the people for an elective post when it behooves all those in the minority to accept the will of the majority in an American way, but all elected jobs should be made to represent the majority of the people.

Little or no interest in the affairs or the workings of those in the school has been taken by the general public as a whole and this election should be a means of a majority expressing their desires.

The use of the poll tax is a privilege. Few, if any, would appreciate such a thankless, unpaid job as the school board members have if it were constantly an appointment. They would not feel that they were serving the people. No American would be satisfied to accept any member of any school board who always obtained his job by appointment. They would rebel at the idea of not being able to choose a person who was a representative of the majority.

Use your American privilege — vote in the election April 7.

Last week a daily paper in one of the larger cities of the state sent an open letter to Speaker Sam Rayburn and laid in his lap the responsibility for the disposal of congressional action on the Tide Lands "grab". Speaker Rayburn is a Texan, and can, if he so desires, arrange to have the matter disposed of one way or another at this session of Congress.

Until recent months the Texas Congressman has been pretty much of a free agent so far as administration pressure is concerned. He has, however, shown some tendency to want to keep the administration appeased, even at the cost of the people he is sent to represent. It is hoped that he will see fit to give clearance to the bill so that it can be passed over the veto of the President, who with the aid of the Federal Supreme Court, has violated the rights of Texas school children by an outrageous decision against the constitutional rights of Texas.

Speaker Rayburn was elected by the people of Collin, Fannin, Grayson, Hunt, Kaufman, Rains and Rockwall Counties to represent them and the rest of us. He was recently honored because of his long term as Speaker of the House. Texans have confidence in him. Now is the time for him to prove his loyalty to the wishes of the people who placed him in office, or to prove that he puts the wishes of a power-mad administration above the best interests of his state.

Congressman Cites Procurement Leaks

Washington, March 28 — Army procurement officials have asked suppliers throughout the western states for bids on "one mixing bowl, six frying pans, five spatulas and 10 serving spoons," Rep. Ken Regan, 16th District, Midland, has learned.

What's more, Regan has learned that the offer for bids was made in triplicate.

"Perhaps this was an effort to break down the procurement of supplies to enable small business to offer its share of the bids," he added, "but if it was that, then the gesture was futile, for small busness cannot afford to take the time to bid on such a small item and certain could not match large suppliers because of the costs of furnishing such small quantities."

The matter was first brought to Regan's attention by Willard Whipple of El Paso. Whipple wrote Regan that "this is ridiculous and inexcusable."

"We couldn't waste time making a bid for $10 or $12 worth of business," Whipple said. He cited the great waste of paper in requesting bids from so many different businesses in different cities and said with this extravagance in the use of paper by the military forces there is no wonder factories are not accepting orders for so many different kinds of paper products. "This is also a waste of officials' time and of taxpayers' money. Instead "we should be drastically reducing our expenditures," he told Regan.

This was but another instance in a long series of procurement failures by the armed forces which Regan has personally uncovered of late. In each case, he has gone quietly to work by letter and telephone, in addition to his other duties, to investigate them and already he has received the hearty cooperation of the army top officials in checking on the cause. They have so far reported back to Regan on each matter, sometimes giving an explanation of their purchases, and at other times admitting they were excessive and promising to look into the situation further to correct it.

At present Regan is checking on a report that unwarranted purchases by the military of construction equipment is siphoning off all this from civilian businesses which otherwise could contract to build for the military forces at camps and stations.

Reports reaching Regan are that the government has spent $200-million for heavy construction equipment and is preparing a $600-million order to be placed. Construction industry men are howling that this means taking over their industry entirely by government. Regan has asked for additional facts before pressing for action to avert what amounts to government monopoly on construction and maintenance.

He plans to pursue his inquiry into military procurement. "It is my hope that I may be doing some good in bringing these extravagances and unnecessary expenditures to the attention of the proper officials," Regan said. "I am confident that we can get procurement practices changed or look to a decided improvement."

Garden Club Makes Plans For Annual Show in April

Mrs. Troy Druse was hostess for the monthly meeting of the Sanderson Garden Club at her home Saturday afternoon. Two striking floral arrangements decorated the dining room; one of white delphiniums and stock and the other of pink and white geraniums. Mrs. W. T. Bondurant, of San Antonio, and combined with Mrs. W. G. Downie presided during the business meeting when tentative plans were made for the annual flower show in April and committee chairmen were named. Mrs. T. R. Arrington's talk was on "Tulips" and she introduced her remarks with the rewards brought by a Spring gardener by the flowering of tulips that are usually free from insects and disease. "Tulips were introduced to Europe by a Viennese ambassador who saw them growing in Turkish gardens," said Mrs. Arrington. "The tulips were not like our present species," she continued, "they were called rose, bloemens and narrees." She gave pointers on soil, time to plant, and named the varieties available, mentioning especially the wild tulips gathered from southern Europe and Asia.

The hostess served strawberries and whipped cream with angel cake and coffee to Mesdames T. R. Arrington, W. G. Downie, J. R. Little, J. W. Pate, Jack Hinton, W. T. Bondurant, of San Antonio and a guest, Miss Louise Klemer.

Slim And His "Ali Species"

Slim Baker, who's always doing something crazy, had a lot of people smiling last week because his entry won a ribbon in the Women's Club Annual Pet Show.

Seems as though Slim saw a strange-colored alley cat with no tail over at Central City and brought it home. He washed, combed, and brushed it and put a collar on it with a card reading "Ali Species." Then he enters it in the show.

Hanged if the ladies didn't think it was some rare kind of cat and gave it a special award! When one of them asked Slim where she could get one like it, he said, "It's all yours, M'am—I can get an 'Alley Cat' anytime I want!"

From where I sit, some of us are pretty easily "taken in" just because someone else says it's so. Whether it's awarding prizes or passing judgment on a person's right to enjoy a temperate glass of beer—let's take a good look from stem to stern, and learn what it's all about before making up our minds.

What My School Means To Me — By Dorothy Hill

(Ed note: — This is the second in a series of themes written by high school students on the subject "What My School Means To Me", during the Texas Public Schools Week, March 5-9.

My school means very much to me. First of all, it teaches me how to be a good citizen, how to mingle with other people, and how to face many problems. It also helps one in preparing for the future. School gives the background necessary for many vocations. If one were in business for himself he would need to know how to write business letters and how to hold conversation with business associates. School training would be of great importance in this case.

Every subject that I am taking is contributing its part to my life now and will, in many ways, help me to be successful in the future. School training is necessary to help me with any problem I might have, to help me to get along with other people, and to be a better citizen. School teaches me to respect the national, state and local government. It helps me to realize what education has done to make this country what it is today, and to show me how the lack of education has kept other countries from progressing. Education, to me, is the symbol of the good life, both present and future.

Census Figures Reveal Large Number Of U.S. Employees

by George S. Benson
President, Harding College

The Bureau of Census has just published some of the most important facts ever to come to the attention of the American people. They show that American government fathers as a social instrument for the protection of life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness, has grown into a sprawling, burdensome bureaucracy that would have shocked the imagination of Washington and Hamilton, Jefferson and Jackson.

One of the most disturbing facts about our government today is its payroll. If the families of civilian government workers (federal, state and local) were precisely distributed throughout the residential areas of the United States there would be one in each block. There are about as many people on our swollen government payrolls as there are Swedes in Sweden or Australians in the entire nation of Australia. Just the salaries alone cost American taxpayers approximately $19-billion a year. This figure is almost unbelievable, yet it is confirmed by the Census Bureau.

These official figures mean that theoretically each of the other eight families in the typical residential block must chip in nearly $400 apiece merely to pay the salary of the government worker living in the ninth house in the block. For according to the Census Bureau, the average salary of the six and one-half million civilians on various government payrolls is approximately $3,000 a year.

Of course the government worker who may or may not live in your block is a taxpayer, too, and undoubtedly is a conscientious person. But that does not alter the fact that he does not produce any of the goods and services that go into making the actual wealth income of the nation. The money he handles as well as the money he pays his salary comes out of the productive efforts of his fellow citizens in private business and industry. His contribution to the so-called general welfare is, at best, hypothetical. And by no stretch of the imagination do he six and one-half million public workers produce benefits that would justify the taxpayers paying out $19-billion a year just on their salaries alone.

The government payrolls in recent years have grown out of all proportion to the increase in our population. The population has increased only 12 per cent in the last 10 years, while the number of people on the federal payroll has increased about 100 per cent — and state and local governments have added 1,000,000 permanent new workers since 1940. The combined dollars and cents payroll has almost tripled in 10 years.

The mushrooming growth in government and government estate delights the Socialists. But forgetting for the moment the grave Socialist implication, it is utterly ridiculous for Americans to tolerate the employ-

PERSONALS

Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Seale and son, John, spent the week end here with her sister, Mrs. Tommy Billings, and family.

Mrs. F. T. Baker and children spent the week end here. She is attending Sul Ross College and residing in Alpine.

Mrs. M. L. Robertson returned home last week from San Antonio where she had further medical treatment after spending several of one $3,000 a year government worker for each eight or nine earners or producers in our population. Especially is it ridiculous when national defense production demands, for all kinds of working capabilities, are as heavy as they will be during the next several years. Surely half of the six and one-half million workers, if lopped from the public gradually over the next year, could be profitably absorbed in our businesses and industries.

Let's add this payroll of $19 billion to the military expenditures for armies and armament now approaching $45 billion. And then let's add the more than 15 million government checks that are regularly going out to that many people by way of subsidies, relief unemployment benefits etc — not on active civilian payrolls.
