Young Parker was accidentally shot about 3 p. m. Tuesday when a single barrel shotgun discharged as the door to the car in which he and Louie Pratt were riding was opened. Justice of the Peace W. G. Lee Woods reported.

Woods, who was taken to the scene of the accident by Sheriff A. E. Steinmetz after he was notified from the ranch, said the young men had stopped the car near a watering trough a mile and a quarter southwest of the ranch headquarters and were preparing to hunt in a small clump of trees near the trough.

As the two prepared to leave the car, the gun was accidentally discharged, the charge striking young Parker in the left temple and emerging on the right side. He dropped instantly, falling clear of the car.

Pratt immediately rushed to the ranch house to summon aid and the sheriff was notified.

Body of Aged Man Found Near Railroad Track at Malvado

The body of an aged white man was found at 7:10 a. m., Thursday morning on the T. & N. O., right-of-way at the one-mile post of Malvado by the crew of a westbound freight, who reported the finding to local officers upon their arrival here. Nathan LaCrosse of Del Rio, was the conductor that was in charge of the freight crew that found the body.

Sheriff Jim Nance, Deputy Sheriff Andy Anderson, Justice of the Peace, Hal J. Rowlett Sr., H. H. Saegert, special agent for the T. & N. O., L. McDonald, trainmaster here, and O. T. Sudduth, local undertaker, left immediately for the scene and returned here shortly after noon with the body.

The body was found about 12 feet from the track, on the north side. There were no means of identification to be found. The man was fully dressed, with the exception of his shoes. In a pocket of his pants was found a pocket knife and a long leather purse containing a silver dollar.

Returning the body here to the funeral home of O. T. Sudduth, Dr. J. W. Pate stated, upon examination, that the man had died from a broken neck and that he had suffered a fractured skull. Authorities stated that the man appeared to be between 70 and 80 years of age.

Upon the arrival here of westbound passenger train No. 5, at midnight Wednesday, a passenger on that train was reported missing. Members of the missing man's family, (aged wife, daughter and son-in-law), had missed him as the train neared Fedora, a station 8-miles east of here, and reported the fact to the train conductor, Johnnie Buckman, and a thorough search was made of the train but no trace of the missing man could be found. Members of the family continued their journey and got off at El Paso Thursday morning after an additional search of the train was made and the man still could not be found.

Immediately after the finding of the body Thursday morning Trainmaster L. McDonald through the dispatcher, got in touch with the family at El Paso, and informed them of finding the body alongside the track. They gave instructions to have the body prepared for shipment and be sent to Fresno, Calif.

Later communication with the family in El Paso, gave his name as W. L. Cloud and stated that Fresno, Calif., was his home.

The remains will be shipped out of here Friday night by train to Fresno for interment there.

At a small round table ringed around with tall frosted goblets of pure silver sat Mrs. Van Deman to serve those who wished to drink the "Nectar of the gods." Smart Motorists To Help Get '100,000-Mile Tire'

"It probably will be quite a few weeks yet before there is any such thing as a 100,000-mile tire for autos," J. W. Robertson, manager of The Sanderson Gulf Station said today, "but in the meantime intelligent car owners can add many thousands of miles to the life expectancy of today's tires by following a faithful pattern of tire maintenance, and carrying on the practices they learned during the war."

American motorists, Robertson said, made great progress these last five years in learning the importance of proper tire inflation, the "cross switching" of tires every 5,000 miles to equalize wear, and the avoidance of severe bumpings, curb scrapings and skidding stops. No matter how good tires are made, he said, their total service life will still be governed to a large extent by the driver's observance or non-observance of the rules of tire care.

"One thing that a lot of drivers still need to get straight," Robertson emphasized, "is the fact that it's just as injurious to over-inflate a tire as to under-inflate it. In their anxiety to avoid running tires soft, many got into the habit of putting in a few extra pounds of air, just to make sure. This habit is definitely noticeable as a hold-over from the war days. It can't be emphasized too strongly that for the best 'ride' and the longest tire life you should follow manufacturer's tire pressure recommendations."

HEALTH NOTES—

With a sharp increase in the number of persons being bitten by rabid animals in East Texas, and similar occurrences reported in other sections of the state, Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, recently warned all Texans to be on the alert for symptoms of this disease when around domestic or wild animals.

The 2,166 animal heads received for examination by the State Health Department during the past year have shown 687 positives, including incidence among cats, dogs, horses, rabbits, rats, squirrels, skunks, guinea pigs, coyotes, gophers, raccoons, hogs, sheep and prairie dogs.

Rabies is transmitted to man through a bite or having a cut exposed to the saliva of a rabid animal. Bites through clothing are not as dangerous as bites on exposed surfaces, because the saliva is wiped off as the tooth passes through the cloth.

If a person is bitten, the offending animal should be penned, if possible, for a period of ten days observation. If the animal is normal at the end of that time, the case can be dismissed. If it is necessary to kill the animal, this should be done in such a manner that the brain is not destroyed, otherwise, an examination to determine whether or not the animal had rabies will be impossible. If the head is sent to the State Health Department, care should be used in properly icing it to prevent decomposition.
