Fireproofing of Cotton Materials Easy Says Specialist

Fireproofing clothing, curtains and other household fabrics is quite simple.

Mrs. Bernice Claytor, specialist in home improvement for the A. and M. College Extension Service, says the prevention-wise homemaker can fireproof any cotton fabrics which water will not damage. This is done by dipping them in a solution of borax and boric acid and water.

It is necessary to re-dip the cloth whenever it is laundered, because the solution washes out.

Make a solution of seven ounces of borax, three ounces of boric acid, and two quarts of hot water," the specialist directs. "Keep stirring it until the water looks clear. Then dip the article you want to fireproof into the solution just as if you were rinsing it in water. Wring it out, hang it up to dry, and press in the usual way with a warm iron."

Here is one caution the specialist offers. The cloth must be dry when it is dipped—for otherwise the solution will be diluted and much less effective.

It is practical to fireproof such things as a man's work suit this way, or curtains for the kitchen, a cotton rug which lies in front of the living room fire, cloth pot lifters, an ironing board cover, or cotton insulation, Mrs. Clayton says. She adds that it is also possible to fireproof large articles of cloth such as upholstery, slip covers, or large rugs by spraying the solution on them.

SOLDIERS HAVE REAL THANKSGIVING DINNER

Pvt. Ethan McGee, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. McGee, of Sanderson, who is stationed at Fort Sill, Okla., writes his parents that he and his companions had a real Thanksgiving dinner with turkey and dressing and all the good things that go with it.

The menu, according to his letter, consisted of fresh mixed fruit juice cocktail, cheese crackers, celery curls, assorted olives, roast young turkey, cornbread dressing, gibley gravy, cranberry sauce, snowflake potatoes, candied yams, buttered frozen string beans, hot cloverleaf rolls, butter, pumpkin pie, vanilla ice cream, fruit cake, mixed nuts, assorted candies, coffee and cigarettes.

Parents with sons and relatives in the services will also be glad to know that this same menu was served at all army camps and training stations over the United States.

Miss Bertha Clark Lassiter was an Alpine visitor during Thanksgiving.

CAUSE FOR PRIDE

One of the most fantastic stories of the war has not been told and will not be told until the guns are still. That is the story of the air transport. Much of the fighting now taking place in far-away corners of the globe, in steaming jungles and on minute islands, primarily is to determine who shall control the strategic air routes of the future. Fortunately for this country, the commercial airlines had progressed far ahead of any other nation, and with the arrival of hostilities were in a position to render invaluable service.

It is largely airline pilots who in close cooperation with the Air Transport Command of the Army under the leadership of Major Harold Lee George, are blazing trails over the seven seas and all the continents. These pilots and the managements back of them who built the airlines, can rest assured that the dangers and tribulations they suffered in pioneering air operations were not in vain. As the U. S. News observes: "The number of planes leaving each day for Alaska, for England, for South America, for Africa, for India, for China and for Australia is a military secret. But it is no secret that the schedule calls for hundreds of flights every day, and that the number is growing swiftly. It is no secret that the fleet of hundreds of cargo planes in service this year is expected to grow into thousands by the end of another year."

Those who feel that the airlines should be militarized for the duration, are losing their American perspective. If the airlines had failed to measure up to the tasks imposed on them, such a position might be justified. But they have not failed. We are fighting this war to save private enterprise, not to destroy it. Every pilot who wears the uniform of a commercial airline can be doubly proud. He is carrying on a military mission against the enemy, and as a civilian he is helping mightily to preserve a nucleus from which the airlines can expand in the peace to come, over the entire world, bringing to all peoples a good example of what the free institutions of America can do.

A DIFFERENT STORY

Freezing labor in highly-paid industries is a far different story than freezing low-paid labor on the farm. John Brandt, president of the National Co-operative Milk Producers' Federation, points out that "farm labor frozen into its job would be taking advantage of the situation. Men forced to stay in farm jobs at fixed prices, while industrial labor enjoy high wages, short hours and luxury living, can be expected to become resentful and shirk their work.

"If American farmers are going to be able to produce enough food to win this war, it is time Washington took a realistic attitude toward agriculture and adopted a program that will be practical, workable and really helpful to the farm men and women who ask for only two things: the same consideration that labor receives; and an opportunity to help win this war by cessation of bureaucratic theorizing, regimentation and interference."

TOP RADIO STARS IN "HERE WE GO AGAIN"

Topping their last season's film vehicle in every respect, Fibber McGee and Molly and Edgar Bergen and Charlie McCarthy hit a new high in screen comedy with their "Here We Go Again", which comes to the local Theatre Wednesday and Thursday.

As in their previous picture,

Crystal City, which was built several years ago, was recently taken over by the government and work is now under way to convert it into a concentration camp for Japanese aliens according to available information. We understand that the camp will accommodate approximately 500 people at the present time, but it is expected that additional grounds, and equipment will be added and eventually the camp will house approximately 2000 aliens.

What You Buy With WAR BONDS

A Flying Fortress is to America's air fleet what heavy artillery is to the Army. This gigantic four-motored bomber, equipped with heavy cannon, carries about three tons of bombs and reaches a speed of about 300 miles an hour.

These ships carry a crew of seven to nine men, weigh about 22 1/2 tons, have a wing spread of 165 feet and each motor develops 1,000 horsepower. We need more of these "Flying Fortresses" to compete with the Nazi air force. You can help by investing at least ten percent of your income in War Bonds every payday. ### THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...

"I couldn't help overhearing you, Mary, when you asked Jim here why they let the liquor companies use sugar to make whiskey when all the rest of us have to cut down on it. I happen to know the answer to that. "You see, the fact of the matter is, the industry never has used a single pound of sugar to make whiskey. The bootleggers were the only ones who used sugar to make whiskey. On top of that, there's not a single large distillery in the country making whiskey any more. They're all working day and night making war alcohol for the government for gunpowder, synthetic rubber, chemicals, and medical supplies. "Just as I told Ed down at the courthouse this morning, the government simply wouldn't be able to get all this alcohol it needs in time if we didn't have these distilleries available and on the job."

MAKING THE MOST OF YOUR LIGHTING.

(No. 4 of a Series)

Use One Large Bulb Instead of Several Smaller Ones

Offhand it would seem that four 25-watt bulbs would produce the same amount of light as one 100-watt bulb. But such is not the case. A 100-watt bulb produces as much light as SIX 25-watt bulbs, yet uses one-third less current. Therefore, when practical, always use one large bulb instead of several smaller ones of same total wattage and you'll get more light for your money.
