Newly Captured American Prisoners May Receive Letters

Must be Mailed in Care of International Red Cross Service

Families and friends of newly captured American prisoners of war in Germany can write to them immediately upon notification of their imprisonment, the American Red Cross chapter has announced.

Under a new plan announced by the Army Provost Marshal General, mail will now be forwarded through the International Red Cross in Switzerland. Previously mail could not be accepted by the post office for prisoners until their permanent prison camp addresses were received. This usually was two or three months after the notification of capture.

Letters can now be sent as soon as a man is reported prisoner, provided that they contain the full name and address of the prisoner identifying him as a United States prisoner of war in Germany and are sent in care of the International Red Cross Directory Service, Geneva, Switzerland.

Packages cannot be sent until notification of the prisoner's permanent location is received, he said. Official prisoner of war package mailing labels will then be supplied by the Provost Marshal's office allowing one parcel to be sent every two months.

POSTOFFICE URGES NOV. SHIPPING OF CHRISTMAS PKGS.

Because so many postal workers and railroad workers have gone into the armed forces creating a shortage of help, and because practically all trains running today are loaded with essential war materials, the postmaster general has issued an appeal to the public to mail all Christmas packages during the month of November.

This request is made both to alleviate the shortages mentioned above and also to insure delivery of holiday parcels in time for them to be delivered by Christmas Day. It is suggested that all packages be marked: "Do not open until Christmas", and that they should bear the proper postal delivery zone numbers.

Many packages which will be mailed in the days just prior to Christmas will not reach their destination in time to be delivered unless the public cooperates in getting all the mail possible out of the way before the last minute rush.

Preliminary Survey Made On Roads In Big Bend Park Area

Administration Officials Are Well Impressed

Public Roads administration officials who made a visit to the Big Bend National park recently were favorably impressed with the park area and made a preliminary survey of the road from the north entrance at Persimmon Gap to Boquillas, on the Rio Grande, according to Dr. Ross A. Maxwell, park superintendent.

The road men also made a preliminary survey on the spur road from the Persimmon Gap-Boquillas road to the Basin in the Chisos mountains; on a third road to Santa Helena canyon and on a west park entrance spur road. Estimates for high-standard roads are now being computed for these routes, it was stated. The PRA officials expect to ask for some funds immediately in order to send a surveying party into the park area this winter, Dr. Maxwell said.

Col. J. Ralph Lassiter, the government land surveyor who accompanied the PRA men, remained in the area after they had departed and started a survey of the boundaries of the privately owned lands within the park. This is in connection with the grazing program. The people who own land within the park will be permitted to use that land, but their herds must not encroach upon Federally-owned land after Jan. 1, 1945. Col. Lassiter was unable to finish his survey during this trip but will return and complete the job prior to Jan. 1.

Harold M. Ratcliff, grazing expert from the regional office of the National Park Service, arrived in the park Oct. 18 and is now studying grazing problems as they apply to the few privately-owned sections within the park boundaries. He will make an estimate of the carrying capacity of the private lands within the park and all land owners who are grazing those lands will be requested to reduce their herds to conform to his estimates.

Associate Regional Director E. T. Scoyen and Chief Gordon P. Cox from the National Park Service's Region Three Office in Santa Fe, N. M., made their first official inspection of the park area, Oct. 18-23. They were particularly interested in the future development program and made many suggestions regarding administration of concessionaire facilities, including lodges, restaurants, cabins, campgrounds, etc., according to Dr. Maxwell—Alpine Avalanche.

FORT DAVIS DOGS ARE BROUGHT HERE FOR THE CHASE

A black bear, weighing approximately 400 pounds, lost in a three-hour chase with trained dogs Monday on the S. L. Stumberg ranch west of Sanderson. The dogs, belonging to Jim and Clay Espy, were brought here from Fort Davis in an effort to catch the bear which had been killing livestock on the Stumberg ranch.

Mr. Stumberg stated that the trail of the bear was picked up by the dogs early and the chase continued for three hours before riders and men on foot caught up, and were able to kill it. The bear was skinned and the pelt will be made into a rug for the Stumberg home.

Bear have been seen almost every year in this part of the country and loss in livestock has been severe the past few years. It is not known whether it has been the same bear or not, but when evidence of killings started this year Mr. Stumberg arranged for the dogs to be brought here in an effort to catch the depredator.

Eagles Lose To Marfa Shorthorns In Game There Fri.

To Play Rankin On Local Field Saturday Afternoon

The Sanderson Eagles had their second loss of the year Friday night when they went to Marfa to meet the Shorthorns on their home field.

The game opened with Sanderson receiving the kick-off, and a short return by Wells. On their first play, Harrell gained a yard around left end and on the second play the ball was lost when Yeates made a try over left tackle and fumbled. Marfa recovered the ball and on the first play went for a touchdown from the twenty-six yard line. The try for extra point failed.

Dishman received the kick-off on the next play and returned the ball to the forty yard line. Two plays netted them nine yards, but on the third down a pass was intercepted by Marfa on the forty-seven yard line, and without losing the ball they drove for the second touchdown. Again they failed to make extra point. Dishman again received the kick, fumbled, but recovered on the eighteen yard line. Three downs failed to bring a gain, forcing Harrell to kick. The ball was returned by the Marfans to Sanderson's forty-three yard line, and successive first downs netted the third six points for the Shorthorns. The score at the half was 18-0 in favor of the Shorthorns.

Marfa chose to receive at the beginning of the second half, and scored another touchdown without losing the ball. Two more scores were added before the end of the game, making the final score 36-0.

Good attendance from Sanderson was at hand, and the Sanderson pep squad deserves credit for the manner in which it gave yells and encouraged the players, and for the formation on the field during the half.

The Eagles will meet the Rankin Red Devils here Saturday afternoon, and it is hoped that the entire community will turn out to support the local boys. Rankin is rated as a good team and there should be excitement enough for all throughout the game, which is scheduled to start at 3:00 o'clock. Practically all stores are closing for the day in observance of Armistice.

HISTORY

Most of the things that really matter in your life and mine are events that took place before we were born. Whether we are rugged or frail, rich or poor, happy or miserable result in large part from decisions and struggles that somebody made long ago. The old saying, "Life is what you make it," is partly true. Life is what you make it from what you had to begin with.

Of course men and women are free moral agents and can do a great deal with their own lives if they will, but the past influences every generation. It affects everybody more or less and has more to do with some people's lives than they themselves. In order to take from the past what helps us and avoid what hinders, men have to study history and learn its good from its bad.

A Patriotic Duty

American history, and I don't mean a sketchy catalog of wars and election should be a required study in every American school. How can the youth of the United States be proud of this country's success and prosperity without some knowledge of their background? Decisions and struggles out of which our institutions have grown will tell the important "why" of America's power in the world.

Many encouraging stories have come back to America from the European theatre of war recently. Not one of them has shed more hopeful light on America's future, however, than a feature article in the New York Times relating that American soldiers in many foreign lands are calling for books on American history. They want to know what makes them different from people they see over there.

What Do We Have?

The article quoted a Pennsylvania buck private as saying, "Something in our history makes us different. Why aren't we taught about it at school?" It is my sincere hope and belief that this soldier's children will be taught more about it at school. At least I hope we don't have to wage a foreign war every quarter of a century so our sons can go see how comparatively poor other people are.

Our fighters have begun to realize that something goes on in America which encourages and promotes better living than people in foreign countries can enjoy. Farmers' sons in the invasion can't help but see that France, for example, has fertile soil, favorable seasons, and abundant crops but poor people. There's a reason. It's a long story but an interesting one.

An Educator's Job

Undoubtedly Uncle Sam has some tall, blonde fighting men who used to say, proudly, "My grandfather came from Prussia." But when they get back they will be ready to add, "Leaving that past-blighted country was the smartest thing he ever did. It gave him a chance and me too." History shows how taxes and customs and castes keep many a noble race of people hungry most of their lives.

I wish I might plead with every honest teacher to help keep the United States an oasis in this desert of human oppression. An impersonal, objective attitude is admirable until it points toward slavery. If, however, it forbids telling students that representative, constitutional government is better than dictatorship, or that a successful economic system like Private Enterprise is better than communism, let's tell the truth even if we have to be unorthodox.

Mr. and Mrs. Ross Roberts of Del Rio were here Tuesday, coming to Dryden to cast their vote in the general election, and spending the day with Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Hardgrave.

WITH OUR NEIGHBORS

Wink Bulletin—Another election of interest to the property taxpayers of Winkler county, will be held tomorrow to decide whether or not Winkler County shall vote bonds in the amount of $50,000 to acquire lands and begin the building program of a county park. These bonds would be retired within a period of ten years, by a special tax, not to exceed ten cents on the $100 valuation.

Site of the proposed park would be designated by the Commissioners Court, presumably in the vicinity of Kermit.

Ozona Stockman—A teacher housing shortage, resulting from a sharp raise in rates at the Hotel Ozona which probably will force an even dozen members of the school faculty to move, was presented as the number one problem this week.

Members of the school board and Superintendent C. S. Denham brought the matter to public attention this week as a problem which may seriously jeopardize the continued smooth operation of the schools unless a prompt solution is found. The rate raise represents an advance of two-thirds over the rate paid by teachers last year, according to reports, and most of the teachers have indicated that they will be unable to pay the new rate under their contract salaries.

Dr. Slack said that he expects to remodel the building, modernize it, and add ornamental tile to the front but that such improvement work probably will not be done until in 1946. The property is leased to the theater organization until early in that year.

"And here at home, Judge, our job has been to supply our men abroad with the ammunition and equipment they need to finish their job. And to provide the money to buy these supplies through our purchase of War Bonds. By and large, I think we've taken our job seriously, too." "You're right, Fred, we have. That is to abide by their wishes that this country should be kept the same way it was when they left it...not changed around while they're away and can't express their opinions." Right now—with extra wartime duties and responsibilities—you're probably working harder than ever before—and that means your eyes are working harder, too. Don't neglect them. Give them all the help you can by following these rules for conserving eyesight and energy. 1. Do all reading, studying, sewing or game-playing close to a good light source, preferably a modern reading lamp. 2. Avoid glare from bare bulbs. Don't sit facing the light. Glare strains eyes. 3. Avoid shadows. Make sure you have good light directly on your work or book. Shadows strain eyes. 4. Have eyes examined regularly. THE HILARIOUS PLOT HINGES ON THE WOES OF THE PHILANDERING OLIVER, A MERCHANT MARINER, WHO WITH HIS PALS, BROWN AND CARNEY, GET A WEEK'S LEAVE IN THEIR HOME PORT.

Oliver is met at the dock, not only by his fiancée, Miss Shepard, but also by two other girl friends, and the ensuing happenings give him plenty of trouble and the audience plenty of laughs.
A couple of breach-of-promise suits and the loyal efforts of the two pals to extricate their friend from his difficulties keep things rolling merrily along to a sparkling climax. Five new tunes by Mort Greene and Lew Pollack are featured in the picture, which was produced and directed by John H. Auer.
With a high quota of entertainment throughout, "Seven Days Ashore" is an excellent film every audience will enjoy.

"JANE EYRE" COMES TO THE SCREEN OF THE PRINCESS

"Jane Eyre" at last has been put on film. After two years of the most careful preparation ever accorded a motion picture, this masterpiece of Charlotte Bronte has been committed to celluloid with all the lavish talent only Hollywood can produce.
In "Jane Eyre," the picture opening at the Princess Theatre Sunday and Monday, nothing is left to chance, and no effort is to great to have everything perfect to the last detail. Anyone in Hollywood will tell you this kind of picture is rare indeed.
"Jane Eyre," as most of the world knows, is Charlotte Bronte's matchless stirring romance, the dramatic story of the immortal love the shy and wistful Jane held for Edward Rochester, master of Thornfield Hall, and of the mystery and terror that stalked that unforgettable romance.
There is nothing about the picture itself that is startlingly new and different, except this: It is the kind of movie that people mean when they talk about how Hollywood does

WE CONTINUE WITH THE LIFE OF AMELIA FUENTES

Amelia was born in Sander-son November 17, 1930. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Alberto Fuentes. Amelia hopes to attend Sanderson High in the fall. Her favorite subjects are arithmetic and English; her favorite sports are baseball and volleyball; and her favorite movie star is Judy Garland.

THE FILM WHICH OPENS FRIDAY AND SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 17 AND 18, AT THE PRINCESS THEATRE, IS THE ACTION-PACKED STORY OF THE THRILL-SWEPT THIRTIES—THE TOUGHNESS AND TERRORISM THAT SPAWNEE A GANGSTER LIKE TOUHY. A CRUEL, SINISTER FIGURE, TOUHY RULED THE UNDERWORLD WITH AN IRON HAND.

Touhy's every move was drama, climaxed by his daring escape from Statesville Prison, in Joliet, and the dramatic capture of the entire gang two months later. His greed built an empire of crime, which he ruled with stark terror. Yet Touhy's life proves once again that no matter how "big" a criminal may think he is, the same end of the road awaits him.
Authenticity keynotes the film. A camera crew, under the astute direction of Robert Florey, was sent to Joliet to photograph the actual scene of the escape, and the subsequent capture in Chicago. These superlative shots serve as dramatic background for the swift, tumultuous action that prevails in the film.
Unusual insight into the causes of gangsterism lift the film. The mobsters are not glorified, but are shown in their true light.
Preston Foster portrays Touhy, who was called at the time of his sensational escape the leader of "the most dangerous group of criminals the country ever had." Victor McLaglen is seen as his lieutenant, the vicious "Owl" Banghart, while Lois Andrews enacts the role of the "moll" and Kent Taylor is Captain Steve Warren.
Others in the cast include Anthony Quinn, William Post, Jr., Henry Morgan, Matt Briggs, Moroni Olsen, Reed Hadley, Trudy Marshall and many, many more.
Lee Marcus produced the picture which is from a screen play by Crane Wilbur and Jerry Cady, based on an original story by Wilbur.

JAPANESE-HELD PRISONERS LACK FATS IN FOOD

Japanese-held prisoners of war plainly show that their diet has been deficient in fats and proteins, according to Brig. Gen. Lewis C. Beebe who was taken captive along with Lt. Gen. Jonathan Wainwright after the fall of Bataan.
Camp diet consists mainly of rice and a little meat or fish reports the Red Cross whose representatives interviewed American prisoners on Formosa.
Gen. Beebe's statement emphasizes War Food Administration's report that fats and oils are scarce all over the world, even in Japan, whose predatory conquest has dislocated the fats and oils supply of the rest of the world. This shortage will continue until the islands of the Pacific again become oil producers.

Cattle Arriving For Pan-American Exposition, 11-19

Grand Champions And Other Winners To Be in Show

Carloads of cattle began rolling into the State Fair Grounds at Dallas this week for the Greater Pan-American Hereford Exposition to make up an entry list of 495 head, the largest aggregation of registered animals shown anywhere in the Western Hemisphere this year. This announcement was made by Jack Frost, President of the Texas Hereford Association.

Documentary proof that this is the cream of the Hereford world is held by the owners of these animals. A score of grand championships is represented, as well as holders of a hundred first place awards in various classifications, all won in competitions since the opening of the fall show season, including the exhibitions at Lincoln, Neb., Topeka, Kansas; Atlanta, Tulsa and Shreveport, Mr. Frost said.

"This grand finale of the 1944 show circuit will be held Nov. 11-19, not only topping everything that has gone before in number of animals, and quality, but also in the $20,000 premium list.

Fifty-one of the entries have been made by Four-H Club members. These young exhibitors will be the guests of the exposition throughout the entire show. In addition to these youngsters, invitations have been issued through the county agents to all the Four-H Club members in all of the 252 counties of Texas to be special guests on the opening day. Responses being received by Jack B. Story, chairman of the Four-H Club committee indicate that between 2,000 and 3,000 of the boys and girls will be present. Special entertainment is being planned in their honor.

A and M College is making arrangements to bring the entire cadet corps of 2,000 members to Dallas on Nov. 11 which is Armistice Day and also the occasion for the A and M-Southern Methodist University football game so that all those interested in animal husbandry may also view the Hereford show.
