SANDERSON, TEXAS, FRIDAY, MARCH 16, 1945

NUMBER 3

FROM TEXAS TO TOKIO

Last week's issue of this newspaper was confused Gene McCutchan with Gene Litton, stating that Private Litton had transferred from San Antonio to Fort Riley. It was Gene Litton, Fifth Class, American Air Corps, who was transferred a year ago at San Antonio and is going to mechanical school at Fort Riley. Pvt. Gene Litton is a member of the 1st Bombardment Squadron, serving in the 1st Bombardment Group, 1st Bombardment Wing, 1st Bombardment Army, and is now on duty at Fort Riley. We regret to have so many of our boys go to other continents.

John Lewis Whistler, seaman in the U. S. Navy, writes from San Diego that he is doing heavy work, some of it being weighing fifty-pound projectiles. He likes his work and the Navy better all the time.

SCARLET FEVER SYMPTOMS OFTEN NOT RECOGNIZED

There were 3686 cases of scarlet fever reported in Texas during the year 1944 according to statistics just released by the Texas State Department of Health.

Describing some symptoms which may indicate the presence of this disease, Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, states that when a child is coming down with scarlet fever the parents may first notice that he seems tired, restless, and out of sorts. Early definite signs are fever, sore throat and vomiting. The tongue is furred and under this white coating red spots become visible within a few hours. The entire tongue gradually assumes a bright red color. If any of these symptoms appear, Dr. Cox said that scarlet fever should be suspected.

Some individuals, when attacked by the scarlet fever streptococci do not develop a rash because they are more or less immune to the rash-producing toxin. Cases of scarlet fever in which the rash is missing are often confused with other illnesses, particularly sore throat, tonsillitis, or an acute cold. However, scarlet fever without the rash is just as contagious as scarlet fever with a rash, the State Health Officer declared. In the former case the danger is sometimes not recognized and in that event quite likely nothing is done to keep the infection from spreading to other individuals.

"Call your doctor at once when the first symptoms appear or when the child develops a cold or sore throat after known exposure" Dr. Cox urged. "Follow the physician's instructions as to food, treatment, and general care. Skilled nursing is essential to the patient's recovery."

Scarlet fever is reportable and quarantinable in Texas. Report any known cases to the health department. Cooperation in this respect is a community responsibility which will help to protect the health of the children and reduce the incidence of this dangerous disease.

RETURNING TO DEL RIO AFTER VISIT IN SANDERSON

Richard (Dick) Mussey, 26, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Mussey of Sanderson, was killed Tuesday afternoon when the small Porterfield plane he was piloting crashed in Devil's River Canyon near the Steam Plant this side of Del Rio. The crash occurred at 3:10 o'clock, and it was thought that he was trying to set the plane down in the small lake near the plant after exhausting his gas supply when he struck an air pocket which crashed the plane against the cliff.

Dick cleared the Municipal Airport at Del Rio Tuesday afternoon for local flying in a plane belonging to Earl Penn.

KITES PRESENT DANGER IF SAFETY RULES ARE IGNORED

With kite-flying time just around the corner, Community Public Service Company again issues its annual warning about the dangers of flying kites near electric lines.

"Every year scores of children needlessly lose their lives through accidents resulting from the use of wire kite strings or climbing poles to take down kites caught in electric lines," says James Caroline, power company manager. "Such tragedies can be avoided if kite flyers will follow a few simple precautions—the most important of which is to fly the kites in open fields away from power lines."

Children are urged to follow these rules:

Don't use wire or metallic kite string.

Don't fly your kite with wet string or in damp weather.

Don't use metal sticks or frames.

Don't climb a light pole to get a tangled kite.

Don't poke a stick at a kite caught in wires or try to pull it down by its tail.

Always fly your kite in open fields away from power lines and busy highways.

If your kite gets away from you and falls into an electric line, don't try to take it down yourself. Call the power company and they'll send a man to remove it.

DONATIONS FOR RED CROSS DRIVE COMING IN SLOW

R. E. Corder, chairman of the 1945 Red Cross War Fund Drive in Terrell County, said today that replies to letters mailed out this week asking for contributions were lagging somewhat, but that a definite count on returns was not as yet available.

The chairman again stressed the fact that complete mailing lists could not be compiled, and many firms and persons will thus not receive letters. To make it convenient for every person to contribute to the Red Cross, whether he receives a letter or not, arrangements for receiving donations have been made at the Sanderson State Bank.

Leave your check or cash at the bank with the cashier or a clerk.

Dick, who had made Sanderson his home the greater part of his life and attended the Sanderson schools, was employed as fireman with the T&NO railway, running between Del Rio and Sanderson. Previously he had been an airplane mechanic in California.

Funeral services will be held Saturday, pending the arrival of his mother, who has been visiting in California for the past several weeks with another son, Reuben B. Mussey, Jr., chief petty officer, U. S. Navy, who has been ill with pneumonia, and with her daughter, Mrs. Benny Pagan. All are expected to be here for the funeral services.

Wheat Price Parity

Claude R. Wickard, Secretary of Agriculture, recently told an audience of wheat growers in St. Paul that U. S. production last year was 1100 million bushels compared to 800 million in a typical pre-war year. This is deemed to forecast a post-war over-production of 160 million bushels or more a year. There is a law compelling government to hold up wheat prices for two years after the war.

Taxpayers may as well brace themselves. It is time to start wondering what it's going to cost per bushel to prop up the wheat price and hold it at parity; or what bonus per acre must be paid to non-growers of wheat for not growing wheat. Another wonder: Can the price support be removed after two years or must the tax-payers continue guaranteeing a wheat price indefinitely?

Observe Natural Law

There is an honorable way: Leave each industry's problem for men of that industry to solve. Using wheat as an example permit the Department of Agriculture to prepare such data as Mr. Wickard gave the farmers and make such data available to the whole industry. Let the farmers use their own judgment in the light of the facts. They will do a better job than government men, and it will not cost the taxpayers anything.

One advantage is obvious: Men of an industry can consider an industrial problem unblinded by a just storm of political considerations. Government's proper function is to serve the citizens. Government can get statistics more conveniently than an organization of business men, and government experts undoubtedly can offer valuable interpretations but interference is not help.

Business Men Think

Business men can understand government figures, interpret them and apply what they have learned. Figures from the Department of Commerce and the Census Bureaus have benefitted many industries in the past, interpreted by statisticians in the employ of trade associations. If wheat is over-produced one year, bread will be cheap. The next year, wheat men can plan more wisely.

What did the cotton subsidy do except open the gate for rayon to storm the cotton planter's market? A fictitious wheat price can only bring that industry some similar calamity. It is bad enough to have loyal citizens taxed without mercy to build a false price structure; worse when you know that the result will be to lift a big essential industry off its economic foundation and permanently cripple it.

Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Wells left Wednesday for Fort Worth where Mr. Wells will receive a medical check-up.

FIXED LAWS

Economic laws are laws of nature, rigid. They are divine laws in the same sense that the law of gravity is a law of God. Such laws were in effect long before the first man-made statute was ever written, and no natural law was ever repealed by act of parliament. Natural laws can be broken but they all carry within themselves suitable penalties for violation; hard to escape.

Under natural law, every producer earns a profit when he serves the public well; takes a loss when he serves the public poorly. When manipulators, government planners or any other kind, use artificial price controls, they violate natural law. It makes no difference whether the aim is greed or to protect "lame ducks" from loss. Price control encourage incompetence.

The president appointed a nominating committee for 1945-1946 officers consisting of Mesdames Fidela Garza, Alejandro Escamilla, and Berta Clark Lassiter.

AT THE PRINCESS—

"MINISTRY OF FEAR" WITH MILLAND HERE WED., THURS.

One of the most unusual suspense stories ever brought to the screen opens Wednesday and Thursday at the Princess Theatre. Directed by that master artist of dramatic films, Fritz Lang, and adapted from an original story by Graham Greene, author of "This Gun for Hire," "Ministry of Fear" is a psychological classic starring Ray Milland as the innocent foil in the hands of a fabulous espionage ring.

The story revolves around a powerful espionage group into which Milland accidentally stumbles after winning a cake at a county bazaar. He is attacked upon leaving the bazaar by a travelling companion who steals the cake and is subsequently killed in an air raid which complicates matters even more.

Milland accepts these strange happenings as a challenge and investigates the charitable organization which sponsored the cake sale. This brings him in contact with the charming leaders of the group, a brother and a sister who are portrayed by Marjorie Reynolds and Carl Esmonds. Through them he becomes deeply entangled with further mysteries involving the Minister of Home Securities, a very elegant and bewitching fortune teller, and Scotland Yard itself.

The basis of the mystery is so cleverly concealed and the action so fast and entangling that "Ministry of Fear" is a classic example of the stimulating entertainment value in a fine mystery story. The cast was excellently chosen, with Milland giving the greatest dramatic portrayal of his career, Marjorie Reynolds, the darling of "Dixie" and the sweetheart of "Holiday Inn," turns in a superior performance as the beautiful Austrian girl who loses her heart to Milland, Carl Esmond, as her brother, carries great dramatic weight and establishes himself as a top-notch.

Hillary Brooke plays the part of the fashionable lady who reads the future and, in the instance of the "Ministry of Fear," seems entirely too well-informed as to Milland's future in the hands of the spy ring. One of the most remarkable performances in the picture is turned in by Percy Warram whose identity as a Scotland Yard Inspector is so camouflaged as to infer his cooperation with the espionage group.

"FRENCHMAN'S CREEK" TO PRINCESS SUNDAY, MONDAY

The delicate and heart-warming story of "Frenchman's Creek," the Daphne du Maurier novel, has reached the screen in all its sweeping glory, and the Technicolor version has all the power and scope which the author injected in her "Rebecca."

The romantic love story of a pirate, played by Arturo de Cordova, and a fascinating English woman, Lady Rockingham, portrayed by Joan Fontaine, brings to the Princess, Sunday and Monday, a tale of adventure, laid against a background of the Cornish coast in 1668. The sheer beauty of the scenes in this lavish production are breath-taking. Navron House country home of Miss Fontaine in the picture, and the tiny inlet, Frenchman's Creek, as it is called, are the focal points in the story.

Soon after the opening scene Joan and her two children arrive at this picturesque haven, only to find that de Cordova and his band of pirates have been utilizing Navron as a hide-out. Their sailing vessel, "La Mouette", lies at anchor nearby. Cecil Kellaway a replacement for the former butler at Navron and who's in the employ of de Cordova, arranges a meeting with Joan. An immediate attraction for each other deepens into a burning love and Joan steals away on the pirate ship, "La Mouette", with de Cordova. It is then, when the pirate deeds reach the ears of Joan's husband, played by Ralph Forbes, that the latter hurries to Navron.

The plan to capture the pirate is formulated, and de Cordova falls into the trap. Jailed, and awaiting a sure hanging, he is rescued by Joan and Kellaway in a thrilling escape venture. Joan, torn between her love of the children and the pirate chooses to remain behind, faithful to a husband who reforms into a brave courageous fighter. Hand-to-hand fighting in sea battles, sword play at its best and the romance of a dashing pirate and his lady in "Frenchman's Creek" a delightful screen diversion. Bruce, as Lord Godolphin, bone, Kellaway and Forbes fine support to Joan and Arturo.

Regardless of what attention costs, it will never be as expensive as the cost of romance.

The trouble with most is that our necessities are too luxurious and our luxuries too necessary.

The Quickest way to lose $25

There's nothing to it...

All you have to do is take one of those $100 War Bonds for which you recently paid $75... go to your bank and say... "I want to turn this in."

The bank takes your $100 War Bond—gives you $75.

And you lose $25—just like that!

Isn't that an easy way to drop $25?

And isn't it a foolish way?

Most people think so! That's one reason why they're holding on to their War Bonds.

They don't know any easier way to make $25.

Do you?

What's this we hear about Joan wishing she was back home with Frank? Didn't you miss her too, Frank?

Wish we could have gone to San Antonio, too, girls; hear there's a lot stirring down there.

Mr. Greenwood, did you have a good time away from dear "Old Sanderson High"? Gee, there should be more Bob's down here, eh, Joan, Alice and Billie?

Hazel certainly is going to miss Johnnie and vice versa when he moves back to Corpus Christi.

We hear that Jeanette, Charles, Johnny, Hazel, Betty Pearl Sammie, all got married by preacher J. E. Friday night. Where was Marilyn?

Did Harvey get to kiss the brides? Oh! Think I'll change to a preacher.

Was the graveyard very scary Friday? (Marilyn and Harvey)

Gee, Miss Richardson, we thought your boy friend was at the Recreation Hall Saturday.

Are You A Dollar Saboteur?

Every time you buy goods you do not really need, you help force prices up, help make critical shortages of merchandise even more critical. Any one of us who is spending as high a percentage of his income on "unnecessaries" today as he was before the war, is just that—a saboteur.

When you buy War Bonds regularly—when you go to the bank each pay day and make a deposit—when you save according to a plan—you help build a backlog of SAVED DOLLARS which will help to keep down prices and will help assure continued prosperity after the war.

★ TERRELL COUNTY HEROES ★

☆☆ IN SERVICE ☆☆

HERBERT ALLEN BROWN

Was born January 5, 1918, in Del Rio, Texas, the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Brown. Herbert attended grade school and high school here in Sanderson, graduating with the class of 1933. After attending Schreiner Institute in Kerrville, Texas, for a time, he went into the ranching business with his father. On October 16, 1941, Herbert entered the Army at Fort Bliss, Texas, and was sent to Fort Sill, Oklahoma, for his basic training. On August 4, 1942, he graduated from Officer Candidate School at Fort Sill, receiving a second lieutenantcy, and from there went on to training at Camp Maxey and Camp Swift in Texas, further training at Fort Sill, Lawton, Oklahoma, and Fort Dix, New Jersey. Herbert left Fort Dix for overseas on September 2, 1944, and landed September 12 in southern France. Now serving with the 9th Army in the 102nd Infantry Division, in Germany, Herbert was promoted to the rank of captain on January 4, 1945. Marjorie Canon Brown, wife of Captain Brown, is a resident of Sanderson.

PRESERVATION OF FOOD STRESSED IN COMING YEAR

Home preservation of foods in 1945 is more necessary than last year, due to a combination of war-time circumstances. Inventories in home pantries and in stores are considerably less than last year, and in addition there will be considerably more demand for processed foods from the armed services and from lend-lease. Higher point values of many foods this year also may prove an incentive to many families, in the opinion of Mrs. Winifred J. Leverenz, specialist in food preservation for the A. and M. College Extension Service.

With these facts in mind, the average family needs to arrange now for the sources of its food, such as a victory garden or a poultry flock. The average family eats half of its food fresh and half preserved. About 125 containers, or 300 pounds of food, should be stored for each person in the family, and these figures should be taken into accounts in the family planning, Mrs. Leverenz says.

She urges homemakers to include plenty of canned or frozen meat, fruit, and vegetables in the diet, rather than putting up a preponderance of pickles, relishes, preserves, and jellies. Last year's reports showed most families are planning more balanced food preservation budgets than before the war, and this is most encouraging she says.

On the whole, the outlook for equipment and supplies in the preservation field is fairly promising. There will be less sugar than last year, but enough to get by on. Tin cans and glass jars are expected to be plentiful and the jar closures available now are superior to those manufactured earlier in the war. Pressure cookers will continue to be scarce, and practically no new sealers will be offered to the public.

Mrs. S. R. Coffey was returned to a Del Rio hospital Wednesday. She was accompanied by Mr. Coffey who returned here that night. Mrs. Coffey had recently undergone an operation and had been home about two weeks before becoming ill Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Bell of Del Rio Wednesday when Bell is receiving medical attention. Mr. Bell returned day.

J. Riley Dunham of Del Rio visited here Sunday and day with Mr. and Mrs. Dawson and with Mr. and Mrs. Marion Batson.

Mrs. C. W. Martin and Charlie Turk and son, spent from Friday to Sunday last week in Del Rio where Martin went for medical attention.

Mrs. J. W. Leatherwood of Del Rio, Texas, spent the week in San Angelo. Mrs. Leatherwood went for medical check-up.

Charles Rogers, Jr., Rdm third class, U. S. Navy, writes on March 4 from the South Pacific: "Here is a short summary of where I have been since I left the school. This is all in one run or cruise, as we call it. I have been to Luzon, which is in the Philippines, and to Formosa, which is north of there, and down into the South China Sea. I did get a slight glimpse of French-Indo China. We were about thirty-five miles off shore so I guess we got pretty close. Then we went up to Hong Kong and to Formosa again. I have received four of the Sanderson Times' and I really was glad to get them and read what some of the fellows are doing and where they are. That column 'From Texas to Tokio' is really all right, and the paper lets us know some of the things that are happening at home." Charles is a radar operator on a battle ship.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Bell received a letter Thursday from their son, Cpl. Sam Bell, Jr., USAAF, dated March 2 in which he told them that he is well and making plenty of missions. Sam's bomber is based in England. He has been going on raids for the past month.

Terry D. Miller, pharmacist's mate second class, U. S. Navy, writes from his base, U. S. Naval Hospital, Santa Margarita Ranch, Oceanside, California, on March 14: "This is really a pretty place. We have a big lake out here on one side of the hospital. On Saturday and Sunday we can go fishing or out rowing boats. There are pretty green hills on each side of us. It reminds me of seeing a picture. Right now I am on night duty. on a special watch. The patient I am specializing has pneumonia. I have an oxygen tent on him and give him seven liters per minute. He is doing very well now." Terry reported to this base on February 15.
