WE AND LIVE
The workers take pride in their ability to do hard jobs. They are willing to let the judge of their work be the quality of their work. Pure craftsmanship, in skilled or semi-skilled trades, is a quality for which employers are willing to pay. Even in ditch-digging, a man apart as a workman. Such traits as speed, accuracy, dependability, and are what get a fellow has seen this kind of competition make real men. These free men have America. Every worker, whether he makes a strong hand or agile puts his faith in the of the valuable commodity he possesses to his. Competition is good for craftsmen, athletes, fishermen, shopkeepers, American business in. The American people reasoned wisely that competition in industry must be so that the whole may benefit.

Agreements
Competition on the level have any value for the of the nation? Is it our industry, of labor is a part, exists for those who consume policies that add unreasonably to the costs of goods, other non-competitive endanger the free that made us great.

Shop agreements, assumed by management press, present this kind of competition. The non-competitive nature of enforced closed-shop agreements is apparent. Labor themselves need the stimulation of fair competition, for of improved service. They need not find their only competition with employers. Management and labor of co-operation, for complement each other.

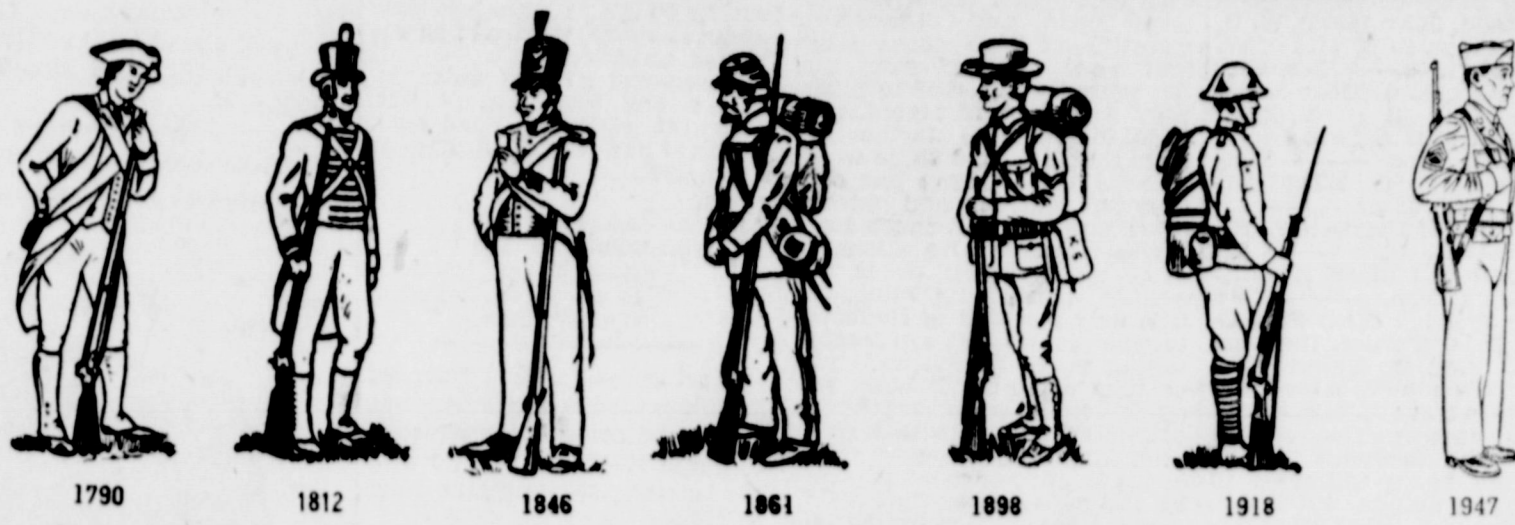

Verous
Ann Anderson, executive-president of the Swedish Labor Union, told me that 80 per cent of Swedish labor belong to it. He informed me that the creation of labor unions is probably opposed to the top. They feel that the shop is antagonistic to the principle of freedom for unions enjoy and they must help defend their own interest.

A closed shop in America would amount to one of the most powerful of non-union labor, with the placed on mediocrity. It would make labor more than any plain American wish. Any segregation of labor as that either actual head of a to-government or would powerful that only a to-state could deal with.

A national closed shop is dangerous for America and would mean the end of labor unions.

wants no such regime. You call it fascist, compared by some other fancy that may yet appear. Any other system you of, as compared with America, labor would be in Nazi Germany. I found it necessary to visit totalitarian state by labor unions. In Stalin simply runs there's every reason why avoid monopolies of and instead must foster competition in every way. Within labor unions need for competition. It should be elected region a democratic way. Competition among our orders already adds to be they render. Honest on the value of good presents the most im-

EVOLUTION OF UNIFORM AND EQUIPMENT OF THE U. S. ARMY INFANTRYMAN—The progress of the United States in providing for its national defense is pictured graphically in the sketches above. The pitifully small but courageous force mustered by the new government in 1790 paraded in cocked hat and long-tailed coat and carried the ancient flintlock musket. In the War of 1812 the uniform was improved but the flintlock remained, except for Jackson's famous riflemen in New Orleans. The percussion musket, along with the rifle, came in 1846 late in the Mexican War, when a conspicuous uniform and a cockaded cap made the soldier a perfect target. In the War Between the States the same long-barreled rifle remained. The uniform was blue, a color that was popular with the quartermasters as well as writers of war songs, until khaki was introduced in the Spanish-American War in 1898. The breechloader and repeating rifle came in during the Indian campaigns in the 1870s. World War I saw amazing improvements both in uniform and equipment. Infantry units embraced machine gun platoons and the new steel helmet was of practical service. The sketch labeled 1947 was made from a photograph of a soldier in the latest outfit, with battle jacket and overseas cap. The color is "O.D. 33", a shade of olive drab. The sketch shows a carbine, but the infantryman may also carry the M-1 rifle and hand grenades, and among his comrades are teams trained in the use of the machine gun, the bazooka, the tommygun, automatic rifle, etc.

Mr. Roark was found dead at his ranch home on last Friday, April 11, by his brother Ferrell Roark, and Carl Lambert, who were going to a well rig near there. The ranch is located about 40 miles southwest of here and is in the Southeastern part of Brewster County.

I. C. (Clem) Roark Jr., was born in Marathon, Texas in November 1910 and spent the biggest part of his life there. He attended school in Marathon and also was a student at Texas Tech in Lubbock and while attending Sul Ross College in Alpine and Schreiner Institute in Kerrville he was a member of the football teams. Following one year service in the Border Patrol, at which time he was stationed in Arizona, he resigned from the service and for the past ten years was engaged in the ranching business.

Plunkett Family To Stage Shows Here Next Week

The Plunkett Family Show will open in Sanderson Monday, April 21st at 8:00 p. m., with the curtain rising at 8:00 for a three night run, through the 23rd. The show is being sponsored by the Sanderson Volunteer Fire Department.

The Plunketts are a professional performing family. You will actually see 'Pa' Plunkett, and the ten Plunkett brothers and sisters performing.

At one time featured in "Life Magazine," every member of this outstanding dramatic and stage show is rightfully proud of personal and family accomplishments. Each of the three nights they are here you will see an equally entertaining and professionally portrayed three-act play. The play itself is different each night, as is the entire show.

Captain Fuzz Plunkett will amaze you when he presents his trained seals climbing ladders, playing ball, and picking out tunes on an arrangement of horns. And two of the funniest funny-men ever to grace a stage are Jerry Van and Kennedy Swain, it is said.

Individual acts are too many and varied to enumerate. Little Miss Jerry P. Plunkett will be there singing popular songs in her large smooth voice. Also back in the fold after touring with the country's leading circus is "Corky" Plunkett with his partner Tommy Junedus and sisters Gloria and Jerry, tumbling on the 'trampoline.'

The trampoline is a great rectangle of heavy canvas attached to a shoulder-high steel framework by springs, with a 300-pound tension. From this bounding platform of canvas you will see the girls springing high into the air to turn single, double, and even triple somersaults with novel twists. The clown will be there too, for comic relief.

The family's own seven-piece orchestra, complete with vocalists Maisie and Cleo, furnishes musical background.

The Plunkett family produced the vaudeville program for Texas' best-known traveling show, the Harley Sadler circus which toured until Mr. Sadler was elected to the Legislature.

Paul Patterson, former teacher in the Sanderson schools, is the author of one of the latest volumes written by a West Texan and is due off the press at an early date, according to Mathis Van Nort Co., Dallas publishers, in announcing "Sam McGoo and Texas Too".

The volume which is due to be published in May is rollicking story of cowboy life characters all old West Texans have known. It is the story of the McGoo family who are as genuine and as typically West Texas and Pecos cowboys as are the alkali, greasewood brush and salt grass that swells the bellies of the Pecos River ponies according to an advance announcement on the volume.

Patterson was born on a Gaines ranch in West Texas, shortly afterwards, he said, he drifted on the red fangs of a West Texas sand storm, finally lodging against the rough foothills of Upton County at the foothills of the Baldies, where he grew to manhood.

Despite the fact that he moved in cowboy circles he complains that he failed to master the rough and ready art of riding and roping course prerequisite to the cowboy trade. To his great disappointment, he learned that to be a cowboy one must know more than the cow, so, as he describes the situation, he was forced to the schoolmaster's trade, a profession he still follows.

The book will be illustrated with 30 humorous sketches by Elmer Kelton, who has caught the spirit and humor of the book. He was brought up on the ranches of West Texas and his Western illustrations are branded as wholly authentic.

Veterans' News

Q—Can the beneficiary of the family of a veteran make premium payments on his National Service Life Insurance of the veteran doesn't care to do so?

A—Yes, but the insured veteran has the right to change his beneficiary or beneficiaries at any time without consulting with or receiving the approval of anyone. He may also surrender his permanent NSLI policy for cash at anytime.

Q—I am drawing retirement pay at present. Can I receive subsistence allowance while going to school under the Servicemen's Readjustment Act?

A—You are entitled to draw retirement pay and still receive the full amount of subsistence allowance while in school or training. Retirement pay is not considered income from productive labor and therefore is not to be included by the veteran in his estimate of earnings filed with Veterans Administration.

Q—I obtained a G. I. Home loan in June, 1945, and now would like to know if I may obtain a further loan under the amended G. I. Bill?

A—Yes. Evidently your guaranty under the original Servicemen's Readjustment Act was $2,000; therefore under the act as amended in December, 1945, you are eligible for a further guarantee of $2,000 on a real estate loan, or $1,000 on a business or non-real estate loan.

Q—Will my 10 percent World War II disability of $13.80 be increased in event I marry?

A—No. Your compensation is based on the degree of disability and not on the number of dependents.

Q—I am an ex-Wac with an honorable discharge. I am contemplating marriage to a non-veteran and would like to know if I lose any of my rights under the G. I. Bill?

A—No. Q—I was discharged from the U. S. Army because my mother was dependent on me. Am I eligible to enter a course of education or training?

A—Yes. The fact that you were discharged from the service because of dependency of your mother would not be material if you are otherwise qualified.

Q—What benefits, other than subsistence, is a veteran entitled to while pursuing a course of education under the G. I. Bill?

A—Veterans Administration will pay for the veteran's tuition, books, supplies, fees and other authorized expenses within certain limitations.

Q—I have a service connected disability and am to be rehabilitated under the Vocational Act. Will my compensation payments be increased while I am pursuing a course of vocational rehabilitation?

A—No, your compensation will not be increased; but during the time you are being rehabilitated, you will receive your disability compensation plus subsistence allowance to bring you up to $105 a month if you do not have a dependent. Additional amounts will be added for each dependent or dependents.

Q—I am being rehabilitated under the Vocational Rehabilitation Act (Public Law 16). Am I entitled to a vacation during the summer, and will I continue to receive subsistence allowance during the vacation?

A—Yes. You will be entitled to leave of absence not to exceed 30 days in any consecutive 12 months, and you will receive compensation and subsistence allowance during vacation.

J. M. Russell returned home last Sunday from Del Rio where he had spent the past week with Mrs. Russell who is undergoing medical treatment in the Del Rio Hospital. There is not much change in her condition.

Butane Users Urged to Keep Tanks Filled

A call to stock up on butane gas during the spring and summer for "winter insurance" was issued this week to home users of the gas by William J. Lawson, Executive Secretary of the Texas Butane Dealers Association.

"If your tank cannot furnish you with gas to last through the four winter months without refilling, you may find yourself without heat in the coldest season of the year," Mr. Lawson warns. "But, you can assure yourself an adequate winter supply if you store gas in summer, and in turn you will help your butane dealer serve you more efficiently."

Pointing out that many industries developed during the war use great amounts of this fuel consistently each month of the year, Mr. Lawson explained that home users burn from four to seven times more gas in winter than in summer. He continued:

"Industry buys the fuel on a year-round basis, but homemakers are prone to wait until they need the fuel before refilling their tanks. Storage facilities for butane are not sufficient in all sections of the state to store enough gas during the summer to take care of the demands for the rest of the year. If homemakers will 'tank up' in advance, they will be assured of winter fuel."

"While the law of supply and demand makes this necessary, the idea is of new. The farmer always has stored his grain early for the winter. Housewives do their winter canning in summer. And, for winter insurance, users should store their gas in summer."

O. T. Sudduth and Earl Pierson, local butane dealers invite their customers to discuss their butane needs with them at an early date, Mr. Lawson added.

HEALTH NOTES—

AUSTIN, April 17.—The State of Texas is planning to celebrate national "Public Health Nursing Week" April 20 to 26, as proclaimed by President Harry S. Truman.

The purpose of the week, according to Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, will be (1) to recruit more public health nurses (2) to increase understanding of the fact that much needless sickness and suffering can be prevented or reduced by using public health nursing services (3) to encourage greater understanding of public health nursing as a service for everybody regardless of size of income (4) to encourage development of public health nursing services wherever needed (5) to increase citizen participation in public health nursing services.

From the beginning of this work more than thirty years ago, public health nurses have been concerned with the total health situation of the family including sickness, disease, prevention, and health protection.

In setting aside April 20 to 26 as "Public Health Nursing Week" for America, health administrators and all other friends of nursing should exert their efforts toward the extension of public health nursing services, so that there will be enough qualified nurses to meet the needs of all the people, and thus help in maintaining a maximum health level throughout the nation.

attended the funeral... Saturday afternoon for Roark.

Mrs. Lou Duncan arrived Sanderson Tuesday for a visit with her daughter, Mrs. Caroline.

FROM THE TEXAS BUTANE DEALERS ASSOCIATION:—

An Important Message TO THOSE WHO USE OR PLAN TO USE BUTANE or PROPANE

The Texas Butane Dealers Association urges you to check up on your present system. If your tank is not capable of serving you through the four winter months, you may find yourself without heat in the coldest season of the year.

New industries developed during the War—plastics, synthetics and chemicals—now demand tremendous amounts of butane and propane. These industries use gas in equal amounts all year 'round. Meanwhile, domestic gas users burn four to seven times more in winter than in summer, but your dealer will be able to furnish you very little more in winter than in summer. To ease this high winter demand, users must spread that demand over the warmer months as well. The solution is a tank which will hold a four-months supply.

For "Winter-Insurance" the farmer stores his grain early, just as housewives do their canning early. For your "Winter-Insurance" you'll have your four-months supply in your tank when you need it most. And by taking less time for your dealer's services, he can supply you and your neighbors more efficiently and economically at the very time when road conditions are worst for gas delivery.

The Texas Butane Dealers Association urges you to drop in to see your local gas dealer as soon as possible. Consult him before you buy any system. He knows butane and propane, and he will do everything he can to cooperate with you for next winter—Now!
