Repairs Made At Courthouse

Work has been under way for several days at the court house here in repairing parts of the building, mostly on the second floor.

The windows in the old part of the second story are being repaired and the plaster replaced on the bottom of the window opening, to stop water leaking and blowing into the building.

Water damage from the third-floor jail to the ceiling of the district court room and vestibule is being repaired prior to repainting the court room and vestibule, also the jury rooms.

There has been some water damage to the stair well and to the vestibule and county court room on the first floor. This is also being repaired.

Water leaking through from the third-floor jail caused most all of the damage to the interior paint and plaster at the court house.

Former Resident Here Recalls Early Days Of Blacksmithing in West Texas Area

Horses to be shod are few, but William P. Keene, 67-year-old Pecos resident, and father of Mrs. George Turner, still maintains his blacksmith shop. Keene, who's operated blacksmith business in several West Texas towns, has been in Pecos since 1942.

San Angelo Standard-Times Pecos — West Texans have come a long way since the days of the old blacksmith and the blacksmith, in turn, has come a long way since the days of shoeing horses and making wagon wheels. In fact, he has almost become extinct.

Nevertheless, beneath a slightly spreading hackberry tree in Pecos, one village smithy still works. He is William P. Keene, 67-year-old West Texan who, although facing an extreme lack of horses to be shod, still maintains and operates his blacksmith shop here.

Keene, a big healthy man, despite his age, has been in the blacksmith business many years. He came to Pecos in 1942. Prior to that time he had his business in Saragosa, Carrizo, New Mexico, Alpine, Del Rio, Sanderson, Ozona and other towns.

He is the father of Mrs. George Turner of Sanderson. It was in Alpine that he shod his last horse in 1925. He had been trying to quit for a long time, he says, but the people there just wouldn't let him.

"The only way I knew how to get them to let me quit," he recalls, "was to keep raising the price on jobs. I went as high as $8 a horse and that did it."

While in Del Rio, the blacksmith and wheelwright shod as many as 60 head of horses per month. This he did from 1913 to 1920.

"And," he says, "the women folk with their finer horses came in about every 18 days to have the horses hoofs chipped."

One horse that stands out in Keene's mind, he recalls with a sigh, was an old, blind animal weighing some 2,200 pounds. The horse was used to pull a "three-inch wagon," which normally takes two such horses.

Austin — It's now or never for Texans to solve their water problems in an orderly manner.

This in effect, is the attitude of Gov. Price Daniel as he sets the wheels in motion for a "big push" this fall.

First attack will be by a 100-person statewide water planning committee appointed by the governor. It is to meet in Austin beginning Sept. 9 to develop planning and leadership for a master plan for water conservation and flood control over the state. Committee members include civic leaders and persons interested in and acquainted with water problems from all parts of the state.

They'll also be asked to help plan future water legislation and develop support for the proposed constitutional amendment that would provide a $100,000,000 bond issue for water projects.

Second phase of the governor's plan is the special legislative session to pass needed additional laws. Target date for the session is October, the governor has indicated.

Two pieces of water legislation are proposed by Governor Daniel. They are: Creation of a state water planning division to draw up a master plan; and a law enabling the state to purchase water storage space in federal reservoirs (a measure which failed last session).

Planning division probably would cost from $500,000 to $1,000,000, says Daniel. This can be obtained, he says, from special funds appropriated, but not used, for other purposes.

If Texas doesn't face the responsibility for its water planning itself, declared the governor, the federal government will take over with a "take it or leave it" plan.

House Committees

A long list of groups has been set up by Speaker Carr to study basic state problems and report to the 56th Legislature. They include:

Legislative Budget Board — Reps. Max Smith of San Marcos, Frates S. Seeligson of San Antonio, William S. Heatly of Paducah, J. T. Ellis Jr. of Weslaco.

Legislative Council — Reps. Robert Hughes of Dallas, Wesley Roberts of Lamesa, A. R. Schwartz of Galveston, Tony Koriath of Sherman, James M. Cotten of Weatherford, R. H. Cory of Victoria, Menton J. Murray of Harlingen, Alonzo W. Jamison Jr. of Denton, Don Kennard of Fort Worth and Harold E. Parish of Taft.

State Tax Study Commission — Reps. Seeligson, Richard Slack of Pecos and John A. Huebner, Sr. of Bay City.

Full list includes 12 committees—even a committee to study the committees.

School Study Panel

Six legislators and two private citizens are early appointees to a new committee to study the growth problems of Texas public schools.

Named by Lt. Gov. Ben Ramsey were Sens. George Parkhouse of Dallas, A. M. Alkin Jr. of Paris and Floyd Bradshaw of Weatherford plus former Atty. Gen. John Ben Shepperd of Odessa and Laredo school superintendent J. W. Nixon.

House Speaker Waggoner Carr named Reps. Scott McDonald of Fort Worth, L. DeWitt Hale of Corpus Christi and Malcolm McGregor of El Paso.

Full committee will number 24. Ramsey and Carr were directed by the law to pick three legislators and three laymen. Governor Daniel and the State Board of Education are to pick six more each.

One proposal made during the session was to have the state build school buildings and lease them to districts. Numerous Texas officials have opposed federal aid for school building.

Harvest Time

Typical hot, dry August weather has been good for harvesting, but hard on pasturage and late crops.

Dry weather and insects stunted the cotton in central, south-east and coastal counties. U. S. Dept. of Agriculture reported, but better yields are expected in the northern half of the state.

However, USDA noted northern crops are two to three weeks late and could be damaged by an early freeze.

Egg Dealers Get Licenses

State Agriculture Department is in the process of licensing some 36,000 egg producers, handlers and sellers.

New egg grading law will be in effect Oct. 22. Enforcement will begin Feb. 1, 1958.

Exempt from the license requirement are retailers who sell less than a case of eggs a week to persons other than consumers and producers who do not claim a certain grade for their "EGS."

Texas Leads in Roads

Texas is out front in the interstate highway building program with 293 miles of roads "in the mill."

These are projects which are either under construction, contracted or advertised for bids. Cost will be $866,000,000 with $76,000,000 coming from federal funds.

California is ahead of Texas in cost of projects, but second in mileage. It has 95.5 miles underway at a cost of $96,000,000.

Commission retained the lowest-in-history 13-day producing pattern for the Texas oil industry in September. Several weeks ago President Eisenhower asked oil companies to cut their imports by 10 per cent. But Texas commissioners said the request had not as yet brought any increase in demand for Texas oil. "Intangible assets" evaluated for tax purposes in Texas hit an all-time high of $130,790,050 this year, reported Comptroller Robt.

Texas Railroad is considering the request of some 30 bus lines operating in Texas for a five per cent increase in fares. Two bus lines also have asked for a hike in commuter fares. A decision is not expected for several weeks. . . Most hens apparently took mid-summer vacations. USDA reported Texas egg production down 9 per cent in July to 182 million "EGS."

Items of equipment not found very readily. More old items include an old pipe bender and a tin shrinker used for wagon wheel repairs.

The hammers he made himself and the anvil he has had about 35 years. In order to have the right kind of equipment when he needed it, Keene took it upon himself to make what he wanted when he couldn't find it in stock.

One such item is a self-adjusting tong. The regular type tong has merely the long handles and a "straight" mouth with which to grasp iron. When Keene tried to grasp a hot piece of iron that was round or cornered, he had trouble steadying it to forge the metal. So he fixed his tongs with a movable piece to be clamped over the metal, regardless of its shape, thereby holding it steady for the blows of the big hammer. He has used one of the tongs he made about 20 years.

Another innovation of Keene's is a "three-way, right-and-left-handed tong," used for handling angled pieces of metal. For instance, when he tried to hold an L-shaped plow iron with the straight-headed tongs, he found his grasp to be shaky and therefore the metal hard to beat out. But with his own, homemade tong, it's simple. He merely has three prongs, each holding one of three sides of the piece being worked.

Having done forged-welding so many years, the acetylene-type welding seemed futuristic indeed to Keene. However, ready to keep up with the changing times he purchased an acetylene generator in 1936. The machine is still in good operating condition now. And, says Keene, "machines sure make things easier for me."

One big order Keene is always working on is branding irons. Ranchmen still make the trip from as far as Del Rio to have Keene make a branding iron.

take no forward steps toward the improvement of our town and county? Can we afford to continue to watch the years roll by while we apathetically sit down with only our complacency. Is there no pride in progress?

Several weeks ago the Sanderson Lions Club started a move to get a State Highway Patrolman stationed in Sanderson. We hope that move doesn't die because of lack of action. A letter now and then to Capt. Wilson E. Spier or to Col. Homer Garrison by interested citizens might keep the wheels of interest oiled.

The travelers through this section of the country are in need of the protection and services of a highway patrolman, the same as in other sections of the state, and the present 205 miles and 185 miles between patrol stations offers little opportunity for the citizens here to have that service.

We join with the Lions in urging the assignment of a patrolman here and ask that you do the same.

Sometimes even local citizens need the reminder of the presence of a highway patrolman at times, and we all would appreciate his being here more if and when we are in need of some of the many services they render besides law enforcement.
