who sometimes doubts the boy friend's sanity; and the cast further includes as Washington, Montagu Love; Thomas Jefferson, Gilbert Emery; and Jesse James, Rod Cameron. RUMMAGING through my desk the other day, I came across some snapshots of friends of mine made back in 1933.

If you don't think time flies... if you don't think this world ever changes... you ought to look at the women's hats and dresses in those pictures taken 9 years ago! Wow!

It gave me quite a start... and then it set me to thinking... and remembering! Lots of things sure happened in Washington... the turning point of the depression... and the coming of Repeal.

I remember the re-legalization of beer. It came before Repeal, when Congress amended the old Volstead Act to allow legal sale of "3.2" beer.

What talk and arguments they had in those days! One argument I remember well... was that beer would do a lot to help bring back prosperity. I wondered at the time whether that argument could be proved.

I thought about that other day, I decided to find out.

Well, I found out. I found out that legal beer since 1933. It has made a million new jobs.

According to one of the I've seen, beer has put 15 billion dollars into general circulation. Good that's a lot of money.

Beer is sold today in the Union. Every one from beer's job and I guess there's no denying it did its share in helping better times.

I'm glad it did, too, because such a pleasant, refreshing, and moderate people... likely to get you in trouble.

One member of the class did not appear on the stage, but he did as much or more to promote the success of the play than anyone else. The estimated cost ready-made ranged from $4.50 to $10.00. Mary Nell Higgins, a dainty person, made a dainty navy-blue dress with an eyelet embroidered collar. In THE MOON IS DOWN, Steinbeck has gone outside of America for his setting. The story opens in a small rural town in an unnamed country, which has been invaded by the Nazis. Since the way was paved for them by the local Quisling, the invaders meet little opposition as they walk in and take over. True to Nazi practice, the Nazi Colonel tells the mayor of the town that things will go easier if he will cooperate with them. The climax of the story comes when the passive resistance of the people breaks into a rebellion. The Nazis soon begin to go to pieces under the growing hatred of these liberty loving people. The Stars at Night Are Big and Bright On Seniors' Futures

Well, well, here it is 1952. Boy, I've enjoyed living all these years. Say, have any of you ever wondered what happened to the Seniors of '42? Well, the other day as I was sitting in my chair smoking my pipe, I began to day dream, had the nicest dream. If you would really like to hear it, I'll see if I can remember enough to tell the most important happenings. Well, it went like this. I was driving through down town New York City when my eye caught sight of a very large building, a beautiful one, too. I believe the name of it was "The Seniors of '42 Hospital." Well, you can imagine my surprise, so I drove over to the administration building and looked down the faculty list and there it was, sure enough, Doctor Wilma Josephine Corder, Superintendent. Of course we all knew her as Billie Jo. I went on down the list and found that Marybelle Hollebeke was head nurse, and Lois Bea Osgood was her assistant. As I was leaving the building, I saw another sign pointing to the basement of the hospital. Yes, there it was, believe it or not, "Theron Horton's Funeral Parlor." I didn't see the sales clogan of the hospital, but it must have been "We take care of you from the cradle to the grave."

As I continued my drive to town, I listened to a news report over my radio. I heard that James McDonald has been awarded the Congressional Medal of Honor for "service rendered above and beyond all call of duty." Think he's fighting about 40 miles from Tokyo, now. Boy, I'll sure be glad when this war's over. My tires are about gone. That reminds me, Sam Bell, certainly you remember him, has perfected the Guayule rubber, and we can have tires before long. On the same news report, I heard that Ross Stavley is the challenging fighter for Joe Louis' heavyweight crown. Here's wishing him lots of luck. Had a letter from Earl McDonald yesterday. Asked me what I thought of his running against O'Daniel for senator. He says that O'Daniel hasn't been cooperating with President Roosevelt. He thinks a man deserves some consideration after being president for 24 years. Well, Huck doesn't have a string band but I do think he'll be our next senator. Ran into Adeline McConaughy on 42nd and Broadway. She married into a socially prominent family. Was I surprised! She even spoke to me, hasn't changed a bit except that she's just lousy with money. J. D. Vincent is a master mechanic at Randolph now. I'd like to drop in on him and Betty sometime. Speaking of married people, Dick Hill is in that class. He's settled down and is doing some excellent ranching. I understand Patty Billings is keeping house now. You know who the lucky guy is. Went over to see Pablo Perez yesterday. He's playing professional football for the Green Bay Packers, now. What a player! Saw Anita Cardenas on the screen last night. She has certainly made Carmen Miranda look like an amateur. Charles Rogers (of the black hat) has taken Gene Autry's place in Hollywood. He's ranching on the side, too. Simon Shaw is really doing the business now. Suppose you know he has taken over Mrs. Crosby's place. Was down there a couple of weeks ago. Just like old times. You all remember Vima Cash. Saw her the other day, and she is happily married. She had heard from Mabel Northington. Mabel is manager of the Del Rio Winter Garden Telephone Company. Wish I had gotten Lord Deaton to write this for me. Maybe it would have been more interesting. I almost forgot to tell you, but surely you've read some of his articles. You know he's writing for the New York Times. I hope you've enjoyed this visit as much as I have. I'm glad they have all made a success. I know you don't believe what I have told you, but—wait ten years and see. Well, so long. I'll be seeing you.

As I Was Saying . . .

By Aynah Nemus

The street corner forum went the rounds tableless Tuesday on a discussion of the relative position of employer and employee. "I didn't hear the question," a late comer made the usual opening remark. "Well," explained the Rotarian, "We were wondering what the undertaker's assistant should do when his girl friend says, 'If you don't kiss me, I'll die!'" "Hmmm, that is a problem; or as that undertaker said when the corpse fell out of the car, 'We'll have to rehearse that.'"

"I think employees too often jump to conclusions," put in a grocery store owner. "For instance, yesterday morning when Mrs. H. Colby Jones and daughter, Charlotte, returned Monday from a two weeks' visit with Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Capehart in Austin. They were accompanied by Sanderson by Eldred Capehart, Mrs. Jones' brother, who will visit with them for a while. Mrs. T. R. Arrington has been in Fort Stockton visiting with her daughter, Mrs. Russell Walker and Mr. Walker. Mrs. D. A. Pollard of Del Rio visited here with friends the first of the week. Mrs. Mary Lou Keller returned home with her Wednesday. Johnny Cox and Mrs. Carlton White went to San Antonio Wednesday to be at the bedside of Hugh Cox, brother of Johnny. Mr. and Mrs. Joe F. Brown went to El Paso Sunday where they attended the funeral of a nephew of Mrs. Brown Monday. W. J. Ferguson Jr., who is stationed at Midland, spent the weekend here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Ferguson Sr. Mrs. P. G. Harris and daughter, Miss Emma Fay, spent the week-end in San Antonio with Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Brown. Mrs. M. L. Baker of Houston is here this week visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. P. G. Harris and family. She is a sister of Mrs. Harris. Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Murleson and Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Ford and baby went to Lamesa Sunday, returning home Monday night. Mrs. John Reininger spent Mother's Day in Marfa with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Elyson. Mrs. J. C. Green of Del Rio visited here Sunday night with relatives and friends. She was enroute to her home after visiting in Valentine. According to information received here by friends, Campbell Kerr won second place in the break-a-way at the rodeo held in San Antonio Friday of last week. There were about eighty contestants. His time was 4.10 seconds. Office Supplies at the Times. Sales pads at the Times.

one of my clerks came in at ten o'clock, I told him, rather sternly, 'You should have been here at eight,' and he said, 'Why, what happened?' Ya see what I mean?" "Yeah," put in a rancher, "Last week I told my green hand to round up a certain bunch of sheep, and he went out and sheared 'em to look like barrels."

"I'm an employee," said one fellow, flinching under scathing glances, "And I find that most employers expect too much. For instance when the boss asked me for two good reasons why I should have a raise, he didn't like my answer. I told him twins."

"I've got a solution," offered a farmer, visiting out west from East Texas. "That works pretty well. I let my hired hand work until he has earned enough and instead of paying him, I give him the farm and work for him. When I have worked long enough, I get the farm back, and he goes to work for me. That way, we never have to pay each other, and we're always working."

I don't believe anybody accepted his theory, but I did notice several, including the editor of the paper, studying about it. OLD JUDGE'S JINGLES I don't mind that my face ain't pretty; That it looks like I was hit by a car. I stand behind my face all day, It's them in front gets the jar.

General Wear Dresses Exhibited by HE Class

By Ivy Lou Phillips The girls of homemaking IIB class have completed their garments. Most of the girls made general wear dresses with exception of Ivy Lou Phillips who made a child's dress. Before making their garments, design, personal coloring, and what to consider in making a general wear dress were studied. They found a general wear dress may be worn for traveling, Sunday wear, or for shopping. It is simple and tailored. The cost of the dresses ranged from $2.12 to $4.65. The estimated cost ready-made ranged from $4.50 to $10.00. Mary Nell Higgins, a dainty person, made a dainty navy-blue dress with an eyelet embroidered collar. Maurine Cox, the informal athletic type, made a black and white sharkskin dress with a white dicky. She had black and white accessories. Maurine Frazier, the athletic type, made a white and red com-

Junior Red Cross Finishes Bottle Covers

The girls of the Junior Red Cross Chapter have completed their hot water bottle covers and card table covers. They have knitted thirty afghan squares and have made six card table covers, and twenty hot water bottle covers. The girls still have some afghan blocks to knit. They hope to have all blocks finished by this week so they can send them in to the Junior Red Cross headquarters. She had red and white accessories. Willie Faye Jeffers, the more dramatic type, also made a black and white sharkskin dress. She wore black and white accessories. Mabel Northington, the sweet, school-girl type, made a striped sport wear dress. Eloise Calzada, the dainty type, made a pale rose dress trimmed in white rick-rack braid. She wore white and pale rose accessories. Ivy Lou Phillips made a pre-school child garment.

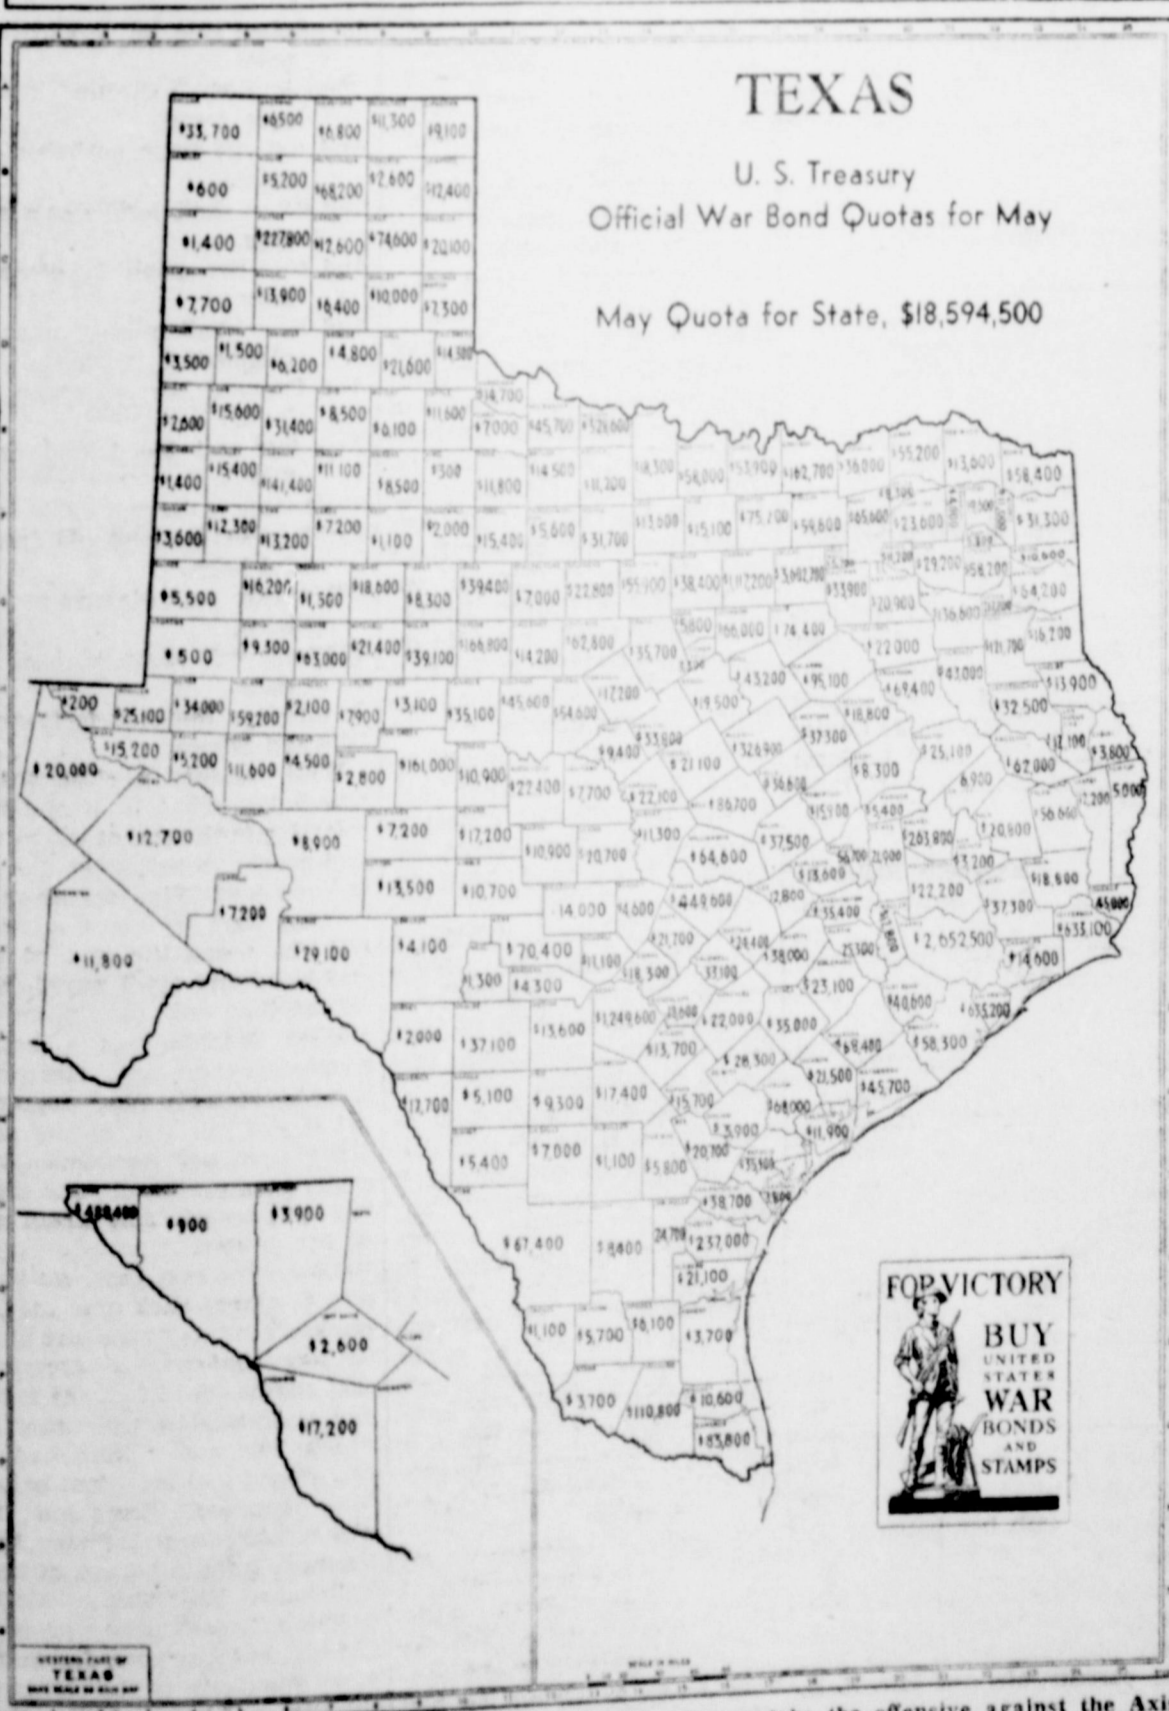

The Stars at Night Are Big and Bright On Seniors' Futures

Well, well, here it is 1952. Boy, I've enjoyed living all these years. Say, have any of you ever wondered what happened to the Seniors of '42? Well, the other day as I was sitting in my chair smoking my pipe, I began to day dream, had the nicest dream. If you would really like to hear it, I'll see if I can remember enough to tell the most important happenings. Well, it went like this. I was driving through down town New York City when my eye caught sight of a very large building, a beautiful one, too. I believe the name of it was "The Seniors of '42 Hospital." Well, you can imagine my surprise, so I drove over to the administration building and looked down the faculty list and there it was, sure enough, Doctor Wilma Josephine Corder, Superintendent. Of course we all knew her as Billie Jo. I went on down the list and found that Marybelle Hollebeke was head nurse, and Lois Bea Osgood was her assistant. As I was leaving the building, I saw another sign pointing to the basement of the hospital. Yes, there it was, believe it or not, "Theron Horton's Funeral Parlor." I didn't see the sales clogan of the hospital, but it must have been "We take care of you from the cradle to the grave."

Official U. S. Treasury War Bond Quotas For May

The above map of Texas shows the War Bond quotas, by counties, for the month of May, 1942. Total War Bond quota for the State is $18,594,500. Every income earner in the State is expected to step up War Bond purchases on a basis of ten per cent of more of income. This is necessary to help America's armed forces take the offensive against the Axis powers. The American voluntary method of War Bond purchases must be successful in reaching the county in set by the Treasury Department for every county in the nation. The job of every American now is to stop spending and save dollars to help win the War.

Word has been received by Mrs. John L. Newton that her brother, Jack Cavender, 31, was either lost or has been taken prisoner with the capitulation of Corregidor Rock. The Rev. and Mrs. Sam Bays, Mr. and Mrs. R. V. Raney and children, Mrs. O. H. McAdams and Mrs. W. J. Ferguson left Thursday for San Antonio where they will attend the Southern Baptist convention in session there Thursday and Friday.

ary funds allowed for Sul Ross College; special appropriation to repair roofs of buildings at Sul Ross College; allocation of Special Defense Zone funds for Brackettville schools; admittance of the San Felipe (Del Rio) School District to aid under the Rural School Aid Fund (the first time that a school district in West Texas has been approved for such aid); continuance of the special appropriation for Predatory Animal Control in West Texas; passage of a special law for Val Verde County regulating fishing in Devil's River waters; passage of special laws for Maverick County combining the County Auditor and County Treasurer offices for purposes of economy; and a general law permitting Maverick County to assess a 5c tax for parks maintenance.

Rep. Cal Huffman is 34 years old; married, and the father of three children. For the past twelve years, he has been managing editor and part owner of the Guide Publishing Company in Eagle Pass; also has been active in civic affairs as president of the Lions Club, two terms; president of the Eagle Pass Chamber of Commerce and of the Winter Garden District Chamber of Commerce. He received his education in the University of Texas and Fort Arthur Business College.

In announcing his candidacy for re-election, Mr. Huffman addressed the following appeal to voters in Terrell, Brewster, Val Verde, Kinney and Maverick Counties:

"This is to announce that I will be a candidate for re-election to the office of State Representative of the 87th District, in the coming Democratic primaries of July 25th.

"In this hour of national emergency, it is my opinion that the best State government is the best State government. For that reason, I advocate no new expenditures of any kind. In brief, my platform is: (1) To represent my District energetically and impartially as in the past; (2) To maintain such State services as we now have, in as economical a manner as possible, in order that the people will have more money to devote to National Victory.

"I base my candidacy on my record. If you believe that I have served you well and faithfully; if you also believe my earnest pledge that I will continue to do so, giving my best efforts to your problems and in those of my district, then I will need and will appreciate your vote and help on July 25th.

Sincerely,
Your State Representative,
CALVIN C. HUFFMAN
For District 87."

Mother Shipton—

this apocryphal, not to say mythical character died quietly in her bed, leaving a series of extraordinary prophecies. If they do not appear remarkable to us, it is because we are looking at them from the wrong end, so to speak.

The Prophecy:
"Carriages without horses shall go,
Disaster fill the world with woe,
Through towering hills proud men shall ride,
Nor horse or ass be by their side,
Around the world the men's thoughts shall fly,
Within the twinkling of an eye,
Beneath the water men shall walk,
Shall ride, shall sleep, shall even talk,
And in the air men shall be seen
In boats of yellow, red and green,
Gold shall be found in stream and stone,
In a far land as yet unknown,
In London Primrose Hill shall be,
Its center hold a Bishop's See,
In water iren shall float
As easy as a wooden boat,
Water and fire shall wonders do,
And England at last shall admit a Jew.

A house of glass shall come to pass
In England, but, alack, alas!
A war will follow, with the work
Where dwell the Pagan and the Turk.
Three times shall lovely, sunny France
Be led to play a bloody dance,
Before the people shall be free
Three tyrant rulers shall she see,
Three rulers in succession be,
Each sprung from a different dynasty.

Then when the fighting all is done
Britain and France shall be as one,
The English rose shall next entwine
In marriage with the German vine
And in the strange and far-off days,
The women shall adopt a craze
To dress like men, and breeches wear
And shear their lovely locks of hair.

They will ride astride with brazen brow,
As witches ride on broomsticks now,
Then love shall die and marriages cease,
And nations wane as babes decrease,
And wives shall fondle cats and dogs,
And men live much the same as hogs.

And then shall mighty wars be planned,
And fire and horrors sweep the land,
And tax and blood and cruel war
Shall come to every humble door
As Mars shall sound his dreadful horn,
Old worlds shall die and new be born,
The end will come, and all be done,

"In nineteen hundred forty-one"
Hits and Misses
H'm! Rather a close shave, wasn't it? That is, if she was referring to the end of the world, and people talked about it a lot in those days. Well, we are safely past that by some months. Did she mean the end of tax and blood and cruel war? She missed that one, too. Even so, Mother Shipton was a better prophetess than poet. Her verse is uncomfortably near doggerel, but if you will look at the prophecy from her viewpoint, it is pretty neat prediction, and must have put considerable strain upon her powers.

Ours is the easy part. We have only to glance back over the remarkable events of the last three or four centuries to ascertain that she has got in all the facts, and generally in the order in which they came. She had to look ahead and see them before they happened. Some job. So why quibble about the very first prophecy being a bit out of line.

"Primrose Hill" was in Mother Shipton's day, miles outside of London, but has been for many years practically in the center of the city. . . I have a feeling that she thought that one about "in water iren then shall float, as easy as a wooden boat" was pulled out before. Small wonder. Even though I have lived to see this prediction fulfilled, it makes me nervous to have people ex-

Mrs. Harman Cox of San Antonio, who has been here with her son, Hugh Cox, was carried to a Fort Stockton hospital Monday and underwent a major operation there Wednesday.
