LISTEN TO LUKE

That is slow to anger is better than the mighty."

This column is being written going to be the duty of Luke and that verse over and over. To complete the thought I quote the entire verse: "He is slow to anger is better than the mighty; and he that rules his spirit than he that taketh vengeance."

Thoughts of many things have been written for Listen to Luke this week but after the reading of the information that MacArthur has been released as commander of the Pacific forces we had to hunt up this verse of scripture before we were writing anything. This column will not attempt to express our disgust that we know the hearts of millions of Americans who have loved one of our greatest heroes in the training camps preparing to go to duty. No action from Washington could have caused serious thought that what would happen if Washington had followed Moscow for instructions would have received the order that the administration would do likewise.

A good lady in Terrell County called this writer early Wednesday morning and said she was all the Texas delegation in Washington in protest of the release of MacArthur. I every citizen of Terrell County would do likewise.

Just returned from a conference of Rotary International in Del Rio. There were gifted speakers on the program — with no exception that I recall, did any of the speakers fail to voice a warning of the trend of affairs in this country. All issued forth a warning of the political trend of the country.

Let's read the verse of scripture again before we write anything that would smell like the letters HST has written. People throughout the world are reading the Bible more fervently than ever before — when we get right over we have only one purpose. We know that we can do what is possible in a physical way to alleviate the pain and suffering of the ailments of the body, but when we have exhausted those resources we can get from the promises we read in the Holy Book.

God has created the world and has allowed to rip ramble the God of the Universe who created man with a spirit that can overcome evil. As your ticks off the time there is a coming off the press with a tick of the watch. When will take time out and read instructions of a way of life that book instead of relying on false promises of a party and reject the mink coat deep freeze, RFC, five-percent type of government, then will be able to take stock and adhere to the fundamental principles of honor and integrity in public office.

Being political aggrandizement is the best interests of the heart and soul of everybody who truly loves America. The step, I believe, in meeting the challenge, is to create a consciousness of the danger. Sincerely to create a state of mind that is not enough. Conscientious men must band together to combat the tendencies that undermine.

Are doing a remarkable job of gathering materials, copper, zinc, etc., to meet the threat of aggression. I propose we mobilize our most precious — the talent of our patriots — to meet the even greater threat upon our freedom of an invisible invasion of an army of government being upon us by an administration that is built and maintained on a mink coat ideal that is nothing but selfish gain and select group.

Physical mobilization to be achieved must be paralleled by mental mobilization. Government as the representative of the people should set the example; this respect a self-imposed

Mr. and Mrs. Lynn LeBlanc, Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Gauthreaux, and Miss Peggy Parent, all of Labadville, La., enroute to El Paso to spend the week end with the LeBlancs, were occupants of the car. The accident occurred as the car met a truck on the curve east of town that has been the scene of numerous accidents in the past few years. The truck, loaded with scrap iron was headed east and a right rear wheel ran off due, reportedly, to a broken axle, and crossed the road to collide with the west-bound car.

The truck was driven by E. L. Bechtel of Pecos.

Impact of the big wheels crushed in the radiator and grill of the car and damaged the entire front left side and fender.

Carson Resigns As Commissioner; Harrison Appointed

At the regular meeting of the Commissioners' Court Monday, E. B. Carson, commissioner of precinct 2, turned in his resignation as commissioner of that precinct. The court accepted the resignation.

County Judge R. S. Wilkinson named John Harrison to succeed Carson in the unexpired term that began January 1.

Carson stated that he was moving to the Clay Adams ranch just south of Fort Stockton in the near future and that his time would be fully occupied in caring for the ranch he now operates and the Pecos County ranch. He said that he felt he would not be able to devote the time necessary to the fulfillment of the duties of the office and tendered his resignation in the best interests of his own business and the people of his precinct and the county.

Carson stated that he had enjoyed the cooperation of those in his precinct in his endeavors and hoped that Mr. Harrison would be benefited from the same sort of cooperation.

Harrison was sworn in as commissioner Monday and stated that he would endeavor to fulfill the duties of the post in a manner that would be pleasing to all members of his precinct.

REA APPROVED FOR COUNTY AREA

Word was received Monday by Joe Kerr from Tom Hurd in Washington, D. C., that the extension of the Brackettville Rio Grande Co-operative, an REA organization, had been approved for Terrell County and parts of surrounding counties. Hurd is manager of the Brackettville organization.

There will be an announcement of the details later and also of a date for a meeting in Sanderson of all interested ranchmen for Mr. Hurd to explain the details of the extension and the necessary administrative work pertaining to the organization.

It is thought that the project will take all of the ranchers of the county who are interested in the rural electrification work and will also take in Dryden, and possibly Sheffield and the southern part of Pecos County.

The first meeting of the group of area ranchmen with Mr. Hurd was on June 7, 1949, at the court house when he presented the plans for the organization and explained the working of the program and how individuals would be affected as to cost, etc.

COLD WEATHER COMES TO AREA 2 DAYS THIS WEEK

Old man winter paid a surprise visit to Terrell County this week. After several days of balmy weather, with the exception of cool evenings, a strong north wind late Tuesday afternoon brought a heavy dust storm into the area.

Temperatures dropped steadily to just above freezing Tuesday night and again Thursday morning.

The cool weather is preventing the greening of vegetation which would soon be in its Spring glory after the recent rains if a few warm days and nights would permit such an occurrence before the winds dry up the ground of all the benefits of recent rains. Area ranchers are still forced to feed their flocks until weeds and brush come out.

Rose Re-Elected As Board Member In Trustee Election

In one of the most closely-contested races of the county in many years, Hugh Rose, county ranchman, was re-elected to the post of trustee of the Terrell County Common School District, Walter G. Downie was Rose's opponent.

In precinct 1 Rose garnered 131 votes to 134 for Downie; precinct 2, Rose 23, Downie 1; precinct 3, Rose 6, Downie 5; and precinct 4, Rose 168, Downie 145.

The election also set a precedent for the number of polls cast, 313.

Rufus Ross received 24 votes in precinct 2 for Independent School Trustee, and Herbert Brown received 7 votes in precinct 4 for the similar post, according to Ruel Adams.

FIFTH OF ACCUSED QUINTET RETURNED TO SANDERSON WEDNESDAY FOR TRIAL

James E. Geyer, the fifth of a quintet accused of three charges and so indicted by the Terrell County grand jury, was returned to Sanderson Wednesday by Texas Rangers Forrest Harding and Arthur Hill. Geyer was being held in Texarkana where he reportedly gave himself up to authorities there.

Geyer, along with Jimmy Sarrett, who was apprehended in Little Rock, Arkansas, and returned to Sanderson last week end, Johnny Singleton, Shelby James Mitchell and Miss Betty Jo Britt, are being held in the local jail pending trial by district court which will probably take place the latter part of this month or the first part of May.

The quintet is indicted on charges of armed robbery, and two separate charges of robbery of over $50.

Singleton, Mitchell and Miss Britt were apprehended in Phoenix, Arizona the latter part of March.

The apprehension and arrest of the quintet came after a story by Lester Iverson of Alamo, Texas, when he accused the party of taking around $900 and a 1951 Packard automobile from his possession after taking him out the Bulls Gap road some 25 miles.

Iverson stated that he had stopped on the highway to give them assistance when he saw them apparently having car trouble. Two of the five, he stated, got into the car with him and made him drive down the Bulls Gap road where he was abandoned.

James Roy Haley, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Haley, had a tonsilectomy in a Del Rio hospital Monday. He is reported to be recovering satisfactorily.

funds for carrying on the inspection of flocks in Texas.

The association has been told the Livestock Sanitary Commission is lacking funds for this work and that present plans call for a decreased appropriation for the next two years. If funds are decreased the sheepman will face more of a problem with this disease.

Nearly a dozen states have banned Texas sheep shipments unless the animals are first dipped. Some of the states require only one dipping, other two dippings.

Today's meeting was a direct result of action by California livestock sanitary authorities and the California Wool Growers' Association. California is demanding that sheep from states having scab infections dip sheep twice in lime and sulphur solution before shipping to California, except for purposes of slaughtering.

This requirement is one of the most stringent yet fixed by any of the states. Lime and sulphur will damage the wool, ranchmen say, and at the same time it will cause ewes with lambs to disown their offspring.

Members of the two committees hope to meet with members of the Livestock Sanitary Commission, who are in Austin this week for conference. If possible, they plan to confer with the commission Wednesday morning.

Several methods of fighting and eradicating the disease were discussed at today's session but members decided that it would be better if they could first obtain money to carry on the fight. That is the main purpose of their trip to Austin.

Pierce Hoggett, Kerrville, scab inspector for the commission, attended the session and discussed briefly his work. He said that one fine of nearly $800 had been paid on illegal transportation of scab sheep into Texas and that another party had agreed to pay a fine of $5 per head on 232 scab infected sheep.

Hoggett said that all known flocks having scab infections had been dipped at least once, and most twice.

Among those attending the meeting were S. L. Stumberg and J. T. Williams of Sanderson.

Those "Thank You's," the Red Cross points out, go to those who contributed to the Red Cross and made this possible.

Urgent need for expanding Red Cross services in Civil Defense, for blood to meet military, national emergency and civilian needs, for welfare services to the fast growing armed forces, for veterans, and disaster relief, amount to an increased budget of $85,000,000 for this next year. More people than before are being asked to share in making "Thank You, Red Cross" possible for tomorrow's humanitarian needs.

In my opinion education is a necessity for every American boy and girl to benefit American prosperity. Our free and democratic America has one of the best educational programs in the world. This isn't the only thing my school means to me. If it weren't for what little education I have had and the teachers who cared about us as their boys and girls, I would have a hard time when the time comes for me to go my own way all alone. But I have learned to expect hard times and I know I will have to make many critical decisions throughout my life.

In the instructions received by Adams, Shepperd stated, "An applicant must be 21 years of age or older and a resident of the county in which he intends to act as a notary. It is important that the exact name of the applicant be given and that this name be used on all documents signed by the person. He must also give his correct mailing address."

Buzz And The Off-Key Baritones

Reverend Lester of the church out on Hillsboro Road coaches his Young Peoples' Choir late Thursday afternoons—after high school basketball practice lets out.

Buzz Ellis pastures cows next to that church. Around 5 o'clock they used to make a lot of racket about wanting to go home. That made it kind of rough on the choir.

When Buzz learned what was going on he said to Reverend Lester: "I never yet heard of a cow that could moo on key. So, I'll just move 'em in a little earlier..." This started me to thinking. Buzz doesn't go to that church. And he's so tone-deaf he couldn't carry a tune in a bucket!

From where I sit, you might say that Buzz didn't have much in common with those singers. But he doesn't divide folks into groups he's "with" or "agin." Your politics, your personal preferences—or the fact that you like a moderate glass of beer—mean nothing either way to Buzz. He's a real neighbor to everybody!

Regan Blames Price Control For Mining Production Lag

Washington, April 11. The mines and mining subcommittee, of which Rep. Ken Regan, 16th District, is chairman, is seeking the answer as to why the nation's mineral defense production program is bogged down while demand for supplies is rising and is finding the delay in issuing price regulations is partly the answer.

Regan plans to call at least 30 government witnesses before he concludes this thorough study into a failure that he says is not only endangering national security by cutting down on the exploration sources of strategic metals and minerals, but is slowing up already existing production.

So far, it was revealed today, only two contracts for mining have been approved by the Defense Minerals Administration. Witnesses testified that the nation now needs six times the present production of tungsten.

"We are losing production because of no regulations, no contracts and no price control to permit operators to know where they stand," said Regan.

Administrator James Boyd of the Defense Minerals Administration, was a witness today along with Sam Mann Ewing, chief of the metals branch.

"We are still trying to decide who is responsible for delays and inaction," said Regan.

Among the mineral industries to be examined is copper production.

In a statement to his committee, Regan said: "Since the Defense Production Act was enacted last September, providing for encouragement of explorations and development of mining of critical and strategic metals and minerals from domestic sources very little appears to have been accomplished.

"Our committee is determined to find out why.

"The law provides for loans, purchases, or commitments to purchase above market prices to marginal producers and participation in the cost of exploration projects, yet little has been done toward obtaining production from thousands of idle mines and mineral deposits. Serious shortages have developed in the past eight months can be expected to become more serious. Given adequate incentive, thousands of small and marginal mines and deposits in the U. S. could be placed in production and shortages would be materially lessened if not eliminated."

Texas Wool Suits First Family

Gov. and Mrs. Allan Shivers, photographed in the Governor's Mansion at Austin, display all-Texas additions to their spring wardrobes—the first suits made of cloth woven from worsted yarn spun from Texas-produced wool in the New Braunfels plant of Pioneer Worsted Co. This plant, the only worsted factory south of the Mason and Dixon Line, has a capacity of 7,000,000 pounds of raw wool per year. The suits, of midnight blue gabardine, were made especially for the Governor and his lady.

Regan added: "It is the object of these hearings to determine among other things: (a) the authority and responsibility of each administrative unit of the government having any jurisdiction over the defense minerals production program; (b) The policies formulated and decisions rendered by each unit of the government in reference to such program; (c) What has been accomplished and is being done or proposed under the Defense Production Administration to encourage the exploration, development and mining of critical and strategic metals and minerals from domestic sources; (d) The reason for the delays in executing the necessary program.

"It is hoped that the hearings will prove constructive and clearly reveal what may be anticipated by the mining industry and other segments of our economy in overcoming the future shortage of minerals and metals for both military and civilian requirements."

May Designated As Jury Service Month

Austin, April 12 — May was officially designated as Jury Service Month in a proclamation issued today by Governor Allan Shivers. Secretary of State John Ben Shepperd announced plans for observing the event. Shepperd, who is chairman of the American Citizenship Committee of the State Bar of Texas, revealed the state-wide program as a joint project of the bar and Texas newspaper publishers, represented by the Texas Press Association, of which Frederick L. Massengill, Jr., publisher of the Terrell Daily Tribune, is president.

The governor's proclamation followed the passage of a joint resolution by both houses of the Texas Legislature, which stresses the importance of the right to trial by jury and dependence of this right upon willing service as jurors by all eligible citizens.

"The primary objective of the event," Shepperd stated, "is to give new life to the jury service system so that our democratic process of free courts will survive."

General objectives are: (1) that no Texan will ask to be excused from jury service during the month of May; (2) to make a study of the types of individuals asking to be excused; (3) to urge employers to insist that their employees accept jury service and to pay them while serving; (4) to urge lawyers to insist that their clients accept jury service; (5) to find new and better ways to encourage eligible jurors to serve; (6) to make the public conscious of the fact that seeking to be excused from jury service will, in time, cause them to lose the right.

In discussing "Jury Service Month," Shepperd said, "Apathy and unwillingness to serve on a jury are a real detriment to our free court system. A man who tries to be excused from serving on another jury, is in a measure denying him the right to trial by jury."

Lt. Horace Shelton returned to San Antonio Saturday after spending several days here with relatives. He will spend a month in school in Illinois and Mrs. Shelton will remain here for a longer visit.

It does things to you, when you let yourself sink deep down in the subtle softness of its cushions, and run a caressing hand over the fine texture of fabrics.

This is everything a fine car should be!

Of course, this brilliant performer is Fireball powered. It is cushioned by coil springs on every wheel. It provides, at no extra cost, the complete relaxation of Dynaflo Drive. It has durable and dependable sturdiness engineered into every mechanical part.

But the best is yet to be told. When you check the ROADMASTER price list, you'll find that the car of your choice can be yours for hundreds of dollars less than you'll pay for others with comparable reputation.

In Education • 1876-1951
Our first state college—Texas A. and M. is now in its seventy-fifth year

An emigrant boy who came to Texas in the days of the Republic and carved out a brilliant career as merchant and statesman, George Pfeuffer was one of the early Texans of great vision who made possible the development of the A. and M. College. He came to this country with his family at the age of 15, from his native Bavaria and settled at New Braunfels, where, after a number of years he and a brother established themselves as leading merchants. Soon he spread his holdings throughout the state, in the lumber business and even established sizeable holdings in Mexico. He served as county judge of Comal County and later served with distinction as a state senator. He was appointed a member of the board of directors of A. and M. College in 1880, and developed a deep interest in its educational opportunities, which he carried with him to the Senate. Almost singlehandedly he fought the battles of the college in the Senate at a time when it was being neglected while the new State University was being created. Pfeuffer Hall, oldest building standing on the A. and M. Campus today, was named in his honor.

"There's no such scene in Texas." Chances are that the scene can be duplicated by the location department's scouts in a dozen places in the big state.

The rolling hills and valleys near Calabasas, which form part of the Warner ranch, have served many years and many stars and directors as the site of battle between Indians and Whites, outlaws and honest men. It had another baptism of fire during the filming of "Dallas", as Cooper and his cohorts pumped lead into the assorted scenery, aimed, apparently, at each other. No one, fortunately, was actually injured.

Nature interfered to some extent with the filming of "Dallas". A "cloud" of linnets, small, red-breasted birds, took over the Dallas sets at the Warner ranch and made everyone unhappy because the microphones could pick up very little except their chattering.

Ruth Roman and Steve Cochran in "Dallas," Warner Bros. Technicolor adventure drama, in which they co-star with Gary Cooper, who portrays a marshal of the old West.

STORY OF 'DALLAS' COMING TO LOCAL THEATRE SOON

The Texas that was, in the dramatic sweep of days immediately following the Civil War, provides the epic background for Warner Bros. Technicolor drama, "Dallas", which pools the talents of Gary Cooper, Ruth Roman, and Steve Cochran, under the direction of Stuart Heisler.

This is the story of pioneer spirits in a future great state of America — men and women who fought for the benefits that were theirs in a rugged open land where might challenged the right, and the strongest rather than the just, more often took the leaders' reins.

Buckling on his gun belt, Gary Cooper makes a colorful return to the adventuresome West in the role of the Confederate who would never admit defeat.

Cooper's leading lady is Ruth Roman, the provocative young woman who in less than two years has risen from obscurity to fame as one of Hollywood's most important new stars.

In "Dallas", Cooper plays the role of Blyde Hollister, the Southerner who came out of the Civil War seeking revenge on the Marlow brothers who had stolen his properties and scattered his family.

Lelf Erickson, one-time singer and more recently winning attention as one of the screen's stalwart leading men, was named to play Martin Weatherby, a Boston Brahmin whose fine clothes would conceivably fit Cooper when the two change identities for script purposes.

Antonio Moreno, who has never left the screen for any length of time since the days of his early stardom, was recalled to play Ruth Roman's father, owner of a vast ranch property where Cooper maintains his headquarters while seeking to even the score with the infamous Marlowes.

Sets on the Warner ranch at Calabasas, 35 miles from the studio were constructed to follow closely the early day photographs of sprawling Dallas just after the Civil War. Author Twiss even managed to bring Wild Bill Hickock, one of his favorite pioneer characters, to play a spirited role with Cooper as his friendly enemy, Reed Hadley, in a flowing black wig such as was worn by professional bad-men of the period, plays the Hickock part.

Texas is a favorite state for movie-makers for many reasons one of them being that it is so big almost any sort of terrain and scenery can be used and a duplicate of it found in the state itself. No one, looking at a picture with a Texas background, can say,

Romance — Gary Cooper, who plays an adventurer in the golden days of the old West in Warner Bros. "Dallas," and wins the girl, portrayed by lovely Ruth Roman.

Senior Play Titled 'Spooky Junction' To Be Friday, April 20

Daily rehearsals are in progress on "Spooky Junction," the annual senior play to be presented Friday, April 20, in the high school auditorium. The three-act comedy-drama is packed with many tense and hilarious moments.

Several entertainment numbers are planned between acts. The advance ticket sales started last week.

Three men and five women make up the cast of characters of the play. The action takes place at Crab Junction, a dilapidated railway station in the remote part of a southern state. From out of the night and into the weird setting comes Jack Kaiser and Fran Fraser, a young eloping couple who are driven to seek cover from a raging storm and flood. The ghastly surroundings are enough to put the damper on the young love and they settle down to a night of waiting for the storm to cease. But they are soon joined by Kathleen and Mary Conner, a gay young vaudeville team, also trying to find refuge from flood waters.

Now the party take on a gayer tone, until things begin to happen! There are mysterious knocks, faces at the window, and then another wanderer barges in. Della, a somewhat comical colored lady, has lost her way in the storm and becomes a member of the bedraggled gathering. But her arrival is the cue for more and more strange happenings. Things begin to move without the aid of human hands.
