If such a meeting is decided upon the public will be advised through the columns of this paper, Mr. McAdams said.

Prowlers Enter Home Of H. E. Fletchers For Suit and Rings

Prowlers entered the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Fletcher during their absence Tuesday evening and a suit of clothes belonging to Mr. Fletcher and four rings of Mrs. Fletcher's are reported missing. Despite the fact that both the front and back doors were not fastened, the prowler cut a hole in the bedroom window screen to gain entrance to the house. When the Fletchers returned home in the early evening, they found the closet in the front bedroom and all of the drawers ransacked. A suit of Mr. Fletcher's was on the bed and personal effects scattered about the room. The ransacking had started in the other bedroom and it is thought that the prowlers were frightened away when the Fletchers returned.

Mrs. Fletcher stated that the rings were mostly of sentimental value. At this date, no suspects have been apprehended.

Baker's Garage and Stored Articles Burn in El Paso

Mr. and Mrs. Ted Baker, who moved to El Paso last week, had the misfortune to be the victims of a fire Friday morning. Some articles of furniture and personal effects which were stored in the garage at their home were completely destroyed when the garage burned. It is thought that children playing in the garage set the fire. The Bakers' loss was estimated at about $1,000.

HALLEY'S HOME FROM CALIFORNIA TRIP

Halley, Jr., and family in Stockton, California, and with Mr. Halley's mother and father in El Joan, and his sister in Calexico. Enroute home they stopped in El Paso to visit Mrs. Halley's sister, Mrs. E. M. Reeves for two days.

County Association will resume ACP activities within program funds previously allocated and under existing regulations and procedures. Before work is started ranchers must obtain Form 47-SR-30, Notices of Approval. New approvals will have to be granted in cases where Forms 30 were previously cancelled.

The Agricultural Department gave its far-flung AAA field service the word this week to "resume operations" in signing up farmers to carry out its $265,000,000 soil conservation program for 1947.

Under the Agricultural Adjustment Agency program, farmers receive cash and materials — principally lime fertilizers — for carrying out approved soil and water conservation practices. With its set-up of more than 100,000 farmer committeemen, the project was inaugurated in the early days of the New Deal. It was halted two months ago when the House voted to appropriate only $165,000,000 for it this year and to end it altogether next year.

The AAA had worked out a $300,000,000 program and President Truman had recommended that amount in his budget report to Congress.

Congress finally voted $265,000,000 for this year. Although this is lower than the sum asked, the soil program is being resumed on the same basis as originally planned. Officials say most of the country AAA officers will be able to keep present staffs. Under the appropriation bill first passed by the House, they faced sharp curtailment.

Although the amount of the appropriation set aside for administrative expenses this year is about 18 per cent less than last, the bulk of the reduction in personnel and other expenses will be absorbed in Washington and in state offices.

The administrative fund is in addition to the $265,000,000 that will go for payments to farmers.

The program will be cut sharply next year. At the insistence of the Senate, the House agreed to go along with an appropriation of $150,000,000 for 1948.

J. D. May Home Visited by Prowlers

When J. D. May, who is an engineer on the T&N O, returned home Tuesday morning, he found the front door of his house open and the house completely ransacked. Entrance to the house had evidently been obtained with a skeleton key as he left the doors locked. Until Mrs. May returns home and a check-up can be made, it is not known if anything is missing. Mrs. May has gone to Omaha, Texas, to get her daughter, Marjorie Ann, who has been visiting relatives there.

A second producer has been completed in the Owen's field in western Crockett County. A wildcat in the northeastern part of the county flowed 80 barrels hourly in test last week. Two water wells recently drilled at Ozona struck a practically inexhaustible supply of water at 417 feet. But the third water well turned out to be dry. Oil is an asset to any city but we believe an abundant supply of good water to be desired first.

Ector County citizens by vote Saturday approved the issuance of $300,000 in bonds for additional funds for the proposed Ector County Hospital. Plans call for an 86-bed hospital, with a nursery section, laboratories and offices.

Alpine has launched a war on stray or untaxed canines. A veterinarian has made two visits to that city to give the inoculations against rabies and the campaign to rid the town of stray dogs will be launched soon.

A large DW 10 caterpillar tractor and scraper will arrive in El Dorado soon and put to immediate use on the Schleicher County roads. It carries a speed of eighteen miles per hour and can move a large quantity of caliche at a time.

An "open house" was held in Brownwood on July 31. Features include a "Pet and Doll" parade in the morning and a bathing review in the afternoon.

With more than 9,000 acres of land planted in cotton in Maverick County and an expected yield of 6,000 bales this year, an Eagle Pass farmer got a premium of $1,000 for the first bale last week. Shortly after it was brought in, it disappeared and was thought to have been stolen but that later turned out to be a joke and it was given to the Hospital Auxiliary. Sparks from a cigarette of a passerby caused it to catch fire but the damage was nil before it was extinguished. Now the auxiliary is to give it away on Val-U-Day.

A nine-foot by eight-foot map has been painted on one wall of a tourist court in Marfa. Some 85 ranches are shown on the map and these are painted in contrasting colors, with each having the name of the owner or operator. Decorative, interesting and informative is our comment.

Thousands of tiny bass and other desirable fish were seined from the waters of Leon Springs at Fort Stockton last week and placed in Comanche Springs and Comanche Creek. Then the waters of Leon Springs were chemically treated to kill carp which formerly infested the waters of the lake and feeder springs. Bass and crappie fingerlings will be used to restock the waters of the springs and lake.

Uvalde notes one thing — in these days of rising costs, for twenty years the city tax rate has remained the same — $1.30.

Kermit's city hall, which was started well over a year ago has been completed to the extent that it can be occupied by the city officials. The new building cost $69,006. City offices are air-conditioned and the building is fluorescent lighted.

Merchants Truly Are Independent

A good many years ago, when the chain stores first began to expand their systems on a big scale, the fear was widely expressed that this was the beginning of the end for the independent merchant and that the result would be a gigantic merchandising monopoly dominated by a few interests. There was talk of the need for national legislation which would hamper and possibly destroy the chains.

Much water has gone under the bridge since then, and the independent merchant has shown lots of vitality. He did not humbly accept the theories of those who prophesied his early doom. Instead, he watches the chains and emulates some of their innovations when they suited his needs. He put new ideas of his own into operation. The result is found in the analysis of retail sales which are periodically published by the Department of Commerce. For a long time the relationship between business done by independents and chains has been relatively constant — and the independents have a wide margin in total sales volume for the country as a whole.

Retailing, in short, is farther away from monopoly than ever. It is among the most competitive of enterprises. This competition takes many forms — price, offerings of goods, advertising, special services that please the consumers, etc. It extends down to the smallest villages — in this motor age, consumers will go to nearby towns and cities if they don't like the stores nearest home. Competition has given retailing vigor and health — even as it has guaranteed the consumer the best possible break when he goes to market.

Postoffices are not the only places to benefit from the helicopter. The helicopter saved the ripening Santa Clara, Cal., cherry crop from heavy damage in the wake of a heavy rain by flying over the orchards at tree top level. The downdraft of the helicopter blew the raindrops off the fruit which would have swollen and burst under the heavy sun.

44 ways To get "Something for Nothing"

The railroads have received 44 "rules" demands from the leaders of the operating unions . . . representing engineers, firemen, conductors, trainmen and switchmen. They say they are seeking only changes in working conditions — NOT a wage increase.

More Money For Less Work

But what kind of rules are being asked for? Twenty-eight of them would compel railroads to pay more money for the same, or less work; 7 would require additional and unnecessary men to do the same work; the rest would bring about changes in operating practices at increased cost.

For Instance:

The Union leaders demand additional train and engine crews on Diesel-powered trains — one full crew for every power unit in the locomotive. A freight train hauled by a 4-unit Diesel would have to carry 4 engineers, 4 firemen, 4 conductors, and at least 8 brakemen, or a total of 20 men instead of 5.

"Made Work" — Sheer Waste

The Union leaders demand that full-length freight trains be cut to about half their length, even though such trains are most efficient for low-cost service to you. This rule would call for twice as many locomotives, would double the number of trains, and make accidents more likely.

Additional equipment, yards, and other facilities required to take care of these short trains would cost hundreds of millions. What the Union leaders really want is to make more jobs.

The Union leaders demand that when a crew in one class of service perform incidental service of another class, they will be paid not less than a day's pay for each class, even though all service is performed as a part of the same day's work. The crew would get at least two days' pay for one day's work.

The Union leaders demand that the present basic day for passenger conductors and trainmen be reduced from 150 to 100 miles, which would have the effect of increasing their pay 50%. Such a run often takes only two or three hours!

You Can't Afford This Waste

Demands like these are against the interests of the whole American people, who depend on railroad service for nearly everything they eat, wear and use.

These rules would cost a BILLION DOLLARS annually — a gigantic waste which neither the railroads nor the country can afford.

Railroad workers are good citizens and good employees, with pride in their calling. Their record during the war was outstanding. We do not believe they fully understand the "featherbed" rules which the Union leaders are demanding. We do not believe they understand the harmful results which these rules would have to the railroad industry to the millions of men and women dependent on railroads for their livelihood, and to the shipping and consuming public.

The great strength of America is in production — an honest day's work for an honest day's pay.

For only through greater production can we hope to stop the steady upward surge of living costs.

Surely, if ever there was a time in our history when we needed to work not waste, this is it.

YOU CAN START CANNING NOW!

There's hardly a day during the growing season of the year when you can't find something to put up for winter use. Fresh vegetables and fruits are on the way to market. It pays to keep a supply of your favorite jars, caps, lids and rubbers on hand. Then you'll always have them when they're needed. Remember to select clean, sound, fully ripe fruits and young, tender, garden-fresh vegetables. Your canned product can be no better than the raw one! Can the items as soon as you can get them in the kitchen in order to preserve their fresh flavors. It's best to wash and can only a small amount, the amount your canner will hold, at a time. Examine all your jars for nicks that prevent perfect seals. Always use new rubber rings. And do the job right, according to the manufacturer's instructions! It is the economical way where we'd like to start cutting. But we must, or our nation is in definite danger. If we do not, we shall be in the position of the Roman Empire, which lasted only a little more than 400 years. Rome had too many folks on her payroll. She soon was as dust. Historians are saying America has already begun to decline. I will not agree with this viewpoint, provided we can come to our senses.

It is not easy to say: "Whoa!" It is difficult to get out from under tax burdens once they're yoked upon us. But we must adopt a definite policy of reducing government expenditures. We must set free our industry, and investment capital as well, from the over-burden of taxes. We must have genuine prosperity. And when we keep asking the government to spend let us remember that power-out-of-purse is soon power-out-of-hand. It's an easy but sure way to national ruin.

ECONOMIC HIGHLIGHTS

"A four-year or five-year plan of U. S. aid to Europe, to cost about $25 billion is in trouble before it starts," says the United States News. "President Truman's Cabinet is sharply divided on the plan. Congress is inclined to be cool toward it. Europe wants and badly needs the dollars, but may not like the conditions to be attached to any new dollar grants."

The economics of the problem are bleak to an extreme. This country is only the important producer of the goods Europe must have for economic rehabilitation, no less than for immediate sustenance. Those goods must be paid for with dollars. However, foreign countries are earning only 38 per cent of the dollars they are spending. The loans we have already made are running out at an alarming rate, and will be exhausted, in most cases, in less than a year.

The export-import situation tells the story in another way. Our exports abroad amount to around $20-billion a year. That means, from foreign point of view, an annual deficit of nearly $8-billion a year. A number of countries, notably Britain, are attempting to step up their export production in order to make their balance of trade less favorable, and to maintain their dollar credits as long as possible. But these efforts have not borne much fruit, and no great improvement can logically be expected in the near future.

Foreign countries have investments in this country, in securities, industrial properties, etc. However, according to the U. S. News, if all long-term investments of foreign countries of this nature were liquidated, Europe's pocketbook would be fattened by only $8-billion — enough to balance the import-export scale for a mere eight months. Furthermore, these assets are unevenly distributed. The great bulk of them belong to England, and some of the neediest countries have little or nothing.

It will be a long time before anyone knows just how far the United States will go in underwriting European recovery. But it does seem certain that the policy will not be of a blank-check character—and that firm strings will be attached to future loans and gifts and subsidies. A good many commentators feel that European governments have wasted much of the money so far advanced and, in some cases, have been more interested in building political organizations than in trying to put their countries on their economic feet. Public opinion is all in favor of stopping that.

The Marshall plan obviously is based in part on such considerations. It says, in effect, that European rehabilitation is the duty of Europe, and that aid from us can be given only if all the countries involved cooperate to the limit. It thus marks an effort to break down geographical, political, and ethnological barriers to the recovery of the continent.

It is possible to draw parallels between the present and the period following World War I, when we made large loans to Europe which were repaid only in part. But there is this enormous difference — the sums involved then were much smaller, and the United States had a relatively insignificant tax and national debt problem at home. On top of that, there was no struggle for power such as that which is being carried on between the United States and the Soviet Union today. The present European problem is complicated by the most important military and diplomatic considerations. While we are helping the rest of the world, self-preservation demands that we prepare for any conceivable future contingency — including that of war.

Jane Cupper's "Daring" Bathing Suit

The Cuppers showed me some tin-types of their nineteen-ten vacation—picnicking on the beach with beer and pretzels, in bathing suits that made them look like they were dressed in street-wear.

Dee was smothered in a long-sleeved pull-over with knee length shorts, and looking embarrassed—as if he thought Jane's costume of a heavy blouse, two copious skirts, and long black stockings was a little daring.

We laughed a lot at those costumes . . . but come to think of it, as Dee says, we'll probably look just as funny twenty years from now, in what we call our "Modern" clothes. Only thing that won't change in the picture is that mellow, wholesome glow of beer.

From where I sit, tolerance that lets us wear sensible, decent clothes—to give us sun and air and freedom—will keep that wholesome glow of beer a part of the American tradition.

B. F. Vance Leaves For Greece August 10

B. F. Vance, State Director of the Production and Marketing Administration, and Chairman of the State Committee of PMA, will be on leave of absence for one year to direct the Agricultural Production Program in Greece under the Greek-Turkish Aid Program. His appointment is effective August 10 with the State Department.

The new duties of the former state director will be similar to those as State Administrator of AAA programs and State Director of PMA programs of the USDA during the recent war years, according to J. W. Carruthers, Jr., chairman of Terrell County AAA Committee.

Records Shattered in Filming Adventure

Henry Hathaway has for the second time within the last five years substantially proven that it is possible to make a complete motion picture three thousand miles away from Hollywood, and to do it successfully without the aid of California sunshine.

For the filming of "13 Rue Madeleine," exciting adventure story of espionage, the director found that the script called for 158 different settings, a record number for a film of this type. In preparing for the shooting of the picture which opens at the Princess Theater next Wednesday, Hathaway found it necessary to put in an average of sixteen hours a day before he actually brought "13 Rue Madeleine" before the cameras.

"We were like a task force during the war," Hathaway explained. Our objective was to bring in a top-notch picture.

"Everything had to be planned in advance. All the equipment was selected with care, and we could not take along a single unnecessary item just because we might have needed it. Ordinarily a location troupe, exclusive of actors, consists of approximately a hundred men and women. We took along only 22, so that every single one of them had to be an expert.

"First we went to Washington, D. C., and from there we moved to Boston, Salem, Brookline and Newberry—all in Massachusetts. From there we proceeded to Portsmouth in New Hampshire for a few days, and finally wound up our shooting of the picture in Quebec and in three small French Canadian towns."

There were 158 settings in the script, and Hathaway completed the shooting in a record 25 days. Since these settings were all actual places, it was sometimes necessary for the company to move three or four times in a single day. None of the moves were less than a half mile away, which meant that they had to do quite a bit of traveling. Because of this, the choice of equipment was also an important one. Everything used had to be light and portable so that it could be packed and unpacked by as small a crew as possible.

The Times will be glad to buy your clean, white cotton rags.

New Chevrolet Pick-up Introduced

Radically different in design and appearance, the new "advance-design" line of Chevrolet trucks and commercial cars, recently introduced, features numerous advancements and improvements for the comfort and convenience of the driver. Shown above is a light delivery pick-up model with a gross vehicle weight of 4,600 pounds and a payload capacity of 1,200 pounds. The unit has a 116-inch wheelbase. All pick-up bodies of the "advance-design" line of trucks have a usable width of 50 inches for their full length.

Tonsillectomies in Polio Season Up to Physician

Although summer is popularly considered a favorable time for removal of children's infected tonsils or adenoids, the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, through its local chapter, urges parents to seek the advice of their own personal physician as to whether such operation during the polio season is advisable.

Scientific investigations carried out with March of Dimes funds indicate that there may be more of a predisposition to infantile paralysis infection as a result of tonsil and adenoid operations performed during the seasonal polio months—June through September.

Consequently, the National Foundation points out, parents should be guided by their own physician's advice in each individual case.

"Oh, my! Doesn't this preacher know it's time to stop now?" whispered the disgusted worshipper as the preacher went on with his sermon.

"Time!" replied his companion bitterly. "TIME! why he's finished with Time and is now converging on Eternity."

Men Club Meets Mrs. Haley Friday Afternoon

Report of the club's progress the past year was read by Mrs. Seth D. The August meeting was the close of a successful year for the Garden Club. Mrs. Haley hopes that they will accomplish even more during the year.

The nominating committee re-elected their selection of candidates for the club officers for the coming year. The election of officers will be held at the August meeting with the new officers installed in September.

The close of the regular session, Mrs. W. T. Bon was introduced as guest for the afternoon. Her was "Artistic Arrangements" Using many different fruits and even native shrubs, many beautiful and clever arrangements were demonstrated during the course of her lecture. The assembly was shown what could be accomplished by using the few flowers that are available with the things nature provides.

Following the adjournment, refreshments were served. The guests of the afternoon were Mesdames Nell Appel, Brown, Seth Davenport, Downie, Richard Haley, Bayre, Jack Turner, John J. O. Little, Claude Harbitt, Roark, J. Bruce, W. Durant, and Miss Mary.

Cherry Festival Queen

Tired of scantily attired pin-up queens?

Well, here is a "queen" who really merits the title. She is 90-year-old Mrs. Flora Campbell Hobbs who captured the hearts of everyone at the combined Centennial and Cherry Festival celebration July 2-3, at Traverse City, Mich.

The diminutive, active old lady rode the center float in a three-mile parade under a blazing sun and spurred offers of help when she dismounted from her throne. That trip was made in the heavy silk dress she is wearing which was hand sewn by her grandmother 106 years ago and still is in good condition.

Born in 1856 on a farm near Traverse City, the heart of cherryland, Mrs. Hobbs has been making cherry pies for more than 60 years and can recall the annual butchering and rendering of hogs for the lard she insists is the only thing to use for pie shortening. She particularly likes the new improved product to make her pie crusts flaky.

The pie she is taking out of her oven is made from the following recipe:

Cherry Pie
(Yield: Six-cut pie)

Filling:
4 cups cooked, tart cherries
1/2 cup sugar
2 tablespoons flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon butter or margarine

Drain cherries well. Combine sugar, flour and salt. Mix into cherries. Put into 9-inch pastry-lined pie pan. Dot with butter or margarine. Moisten lower edge of crust with water. Cover with top crust, tucking top edge between lower crust and side of pan. Flute edge. Bake in hot oven (450 F.) 10 minutes. Reduce temperature to moderate (350 F.). Bake 30 minutes or until crust is as brown as desired and juice bubbles through slits in pastry.

Bland Lard Pastry
(Yield: Two 9-inch Pie Crusts)

1/2 cup bland lard
1/2 cup sifted flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 to 3 tablespoons water

Cut bland lard into sifted flour and salt, using a pastry blender, fork, two knives, or the finger tips, until the mixture is the size of small peas. Add enough water, gradually, to form a stiff dough. Turn onto a lightly floured board and knead twice to blend thoroughly. Divide dough in half. Shape into balls. Roll out lightly from center to edges, keeping circular shape. Put lower crust into pan and press lightly with finger tips, or a ball of dough, to push out air. Add filling and top crust, slashed to permit escape of steam.

Mrs. W. H. Savage Hostess to Bridge Party Wednesday

Mrs. W. H. Savage entertained with a bridge party at her home Wednesday afternoon. Colorful bouquets of zinnias, petunias and queen's wreath were used for decorations. High score prize was won by Mrs. P. P. Courtney; second high, Mrs. C. G. Bradford; consolation, Mrs. Minton White; traveling, Mrs. H. A. Finger.

The hostess was assisted by her mother, Mrs. J. W. McKee, served a delicious salad plate to Mesdames Walter Grigsby, Jimmy Kerr, J. W. Pate, W. W. Sudduth, C. F. Pickard, Lee McCue, H. E. Fletcher, Webb Townsend, Mary Lou Kellar, Seth Davenport, C. G. Bradford, Ernest Jessup, J. T. Dyche, E. P. Courtney, John Green, Carlton White, Harvey Krauss and Minton White, of Alice, Texas.

Broiled cake topping is easy to make if you start with a cooled baked cake in its pan. Mix together 5 tbs brown sugar, 2 tbs cream, 5 tbs melted butter, 12 cup chopped nuts and 1-2 cup shredded coconut and spread over the top of the cake. Then set the cake pan on top of the broiler grid about 8 inches from the tip of the broiler blaze and broil slowly until the cake topping is toasty brown. Remove from the broiler, cool and cut cake in pan, removing slices by using a spatula.

Bacon curls for a canape dish — with a toothpick stuck through the folds, or as main dish trimming, are easily curled if the bacon slices are put on the grid of the broiler about 4 inches from the flame and broiled until almost crisp. While the bacon is still pliable whirl slices around the tines of a fork and broil until quite crisp. Drain on absorbent paper.

To make neat edged butter slices for the table wrap the slicing edge of the cutting knife in wax paper.

NO SERVICES AT BAPTIST CHURCH SUNDAY

IF WE VALUE FREEDOM

Americans read with trepidation of the accelerated trend of Europe toward autocratic government. Hardest to understand is the fact that the trend is continuing in countries where the people still have some freedom of choice. In these countries the people are much like the people in the United States. They abhor the cruelties and oppression of dictatorial government. If the issue were put squarely to them in a freedom or slavery challenge, they would react as any sane American would. The trouble is that this grim issue is never squarely presented. Development of total government is the result of an accumulation of little expediences finally ending in dictatorship.

Events have occurred in the United States which in other nations were preliminary to total loss of liberty—such as seizure or government domination of basic industries, a growing dependence on the central government for all manner of local services, and widespread abandonment of state and civic initiative.

Recently in Finland under the polite sounding phrase of "land reform," the government confiscated all large farms, paying for them in worthless money. One immediate result has been a disastrous drop in Finland's milk production. We say nothing like this could happen in this country, yet look at the electrical industry. The intrinsic right of private property in this industry has had precious little consideration for a number of years.

The investor-owned electric industry is up against a long-range program of tax-free Federal competition whose main objective is socialization of electrical power.
