LISTEN TO LUKE

LOST - CHILD'S PET! Tears stained the rosy cheeks of several Sanderson youngsters last week when the public streets is a felony. Many older people had their shirts up in their throats as they helped get a small bundle of woolly pup out of sight of the youngsters.

A felon was running rampant in Sanderson. To kill a dog belonging to someone else is a misdemeanor. To distribute poison promiscuously on the public streets is a felony. The place for a felon is in the state penitentiary. So far no definite clues to the identity of the malicious law-breaker have been discovered but diligence on the part of the dog owners has placed suspicion and they state that if the proof can be substantiated charges will be filed and public opinion now is that action will be taken.

This practice has been permitted to go unnoticed for so long that it has gotten to proportions that demand action. The district attorney should use some means for trying to ascertain the source of this crime. Many people have been of the opinion that the work is done by ranchers who have suffered losses many times by sheep-killing dogs. This last instance, evidently, is not the work of one trying to kill dogs that bother sheep on streets and alleys and in private yards where nothing but small children's pets could have gotten it.

One father stated that it put him in a bad position. His small son is a town. He will return to find a small pet missing. "What can I do about my son? I have always tried to teach him confidence in people," said. "How can he trust people who cover of darkness to spread the poison and kill dogs that bother sheep?"

There were some forty or fifty dogs in Sanderson hauled away. It might have been that some children could have picked the bait and tasted it. Samples have been sent off for analysis. By the appearance of the dogs and the way it is thought they died, some supposed that cyanide was the poison used. Such a poison, if taken by a child, would probably be as fatal to them as was to the dog. The guilty one should be brought to justice.

There is no need in soft-soaping the issue as grave as this. By no means of the imagination can we permit such flagrant law violation to the detriment of our community.

This column may take some time on some things that may be acceptable to all our readers but we feel that we have the duty of the citizens on our side in this issue.

Railroaders and people of Sanderson can now resume normal and pursuit of happiness. The animal move has not taken place and our information is that it will not be moved for many months, if ever. Be at ease. Houses that were built for occupancy of railroad employees in Allamore still vacant. The railroad has no immediate plans for the area and you may be assured of this. Sanderson appreciates the aid taken by the brotherhood members in voicing their disapproval of the move and we feel their reactions to the rumors were very instrumental in the postponement of the plans. Now, whenever all merchants and citizens of Sanderson to get back in a groove, start from the hurt and live again as neighbors and friends - all working for the good of the community.

There are two ways to turn a head. Just rattle money, or a skirt.

Hilltop Meeting For Area Masons Set For Aug. 18 at Crane

The annual Masonic Hilltop Meeting at historic Castle Gap, near McCamey, is scheduled for the night of Saturday, August 18, with W. J. Barris, Most Worshipful Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of Texas, as the principal speaker.

All area lodges are invited to participate in the annual affair, held during the full moon of August each year.

Barbecue supper will be served at 6:30 p. m. to Masons at the hill top, while visiting wives will be served at the same hour at the Crane Community Hall.

An estimated 2,000 visitors are expected for the event which has become one of the outstanding affairs in the entire state. It attracts Masons representing lodges in nearly every state in the union, and members from several foreign countries.

Regan Credited With Assist in Bill Passage

Washington, July 31 — Rep. Ken Regan, 16th District, Midland, was given credit by his colleagues here this week for helping to get passed an amendment offered by Congressman D'Ewart, R., Montana, which would remove ceilings from all strategic and critical metals and minerals after the munitions board places them in that category.

Regan and D'Ewart work together on the House Interior and Insular Affairs committee. Regan is chairman of the Mines and Mining subcommittee which for some time has been seeking to eliminate the bottlenecks which now thwarting production in these strategic minerals and metals, despite the fact the U. S. government has set up a program calling for the expansion of mines providing the money.

Rep. Wright Patman, D., Texas, protested the amendment saying it would tell the enemy what minerals this country considered to be in critical supply, but D'Ewart assured him the list had already been published.

Speaking for the amendment, Regan said: "This is for the defense of our country.

"There are 88 strategic metals in which this country is in short supply. This is not news to anyone in Congress nor probably to some of our enemies. We are in short supply on a great many strategic materials.

"We had a price freeze in January, freezing the price of all metals. We can and are developing in this country an urgently needed supply of manganese. To do that they had to issue a special order to take manganese out from under the price ceiling. There are many other metals in the same position and I think it would be wise for the people of this country, particularly the members of Congress, to see in the Federal Register such minerals as we are in need of.

"You may have some mineral out in your state. Your prospector asks: Is there a demand for cobalt or mica or manganese or whatever they find out there? You can see in the Federal Register that there is a shortage of that commodity. Then we can go to the Defense Minerals Administration and find out what program the government can issue in support of that above the price that has been frozen, which is way below the cost of producing it.

"Suppose you had some manganese that cost you $2 a unit to produce, and the freeze price was $1.40. If you were obliged to sell at the freeze price, you would be selling at a loss, and private industry would not be allowed to buy that manganese from you at $2. This bill would permit you to go ahead with production."

"This is not a corn or beef act; it is for the defense of our country."

FATHERS, SONS TO PLAY BALL FRIDAY

Members of the local youth softball teams which have been practicing twice weekly for the past several weeks, will have the time of their lives Friday night when they meet their dads. a good round of fun is promised the spectators.

The boys were divided into four teams at their practice Monday night with each team receiving T-shirts of a different color to denote variation for playing.

The purpose of the game is to attempt to raise money to pay for the T-shirts and expense of operating the lights for the night practice session.

The ball game Friday night will get under way at 8:00 and the boys are urged to see that their dads come out and play, so both the spectators and the boys can see which makes the most difference in the game, perseverance or experience.

The hat will be passed for contributions from the spectators.

W. W. Suddath, K. E. Dick and J. A. Gilbreath have been working with the junior ball players and have received cooperation from several of the dads in the way of umpiring and instructions.

Moving of Terminal Not Planned In Near Future

There are no plans for the immediate future to move the railroad terminal from Sanderson. This information has come to this paper from the same source as the original information of the plans for the move.

One thing is certain. Sandhouse gossip can be relied upon when it comes down from the higher-ups. Officials of the railroad presented the idea of the move to the representatives of the various brotherhoods some few months ago and after meetings were held with the members and their protests were sent in to the company, the same officials have assured that nothing will come of the proposal for at least three years, if ever.

Conditions here were strained because of the uncertainty evoked by the rumor that the move was to take place. Railroaders now feel more secure and state that unless other information is forthcoming there will be no change to affect working conditions and terminal homes.

Changes In Dove Season Proposed

Changes in the proposed 1951 dove seasons in Texas are foreseen by the executive secretary of the Game, Fish and Oyster Commission following a conference with Clarence Cottam, assistant director of the Federal Fish and Wildlife Service.

The Fish and Wildlife Service and the state jointly set seasons on both mourning and white wing doves because they are migratory birds.

The commission, at its last regular meeting, recommended that the mourning dove season open in the North Zone September 1, and open in the South Zone November 15 to run 45 days. The bag limits of ten per day and ten in possession seemingly will continue. The shooting hours would be from noon to sunset instead of all day.

Ben Martin Takes Over Management Of Drive-In Saturday

Last Saturday morning Ben Martin resumed operation of the drive-in on Highway 90 in the west part of town. The business had been under the management of Jack Turner who has had the place leased from Martin.

Martin stated that he will continue specializing in fried chicken, to be eaten at the place or to take home. Business will be conducted at the drive-in until 12 midnight throughout the week and will close at 9:00 p. m. on Sunday, Mr. Martin said.

Funeral Services For Mrs. W. S. Crawford In Christoval, Texas

Funeral services were held in Christoval Saturday afternoon in the Methodist Church for Mrs. W. S. Crawford, 80, who died in that city Thursday night at the home of her daughter, Mrs. R. C. Kirby. Grandsons were the pallbearers and included W. H. Goldwire of Sanderson.

Mrs. Crawford, the former Nora Beele Rees, was born in Chadron, Neb., and was the widow of the late W. S. Crawford, one-time postmaster of Christoval, stock farmer and merchant, who died last year. Mrs. Crawford had been an invalid for a number of years and had visited frequently in the home of her daughter, Mrs. H. C. Goldwire.

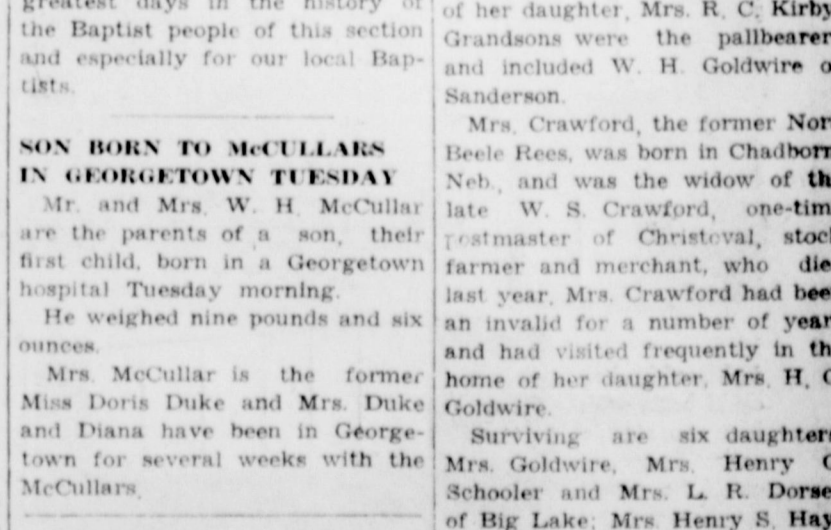

Surviving are six daughters, Mrs. Goldwire, Mrs. Henry C. Schooler, Mrs. L. R. Dorsey of Big Lake, Mrs. Henry S. Hays of Abilene, Mrs. McBee of El Paso and Mrs. Kirby; three sons, Paul R. Crawford of San Angelo, James A. Crawford of Christoval and Homer D. Crawford of Seminole, Oklahoma.

THE AMERICAN WAY

PLANNED ECONOMY WON'T WORK

By George Peck

George Peck

The Administration is bending every energy to drive this nation into a planned economy.

What kind of people are they who are "twisting the President's arm" that he so ardently advocates these totalitarian controls and welfare schemes...

The first comprises the intellectuals whose academic minds make them ignore the realities of life and human nature...

The second group consists of the bureaucrats. Unlike the first as being idealists. They know the "score".

Why does economic planning fail to translate into reality the pipe-dreams of the first group and to fulfill the false promises of the second?

First, governmental planning is always political planning. When the State plans it is guided by political considerations primarily, and not economic ones.

Second, a planned economy does not have to meet the test of the market. In a free enterprise, capitalistic economy, manpower and resources are used to produce the things the people want most...

Third, the planned economists cannot really plan. A free market can determine what people want far better than some Washington bureau.

Fourth, the planned economists do not really plan. A free market can determine what people want far better than some Washington bureau.

The fourth reason is that economic planning undermines individual initiative and responsibility. It tries to substitute centralized bureaucratic planning for the planning of millions of individual businessmen, farmers, etc., which has made our capitalistic system the world's most productive.

These four reasons prove it is sheer folly to believe that bureaucrats in Washington, if vested with authority, would suddenly become supermen...

If you don't mind being pushed around by "little men" at Washington do nothing about it. But if you prize your liberty...

A Digest of GOOD IDEAS for Planning, Building, Decorating and Maintaining Your Home

Brought to you each week by Sally and Johnny Omala

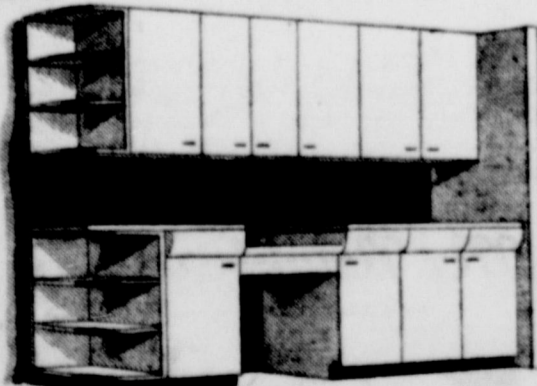

Kitchens THAT GROW TO FIT YOUR NEEDS!

Don't think that you can't enjoy a really modern and perfectly equipped kitchen just because it costs too much to do it all at once.

The important thing is to plan your whole kitchen just as you want it in advance. Then little by little let it grow into the perfect kitchen you planned.

Clever engineers and designers have worked out kitchens in "units" that not only mesh and fit each other, but fit today's wonderful appliances as well.

A planned kitchen could begin with just two simple units. Then units could be added one or more at a time. Some of the most popular plans are shown at the right.

WOOD VERSUS STEEL CABINETS

Your own taste and preferences must, of course, determine whether you want wood or steel cabinets. Here are a few points to think about in helping you decide.

On the other hand, many women feel that the gleaming white surfaces of metal cabinets are easier to clean. They like their "washability." Steel also gives a feeling of permanence and it goes well with the efficient look of modern appliances.

3 FAVORITE KITCHEN PLANS

Experts say these 3 plans provide the maximum in time and step-saving efficiency.

THE "U" PLAN This plan requires a room at least 10 feet wide. It puts all work centers close together, provides great accessibility and continuous work surfaces, and keeps thru traffic out of working area.

THE "L" PLAN This plan requires a room with two walls which are not broken by doors. It is almost as efficient as the "U" plan and presents fewer problems with windows and doors.

THE "I" PLAN This plan requires a room at least 8 feet wide with doors at ends of room. It can be expanded into a corridor type plan by adding units to the opposite wall.

MODERNIZING OLD STYLE KITCHENS

Here is a check list of things to consider when you modernize your old kitchen . . . or when you are planning a new one:

- (1) Arrange your equipment in orderly sequence to fit work. (2) Plan storage space so supplies are stored where they are first used. (3) Provide working and reaching heights that fit you. (4) Provide adequate natural and artificial light on all working areas. (5) Insure good ventilation.

SALLY OMALA SAYS:

Be sure to include a mirror somewhere in your kitchen, so you can tidy up before answering the door bell.

A pair of old scissors can be easily sharpened by cutting a sheet of fine sandpaper in strips.

Now is the time to paint and repair screens and to put rubber bumpers on screen doors to keep them from banging.

If you are thinking about a new range, be sure to investigate these new ranges that cook so wonderfully, save fuel, and keep your kitchen so much cooler.

HAVE YOU SEEN THE NEW "DUTCH OVEN" RANGES?

JOHNNY OMALA SAYS:

When you're painting—coat door knobs, locks, etc., with vaseline and paint splashes can be easily wiped off.

Make a stout box about 4 feet long out of 1 x 12's and fill it with sand moistened with old crankcase oil. Just push your spades and garden tools into the oily sand after using and they'll stay rust-free.

NEW MIRACLE BED—The Springmaid Acoustical made by The Springs of Texas Mills to test sheet quality. It has everything from television to turn and bank indicator, and it's soundproof. Mrs. Felix Sarnowicz of Fort Johnson, N. Y., won a Springmaid Acoustical in the "Stop the Music" program jackpot.

TO HIGHEST BIDDER—Romeo, four-month-old calf, snuggles up against lovely Faye Emerson who auctioned him off in New York to raise funds for ANTA (American National Theater Academy). Ezra Stone, "Henry" on NBC's "The Aldrich Family," donated Romeo, son of one of his prize Ayshire cows, for the occasion.

JOAN FONTAINE whose next starring picture, "Something to Live For," models this regal satin dress with the full flowing skirt falling in to deep smooth folds. The top is encrusted with beading and the wide belt shows the same motif.

DAVID F. HOUSTON

The man who first saw the true mission of the A. and M. College of Texas as a major technological institution and raised the scholarship level of the faculty and entrance requirements for students to real college level was Dr. David Franklin Houston, president of the college from 1902 until 1905. In his short time as president, Dr. Houston changed the entire course of the college's history. In 1905 he left Texas A. and M. to become the president of the University of Texas, and later became president of the University of Maryland. During the administration of Woodrow Wilson he served with distinction first as Secretary of Agriculture and later as Secretary of the Treasury.

Boys Camp Meeting To Open August 14

Fort Davis, Aug. 1 — The "cow-boy camp meeting of the Davis Mountains", officially the Boys Camp Meeting Association, is due to open its sixty-first session August 14 at its extensive permanent cottage-camp at Skillman Grove, 17 miles from Fort Davis.

The preachers chosen by the four denominations composing the association for this year's week long series of meetings are Rev. Charles Taylor, Pasadena, California, Baptists; Dr. L. D. Anderson, pastor of the First Christian Church of Fort Worth, for the Christian denomination; Rev. S. C. Lovern, pastor of the Laurel Heights Methodist Church of San Antonio, for the Methodists and Rev. S. L. Joekel, D. D., a teacher of the Bible at the Union of Texas and in the Presbyterian Theological Seminary in Austin, for the Presbyterians.

Rev. Anderson preached at the camp meeting first in 1923 and has been one of the selected preachers there ever since, and is dean of the ministerial group.

J. W. Merrill, of Fort Davis, president of the association, and who has attended every meeting, and Mrs. R. L. Irving, secretary, of Fort Davis, have announced that Dr. Taylor will not be present for the opening date but that his place will be filled temporarily by Dr. Herschell Ford of the First Baptist Church of El Paso, who will deliver the opening sermon on the night of August 14. The denominations through the years have, in order of rotation, presented the address on the first night.

Many of the early attendants at the gatherings have been present in recent years with three or four generations of their families. Large family camps now exist and spend the week in permanent cottages with sanitation, hot and cold water facilities and electric lights and power — a long throw from the first primitive camps under trees in 1890. The first preaching was held under spreading western gray oak, which still stands and is treasured as the "first tree."

People attend from over Texas and adjoining states, and many inquiries received by the secretary this year is said to indicate the usual large attendance.

Joe Thomas, T&NO section foreman, spent the week end in Van Horn with his wife who is visiting there with her parents and other children.
