LISTEN TO LUKE

Talk has been going thick and fast all this week by ranchmen, business men and just plain citizens concerning the recent edict making Terrell County among others eligible for relief under the program of making cheap feed available to those ranchmen within a designated area.

It is our opinion that the majority vote against the preceding administration was evidence of the wishes of the people of the United States to stop any and all practices conducive to socialism or a socialist trend. And we feel that such practices as putting the United States government in the lead or ranching business is a definite trend toward socialism if not outright socialism.

We also feel that the act is discriminatory in the fact that it restricts the practice of doles to a certain few, rather than to all, at the expense of the taxpayers, which is also socialist.

We also feel that it is unfair in that a very few individual men without a definite organizational function, and without the consent of all the governed sought and got such a move passed.

We have tried to ascertain the aspects of the financing of such a plan and without luck so far in this endeavor, are still trying to find out how those, who are not able to pay cash for the feed when it comes in, are going to be able to take advantage of the plan. Unless and unless such a plan is worked out whereby those who are in the most dire circumstances are able to buy the feed they need to maintain their flocks along with those who have the cash to pay for the feed, then the plan is discriminatory again in that it is not helping those who are in most need.

That plan may have been worked out already, and we sincerely hope that it has, if the government insists on subsidizing the ranchmen to that extent upon the request of the ranchmen, for we would hate to see anyone jeopardized in their efforts to obtain relief simply because they were beyond the reach of relief because of their lack of finances.

We join with the masses in admitting that the agricultural industry is the basic industry of this great nation, but we bow to no greater authority than our own way of thinking in the fact that freedom from government restraint and freedom from socialism is even greater than our agricultural industry!

Not that the agricultural industry will have to go under to prevent socialism, nor will any other industry, other than those which are now or will ever be controlled by the government.

We truly have a deep regard for men who will battle the elements in the quest for livelihood and the necessities and if possible the luxuries of life. But we also feel that

More Information Received On Feed Program by P.M.A.

The farmers home administration representative was in the local county Production and Marketing Administration office on Tuesday with the necessary forms for application and information on securing a disaster loan through the Farmers Home Administration for the drought emergency feed program. Miss Rosannah Green, local secretary for the P.M.A., has announced that any ranchman desiring information concerning the program can obtain such information in the local office of the P.M.A.

It was announced that feeds available include: Oats, $5.50 a bushel in the bulk; corn, $1 a bushel in bulk; wheat, $1.10 a bushel in bulk; cotton seed meal cake, sheep pellets, or cow size $35 a ton, cotton seed meal, $35 a ton.

The first orders are for a 30 day supply only.

"Eligible livestock are cattle sheep and goats, only your foundation livestock," stated Miss Green. "Mules, horses will not qualify." "The cotton seed cake is reported to be a slow mover, as it has to be processed and will take longer. Other feeds such as the meal, corn, oats and wheat are reported to be ready to move immediately," she continued.

"The first few cars that come in will be divided, in order that everyone will get some feed immediately. You will eventually get your order filled, but the first few cars will have to be divided," Miss Green continued.

All cars will be sent to Sanderson, as other places such as Dryden, Pumpville, Longfellow and Mofeta do not have the facilities for weighing or unloading.

Minimum and maximum weights of the cars are as follows: cotton seed meal and pellets, 20 tons; corn, 20 tons to 60 tons; oats, 20 tons to 40 tons; wheat, 30 tons to 60 tons. These weights are taken from the information received from the state office in College Station.

More River Riders May Be Employed

Word was received here this week that the United States Department of Agriculture may hire more river riders to enforce the ban recently placed on Mexican livestock between Sanderson and Brownsville. The announcement was made by Dr. F. H. Kern of San Antonio, the chief inspector in this area for the USDA.

The number of river riders was decreased when the ban was lifted on livestock imports after clearing up the hoof and mouth disease outbreak in Mexico, but after the most recent ban, put into effect on May 23, following more recent outbreaks, the number of riders is anticipated and hoped for by USDA officials. It is expected that the ban will last at least a year.

Cattle, sheep, goats, hogs, and their by-products, including meat, and also hay and straw, are included in the ban.

Pollo Foundation Gives Information On Gamma Globulin

The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis is sending out an important summer message to parents concerning gamma globulin, the part of human blood that contains disease-fighting antibodies.

Gamma globulin is in extremely short supply, and will probably be used in areas where the greatest number of cases occur. There will be only about one million doses of GG available from now to September. Most likely public health officers working with private physicians will administer the GG.

It has been used for many years to combat measles and infectious hepatitis (jaundice). In 1952 March of Dimes scientists proved it to be an effective but temporary preventive of crippling caused polio.

The Office of Defense Mobilization, a government agency, is solely responsible for the distribution of the nation's supply of GG through the state and territorial health officers. You should not be able to buy it anywhere. See your doctor. If it is possible for your child to have GG, it will be allocated to him through the health officer. There will be no charge for this GG.

State Recommends Temporary Continuation of Chronological Age Separation in Segregation Charge

According to a decision handed down by Commissioner of Education J. W. Edgar, the officials of the Terrell County schools were told to go ahead next year with their proposed plan for removing alleged discrimination against Latin-American children in the school system.

The plan proposed for eliminating segregation next year, to which both sides agreed, will base sectioning of classes of students on a chronological age basis of all students.

When the decision had been given by Edgar, he also voiced his opinion of "doubt of the feasibility of the plan", and added further that if state school officials find any evidence of segregation while checking the local schools next school term, that further steps will have to be taken to see that all segregation is ended immediately.

Dr. Edgar further opined that he believes the authorities of the Sanderson schools had "the best of intentions" concerning the revised system of dividing the students but also gave two reasons for his doubting the working feasibility of the plan. His reasons are this:

He said the Mexican children, because of their language handicap, oftentimes must stay in the first grade for two years while they learn enough English to catch up with their classmates. Also, he added, unless there is strong enforcement of the attendance law, some of the Latin students, who sometimes stay out of school to help with crops and other work, will fall behind in their studies.

Both would tend to put the Spanish-speaking children in a older age group when they reach the higher elementary grades. Thus, they will always stay in the grade section comprised of older students—a bracketing that will, in effect, lead to segregation, he said.

Dr. Edgar's tentative decision on complaints of segregation in the Sanderson schools followed a five-hour hearing which was the result of a petition filed more than a year ago by five patrons of the school district who charged school officials with segregating Anglo-American students and those of Mexican descent.

Cristobal T. Aldrete, a Del Rio attorney retained by the American GI Forum of Texas, represented the plaintiffs and counsel for the school district was J. M. Hayre.

All members of the Board of Trustees of the Terrell County School District, Supt. Matt Bader, and the representing attorney attended the hearing. Also present from Sanderson were the petitioners: Mrs. P. M. Arredondo, Mrs. Refugio Perez, Mrs. Olivia Salinas, Mr. and Mrs. Lalo Carrasco, Miss Maria Torres and Mrs. Madge Gonzales.

The major portion of the testimony, according to Supt. Bader, centered on how children should be grouped into sections within a grade for instructional purposes in grades 2 through 6. Supt. Bader contended that the present method of grouping by chronological ages in the grades was educationally sound. He also stated that a few exceptions have been made in this method of grouping by using achievement tests, attendance and double-promotions for over-age children since initiating the method of grouping by ages two years ago, and that it took approximately two years to have all the children ready for grouping by ages without exceptions.

He added that since all of these factors had been worked out, all the children were ready to be grouped by age without exception, and that such a method would be employed at the beginning of the next school term.

Dr. George Sanchez, a professor of education at the University of Texas and Aldrete said that any grouping by age would tend to segregate Latin- and Anglo-American children because more Latin children usually fall into the older age group and that another method of grouping should be employed.

FIRE FRIDAY LOOTS DRYDEN BUILDINGS

Firemen were summoned about 10 o'clock Friday morning to extinguish a blaze at the Dryden Hotel and Purple Sage Cafe and took one truck to the neighboring community. At the time of the arrival of the firemen, the Dryden Hotel, residence of W. Y. Bengé, Jr., was completely gutted by the blaze which had then spread to the back end of the dining room at the cafe.

Residents of Dryden and others from Sanderson who were in the community at the time of the fire, had taken all the fixtures and equipment from the dining room of the cafe and had soaked the adjoining tourist cabins to prevent the spread of the blaze. Firemen concentrated their efforts in preventing the spread of the blaze to the nearby Hi-Way Mercantile until the threat of further damage was past before they put any water on the cafe.

The second fire truck was dispatched to Dryden, but was of little use, since a sufficient quantity of water was not available to extinguish the burning building, and an H. B. Zachry tank truck brought a load of water to the fire trucks to aid in extinguishing the blaze.

The fire was reportedly started by the ignition of gasoline fumes after Bengé had cleaned a paint spray gun. The amount of damage to the completely destroyed buildings was unknown.

The Dryden Hotel was built in 1908 by B. C. Farley of Sanderson who sold it in 1917. The hotel was the central gathering place in Dryden for a number of years for cowboys from surrounding ranches as well as citizens of that community. The late J. M. Bassett later acquired the property and built and operated the Purple Sage Cafe for several years before selling it.

One of the items in the cafe that workers was unable to save was one of the large paintings hanging on the west wall which had been reportedly valued at more than $1,000, since that price had been rejected on at least one occasion.

A daughter was born here Saturday afternoon to Mr. and Mrs. A. O. Niccolis of Dallas, their third child. The birth weight was ten pounds and she was named Melissa Ann.

Mrs. Niccolis and children have been visiting in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Higgins, for several weeks.

Babb Brothers Take Roping Honors In Events Here Sunday

Glenn and Buster Babb took most of the jackpot money here last Sunday afternoon when the Sanderson Roping Club staged another contest for area roping enthusiasts.

Glenn came out of the first run with a two-calf average of 12.4 seconds for first money; Jack Riggs was breathing down his neck with 12.5 for second place and Buster Babb ended the first go-round with 13.7 for third place.

Buster beat out his brother in the second round with a 12.4 time; Joe B. Chapman placed second with 12.9 and John Ray Powell, was in third place with 13.4.

The day's events covered several jackpot ropings as well as goat ropings, ribbon ropings and barrel races.

Attendance at Sunday's contests here was reported to be small in comparison to other events held on the local ground. The club plans more events for the summer and announcements will be made as the dates are planned.

Small Crowd Here Enjoys 4th Holiday

One of the smallest crowds of many years was on hand last Saturday to enjoy the barbecue at the courthouse lawn and roping events at the area east of town.

The local post of the American Legion sponsors of the barbecue, estimated a crowd of about 400 fed as compared to a 1,400 all-time high two years ago.

The members of the sponsoring organization expressed their thanks to all local citizens and friends of the American Legion who helped in any way to put on the barbecue, and for their contribution to the organization.

The roping events here Saturday were mostly by area talent, since bigger shows in adjoining towns had drawn the better ropers of the Southwest, but those who were on hand to witness the events, were pleased with the performances displayed that afternoon.

Accuracy Urged In SS Reporting

Employers and self-employed persons can stretch their social security tax dollar and save book work by being fully aware of the procedures of correctly reporting wages and income under the Social Security Act, says Jack Calvert, manager of the Odessa office of the Social Security Administration.

Most employers in this area insure against delinquent or incorrect reporting by following an orderly procedure in which they take an employee's name and number directly from the account-number card at the time of hiring, record such information in a permanent section of their bookkeeping system, and establish a quarterly date line for completion of the reports well in advance of the due date.

Calvert points out that the quarterly return covering employees' wages are due during the months of July and October 1953. The self-employed businessman, however, makes his own personal social security tax return when he files his annual income tax returns. The next report will be due after January 1 in 1954 for the self-employed.

There are two common errors which make necessary additional contacts with employers, employees or self-employed persons. The first, and most common, is the submitting of a tax return bearing incorrect information in the form of a wrong number or name. Such factors as changing of name by marriage or failure to change the name on social security records, the transposition of digits by the employer when taking a new employee's social security account number at the time of hiring, are examples of this type of error.

The common error, when no report is made on one or more persons, usually results in costly investigation and delay at the time a claim for social security benefits is filed. This may result not only in inconvenience to the employer, but in undue hardship to the family of the person on whose account the claim is being filed.

Calvert underscored the point that only by cooperation between employers, employees, self-employed and the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, of which social security is a part, can the tax dollar be conserved and valuable time be saved in the administration of the law.

It's time for "here comes the bride!" So, to the bride: A good cook book is about a newlywed's best friend. "Joy of Cooking" is a good one. Follow the recipes carefully, note the menus in the back, and you'll do yourself proud in the meal making department.

To friends of the bride: Some useful and unusual gift suggestions for showers. Plastic covers for the bride's best china, plastic covers for her blankets. Or some specially nice soap, a photograph album or a holder or two for flower arrangements.

And to any woman: Spread lamb chops with mustard-with-horseradish before broiling or pan-frying. Mustard adds a wonderful flavor!

Now for a salad review: Salads, you know, must be cool, crisp and colorful. If you're serving one as a main dish, for goodness sake make it hearty enough to be satisfying. Make certain the dressing for the salad adds a distinctive flavor.

You can go on almost forever naming the different dressings for salads made with real mayonnaise. To serve with tossed salads, add milk, lemon juice, french dressing or fruit juice and blend. Sweet cream or sour cream can be added, too. And don't forget about throwing in some chutney, capers, herbs, olives or diced fruit to make a real mayonnaise variation to suit the salad.

when a man is forced to bow to the dealings of the elements in his endeavors, and if needbe, deplete his income, his stock, his resources and his standard of living because of such adverse conditions, then it is one of the misfortunes of man's being.

Such misfortunes do not occur only in the ranch business and agricultural industry, unfortunately they occur in the grocery business,

So we are not picking on the ranchmen, nor are we picking on anyone who is connected with the ranching business in any way. We just hope and pray that the misfortunes that cause worthy men to fail to provide for themselves and their families will not cause them to continue to seek for an added burden on the taxpayers of this nation which we feel confident is not to the best advantage of the nation as a whole. If it was within our power to do so, we would say that no ranch-

SPECIAL OCCASION DRINK

IT'S here again—the time for basking in the sun, swimming and just lazing the hours away. And it's time to get out the recipe file on cooling delicious drinks for which there will be many calls. To make your drinks look even more tempting, use your prettiest glasses. A refreshing drink can always be made on demand if your refrigerator contains bottles of pale dry ginger ale, fruit-flavored carbonated beverages, fruit juices and ice cream. This gives a choice of a plain iced drink, a mixed drink or an ice cream soda at any time. For a special occasion you might like to serve this good tasting beverage.

RASPBERRY MALLOW
 1 cup quick-frozen raspberries
 1/2 cup marshmallow whip
 1/2 cup lemon juice
 Pale dry ginger ale

Put raspberries through food mill or sieve. Add marshmallow whip with rotary beater until well blended. Stir in lemon juice. Divide among six tall glasses. Fill glasses with ice cold pale dry ginger ale. Stir gently to mix.

THE SANDERSON TIMES

quent in warm weather when people are out of doors.

The germs of lockjaw are commonly found in soil — especially manured soil. They enter through a skin break and emit a deadly toxin which causes jaw and neck muscles to constrict so severely that jaws involuntarily close, vice-like.

Slowly, the muscle construction spreads to other body muscles, until the victim is bent like a bow. A fatal case of the disease has been traced to a scratch from a rose thorn.

Lockjaw germs are spore-formers, which means they can live for years outside an animal body. Its life processes lie dormant in a tiny seed-like pod, shifting about on the ground until finally, perhaps through a sliver or nail scratch, it gets back into live tissue.

The wound may heal, but inside, protected as it is from the air, the spore will begin vegetating and emitting deadly toxin. Farmers and ranchmen are especially vulnerable to lockjaw. Dr. Cox cautioned, because the primary source of lockjaw germs is the intestinal tract of animals. They're passed onto the ground in animal dejecta, easily available for re-entry into a human body when that body is cut or scratched or otherwise wounded.

Exposures to lockjaw are so common that it is mere common sense for everyone to maintain a high level of protection via immunization. Dr. Cox called this method of gaining immunity as "simple and convenient." He said immunizing shots should be given children early in life, at the discretion of the family physician.

"You can't go to a doctor with every little scratch," he emphasized, "so the best way to handle it is to take an immunizing series of shots, and keep the immunity level high with periodic 'booster' shots."

Mr. and Mrs. Dee S. Finley and sons left Monday for their home in Fort Worth after a visit here with his mother, Mrs. Clyde Griffith and Mr. Griffith. Jack Talbot and Charles Stegall are employed by the REA in Marathon.
