For forty-five minutes, in a very ably as well as interesting manner, Mrs. Sharborough talked to the students discussing the four aims of education namely: citizenship, self realization, efficiency and human relationship. The address was very inspiring and Mrs. Sharborough showed the students their place in the program and that the program was built for them. She then asked the students to present questions to her and which she ably and in a very entertaining manner answered.

gave the invocation, while greetings to the Association were extended by Supt. C. G. Bradford and Mrs. W. H. Savage president of the local P. T. A. Response to the greeting was delivered by Mrs. E. H. Becker State President and by Mrs. Marion Cook, District Vice-President. The theme of the meeting was "The Family Builds the Future," and many interesting and worthwhile talks were given on this subject. Two of the outstanding speakers at the morning session were Mrs. E. H. Becker and Mr. Frank Monroe. At the noon hour a luncheon was served by the ladies of the Methodist church. The Tuesday afternoon session was principally devoted to the giving of reports from the various local units. Mrs. Virginia Sharborough, State Chairman of Education for Home and Family Life was the principal speaker during the afternoon. The subject, "Responsibilities for Pupil Absences," was discussed, with Supt. M. E. Fincher, Ft. Stockton as leader. Others participating were Supt. H. L. Landrum Alpine; Supt. Earl Bland, Marathon; Supt. J. E. Gregg, Marfa; and C. G. Bradford, Sanderson. Tuesday evening session honored the local Unit Presidents and started at 8:00 p.m. The invocation was given by Rev. Clifford Spencer, pastor of the Sanderson Baptist Church. The principal address of this session was given by Dr. R. M. Hawkins President of Sul Ross College at Alpine, his subject being, "We The Citizen." At the close of the evening session a fellowship hour was observed at the Masonic Hall, at which time an entertainment was presented for those present. Wednesday morning session was given over to reports from the various officers and committees. At this time, under the leadership of Mrs. Jerry Gray a very impressive memorial service was held. Many worthwhile questions and suggestions were offered and answered at this time. Pecos extended an invitation for the 1947 meeting which was accepted. In the afternoon there was a post conference board meeting. Report of the committee on findings of the 17th annual conference made by the committee was as follows: In spite of the fact that the whole world is burdened with chaos, misery, starvation, bloodshed, and sorrow, Fifteenth District has proven by this two day conference that its Parent-Teacher light is still aglow and that the welfare of our children and youth is foremost in our thoughts and actions. This conference has in many respects been outstanding. The attendance was beyond expectation. Sanderson truly proved herself an ideal hostess city in every respect. The programs, so well planned, were most efficiently carried out by our charming District President, Mrs. W. A. Kay, as she so graciously presided over each session. It was a rare privilege and an honor to have State President, Mrs. E. H. Becker bring her inspiring messages. We find that more adult study courses are needed. We find that the panel conducted by Supt. M. E. Fincher, assisted by Supts. C. G. Bradford, H. L. Waldrum, Earl Bland and J. E. Gregg on "Responsibilities for Pupil Absences" is a most important phase of school work. We find that a most appalling situation has arisen that has brought about a critical teacher shortage. The only solution to this problem is to stop "rendering lip service" and do something about raising the salaries of teachers in keeping with the important and dignified service they are rendering to the rising generation. We find that the messages

WET STREETS DON'T CAUSE RAIN

The country appears to have forgotten that price control was never instituted for the convenience of the people. It was a vital emergency measure to prevent any interruption in war production. When the war ended, the reason for price control ended. Now, while it is a minor influence as a safeguard against inflation, it is a continuing menace to the American concept of government and free markets. For these reasons many thoughtful persons oppose the extension of O.P.A. J. Howard Pew, President, Sun Oil Co., in a statement before the House Banking and Currency Committee, said:

"The avowed reason we have not abandoned price control is a specious argument that price increases cause inflation. . . that O.P.A. keeps down prices, and thus is the only barrier standing between the country and a devastating inflation."

"This is double talk. . . It is putting the cart before the horse. Price increases no more cause inflation than wet streets cause rain. Wet streets are a result of rain and rising prices are one of the many disastrous results that follow in the wake of inflation."

"Inflation results when there has been an expansion in purchasing power that is not matched by a comparable expansion in the production of real consumer goods and services. We have an inflationary condition today as a result of the monetizing of the Federal debt, and war-accumulated shortages in certain consumer goods, aggravated by O.P.A. controls."

"The best and, I believe, the only effective ways to halt this inflationary trend are to balance the Federal budget at the earliest possible date, and to stimulate the production of all goods. This last can best be done by removing O.P.A. controls from business."

ODDS ON FAILURE

It is on failing to gamble, experiment and pioneer recklessly in lay activities, it is quite another to do it with the health of a nation. Proposals to establish a Federally controlled medical system are experiments with the odds strongly favoring failure.

A large portion of the nation's press is aware of the hazards of careless experiment in government-sponsored medical care. The Grand Rapids, Michigan

LABOR EDITOR SCORES TAX EXEMPTION

Every time the government goes into business, some private firm is denied that particular opportunity. Government business is uniformly tax exempt and tax financed or subsidized. Our original theory of government opposed putting it in competition with private citizens who must be taxed to support government.

It has been political sport to bait private enterprise with government competition. But such competition is becoming so great that local communities are suffering from tax losses caused by eliminating private endeavor. This is being illustrated in the Federal power program which depends on tax-subsidization for its existence. Commenting on government in the power field, the "Voice O'Labor," Morgantown, W. Va., said:

"Senator Norris. . . 'Daddy of the Tennessee Valley Authority,' well knew that if even the elementary principle of business were applied to it, the TVA could not long exist. Here are Senator Norris' own words taken from the Congressional Record, proceedings and debates of the 76th Congress, first session, August 13, 1939, Vol. 84, No. 75, page 5866:

"A proposal from a great association of Tennessee says, in effect, 'Let the TVA property be subject to taxation the same as everybody else's property.' On my desk now there is a printed amendment intended to be offered which provides that all property of the TVA shall be subject to taxation everywhere under the local laws of taxation. If we go to that extreme, Senators can see that the TVA would be out of business in three months."

If Federal business, which is in no sense the function of our government, must escape the tax and regulatory laws which apply to private enterprise, it is seeking special privileges and monopolistic control which should not be tolerated in a country where equality of taxation and law administration are the established rules of the land.

Press says:

"One might concede the need for Federal participation in the medical and hospital field were it not for one thing—and that is that nationally we have steadily been making notable progress in the extension of health services without the intervention of the government. On the other hand, there is no assurance that the quality of scope of medical care would be greatly advanced under any Federally supervised program. We do know, however, that such a program would be expensive that it would compete with existing institutions and that it would bring regimentation to a field where thousands of delicate problems depend for their solution on individual and confidential relationships."

Hold on to that "Million-Dollar Rain"

That welcome rain that brings new life to your land, crops and livestock is the traditional "million-dollar rain" known to every farmer and rancher. There is an old saying, "You can't do much about the weather." But you can do a great deal about what the weather does to your land. Rain can bring relief after drought and is worth that million dollars—or it can be a savage enemy that "dashes off with grit in its teeth and tears down our soil like a billion furious buzz saws."

Water that "walks downhill" is your ally in increasing the production of your land. And one secret of handling rainfall properly is "farming on the level"—by strip cropping, contour plowing, terracing. Cover crops, grassed waterways, dams and farm ponds also help control the destructive power of rain. Then you hold the rain where it falls. Surface run-off is slowed down to the point where it doesn't erode your topsoil away. And as your water "walks downhill," it soaks into the soil, makes plant food nutrients available to the roots of crops and, penetrating further, fills up nature's great underground reservoirs.

Water thus stored in the subsoil is the source of the wells and springs which supply homes and farms and ranches. For years this "water table" has been dropping very seriously in some sections. But where soil conservation has been practiced over large areas, the lowering of the "water table" has been a less serious problem. Soil and water can never be divorced in any good land management program. These two great resources are wedded for all time, and from their union comes the wealth of America's agriculture and the prosperity of the nation.

The mellow flavor of ham rates it one of the most popular of meats. Glaze your ham with honey, marmalade or maple syrup to save sugar. Place the ham, fat side up, on rack in uncovered pan. No water needed, as the fat will baste the ham naturally. Bake in a moderately slow oven until tender. Three to four hours will be enough. Garnish the platter with pickled peaches or apricots, or hot spiced orange slices.

WHAT DO YOU KNOW!

What is the meaning of the expression "farming on the level"?
With what groups of people must a meat packing company like Swift & Company co-operate to operate successfully?
Who must earn a fair profit for the livestock-and-meat industry to operate?
Why is it important to make water "walk downhill"?

Answers to these questions may be found in the various articles which are printed elsewhere on this page.

OUR CITY COUSIN

THE EDITOR'S COLUMN

In addition to being a business corporation, Swift & Company is people—62,000 folks like you and me who have pooled their savings to build a business. These savings are invested in plants and equipment, in livestock and other raw materials, and in all the many things that make up Swift & Company.

Without people there could be no business, no Swift & Company. There must be people (shareholders) to supply the capital; others (farmers and ranchers) to supply the raw materials; many thousands (employees) who work with their heads and hands for the company; and the millions of consumers who buy the meat and other products.

The success of a business enterprise depends on how these various groups of people get along together. In other words, there must be goodwill and cooperation between the owners of Swift & Company and livestock producers, employees, and the company's customers.

To maintain goodwill we know that Swift & Company must: 1) pay fair prices for raw materials, including livestock; 2) pay a good day's pay for a good day's work; 3) provide the money to keep plants and facilities efficient; 4) pay Federal, State and Municipal taxes; 5) earn a profit to give our owners a fair return on their invested savings.

The management of Swift & Company recognizes this five-fold responsibility to the various groups of people who make our business. It is to their interest that we manage our business efficiently, that we earn a sufficient profit to let us continue contributing to the well-being of more and more people.

Jerry Sadler of Longview candidate for governor, has announced the first plank in his platform. It is the G. I. Memorial Act. The act would "create a State Insurance Corporation to insure the down payment and loan on homes, farms and ranches for veterans of World War One, World War Two and all Texans who are financially unable to own a home on which they toll living."

WORTH THINKING ABOUT

In view of the recent talk about the business, etc., of the meat packers, it's worth remembering basic economics of all businesses in this country.

To be successful, any business must do four things:—1) it must purchase its raw materials at prices comparable to the prices paid by its competitors; 2) it must know-how, efficiency, good operating, it must manufacture products of comparable quality at a manufacturing cost no higher than that of its competitors; 3) it must pay its workers wages rates comparable to the going wage-scale paid by others; 4) and it must sell its product at prices that a large part of the public is willing and able to pay.

In the livestock-and-meat industry, this simply means that prices must be high enough to earn both cost and a decent profit for the livestock producer, the packer and the retail merchant—and low enough to keep the great masses of people eating meat.

Soda Bill Sez:

... that the dairy business is mighty profitable—red cows eat green grass and brown cows give white milk and yellow butter. . . the more a feller works, the more he finds to do.

WOOL BLINDNESS is a definite handicap. It is a faced sheep, during a test in New Mexico, produced an average of 12% more pounds of lamb per acre. Wool on the face hindered sheep in finding food. However, the flock in the test excelled by 25% wool production of commercial flocks.

BRED TO MEET PRODUCER NEEDS

By E. J. WARWICK, The State College of Washington
A successful example of sound breeding methods in improving farm animals is the development of the Columbia breed of sheep for the Northern and Northwestern states.

When the Western sheep industry began shifting from a "one-crop" industry to the production of both lambs and wool, the need for a breeding type of sheep, combining the vigor, size, prolificacy, and desirable carcass characteristics of the mutton types, was clearly indicated. This need, U. S. Department of Agriculture, has resulted in some becoming separated from the two main Rambouillet ewes (a fine wool type) and two rams (a mutton type).

Today, after more than 30 years of intense selection for desirable characteristics, the Columbia breed is used on better ranges of the West. Animals of the breed are large, rugged, vigorous, prolific and ductive.

Development of the Columbia breed has been successful because: (1) it was created to fill a need; (2) the breeding program was carefully planned to preserve and concentrate the germ plasm of individuals; (3) rigid culling was practiced; (4) practical selection factors have been emphasized in the selection program.

Adherence to these simple principles will result in further improvements of other farm animals.

THE EAGLE NEWS

AROUND THE CAMPUS

There's a lot of blue ribbon winners around the campus these days. Also several sunburned faces. Both are the result of District Meet last weekend. Yes, that great event is finally history and Sanderson High is really proud of her standing. We got second place and that's okay.

Then there's been the P. T. A. convention which has kept the halls buzzing. Sanderson is getting to be quite a convention town. P. T. A. Convention—Sheep and Goat Raisers Convention, etc. Say where do I get that "etc."???

Oh, it won't be long until school is out. Summer seems quite near these days. The order of the day for girls is bare-foot sandals or huraches, skirts and sheer blouses. Then one sees quite a bit of evidence of spring fever, especially when it comes to lessons. And speaking of lessons, this last week has been the last one in the fifth six weeks, and was exam week. Just think kids, no more six-weeks tests this year, "just finals." Did I say "Just Finals"? Am I kidding or something???

Well, I'll be seeing you next week if this spring fever doesn't get the best of me. It affects column writers, too, you know. Your Weekly Pest

It seemed like Jimmy M. Sammy Tinney, and Melvin had four girls to take to Villa Acuna last Wednesday after the ballgame. Too bad three of them couldn't go, wasn't it boys?

Ever hear of anyone falling in love with a name?? It seems Jeanette did, but was horrified to find the name "Dillinger" was so familiar because she had read about the crook, "Dillinger." Still a good game, wasn't it???

What happens to boys who tell stories, Jimmie D.???

Betty Pearl, were you, Barbara D., and Jeanette really looking for food Thurs. nite in Marfa???

Wonder if Betty Cooke ever paid Billy Chamberlain back the 25c!

Wonder why Cecelia was so mad when she came in Friday nite???

Tough luck, Hazel. Seems she missed having a date with Frank S., when she went home Sat.

We wonder if Birdie had a date with Jimmy D. Friday? Anyway, they seemed to be together.

Say, Melvin? Who was that Marfa girl you were with?

Seems Cobb had company in Marfa. She must like Marathon guys. Maybe one, anyway, huh?

What's wrong, Kenedy? Wouldn't anyone go to the show with you???

Beckett and Willie seemed to be having a good time last Friday.

Snooper heard a big party was going on at the hotel and to top everything, Mr. and Mrs. B said they didn't hear a thing (They must have been drugged.)

The boys couldn't wait until track-time Sat. As I understand it, they were running races in the halls of the hotel at five in the morning.

Jimmie D., what's this we hear about your date walking out on you Friday nite???

Gates, Mary, and Carolyn seemed to have really enjoyed Sat. nite in San Antonio. It seems that they went on a picnic in Breckenridge park, rode in the speed boats, and then rode every thing in Playland several years on the Herman Couch Ranch before going to Marathon a few months ago.

Amelia and Enrigue Villegas are in school after a stay in Del Rio of several weeks where their mother was ill.

The high first grade is very proud of the new coat hanger brought by the room mother.

SEEING THE SENIORS

On July 7, 1929, Marjorie Lanell Jessup came to live in Sanderson and has lived here all her life.

This dignified senior chooses typing as her favorite subject in school. When she turns to sports, she finds tennis much more fun than any other. Her favorite actor is Joseph Coetnon and her favorite actress is Ginger Rogers. Her favorite song is "Till The End of Time." When she is ready for something to eat, Marjorie had rather have chicken than anything else. Marjorie's favorite pastime is dancing or playing the piano.

After graduation Marjorie plans on going to the University of Colorado at Denver, Colorado.

Here's wishing success to a girl who really deserves it, Marjorie Jessup, Senior, 1946.

Peoples' we were in Marfa this week, so's the paper is jes' a little slighted. Pardon!

The Editor

Milk is one of the most important foods in the human diet.

Now don't get the idea they were alone. Definitely not! (There sure is some swell guys going to Peacock Military Academy and T. M. I., isn't there?)

Rasp! Did you see all the kids skating Sat. nite? The kids seem to be going for skating in a big way.

Jeanette, what are you doing with "Duck" Smith's sailor cap? We wonder???

Some Jr. girl got asked for a date by a certain Comstock boy named Kenneth, Sat. nite. Know anything about it Birdie?

So the Western Union guys are gone for a couple of weeks! Too bad girls! Now's your chance boys.

If you want to hear about their trip to San Antonio, just ask Courtney, Allen, and Gates. They'll talk your arm off! Must have been fun.

If I'm not to inquisitive, Melvin would you mind telling us what you were doing on your hands and knees crawling down the hotel hall late Friday nite?

Whose bracelet are you wearing, Jimmy M.???

Mmm! Could it be Budgy and Cecelia—a new couple, or is that in the future???

Looks like Aggie and Boscoc are still "that way" about each other.

Fort Stockton Man Installs Equipment To Manufacture Tile

Dan Bihl, Fort Stockton farmer and ranch operator and former Pecos County Sheriff, this week announced a new and needed Fort Stockton industry, a plant for manufacture of concrete block tile and brick, door and window lintels and other concrete building supplies.

Mr. Bihl has bought a plant which will have a daily capacity of 1,000 to 1,500 tile in the popular 4x8x12 size, and proportionate volume in other sizes of tile and brick. The plant will employ four to five men, and should be in operation within the next few days.

The machine is the fam-vibrator type, and makes a building block with three times the structural strength of clay hollow tile.—Fort Stockton Pioneer.

Guests at the Roark ranches this week are Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Davis and Miles Bennett of El Paso.

The point is: To get the cat skinned!

There's more'n one way to skin a cat. And, in key with the old American proverb, there's more than one way to provide for your family's education and future. But there's one special way which millions of Americans have found lately to be the easiest, surest, most foolproof way of all. That's the Payroll Savings Plan—started for War Bonds, now being used to buy U. S. Savings Bonds. Through it, you pile up money safely, surely—week after week, month after month, year after year.

Best Investment in the Wide World! Listen to this—: All the resources of the United States are behind Savings Bonds—yet they pay better interest than anything of comparable safety. You still get 4 bucks at maturity for every 3 put in. So hang on to this good American idea. Keep your Payroll Savings Plan in force. Keep on buying U. S. Savings Bonds. And you'll have that financial security cat skinned before you know it!

Buy all the Bonds you can... keep all the Bonds you buy!

PTA Convention

brought by Mrs. Virginia Sharborough, State Chm. of Education for home and family life was helpful and inspiring to the parents of school age children.

We find that the address, "We The Citizens," by Dr. R. M. Hawkins, President of Sul Ross made it clear that this is truly "One World" and that we will have to put "hate" out of our hearts before we can do our part to bring Peace to this troubled world.

Mr. Clyde Smith, chairman of music Fifteenth District added to the pleasures of the conference by his able direction of singing. We are indebted to Mrs. May Wilson and Mrs. Sims Wilkinson who so ably accompanied him.

Mrs. Jerry Gray's memorial address on "Our Departed Dead" added another bouquet to our garden of memories.

We find that Parent-Teachers are not given recognition for much of the fine work they do. Credit should be given where credit is due.

We acknowledge our gratitude to the boy scouts who as color bearers made the opening of our conference so impressive, to the high school girls who acted as pages and so efficiently did their duties, and to the seventh grade girls who made the hot pads for the delegates.

Then finally we find that it has been good for our morale to rub shoulders with kindred spirits. We know that each will go home with renewed vigor and strength to carry on with greater zeal and enthusiasm our duties in the greatest organization in the world.
