A GOOD $10 BILL

In these days when money is talked about in astronomical figures, a $10 bill still looks pretty good to most of us. It does something at once in terms of food or clothing to buy. It does something beyond most other bills, just something super-people, that the government deals with.

Did you ever wonder how much larger a billion dollars is than a million? It takes just as many millions to make a billion as it does pennies to make a $10 bill. Or figure it this way: When our government debt comes 358 billion dollars, as Senator Byrd says it will, we divide the amount by America's 135 million population and find that the debt exceeds $2,500 for every person living in the United States; $10,000 per family of four. Then we begin to wonder what this war means in money; why we should work to bring it to an end.

But big as this debt will be, we can pay it if we can keep business and industry going full blast in peacetime as well as in war time. And this leads us into post-war planning. If war does not last too long, there will be a short time, right here it closes when we Americans will have more money saved from full employment than there will be things to buy. But this will only make for a post-war boom, an inflation to be followed by depression unless we are ready now to keep factories up and payrolls alive.

But keeping factories running and the country prosperous calls for a lot of things. First of all, the government should do its part. Government has to give business its chance.

Simple Recipe
Sound Post-war prosperity does not depend on any one thing, but on a combination of many things. Some of these are: to understand and can be controlled, which is good. For instance, the quick change-back industrial machinery to civilian use, so it can serve as a part of our free economy—that's an aim we will all approve, I am sure. It means jobs. It means income for workers, goods to buy and markets for what the farmers grow.

How fast this change-back can be made, and how well, depends almost wholly on the government, on the policy it adopts in terminating war contracts, that it does with government-owned tools and equipment now covering many acres of factory floor-space; how it gets rid of large stock-piles of war materials, and how it uses the billion of dollars worth of government-owned factory buildings.

There is a common-sense way to solve all these problems and will not gum-up the workings of open competition. After the government should not hold back money due on war contracts until the last rivet is packed, (2) leave government-owned tools and equipment in the plants to hinder immediate conversion, (3) glut markets with cast-off goods nor start projects to plague legitimate business.

Freedom From Fear
Simple and vital as all these matters sound, they still can get bogged down in the marshes of bureaucracy. There should be a policy to prevent it. Only Congress can make certain that the first necessary steps are being to give America victory peace as well as in war.

Will American workers be jobless when peace comes? Must American farmers expect their things to cease when firing ceases? Neither is necessary. Think Congress ought to take action now, before a crisis arises, that an unmistakable policy exist to be enforced. . . .

of us will be glad when we

TWO YOUTHS ARE APPREHENDED HERE IN STOLEN AUTO

Robert Lawson and Walter Keister, both about 18 years of age and both from the state of Ohio, were apprehended here the first of last week after they had stolen a 1941 Buick coupe at Marfa. The local sheriff's department was notified to be on the lookout for the boys and they were located about midnight. When officers took up the chase the boys sideswiped an electric light pole just at the west edge of town, abandoned the car and fled in the darkness. One of the youths was taken from a train headed east at about four o'clock that morning and the other was captured late in the afternoon when he thumbed a ride toward Ded Rio with Sheriff J. S. Nance. He had hidden out during the day and just before dark had ventured onto the highway in an effort to catch a ride east. The first car to offer him a lift was that driven by the Sheriff.

No great damage was done to the automobile other than a bent up body when they failed to stay clear of the post. Sheriff T. C. Taylor of Marfa came for the two men returning them to that city.

SELECTIVE SERVICE BOARDS TO REVIEW ALL DEFERMENTS

Local Selective Service Boards have been ordered to review promptly deferments of agricultural workers because of the sharp curtailment of available manpower for the armed forces. Selective Service has announced, "It is not expected that local boards will defer or continue to defer a registrant as necessary to and regularly engaged in agriculture unless by his own personal and direct efforts he produces 16 or more war units each year," Selective Service asserted.

About 1,700,000 men in agriculture were deferred in class II-C and III-C as of January 1, 1944. Of this total, 400,000 are single men below 22 years of age and more than one million are non-fathers. In all other war production and war supporting activities less than 125,000 non-fathers below the age of 22 were deferred as of January 1, 1944.

J. H. Hinson of Atoka, Oklahoma, arrived Wednesday for a visit here with his sons, Davis and Buck Hinson, and daughter Mrs. S. L. Stumberg.

DIRECTORS SHEEP, GOAT RAISERS TO MEET IN SONORA

Several important matters with reference to wool promotion, the 1944 wool purchase program and the disposal of foreign and domestic stockpile wools will be discussed. Texas wool growers are deeply concerned over the disposal of present and future domestic wool stocks owned by the Commodity Credit Corporation.

During the one day meeting association Directors will be guests of the Sonora Lions Club for a noon-day steak dinner to be held at the Sonora Wool and Mohair Company. The Fling Ding Club will hold its annual dance on the night of March 4 in honor of the Directors and visitors. The Women's Auxiliary will also meet during the day and additional entertainment is being planned for them.

DO YOU WANT THIS?

One of the paragraphs of the "economic Bill of Rights," which President Roosevelt in his recent message to Congress urged "to explore means of implementing," was: "The right to adequate medical care and the opportunity to achieve and enjoy good health."

A bill to implement this "right" actually has been introduced in Congress. This is the Wagner-Murray Senate Bill 1161.

This proposes to use $3,000,000,000 a year to establish a huge scheme of socialized medicine, known as the Wagner health plan.

Who is to provide this money?

The contributors to a vastly enlarged social security levy; that is, the workers and employers.

But what the employers pay will be expense of industry, to be billed back in large measure to those who finally consume the products of industry.

So the simplest way is to say this $3,000,000,000 would be a charge against the people.

The question for the people to decide is whether they want money which they earn and might spend for doctors, hospitalization and medicine taken out of their hands and placed in the federal treasury to be spent under a politician-controlled set-up?

That implies a good share of the money will be wasted, since political management is wasteful management.

Government is loath to pay the salaries required to obtain and keep the best men. But it is lavish in employment of a horde of politically recommended "workers."

This bill would also concentrate in the hands of a single individual, the surgeon general of the United States Public Health Service, these enormous powers!

Powers to make or break any doctor in the United States.

Power to maintain or destroy medical schools and hospitals.

Power to decide how many patients a particular doctor may serve, and how much the doctor is to be paid.

The sop is offered that you can choose your own doctor. But that obviously would not fit into the system and would certainly become a dead letter.

That the bulk of the medical profession will oppose such a law is obvious.

The important thing is for the people, who will pay the cost, to realize in time what the bureaucrats are trying to put over on them—and kill the scheme.

Do you want to contribute to such a system?

DRAW THE PURSE STRINGS

According to the National Industrial Conference Board, private debt was reduced by almost two billion dollars during 1942, with a further reduction likely in 1943. Meanwhile, public spending and public debt soared to dizzy heights. This a continuation of a trend that has been in evidence for more than a decade. The initiative and productive capacities of private citizens have been increasingly displaced by government. War has greatly speeded the trend. If you happen to be a socialist, you will be cheered by the prospects. But if you believe in private enterprise and the superiority of individual opportunity, you will look upon expanding centralized government with a chill.

Shrinking private debts mean that fewer new enterprises are being launched by individuals. Opportunity and savings are not available to start anything new; old, established industries are not expanding with private capital. In short, it means if the trend continues there will be fewer jobs in private industry, which is the same as saying there will be more and more jobs on the government payroll.

After the war, the purse strings must be drawn on the spenders or they will tax away our initiative and our freedom.

A movement has been started among the states to limit the taxing power of the Federal government. Fifteen state legislatures have passed resolutions for a Constitutional amendment to restrict Federal income and inheritance taxes in peacetime to twenty-five per cent. Such an amendment would not take away the power of the government to levy taxes for needed revenue. It would take away the power to destroy taxpaying industries.

WAS IT YOURS?

Youngsters get a thrill out of watching a paper box burn on a bonfire. They love to watch the thick curling smoke and the sudden burst of flame. Their parents could learn a lot from those boxes. Houses burn the same way—at the rate of one every other minute. Sixteen people a day are turned from living beings to corpses, in the ashes of these houses. Annual property loss from dwelling fires exceeds $100,000,000. Most of this loss in life and property is attributable to ignorance and carelessness in the home.

Not long ago in Detroit two boys sharing a second floor bedroom were found dead in the upper hall by firemen responding to an alarm. Their death was wholly unnecessary. Instead of going out the open window of their bedroom, they attempted to flee down the stairs. They were met by superheated gases of 1,000 degrees flooding the upper areas of the house. They died instantly. They had never been taught that in a burning house the stairwell is usually converted into a flue. And they didn't know that when a bedroom door is hot to the touch it's a sure sign that it is fatal to open it.

The lesson from such a tragedy is obvious. Every family should be familiar with simple precautions that safeguard life in the event of fire, and of greater importance, prevent fire from starting. Most fires break out in defective chimneys or in faulty furnaces and heating pipes. Heating systems should be cleaned and checked periodically. Basement, ceilings and walls should be protected with a double coat of high grade cement plaster on metal instead of wood lath. There should be a clearance between furnace and ceiling of at least 30 inches, with proper insulation of heat pipes which pass through wooden partitions.

WITH OUR NEIGHBORS

Fort Stockton Pioneer—David Lincoln Stoddard, 11-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Stoddard, has been acclaimed the youngest aviator and was featured in a recent Universal newsreel shown this week at the Pecos Theatre. When most boys are mastering model aircraft this lad has had the fortune of receiving flight instruction and now has more than 40 hours of solo flying time. He pilots a plane and is getting the 'hang' of navigation by learning to chart his course from maps. He was eleven Saturday but was 10 years old when the movie was made. David doesn't hold a pilots license yet, though many experienced flyers say he is well qualified to get it.

Brackett News-Mail — Construction work on the foundation for the new colored school house, to cost approximately $15,000 and to be built through PWA funds was started last week-end on a government work order.

Wink Bulletin — Winkler County has done it again! Last official figures—and still not complete, shows that the $130,000 overall quota has been oversubscribed by 167 percent in the Fourth War Loan Drive, which closed Wednesday.

In the last drive—the Third War Loan Drive—Winkler County raised 154 per cent of its quota.

Alpine Avalanche—With the graduation of Class No. 7, Feb. 2, Wac Training branch No. 7, Army Administration schools, located at Sul Ross college here, disbanded and the training personnel transferred to assignments throughout the Eight Service Command.

The last of the school's personnel, a few officers and enlisted women, left here to close up the final details, departed this week.

Ozona Stockman — What might have been a disastrous fire, endangering the lives of residents of the upstairs apartments in the post-office building and property in the entire business district of the town, was narrowly averted Saturday night by timely discovery of a blaze in the mailing chute at the Ozona post-office.

Believed of incendiary origin, the fire destroyed or damaged a number of letters and other pieces of mail dropped into the chute during the afternoon and evening by Ozonans, mail destined for dispatch with the outgoing mail the following morning. The blaze had gained considerable headway, in fact was on the verge of igniting the wooden partition which separates the lobby from the post-office working quarters when persons leaving the theater entered the post-office and discovered the fire.

THANK GOODNESS

... here's one item that hasn't gone up!

Electricity is an exception among rising living costs

Electricity is one bright spot in these days of rising living costs. Food, clothing, rent, furnishings, almost everything else you buy has gone up — except electricity.

Like your own living costs, our taxes and operating costs have risen sharply since the war, but in spite of this fact electricity was never cheaper than it is today. The average residential customer of this company is getting about TWICE as much electricity for his money now as he did 15 years ago.

Perhaps you haven't noticed much of a change in your monthly bill, because you have been adding lamps and appliances all along, but the saving is there just the same. The dollars you spend for other things buy less and less, but your electric dollar buys more today than ever before.

From where I sit...

by Joe Marsh

Bob Newcomb was reading me a letter the other day—from his son in the Marines. Dick Newcomb's somewhere in the South Pacific, thousands of miles from home, yet he writes to ask: "Tell me, Dad, do they still pitch horseshoes back of Ray's? Is Johnny keeping my tools in shape? Are the trout still biting in Seward's Creek?"

Makes you realize what the men over there are thinking about. Sure, they're fighting for Democracy and Freedom and a Better World Tomorrow.

But the things they dream of coming back to are the little simple pleasures that mean home to all of us—like a home-cooked meal, a glass of beer with friends, a game of horseshoes in the backyard.

From where I sit, one of our most sacred obligations here at home is to keep those little things exactly as they remember them—to keep intact the world they're fighting for.

THE EAGLE NEWS

EDITED BY STUDENTS OF THE SANDERSON HIGH SCHOOL

HOMEMAKING NEWS

Magazines We Read" was the subject of the program of Unit of the Future Homemakers of America at their meeting Thursday, February 17. Roll call was followed with the name of a magazine taken at home. Margaret Davis was leader of the program. Graciela Hernandez reported on the number of magazines taken by the school. Several members listed magazines taken at their homes and gave reasons for their selection. "Life", "McCall's", "House Keeping", "Ladies Home Journal", "Readers Digest", "Colliers" and the "American" were some of the most popular magazines read by the members.

VISITORS

Mrs. Anderson, sister of Mrs. Hartney and her two children, Lou and Paul, are visiting from Columbus, Ohio.

Homemaking II have begun construction of general wear dresses. These dresses made of material is the class' project.

Pajamas, cotton school dresses and a jumper were chosen for girls in Homemaking I for their first project.

Most of the girls in Homemaking II have chosen to make skirts. Several girls chose jumpers or pinafores and chose to make a dicker that is worn six different ways. This project was started on Wednesday, February 23.

The Reds and Blues are organized in almost all departments and much interest is being shown in the contests which are being held. So far the most interest has been shown in the basketball game.

In the boys' basketball game Tuesday at the high school the score was 22 to 6 in favor of the Reds, but the Blues staged a come-back on Friday when the boys won the relay race and also in the jumping.

SEEING THE SENIORS

Another senior we want you to know—as if there were anyone in town who doesn't know him—is David Duke.

David was born on January 31, 1927, in San Antonio, Texas to Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Duke.

David is a very friendly boy with black hair and brown eyes, and is always willing to do anything for anybody.

David began his education in Sanderson and will graduate here this year. His plan after graduation is to study law. (We all wish you luck, David.)

Now for some of David's favorites—dancing as a favorite pastime; potato salad and coconut cake as his favorite food; "Inside Asia" by John Gunter as his favorite book; Maurine O'Hara as his favorite movie star; "My Ideal" as his favorite song; English Literature as his favorite subject; football as his favorite sport; and navy blue as his favorite color. David is the proud owner of a collection of match folders, stamps, and music. David says his pet peeve is broken shoe strings, and we notice he has quite a bit of trouble with them.

David has been very active during his school life. He has been in the band for six years; has played football; has entered declamation; was a member of the news club and has been a reporter during his Junior and Senior years. He was an entertainer at the Coronation of the Queen; and was in the Junior play, and, we imagine, will be in the Senior play.

David Duke has been a great addition to Sanderson Grammar and High Schools. Here's wishing you good luck after graduation!

This week we present to you that ever sweet and lovable senior girl, Maurine Cox. Maurine was born September 20, 1926 in Georgetown to her proud parents Mr. and Mrs. H. V. Cox. Maurine has brown hair and brown eyes and as I've said before she is a very sweet and lovable girl with loads and loads of friends. Maurine's ambition, is to become a nurse and it seems as though her wish will be fulfilled because she plans to enter the P. & S. Hospital in San Antonio after graduation.

Maurine began her education in Sanderson in the first grade and has been with us ever since. She has added much happiness and many smiles to the school. With her will go the best wishes of the school and fellow classmates, as she leaves the school in the spring.

For her favorites Maurine picks dancing for her pastime; Mexican food as her favorite eating; "To Have and To Hold" by Mary Johnston as her favorite book; "Begin the Beguin", as her song; riding a bicycle and playing tennis as her favorite sports; shorthand as her favorite subject; and, as we thought, red as her favorite color. Maurine's pet peeve is conceited people and her hobby is keeping as many scrap books as possible, which we can readily see by the ones she carries around with her.

During her years in school Maurine has been very active in school events. She was in the pep squad, choral club and Secretary of Freshman class, all

AT THE PRINCESS—

"SALUTE TO THE MARINES" IS TWO-FISTED ACTION FILM STARRING BEERY

As timely as a military communique, "Salute to the Marines," Wallace Beery Technicolor starrer, is tender, inspiring story of American heroes and is showing at the Princess Theatre Sunday and Monday.

A dramatic picturization of the U. S. Marine Corps, "Salute to the Marines" marks Beery's thirtieth year in pictures and one of the most colorful roles of his career.

The film also brings Fay Bainter, beloved and renowned stage and screen actress, and Beery together on the screen for the first time. Beery portrays a hard-bitten, lusty and garrulous Marine Sergeant, veteran of 30 years' service. Miss Bainter is his peace-loving wife who persuades him to retire to a soduring the freshman year. As a sophomore she was in pep squad, choral club, and Morse code club. She also participated in declamation. Again she was an officer, this time being secretary-treasurer of the H. E. club. The Junior year proved even a greater one for Maurine. She was vice-president of the class; she was in choral, band, and volleyball; she was also the majorette in band and Dutches of the Junior Class at the Coronation of the Queen.

This being her last year she is Sec.-Treas. of the Senior Class; President of the Press Club; a pep leader and majorette in band. Maurine was usher at the coronation which was held at the beginning of the first term in '43.

All in all Maurine has been an outstanding student in school and has been very successful. We hope her very best after her departure from high school.

Action-packed, two-listed and replete with Beery humor, "Salute to the Marines" shows the leathernecks in the Philippines. The story centers about Marine sergeant Beery, but it also pictures the typical Marine fighting his country's battles. It was filmed in cooperation with the U. S. Marine Corps.

Beery and Miss Bainter are supported by a noteworthy cast. Reginald Owen portrays a Nazi fifth columnist posing as leader of a peace-loving Filipino community. Ray Collins is Beery's kind but gruff colonel. Marilyn Maxwell and William Lundigan supply a romantic angle. Weyne Luke is an ex-Filipino boxer. And Donald Curtis, new screen find, is an infantry lieutenant who also seeks Marilyn's hand in vain.

"Salute to the Marines" moves at a fast clip. Action and drama are expertly balanced with humor. Battle scenes, vividly depicting an invasion of the Philippines, highlight this heart-warming story of the Marines.

S. Sylvan Simon adds another to his fine reputation by his deft direction.

SOLDIER DRAMA PACKS A WALLOP

Certain to make you glow with pride in your America, as it takes you behind the scenes in an Officer's Candidate School, the new drama "There's Something About A Soldier," will show Tuesday at the Princess Theatre. Both dramatic and romantic, it goes straight to your heart as you watch fine young men prepare themselves fearlessly into the inferno that marks the battle fronts of today.

The background of the story is authentically reproduced in every detail, so that the on-looker gets an interesting and instructive view of the behind-the-scenes activities of these training schools, also a heart-warming feeling of nearness to every mother's son who leaves the family circle to fight for the preservation of all the things a free people hold dear.

As the story opens we find Wally Williams (Tom Neal) and Frank Malloy (Bruce Bennett) classmates at an Anti-Aircraft Officers Candidate School in North Carolina. The two are friends but entirely unlike each other. Wally is a fast-talking, ready-witted young man who takes short cuts. Frank, on the other hand, is a studious and conscientious and has won his appointment to O.C.S. through distinguishing himself in active service.

When Carol Harkness, pretty young secretary with the Post Civilian Administration (played by Evelyn Keyes) enters the picture, rivalry springs up between the two men. This causes a deep rift that verges on physical combat many times. These scenes are intensely human and understandable, in spite of the fact that harmony among the men should be the order of the day.

The personal quarrel between Wally and Frank leads to many exciting complications with Wally using his charm and glib tongue to get things going his way. His reformation takes place in a highly dramatic scene, when Carol's fervent loyalty to her heroic dead brother and her glowing respect for Malloy and his clean straight methods, sink below the veneer that has been hiding Wally's true nature. He finally acquires himself nobly, even through undeserved dishonor.

The roles of Wally and Frank are perfectly portrayed by Neal and Bennett, and Evelyn Keyes, one of the most deserving young screen actresses, gives a sincere, natural performance.

MOPPET MARGARET O'BRIEN TUGS HEART STRINGS IN "LOST ANGEL"

One of the tenderest romantic comedies of recent months is showing at the Princess Theatre Wednesday and Thursday. The film is "Lost Angel" starring Margaret O'Brien, the youngster who made such a sensational impact on American movie-going audiences in "Journey for Margaret" with James Craig and Marsha Hunt.

Little Margaret will bring a lump to your throat, a smile to your lips and a glow to your heart with her portrayal of the child prodigy who finds an unsuspected happiness when she runs away from home on the trail of a breezy reporter who has promised to show her magic.

When a group of scientists undertake a study in experimental psychology, their subject is a founding girl whom they plan to raise scientifically for six years in order to demonstrate that any child can be a mental giant. When the day to prove their results arrives a reporter is sent to interview the child. Irked by her superior intelligence he disputes her assertion that there is no such thing as magic. This so disturbs the tot that in order to prove her point she runs away seeking the reporter. Circumstances arise which force him to harbor the child for a time, and during this time the child learns of tenderness and love. She gains a sense of human values which had been deliberately kept from her and in return brings happiness to the reporter and his fiancée.

James Craig and Marsha Hunt, who demonstrated their flair for comedy in "The Human Comedy," are wonderful foils for Margaret. Her shenanigans will keep audiences rolling in the aisles as she learns about the world and the people in it. Keenan Wynn, is a semi-comic gangster whose arrival in Craig's apartment complicates the plot. He is outstanding in his scenes with the child star. Also in the cast are Philip Merivale, Henry O'Neill, Donald Meek and Sara Haden.

"Sleeping Pills" Not As Harmless As Some Think

Should Be Taken Only On Advice Of Physician

Declaring that there seems to be a wide-spread belief that "sleeping pills" are harmless and therefore can be used at will by those suffering insomnia, Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, said today that despite the fact that hypnotic drugs cannot be sold without a physician's prescription, there are many persons who manage to get a supply of them and who use them upon the slightest excuse, or in some cases for no reason at all. Those who take one of the barbiturates in this loose fashion are doing themselves a physical injustice, the Doctor stated and added, "What they need is not a self-prescribed 'harmless sleeping tablet', but a physician's advice.

"There are many people who harm their health by employing an un-prescribed hypnotic to induce sleep," Dr. Cox said. "More often than not by various means they will over-stimulate themselves, relying upon the sleeping tablet to soothe their jaded nerves. Thus, a vicious circle is developed, and the habit-forming practice stealthily grows, with a loss of vitality and maximum health being among the least of the penalties involved.

"Under certain conditions, the physician will prescribe one of the barbiturates for wakeful or insomnia. However," he warned, "the prescribed use of such drugs for a special and temporary condition is one thing and the indiscriminate use of such medication upon the slightest pretext is quite another."

Those persons who of their own accord are taking one of the hypnotics to induce sleep should realize that they are tampering criminally with one of nature's basic blessings and necessities, natural sleep, the Doctor stated. If addicted to these drugs, the family physician may be needed to lead the victim out of the need for them, but whether in need of professional aid or not, those indulging in this harmful habit should for their health's sake terminate it immediately.

American Red Cross Must Furnish Trained Personnel For Units

Specially Prepared At Red Cross School In Washington

In this war as in no other, the American Red Cross is called upon to play a many-sided role. It must recruit a vast corps of trained nurses for service with the Army and Navy. But in addition to this important service, the Red Cross must train and send out to the field a variety of workers, each equipped to do a specific job for the welfare of men in the service.

Field directors and their assistants, club directors and their assistants, hospital recreation and social workers and their staffs—trained men and women of courage and energy! It is their task to look after the mental, recreational and personal well-being of the men. They are trained at the Red Cross "university" in Washington where some weeks ago the ten thousandth trainee graduated.

Of the ten thousand who have completed the course a man-sized proportion are even now serving on the active battle fronts. Others are at work in Army and Navy hospitals and clubs behind the lines. Yet others are permanently assigned to duty in camps and hospitals here in America. More of them, having completed the course at the school, are now gaining valuable experience in military and naval stations while awaiting assignment overseas. Uniformed and ready for hard work they await their call.

The Army and Navy need these workers. The American Red Cross must supply them.

atre Friday and Saturday, March 3 and 4. Bill Boyd, who has won his spurs literally as well as figuratively in the popular role of Hoppy, has a new, romantic side-kick in this film. He is none other than Jimmy Rogers, son of the famous Will. Judging from Jimmy's initial appearance in this series, he'll be riding trail with Hoppy for quite a while to come.

There's plenty of hard riding and hard fighting in "False Colors," as well as a generous bit of romance. The story concerns the Diamond Hitch Ranch at Poncho, a two-thirds share of which has been willed to Hoppy and his two pals, California (Andy Clyde) and Jimmy (Jimmy Rogers) by a cowhand named Bud Lawton. The other third belongs to Faith Lawton (Claudia Drake) whose stepbrother, whom she hasn't seen since childhood, arrives just before Hoppy does to claim his two-thirds. Knowing that the real Bud Lawton is dead, Hoppy proceeds to unravel the mystery involving this impersonator. Bill Boyd is once again a fascinating sleuth. Fans come to know and like him and his supporting cast, by Jimmy Rogers, Andy Claudia Drake, Douglas Brille and Tom Seidel, to make this one of the westerns yet produced by Sherman.
