Directors of Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers' Association Meet in Sanderson This Week

Directors of the Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers' Association concluded their meeting in Sanderson Thursday, March 28 after gathering here to thrash out problems confronting the ranchmen of Texas.

Wednesday night a dance was given in the Kerr Merchandise Building honoring the directors, visiting ranchmen, their wives and other visitors. Thursday at noon they were entertained with a barbecue held on the court house lawn.

It was estimated that approximately 300 persons were in attendance for this occasion.

At the business meeting called at 10 o'clock Thursday morning at the court house, members of the organization voted to back the president of the organization, Steve Stumberg of Sanderson, in any action he may take toward formation of a new national wool program.

Lacking definite information the directors refused to endorse the program recently proposed by President Truman in a letter to Sen. O'Mahoney (Wyo.). Instead, they unanimously adopted a motion offered by Fred Earwood, Sonora, a former association president, that the association back to the fullest extent the president and any committee he may appoint.

The president and committee were instructed to use their best judgment on whatever action they see fit.

In another resolution, directors opposed any attempt to extend social security to farm and ranch workers. Earwood had argued that many ranchmen would not have the time if they were competent to figure out the amount of payments to be deducted from worker's salaries.

The June meeting was awarded unanimously to Sonora, after an invitation to meet in San Angelo, extended by James Grote, BCD agricultural manager, was withdrawn. The Sonora session will coincide with the annual wool show to be held there.

Stumberg announced appointment of a three-man committee to investigate the international wool secretariat. The secretariat, representing wool growers of all the British Dominions, proposed at the National meeting at Salt Lake City that the American Wool Council join with this group in wool promotion. Action on this request was delayed at the instigation of the Texas delegation until the council's August meeting. On the committee are Ray W. Willoughby of San Angelo, Earwood, and Horace Fawcett of Del Rio. The committee is instructed to report to directors at the June meeting.

C. E. Weymouth of Amarillo, president of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association, was elected a director of the sheep and goat raisers group. The cattlemen previous had named Stumberg as a director of their organization. Many of the problems of the cattlemen and sheepmen are identical, it was pointed out, and this move will mean closer co-operation.

P. Erwin, president of the company.

Planes will be based in Houston, Brownsville, El Paso and Amarillo, with all planes meeting in Del Rio for return flights. Local offices are now being established by company representatives and local Chamber of Commerce officials. Later public announcements will advise further information.

"The inauguration of these flights is another step in our planned program of providing convenient air service throughout Texas," Mr. Erwin stated. "One round trip daily will be offered with twin-engine Cessna planes and as quickly as new equipment is delivered, services will be expanded." Mr. Erwin added that new twin-engine Beechcraft planes will be received in late April or May and will be placed into service on these and other Texas Air Lines routes.

Wesley R. Lochausen Receives Degree At Boston University

Word was received in Sanderson this week of the graduation of Wesley Ross Lochausen, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Lochausen of Sanderson from the Boston, Mass., University School of Medicine on Friday, March 22. He was a member of a class of 69 who received degrees at the fifth annual wartime Commencement of that school.

Mr. Lochausen was a candidate for the degree of Doctor of Medicine at the school of medicine.

Because of the special academic program which was forced upon schools of medicine throughout the country, five years ago Boston University began a series of special Commencements for medical students. President Daniel L. Marsh, as in the past, presided at the recent exercises which were a replica, in more simple form, of the University's regular traditional commencement.

Dr. Alan M. Butler, Harvard Medical School associate professor of pediatrics and chief of the children's services at Massachusetts General Hospital, delivered the commencement address on "The Changing Pattern of Medical Care," at the exercises conducted in the Boston University Hayden Memorial home of the college of business administration, 685 Commonwealth Avenue. Dean Donald G. Anderson administered the traditional "Oath of Hippocrates" to the graduating class. Invocation and benediction were given by Dr. Charles R. Joy, Unitarian Service Committee executive director, whose son, Robert Arthur Joy is a member of the graduating class.

LOOKING AHEAD

IS ENOUGH
John Q. Public pay what he wants? He will pay what he thinks it is worth. Ultimately he will be paid more, if he finds it is worth more than his thought. On the other hand he will kick at the price he has to pay it as soon as he gets out the thing is worth more to him than the money he gets for it.

Statements are so plain and simple that any schoolboy could understand them. You hardly think anybody gets these facts mixed-up and they are often used wrongly. It is the 1946 labor-management problem which is the most serious and the most serious one that has ever existed in this nation. What headlines tell us is that strikes?

Get Together
Extreme brevity, union laborers asking their employers to pay—more wages than employers (for some reason) refuse to lay out. Why not work men whatever they do, especially farm laborers to draw high wages because that's the key to times. Farmers, whose feed the workers, have markets and prosperity labor prospers.

Answer is not hard: The wages, just like the profits, come out of John Q. Public will pay for what he wants. If the price is high for John, then there's no profit and no wages. If the price is reasonable range of pocketbook, he buys pocketbook and wages jobs and more of them prosper.

Wages Popular
There is such a thing as opportunity; I have seen it in. There is such a thing as an equalization of labor—ignorant. But it's foolhardy to mislead workers in a modern factory. If an employer should try holding wages to fatten his own bank, his customers would all rather pay for his workers' wages (in such a case) it is done without boosting.

Most cases, when wages are raised to advance the expense, there is a way to raise wages except boosting prices unless prices already in force are unfair figures, which seldom permits.

Workers object to wage increases only when they call for increases to cover them. Then, Mr. Public is not right.

Can Say When?
A wage increase is appropriate and economically sound even when prices have to be raised immediately to cover lifting prices to pay betters. But what point, up to what point? John Q. Public would about buying. So long as he can stay large, the volume is sound. When volume drops and prices have to be raised to pay for the blunder sound.

There are experts in every line who can estimate with accuracy how many more—that will sell for some price. They know long before the first one is made.

Year, when steady jobs are so vital to every-prices should be set in order to get volume sales as well as industry. Be interested in the right.

Bill McElroy is in the P. Hospital in San Antonio where he underwent an operation last night. Reports are he is doing nicely.

Mrs. C. F. Pickard, daughter, Ann, returned Wednesday from a vacation in Lukin and Zavala.

Mrs. Berta Clark Lassiter, and son Buzzy, accompanied Mrs. Lassiter's mother to El Paso last week-end where the latter went for medical attention.

NO TIME FOR HEROICS

Some of the most enthusiastic supporters of government control have been driven to the admission that control in itself will not stem the tide of inflation. There must be production—more production than anyone ever dreamed of before in this country—which is the same thing as saying that there must also be a terrific volume of distribution. Unless retail distributors can move production on to consumers, factories must soon close. In other words, government controls can succeed only by the grace of producers and distributors. If fine theories of control squeeze the latter too hard, control defeats itself.

An indispensable influence against rising prices, is the mass distributor. A chain store system that operates on a very narrow margin will resist strongly any unnecessary price increase that may result in curtailed volume. High volume of sales must be maintained if the concern is to live. And today the entire distribution industry is essentially a high-volume, low-price machine, just as are the bulk of the nation's productive facilities. It is this mass producing and handling of goods that has given the United States an unprecedented standard of living.

Government officials who pose as anti-inflation crusaders fighting a lone battle to protect the people against "selfish" industry, too often do not understand the way America ticks or they are deliberately making political capital out of a grave emergency.

YESTERDAY'S INSURANCE NOT ENOUGH

The fire insurance industry is warning homeowners of the drastic rise in building values that has taken place since 1939 and of the consequent underinsurance problem.

The National Board of Fire Underwriters declares: "Since 1939, building values—particularly home values—have risen from 30 per cent to 50 per cent in practically every state in the union. In some communities, the increase is even greater. Home

A MATTER OF MIGHT

There is one thing that is never discussed publicly in connection with strikes which are called to the detriment of the whole nation—namely, the right to work.

Today, labor unions calmly announce when they strike that picket lines will be established and any man crossing such line will do so at this peril. And men who want to work are not allowed to "cross" that line. Apparently there is no political will on the part of Federal, state or municipal government to protect non-striking or non-union workmen in their constitutional right to work unmolested.

Suppose, however, you, as an individual, did not like a clerk in some store, and decided to become a one-man picket and prevent that clerk from entering the store. You would land in jail as quickly as a policeman could be called.

The moral seems to be that the right to maintain picket lines and prevent men from working is not so much a matter of law as a matter of might. If you are big enough, you can defy the law—if you are small enough, you are subject to the law. What a travesty on justice in a nation which boasts of freedom.

furnishings and personal property—furniture, rugs, clothing jewelry—have also risen in value.

"Most property owners throughout the nation, since they have not built nor moved in recent years, have overlooked the vital necessity of increasing their insurance to protect the increased value of their own property.

"Yesterday's insurance cannot protect today's property values. It is the responsibility of every insurance representative to bring the seriousness of this situation to the attention of every policyholder concerned.

"Should fire strike these property owners while they are still underinsured, they face tragic and needless losses—losses that might well represent the savings accumulated by years of effort."

During the next five months, fire insurance advertising will stress present day property values. Every property owner will have called to his attention the creeping menace of rising property values to the out-dated insurance policy.

Retailers Demonstrate How OPA Causes "Camouflaged Inflation"

On the basis that unrealistic OPA policies are raising the cost of living in the United States, the National Retail Dry Goods Association displayed before members of Congress in Washington examples of what it calls "camouflaged inflation."

The National Retail Dry Goods Association does not seek the immediate end of government price control but it asks that Congress amend the Price Control Act so as to increase the production of good quality, low priced consumer goods.

As Benjamin H. Namm, president of the Association said: "Production can stop inflation if we can only stop OPA from stopping production."

Officials of the Association described "camouflaged inflation" as "holding the line" against rising prices of reputable goods.

HOW RAILROAD DOLLARS HELP YOUR COMMUNITY

Aside from their main purpose of providing essential transportation for travelers and shippers, American railroads contribute in other important ways to the upbuilding of the communities they serve. Of the money they receive for their services only a very small amount actually stays with the railroads. By far the largest part finds its way back to the people—to the average citizen—to YOU.

Let's see, then, just how the railroad dollar is spent.

41% FOR WAGES
With this money 1,400,000 railroad employees buy homes, furniture, food, clothing, education and insurance—and so keep local business prosperous.

16% FOR TAXES
Railroad taxes are spent for the general support and services of the government—national defense, public safety, schools, hospitals. Although part of this money goes to provide and maintain highways, waterways and airways, none of it goes to the railroads to buy or maintain any of its equipment or help carry on its business.

32% FOR MATERIALS
Over two-thirds of this was spent on railroad supplies furnished by a broad cross-section of industry. This money means better business and more jobs in almost every county in the country.

3% FOR DIVIDENDS
This 3 cents is divided up among the million or so individual citizens who, through investment of their savings in railroad stocks help provide the "tools" for railroad employees.

6% FOR INTEREST, RENTS, ETC.
The greater part of this goes to the millions of men and women who have loaned us money and so have invested in the railroads through their life insurance policies, savings bank deposits and the like.

2% WORKS FOR THE FUTURE
This last 2 cents of the railroad dollar is invested in the research which is making possible better equipment—better service—more jobs to help provide for us all constantly improved rail transportation.

S-P The Friendly Southern Pacific

SOUTHERN PACIFIC, as an important part of the system of American railroads, is contributing materially in these various ways to the prosperity and progress of the thousands of communities, which it serves.

Mademoiselle Bette's Hat Shop was the scene of the show given Friday, March 22 by the Homemaking II class of clothing. Each girl modeled the rayon general wear dress she made in class. Betty Jo Beckett as Mademoiselle Bette, assisted the girls in selecting an appropriate hat for their costumes. The sign, "If she puts it on her head, its a hat" helped the audience to identify the original creation Doris Duke purchased.

The style show completed the unit in selecting and constructing general wear dresses and the proper accessories. Points considered other than actual construction were suitability of design, color, and texture of both dresses and accessories.

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...

GEORGE: "Yes, I certainly would like to hear why you call that an old fashioned idea, Judge."

OLD JUDGE: "Glad to tell you, George. Until recently, a person known as an alcoholic was generally treated as a social outcast. Little if anything was done to understand him or help him. But, during the past few years, medical research and study has developed that alcoholics are really sick people... that there is usually a deep-rooted physical, social or emotional reason behind their behavior. That's why today so much is being done to help them by finding out and correcting the condition that leads them to excess."

GEORGE: "How many folks are there like that, Judge?"

OLD JUDGE: "Well, according to scientific research, 95% of the people who drink, drink sensibly, 5% do so unwisely, at times. Included in that 5% is the small percentage of the sick people I'm talking about."

GEORGE: "That certainly gives me a clearer picture. It's the most sensible approach I've ever heard of the subject."

This woman's work is never done!

Now... more than ever
he needs your Red Cross

V-DAY is history, but Victory over war's effects on our disabled service men is far in the future!

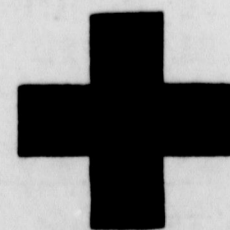

And thousands of Red Cross women are still in active heart-warming service—abroad and at home—still helping to lift the burdens of worried—crippled—discouraged—homesick GIs.

This is the war that never ends—calling on the Red Cross for the services that must never fail our victorious troops—and calling on you for the contributions that are needed now—even more than they were in the years of battle!

STILL URGENTLY NEEDED. As long as the Red Cross is needed, clubs and canteens will offer a touch of home to GIs in Germany and Japan. And meanwhile flood and disaster will require instant emergency service here at home. Give now!

NECESSARY FOR YEARS. The slow convalescence of a crippled veteran in a hospital calls for months of unflinching, genuine sympathy and encouragement from Red Cross social workers. This kind of service must be available for years. To make it possible, give now.

"ALWAYS READY." Disaster, flood, and epidemic must never find the Red Cross unprepared to render instant, effective service on the spot—and getting the injured away to safety. Your contribution will make effective service possible at once—everywhere!

YOUR Red Cross MUST CARRY ON ... GIVE!

Veterans Reminded Of Change in VA Offices April 1

All veterans located in the Southwest Texas area to be serviced by the newly created San Antonio Regional Office were warned today to cease contact with the Waco Office of the Veterans Administration effective April 1 in soliciting information or filing claims.

With the opening of the San Antonio office, T. G. Lanphier, Deputy Administrator of the Dallas Branch Office said, all records on veterans in the new area, formerly held by the Waco Office, will be transferred and on file in the San Antonio Office from where they will be serviced in the future.

The San Antonio Regional Office will serve a large portion of Texas, including the following counties: Aransas, Atascosa, Bandera, Bastrop, Bee, Bexar, Blanco, Brewster, Brooks, Burnet, Caldwell, Calhoun, Cameron, Comal, Crockett, De Witt, Dimmit, Duval, Edwards, Frio, Gillespie, Goliad, Gonzales, Guadalupe, Hays, Hidalgo, Jackson, Jim Hogg, Jim Wells, Karnes, Kendall, Kennedy, Kerr, Kimble, Kinney, Kleberg, La Salle, Lavaca, Live Oak, Llano, McMullen, McCullough, Mason, Maverick, Medina, Menard, Nueces, Pecos, Real, Refugio, San Patricio, Scheicher, Starr, Sutton, Terrell, Uvalde, Val Verde, Victoria, Webb, Willacy, Wilson, Zapata and Zavalla.

Under the VA decentralization plan being carried out in this district by Lanphier, the opening of the San Antonio Regional Office will be a boon to veterans in the above mentioned areas, enabling the VA to give better service to those deserving men and women. The success of speeding up this service to veterans located in the counties covered by the San Antonio office, depends on veterans making all future contacts with the San Antonio Office and the not the Waco Office, beginning April 1, Lanphier said.

Announcement was made today by Allan Shivers, from his home in Port Arthur, that he would be a candidate for Lieutenant Governor in the coming Democratic Primary. Shivers, 38, is married and the father of two children. He was born in Lufkin, Angelina County; reared in Woodville, Tyler County; and resided in Port Arthur, Jefferson County, for the past 20 years. Regulate Prices On Metal Furniture Metal household furniture—kitchen cabinets, dinette sets, porch chairs and other such pieces—will return to market at prices in line with those charged in March, 1942, according to William E. Dozier, price specialist of the San Antonio district Office of Price Administration.

The agency will watch production patterns and if necessary will require manufacturers to maintain approximately their pre-war proportion of low, medium and high lines. Manufacturers must report all ceiling prices, whether or not calculated under today's order, Dozier said.

CEILING PRICES INCREASED ON BLACK PEPPER

In a move designed to release more pepper for the consumer, higher ceiling prices for that commodity have been established, Joseph M. Warren, price assistant of the San Antonio district Office of Price Administration, has announced.

This action, Warren stated will increase the retail price for whole black pepper and whole white pepper about 50 per cent and up per pound.

Warren added that this action is being taken at the request of the Secretary of Agriculture as a means of securing additional supplies for all users of pepper. It will result in only a "negligible" increase in the cost of living, because the per capita consumption of pepper in this country is very small, Warren explained.

LOOKING AHEAD at ELECTRICAL LIVING
You can have frozen storage plus normal storage in your postwar Electric Refrigerator
Today's trend toward increased use of frozen foods is reflected in the new 1946 model electric refrigerators.
Many postwar models are equipped with roomy frozen food compartments in addition to normal and high humidity storage. In these compartments is room for several days' supply of frozen fruits and vegetables, steaks, chops, roasts, fish, ice cream and other foods that keep best at below freezing temperatures... plus ice trays which can be removed for still more space.
With one of these new frozen storage models, you can keep frozen foods on hand indefinitely for use as needed... and save many trips to the grocery store. It's a big step forward in refrigeration convenience... and better electrical living.
