LISTEN TO LUKE

By Albert---

It is the opinion of those who deal directly with tourists that there has been an increase of travel through here lately.

There is a possibility that the cold weather up north has driven the travelers southward in search of warmer weather and better road conditions due to the absence of ice and snow.

Whatever the reason, we hope that it continues.

There is a big furor being raised over the nation on many subjects: the war in Viet Nam, the antics of Cassius Clay, where the big league baseball teams are going to play this spring, the poll tax and the effects of its being ruled unconstitutional, the Humphrey - Kennedy feud, and all the while, the "new" math.

Several daily papers are using quite a bit of space in their columns trying to teach parents and big brothers and sisters this new concept which is dedicated to proving that there is no such thing as the truth.

It happens that just this week we got clippings or opinions from two readers on this subject, each of which was too long to print in its entirety.

As one of the articles said; by name, there is then an "old" math; and presumably then "our" math and "your" math.

We know that there is a state of confusion that has come out of the terminology that makes it difficult to come out with a dependable answer.

Is there a possible connection with the concept presented under this new program with the new ideology that God is dead?

Contact has been made with the Sears-Roebuck Foundation for the material and information necessary for the organization of the committee to push the project of the medical center and it should be here in the next few days.

All of the committeemen will be notified when the meeting is to be held and where so they can begin their work.

Inquiries By Deer Hunters Pouring In

Since the last deer season, inquiries have been coming in to the Chamber of Commerce concerning availability of leases of deer hunting.

Ranchmen who are interested in answering these inquiries now are urged to send their names in to Dudley Harrison or J. A. Gilbreath and references will be made to all future inquiries.

The Chamber of Commerce merely acts as a clearing house for the inquiries by sending the names of ranchmen, location of ranch, whether white or black tail deer, or both, etc.

Registration Begins For Free Voting

Under the new voter registration law adopted by the Texas Legislature last week, there will be a free registration period for those who did not register this year prior to the January 31st deadline.

Mrs. Tol Murrah, Terrell County deputy tax collector-assessor, has stated that anyone who did not buy a poll tax or secure an exemption will be permitted to register free during the period March 3 through 17. Those who bought a poll tax or claimed an exemption, will be automatically registered.

Girl Scout Sunday To Be Observed

March is Girl Scout month and Sunday, March 6, is Girl Scout Sunday.

All Sanderson Girl Scouts who will be asked to meet at the local Church of Christ at 10:50 to attend the morning worship services in a body.

Each year, the Girl Scouts attend a different denomination's worship services.

Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Zuber-bueler were weekend visitors in San Angelo.

The view of Sanderson was taken from the "SHS" hill in 1911. Many of the town's landmarks may be picked out from the location of the school and courthouse. The old Presbyterian Church in the second block west of the school, the old Methodist Church just to the left of the fold, etc. There was at least one house north of the football field, and only one house around the mountain west - the house now occupied by the H. W. Johnsons. East from the wool house, two blocks, is the baseball field where McKnight Motor Co. now is, with the school directly north. The building to the right of the courthouse is the jail. The Baptist Church roof can be seen just over the roof of the school. Picture loaned by Edward Kerr.

Range Trends Up or Down?

by Darwin Schrader

Ranchers are always concerned with ways on increasing production of livestock on their range land. To produce more livestock there needs to be increased production of feed for these livestock. The increased forage production must precede the increased livestock numbers.

There are two means of producing more forage. One is to increase the size of the forage plants present. The other is to add new plants. Both of these means can be accomplished through good grass management.

A grass plant is not a machine. It is a living thing that needs food, water, air, and rest. Continuous grazing by livestock reduces the food intake of a plant because the leaves of the plant are its food factory. Close grazing reduces ground cover allowing more runoff and evaporation of precious water. Air is taken into the plant through leaves. Leaf surface removed by grazing does not help the plant to take in air. The plants need rest because continuous removal of leaf surface will kill the plant by starvation.

Grass seedlings, which can grow into large clumps of grass, are small delicate things. They are relished by livestock. The new grass plant comes from a seed so small that it may take two million to weigh one pound. These small plants are easily pulled up and killed by grazing livestock, and increased production by new plants is ended.

If rangeland is given a periodic rest from grazing livestock, old plants get a well deserved rest. If they receive sufficient water to add new leaf surface, make seed and replenish root reserves, the production in pounds of forage per plant will be increased. New seedlings protected from grazing can establish themselves as new plants ready to produce forage for livestock. A nibble saved this year may be a big grass plant next year. It takes grass to grow grass.

Mr. and Mrs. Nicky Hahn of Odessa visited here Sunday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Hahn, and returned their sons, Charles and Ricky, who had visited here for two weeks. Mrs. Nicky Hahn's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Bredemeyer, accompanied them to Sanderson.

More Changes Proposed In Constitution

Texans will have a heavier general election ballot next November than usual with the appearance of 16 proposed Constitutional amendments on the ballot.

In a public drawing in Austin, Secretary of State Crawford C. Martin drew numbers from a hat to determine the sequence in which the amendments will appear on the November 8 ballot.

At the top of the ballot, getting the Number 1 designation, is the amendment "to provide that all land owned by natural persons designated for agricultural use shall be assessed for all tax purposes on the consideration of only those factors relative to such agricultural use".

Other proposed amendments are less confusing in their texts.

Some of the others, and their number on the ballot, are:

Abolishment of the poll tax, allowing members of the Armed Forces who are residents of Texas to vote, and $200,000,000 in water development bonds.

All together, the proposals contain 14,300 words.

To help Texans understand the proposed amendments, they will be published in Texas newspapers beginning in August.

Cub Scouts Have Blue, Gold Banquet

Celebrating the 56th anniversary of Boy Scouts, the Cubs had a blue and gold banquet Tuesday evening in St. James Parish Hall. The chosen colors were noted in the decorations, centerpiece, etc. Sixty attended the banquet, the inclement weather making it impossible for the Scouts and their parents to come in from the gas plant.

Jimmie Hall was master of ceremonies. The invocation was given by Tommy Corbett, Steve Couch introduced Barton Massey, Cubmaster.

Each Scout pinned an arrow on Akela and named a highlight in United States history.

Entertainment consisted of several musical numbers by Tol Burk, Curtis Schrader and Chuck Hill playing wind instruments. A song was sung by Mrs. Ernestine Rogers' den consisting of Manuel Garcia, Darrell Cooke, Kevin Phillips, Condie Rogers, Eddie TenEyck, and Jimmy Davis.

The den mothers, Mmes. W. H. Dishman, W. C. Burk, Tom Corbett, and Rogers were introduced by Mrs. Louise Causey and they presented the awards to the boys of their den.

A silver tray inscribed "Cub Scouts, 1965-66" was presented to Mrs. Causey.

The dinner featuring barbecued chicken was catered and served by the members of the Altar Society.

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS"

By C. WILSON HARDER

The cost of waging even a minor war is going up.

For now, in addition to the expenditures required to keep a force opposing the hostiles, there is also the costs brought about by furnishing protection on the home front from those opposing military action.

Leaving aside all the learned and not so learned, discussions on the rights of protest in a democratic form of society, it is perhaps time that someone gave some serious thought to taxpayer rights.

C. W. Harder

The example of a couple of peace marches in Berkeley illustrate this situation. It is claimed that extra police forces to keep order during the second "peace" march cost local government $80,000.

This is an interesting case history. The first march was brought to a standstill by a small group of motorcycling "Hell's Angels" intimidating thousands of demonstrators. The conduct and habits of these bully boys is quite open to question, but exceeding considerations of personalities here are the principles involved.

When the second march was planned, city authorities refused to issue a permit for a parade, in order to avoid rioting, and, or, extra expense to prevent such potential rioting.

However, a Federal judge over ruled the local civic authority National Federation of Independent Business and furthermore ordered that the demonstrators be protected on the basis they would only be exercising a constitutional right to protest.

Now of course, there are some who claim that inasmuch as a Federal judge interfered in local civic affairs, Federal troops should have been brought in to preserve order, which incidentally, was perfectly kept by the local police. However, there is a substantial constitutional question involved in employing Federal armed forces in local situations. This could result in some very serious consequences.

Yet, there should be some constitutional guarantees for the local taxpayers, especially tax paying home owners.

It seems beyond all reason that if the Federal government not only takes a course of action that is objected to by some of the people, and then by word, deed and action condones and perhaps even encourages protests against that policy, local taxpayers should not be left holding the bag.

Neither is it sound for local governments to look toward Washington for money to pay these costs.

Thus, perhaps the best solution is a recognition that local safety is a local matter, and if local authorities decide a demonstration can endanger safety, their decision should be final. After all, if people wish to protest, they don't have to jam up city streets. There is plenty of wide open public lands where they can march until their arches fall flat without any costs.

Mrs. Gurley, 83, Dies Last Tuesday

Funeral services were held in Del Rio Friday afternoon for Mrs. Savannah Elizabeth Gurley, 83, who died Tuesday in a hospital in that city after an illness of six weeks. Burial was in Ozona where she lived with her parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Everett, and where she was married to Charles William Gurley in 1897.

The Gurleys ranched in Brewster County until moving to Del Rio in 1912. Mr. Gurley died in 1939.

Mrs. Gurley owned ranch land in Terrell and Val Verde County and, after her husband's death, resided on the ranch near Pumpville with her son, Bill, who was a partner in the ranch business with her. On account of failing health, she moved to Del Rio in August of 1954 to reside with her daughter, Jessie Lee Gurley. Her older son, Joe, died in 1959.

RETAIN STATE CONTROL

For more than thirty years, the individual states and the federal government have worked amicably together to provide the best equitable method of operating the unemployment compensation systems.

Now the Congress is considering legislation H.R. 8282 which would greatly revamp our national unemployment compensation program. It would shift control of unemployment benefit policies from the state legislatures to the Congress.

The proposed legislation would: 1. Establish a permanent system of federal extended benefits. 2. More than double the wage base on which the unemployment payroll tax is levied and would also increase the tax rate. 3. Set the stage for the abandonment of experience rating. 4. Establish federal benefit standards that would disrupt state laws and dictate benefit levels. 5. Force all states (after a maximum of six weeks' postponement) to pay regular benefits to people who quit their jobs voluntarily, who are fined for misconduct or who refuse suitable jobs. 6. Provide federal grants to encourage greater state spending for benefit liberalization. These proposed changes would federalize the effectively operating state unemployment compensation systems.

The added burden on the industrial community would hinder its ability to provide the necessary economic growth and new job opportunities. In fact, rather than sustain jobs it could destroy them.

WEBSTER DEFINES SHRIMP WIGGLE

"Wiggle" may sound like an unlikely name for a food specialty, but it actually is a long-time favorite. In fact, the dish is so well known that it is honored by inclusion in Webster's dictionary and defined as "a dish of creamed seafood with peas."

Where the dish and name originated is anyone's guess. One thing is certain, however. It is an excellent choice for luncheons and Sunday suppers because it is easy to prepare and combines practically a whole meal in a dish. All that's needed to complete the menu is a crisp green salad and a dessert of defrosted frozen fruit.

Shrimp Wiggle

- 1 package (1 pound) frozen shrimp
- 1 package (10 ounces) frozen peas
- 2 packages (9 ounces each) frozen shoestring potatoes
- 1/4 cup butter
- 1/4 cup flour
- 2 cups milk
- 1 teaspoon salt
- Dash pepper
- 1/8 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
- 1/4 teaspoon dry mustard

Cook shrimp, peas and potatoes, according to package directions. Drain shrimp and peas thoroughly. Keep potatoes hot until ready to serve. Melt butter in a saucepan. Remove pan from heat and blend in flour. Gradually add milk, stirring until smooth. Return to heat and cook, stirring constantly, until thickened. Add Worcestershire sauce, mustard, salt, pepper, shrimp and peas. Continue cooking until shrimp and peas are heated through. Serve on shoestring potatoes. Makes 4 servings.

If the first part of your car registration number is here, you might be a winner.

Here's how it works. Look at the first symbols (the prefix) on your vehicle identification slip. Then look at the symbols listed above. If you find yours on the list, you've taken the first step toward being a winner. Now go see your Buick dealer. He has a list of 72 winners posted in his showroom. If you see your entire vehicle identification number on the poster—the symbols plus the rest of the numbers—$2332 cash is yours. (If your prefix isn't listed in this ad, don't give up. Your numbers may have been posted during the past few weeks. And every week there are 72 new winners posted on the showroom wall. So watch for next week's list of new symbols in this newspaper.) No slogan to invent, no puzzles to solve. In fact, you don't even have to own a Buick to have a winning number. While you're in the showroom, get a good look at the Buick Special. The $2332.00* happens to be its price. *Manufacturer's suggested retail price for Special V-6, 2-dr. coupe. Price includes Federal Excise Tax and suggested dealer delivery and handling charge.

Contest Rules. Residents of Kansas, Missouri and Nebraska may, if they prefer, send in a postcard to R. L. Polk and Co., P.O. Box 1347, Detroit, Michigan 48231 and receive the weekly list of winning numbers by mail for comparison with their own vehicle identification number. An official entry form will be included. Sweepstakes limited to persons over 21 living in the continental U.S. Not valid in Florida or states where prohibited by law.

 The glory of the universe—from the smallest blade of grass to the planets and stars millions of miles away—all testify to the wondrous design of a loving Creator. The snow and cold weather of a couple of weeks back sure did a lot of damage to some of the goat and sheep herds of the county, causing the loss of numerous animals by freezing.
 The moisture was beneficial to the plants, but the harm done to the animals could offset that.

Another milestone was reached last week on the railroad by the cancellation of Pullman service on the trains running through Sanderson.

It is the consensus of all who are in a position to know that it will not be long before passenger service will be discontinued.

If you like to cook but hate to clean...

You'll love the cleanliness of electric cooking

When you cook electrically, you'll have fewer tedious clean-up chores. Electric heat is flameless and produces no fuel grime. And because the electric oven requires no oxygen to support combustion, there's no flow of air into and out of it, carrying greasy cooking vapors into your kitchen. Woodwork, walls and curtains stay fresh-looking longer . . . need cleaning less often. Pots and pans stay shiny with less scouring, too. See the new flameless electric ranges at your dealer's soon. You'll love 'em!
