Mrs. Jennie Freeman Dies Saturday

Resident Of Sanderson For Past 18 Years

Funeral services were held Tuesday morning at 10:00 o'clock from the Sanderson Methodist Church for Mrs. Jennie Freeman, 78, with Rev. J. W. Hendrix pastor of the church, assisted by Wayne Harrell of the Church of Christ, conducting the services. A mixed choir from the various churches sang Interment was in Cedar Grove Cemetery under the direction of the O. T. Sudduth Funeral Home.

Mrs. Freeman, who has been a resident of Sanderson for more than 18 years, passed away Saturday afternoon, October 5, at 5:40 o'clock at the home of her son Ray Caldwell. She had been ill only a short time, having taken seriously ill on Friday noon, the day preceding her death.

Mrs. Jennie Caldwell Freeman was born March 3, 1868, in Des Moines, Iowa. When a child she moved with her parents to Missouri, where she grew to young womanhood. At the age of 17 she was married to S. S. Caldwell in Halfway, Mo., and to this union five sons were born, two preceding her in death. Shortly after their marriage, Mr. and Mrs. Caldwell moved to Idaho, where they resided for a number of years. Following the death of her husband, the mother and her sons moved back to Missouri to make their home.

In 1902 she was married to W. B. Freeman of Richmond, Kentucky, and they made their home there until his death in 1928, after which she moved to Sanderson to make her home with her son, Ray Caldwell.

Mrs. Freeman has been a member of the Methodist church since 1905 and was a very active member until her death. A true, devoted member of the church, she lived and practiced her religion, always loyal to her Lord and his church. Her friends were legion and wherever she went her sweet sunny smile and loveable character was felt. The beautiful and profuse floral offering given her on her passing attested to her high character and love that everyone had for her.

She is survived by three sons; Ray Caldwell of this city, Jack Caldwell of Spokane, Washington; and Frank Caldwell of St. Petersburg; four grandchildren, Sam and Frank Caldwell Jr., of St. Petersburg, Fla.; Jack Caldwell Jr., Great Falls, Mont.; and Doris Jane Campbell of Spokane, Washington and one great grandchild, Sandra Rae Campbell of Spokane, Wash. Other survivors are two sisters, Mrs. Allie Mapes and Mr. Lizzie Enyard of Bolivar, Mo., and two brothers, Samuel Redd of Sedro Wooley, Wash., and Jim Redd of Ohio, as well as numerous nephews and nieces.

Out of town relatives here for the funeral were her son Jack Caldwell of Spokane, Washington and a grandson, Frank Caldwell Jr., of St. Petersburg, Florida. Others from out of town that were here for the funeral were Mr. and Mrs. Edward Boykin and Miss Janice White of San Antonio, Texas.

Active pallbearers were Ruel Adams, R. S. Wilkinson, Lynn Harrell, Carlton White, L. D. Hasty and Doc Smith.

Honorary pallbearers named were George Chapman, Lytle Texas; H. L. Stuckey, Pecos, Texas; L. S. Dickson, Marathon, Texas; B. N. Weatherby, C. H. White, Willis Carter, J. W. Downum, James Kerr, Clayton Stubblefield, J. H. Hayre and L. H. Lemons, all of Sanderson.

Are Returning Veterans "Different"?

During the war you heard a lot about how hard it was going to be for returning veterans to get adjusted to civilian life . . . how they'd be "different."

Well, plenty of them have returned to our town, and a finer, steadier bunch you couldn't ask for. Most of them are back at the same jobs . . . going with the same nice home-town girls (getting married, some of them, and setting up families) . . . renewing the same old friendships.

Even their amusements are the same. Nothing more exciting than fishing Seward's creek or pitching horseshoes . . . enjoying an outdoor barbecue with friendly wholesome beer and pleasant talk.

If they've changed at all it's in the direction of maturity and tolerance . . . tolerance for everything except dictators, and those who would destroy our democratic principles of live and let live. And from where I sit, that's another reason to be proud of them.

Grass is on the Move

Out of the sandhills of Nebraska, up from the Chama country of New Mexico . . . all the way from the state of Washington to Texas, there's a flood of livestock on the move. Feeder cattle and lambs raised in the great grass-growing regions of the United States are flowing into the feed lots of the nation. This movement reaches its peak each October, and its significance is of great economic importance to all of us in the livestock-meat industry.

These millions of head of feeder cattle and lambs are nothing more than grass turned into meat. True, these feeders will require a certain amount of grain to finish them as satisfactory meat animals. That's why they go into the feed lots. But were it not for these grazing animals, 779,000,000 acres of the land area of the United States would produce little, if any, human food. In other words, 41% of the total land of our nation consists of grass land which cannot be used for producing other feeds and foods. Also taking into consideration the plowable land used to produce pasture, hay and other forage crops, approximately half of our land would produce no food of human value, were it not for livestock.

Of the total feeds consumed by beef cattle, 78.7% is grass, hay and dry roughages. With lambs, it is 95.6%. These are official figures of the United States Department of Agriculture. Thus, the grain that goes into feeder cattle and lamb rations is but a relatively small part of the feed that makes our meat. A minimum of corn is needed to bring feeder steers from 700 to 1,000 pounds when the principal part of the ration is made up of fodder, corn silage, other available roughages and some concentrates.

In addition to utilizing grass which otherwise would be wasted, the production of livestock furnishes the nation with its finest nutritional food—meat. In the great movement of meat from the Western range to the kitchen range, the stop-over in the feed lots increases the amount of meat. It also levels out the fall flood of livestock into a more even year-round marketing. Thus seasonal price fluctuations are not so marked. In the production of livestock, the majority of America's 6,000,000 farmers and ranchers find the chief means of marketing their grass and other home-grown feeds.

MANY ACCIDENTS CAN BE PREVENTED

Every three minutes there is a farm or ranch accident. Unless something is done, 19,500 people may be killed in such accidents this year. Another 1,800,000 may be injured. We at Swift & Company want to help cut down this accident toll. That's why we print the pictures and the questions which follow. Little chances not taken, little repairs made, can prevent big accidents. Do you take the chances shown below? Check yourself.

I never handle animals carelessly

Do you have a strongly built bull pen? Do you lead the bull around on a rope because you do not have a bull-staff? Do you approach horses from behind without speaking and patting their rumps to warn them? Then watch yourself . . . one out of four fatal farm accidents occurs in handling livestock.

I approach animals without warning

I am never careless around machinery I sometimes take chances with machinery

Do you leave safety shields off power shafts, gears and chains? Wear loose-fitting clothing that may catch in machinery? Operate the tractor on dangerous inclines or banks? Mishandled machinery and equipment are involved in nearly one out of three fatal farm accidents.

SELECTING JUNIOR CLUB STEERS

by W. H. Peters University of Minnesota

Every boy and girl who enters a junior feeding contest would like to secure a feeder steer good enough to become a champion. In selecting calves with this high aim in mind, the "satisfactory prospect" must be a purebred or high-grade one of the recognized beef breeds, Short-horn, Hereford, or Angus.

The calf or yearling steer in thin condition must appear short in legs in proportion to his depth of body, or to put it the other way around, he must appear deep in body in proportion to his length of legs. He must then appear to be wide in his body and thickly covered with muscle, especially over the loin and down through the thighs.

The feeder calf should have a short neck and a short, broad head. He should appear moderately fine or small in the legs and head as an indication that he will fatten smoothly and show quality when fat. Large, coarse-appearing calves and small over-refined ones seldom develop into winners. Calves that appear nervous and easily excited or frightened should be avoided as they are likely to not do well and to be hard to train to lead.

TEAMWORK While we were preparing the "Grass is on the Move" article for this page, a cattleman friend from one of the western range states called to see me. I told him about the article. "It points out," I said, "that lots of food for humans is produced from areas that otherwise would be waste land if it were not for meat animals." He said, "That's good! There are always misguided people who complain that it's a waste to feed corn and other grains to livestock. They say people ought to eat the grain, instead of turning it into meat. They forget that most of that meat is made of grass, hay and other roughage that people can't eat." "Another thing too many people forget," he went on, "is the important job you meat packers do in getting meat to the people who want it. I understand that meat travels an average of more than 1,000 miles from producers to consumers. That must be so because we fellows west of the Mississippi raise two-thirds of the livestock. But two-thirds of the people live in the Mississippi, where most of the animals are like manure, we who raise and finish the animals are like manufacturers. And you are our sales and distributing departments. Believe me, we need an organization that covers the nation to get our product into every market in this big country. It seems to me that you and we are in this business together, and neither could get along without the other." F. M. Simpson, Agricultural Research Department Cattle grabs collect a heavy toll from livestock producers each year. Paul Gregg, entomologist with Texas A. and M. College, estimates that grabs cause approximately five million dollars' loss in Texas alone. Cattle grabs are an expensive pest throughout the Gulf Coast states, all the range country and everywhere where they are produced. They can be controlled. Gregg advocates rotenone and sulphur, applied either as a dust or spray. Contact your county agent about the best time for treating your cattle. OUR CITY COUSIN City Cousin, dressed up slick. Wonders, "Where is farming's heart? He'll find out—mighty quick."

Marketing Dairy and Poultry Products. The same nationwide distribution system which is used to distribute meat is ideal for the distribution of dairy and poultry products. All these products are produced and require refrigeration. Many consumers buy their milk, cheese, eggs, poultry and meats from the same store. Swift & Company can see, it is more economical to have one Swift & Company man who sells 16 or more products than 16 salesmen, each selling one product. Further, costs are reduced by having the same man deliver these products at the same time to the same dealer. By preparing, handling and selling dairy and poultry products as well as meat, distribution costs are reduced on all these products. Our objective is to provide wider outlets for the products of dairy farms and ranches. We have a booklet entitled "Dairy and Poultry Products" which we will gladly send you. Write to Swift & Company, Department A-3, Chicago 9, Illinois.

ELECTRICAL SUPPLY COMPANY We, too, are on a waiting list If you've been trying to buy a new car, you know how hard it is to get delivery with production running so far behind the tremendous demand. A similar situation is retarding our efforts to extend service to new users and make needed increases in the capacity of our lines. We urgently need more transformers, wire, poles and pole hardware for immediate use. Manufacturers would like to supply them, but production is simply not enough. We want those who have applied for service to know that we, too, are on a waiting list, with deliveries of many items of line material even slower than during the war. We're stretching the limited materials we receive as far as they will go. You can count on us to bring you electricity and push ahead our improvement program just as rapidly as the supply situation will permit. # Sanderson Eagles Show Improvement Against Pecos Eagles

The Sanderson Eagles journeyed to Pecos, Texas, on Friday, of last week where they met the strong Class A Team of the Pecos Eagles.

The final score was 53 to 20 in favor of Pecos.

By the end of the first quarter, the Pecos team had made three touchdowns, but the Sanderson Eagles made a comeback and by the end of the half they had two touchdowns.

Jessup, playing only on the offense was able to make two touchdowns on passes from Jack Harrell, one a 48yd run down the side line, the other a 9yd run after a short toss. He also looked good on the reverse plays. Coach Ethridge did not keep him in the game only when we had the ball, due to two cracked ribs that he received in the Iraan game.

The passing of J. Harrell was still on the beam as many were caught even though the rain fell during the greater part of the game.

Some of the B-team made the trip and saw action in the fading few minutes of the game.

Weldon Chamberlain and his brother, Billy, did not make the trip, due to illness to both of them.

The third touchdown that was made by Sanderson was by David Thompson.

All in all the boys learned plenty and were lucky enough to come out of the fracas with no serious injuries.

This Friday the Eagles and the Eaglets will journey to Marfa, where they will play.

At 4:30 the Eaglets, the Junior team will play their first game and the game will be watched with interest as there is the future teams of the Eagles.

At 7:30 p. m., the second conference game of the season will be played when the Marfa Shorthorns and the Sanderson Eagles clash.

Iraan beat the Eagles 33-0 and Marfa 20-6 so we are on the short end of the stick on dope, but they do not always pay off on paper.

Those to make the trip on the A team are Grigsby, Davis Sanches, Mussey, Murrain, May T. Hill, Brown, Winston, B Chamberlain, W. Chamberlain J. Harrell, F. Harrell, D Thompson, Dishman, Jessup Chastain and Coach Etheridge.

The following members of the B-team accompanied by Supt. Bradford will make the trip: Ed Smith, Jim Bradford, J. D. Thompson, Bob Hill, Regina Falcon, Rudolfo Zepeda, J. W. Powers, Wade McDonald, Bobby Cooke, Wait Pauli, Jim Harris Melvin Newton, Genero Valdez Felipe Arredondo, David Florez and Richard Turner.

we lunched ventured that production per man hour would certainly go down when and if the government took over. One of his reasons was that the employees would then be at points entirely too far removed from the source of authority. He also affirmed that in his opinion workers did not like the idea of nationalization.

HEALTH NOTES—

AUSTIN, Texas, Oct. 10.—Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, was recently asked to give the duties of the Texas State Department of Health in contrast with those of the general practitioner of medicine.

He stated, "The Health Department is charged with protecting the public health. This it does by education of the people as to how they may secure protection against disease, such as vaccination against smallpox and typhoid fever and immunization against diphtheria; by quarantine and isolation of those ill with communicable disease; by the prevention of sources of outbreaks of disease; by quarantine and isolation of those ill with communicable disease; by the prevention of the spread of diseases; inspection of water supplies; by advocating the production and use of safe milk and to prevent threatened outbreaks of communicable diseases.

"People will become ill and accidents will happen. The cure of sickness and the repair of accidents comes within the scope of the duties of the practitioner of medicine and surgery. The general practitioner of medicine is also engaged in preventive medicine when he advises mothers to have their children protected against diphtheria and smallpox or the family as a whole immunized against typhoid fever before planning travel, such as cross country trips."

The general practitioner and the Health Department alike believe that it is better to remain healthy than it is to get well after becoming ill, but the Department is engaged in the control and prevention of disease as it affects the general population of a community or state. The field of treatment and cure of those ill belongs solely to the general practitioner of medicine.

Ervin Grigsby spent the week-end in San Antonio and Austin. On last Saturday he witnessed the football game in Austin, that was played between Texas U and the Oklahoma A. & M. College.
