FCC Invitational Golf Tourney This Weekend

The second annual Friona Invitational golf tournament will be held Saturday and Sunday at Friona Country Club, preceded by a pro-am meet on Friday. Friona pro Joe Coronado says he expects to have a much larger field than competed in the tournament last year. At the first annual meet, Friona was competing with a tourney the same date at Pampa. This year the scheduling "bugs" were worked out, and there isn't another tournament in the area.

"All the local golfers should be able to participate in this one," Coronado said. "Most can't get off to play in out-of-town tournaments, but they shouldn't have an excuse to miss their home tourney."

The tournament will be without its defending champion, Jack Bowman, who was at Clovis, N.M., won last year's meet, but he since has moved, and isn't expected to enter. Several out-of-town golfers have already signed up. "Last year at this time, we didn't have any entries," Coronado said. Golfers are expected from throughout the area, including Muleshoe, Clovis, Cannon Air Force Base, Hereford, Olton and many other places.

Congratulations to the Friona Junior Chamber of Commerce on a fine quarter horse show last weekend. They had as fine a show as you'll see anywhere, right in "our own backyard."

Those who missed last Saturday's show will want to go out for the Appaloosa show this week. The "spotted horses" should make for quite a show.

We were commenting on the number of entries in last week's show to one of the local entrants. He pointed out that in many ways a show such as Friona puts on is more appealing to horse owners than the larger shows.

At a larger show, which runs at least two days, the owner may have to be out the expense of staying overnight a couple of times, plus regular expenses while in town.

"In our show, the owners can drive in that morning, have a nice show, and drive home the same day, with their only expense being gas to and from the show, and their meal or meals while here," our conversationalist said. Perhaps that's why Friona's show is growing.

We were kidding one of the Jaycee wives because they ran out of material for "Sloppy Joe" sandwiches even before the noon break at last Saturday's show. We'll throw the barb at the rest of the gals -- anytime we give you a mention in the Star like we did last week, heck, girls, be prepared for a stampede.

While we're on the subject of "everyone reads the Star," we're reminded that Ed Young of Glover, Graham and Brown Accountants found his lost dog a couple of weeks back after an appeal was made in the Star. The day the paper came out, Ed called us his thanks.

"I'm back in good faith with the human race," was Ed's comment.

M. A. Black, who lives north of town, came in this week to re-issue a plea that no one use his lake for fishing purposes. Black pointed out that cattle wade out into the lake, and they can be hurt by hooks and lines that are left in the lake.

Black said that he made it a strict policy that no one fish in the lake, and said he would start enforcing it if necessary.

"To those people who are going to ignore my request and out trout lines in the lake anyway, I have one thing to say: please put out some better line; I have all the cheap lines and hooks I need," Black concluded.

Do it yourself department: A week or so ago I called Boss Lion Flake Barber complaining that Friona Lions Club's delegate to the crippled children's camp at Kerrville got away without my getting a picture, and made it clear I wanted to get something when he returned.

Now, Barber appoints me a committee of one to go to Kerrville and drive the boy, Pedro

FHS BAND DIRECTOR

Lowell Bynum Gives Resignation

Friona High School's band director for the past three years, Lowell Bynum, resigned this week to accept the position of principal of the Cooper Elementary School south of Lubbock.

At the Cooper school, which is located in Woodrow, Bynum will be administrator of the first five grades, which has approximately 400 students, and 14 teachers.

"Naturally we hate to see Mr. Bynum go," said Friona Superintendent of Schools Alton Farr. "He has done a fine job for us. However, since he feels that he wants to get into the administrative side of the profession, we can't do anything but wish him well," Farr continued.

Bynum, a graduate of McMurry College in 1955, is to receive his Master of Education degree at West Texas State University August 22. One of his considerations in taking the job near Lubbock was that he would be near Texas Tech, where he could do work toward a doctor's degree.

"It has been a real pleasure working in Friona the past three years. I certainly appreciate the support the administration, school board and community have given the band program while I was band director," Bynum stated.

Bynum came to Friona from White Deer in 1960. Since he took over the directorship, the band membership increased from 68 to 100. Bynum has been active in the Friona Methodist Church, where he was choir director, and also has been a member of the Lions Club.

Members of the board are O. F. Lange, chairman, Mac Baimum, and C. L. Lillard. Bert Shackelford was named alternate. Notices to taxpayers were mailed on July 27.

Contract Awarded For Widening Of U.S. 84

Contract has been awarded for construction of the first four-lane divided highway in Parmer County. It was announced in Austin this week.

The road to be constructed is 10.21 miles on U. S. Highway 70-84 from Farwell southeast to the county line. This highway is generally considered not only the worst in the county, but possibly the poorest federally-designated highway in the district.

Low bidder on the project was James C. Kerr Construction Company of Lubbock, with a bid of $829,996. Two additional lanes are to be constructed, and the two existing lanes will be rebuilt. Method and means which the project will take were not announced.

"I plan to call a pre-construction meeting in a week or two, at which time we will announce details about the project which the public will be interested in," said Rhea Bradley, Littlefield, who as resident engineer will be in active charge of the project while it is under construction.

Bradley said that while all plans are as yet immature, he believed that actual construction would get underway soon after September 1.

Parmer County and the State of Texas first entered into contract to provide right of way for widening the road on December 10, 1958. The county provided its share of right of way on the 50-50 arrangement, and by November of 1962, all utility adjustments had been made, including moving of power line poles and irrigation wells.

The resident engineer reported that progress toward having a four-lane highway all the way from Farwell to Lubbock is being made, although to the casual observer it may not appear so.

The state appraiser is currently in the process of appraising the right-of-way from Muleshoe to the Parmer County line, preliminary to purchasing of right-of-way for that 10-mile stretch. His report must be approved before the purchase can begin.

This section will connect with the Parmer County segment of the highway, and may wind up being the final section widened between Farwell and Lubbock.

"That section is the only one between Farwell and Shallow-water where right-of-way has not been purchased," Bradley stated. He added that he understood that Lubbock County was in the process of obtaining

TAX RATE SAME

Budget Of $191,524 Recommended For City

An annual budget of $191,524 for the City of Friona for the fiscal year 1963-64 will be recommended to the Friona City Council at its regular monthly meeting Monday at 8 p.m. according to City Manager A. L. (Jake) Outland.

This will be an increase of $22,440 over the past year's budget of $169,084.

"The public is invited to attend the meeting if they wish, and sit in on our discussion of the city's budget for the coming fiscal year," Outland said. The drawing up of the budget has demanded a major portion of the time of the city's administrative staff recently.

"We are recommending that the city tax rate remain the same, which is $1.30 per $100 evaluation," Outland stated. The total assessed evaluation of Friona's taxable property this year is $5,506,900, which would produce a tax levy of $71,590.

These figures compare to last year's total evaluation of $5,131,116, and a tax levy of $66,704.

Included among the capital outlay items in the 1963-64 budget are the possibilities of the following: a posting-billing machine for the city's administrative department; additional storage room in the fire department; a new patrol car for the police department; additional intersection street signs; intersection paving, curb and gutter installations for six additional blocks of paving in the Drake addition; renovation of the old water tower and ground storage tank, including painting inside and out; a new pick-up truck for the water department; and Cyclone fences at the new water tower and maintenance barn.

In addition to these items, the budget includes provisions for new water meters, pipes and fire hydrants for the normal expansion of the city.

AFS Fund Grows; Student Due Soon

The Foreign Exchange student fund, under the sponsorship of the Friona American Field Service chapter, had grown to $560 as of Tuesday afternoon this week, according to Andy Hurst, local president.

"We still need about $440 to put us over the top, and if citizens will remember the amount of good will which can be brought about by the $1,000, then we would have no trouble raising it," Hurst said.

It was pointed out that the exchange student for 1963-64, Nergis Yazgan of Turkey, will probably arrive in Friona next week, since she is due in New York Sunday.

Hurst said he appreciated the support to the local AFS chapter. "It is virtually impossible to list all who have contributed to the program, since many give through organizations," he said. However, he listed the following who have contributed: Ethridge - Spring Agency, Friona Woman's Club, Calvary Baptist Church, Friona Methodist Church, Friona Home Demonstration Club, Black Home Demonstration Club, Modern Study Club, Hub Home Demonstration Club, Friona Wheat Growers, Friona High School Future Homemakers, FHS Student Council, Friona Lions Club, FHS Senior Class, Junior class, eighth grade class, Future Nurses Club, Friona State Bank, Chamber of Commerce, Friona Federal Credit Union, Friona Masonic Lodge, Rainbow Girls.

Hurst pointed out that other individuals and firms contribute services, such as Mary Lou's Beauty Shop, which provided hair dressing for Eve Braunschweiger, and Patti's Beauty Shop, which did the same for Anni Jensen. The city's two cleaning establishments, Reed's and Gib's, donated cleaning, and Ethridge-Spring Agency sponsored Eve as Maize queen candidate and featured her on their float.

Bible Lectures Begin Tomorrow

First in a series of lectures to be conducted at the Church of Christ at Tenth and Euclid in Friona will begin Friday evening at 8 with an introduction to the Book of Revelation.

Succeeding discourses by P. C. Key, Bryan, Texas will be conducted each evening at the same time and on Sunday mornings at 10:30 through August 18.

Elders and members of the congregation invite all residents of the area to attend these services.

THERE'S STILL TIME . . . This is the reminder being made this week by Jill Riethmayer, left, and Denise Buske, to children who haven't as yet participated in the summer reading club, and receive a certificate for reading 12 books this summer.

Appaloosa Show Takes Spotlight On Saturday

For the second Saturday in a row, there will be a horse show in Friona, sponsored by the Friona Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Encouraged by their most successful quarter horse show on record the past week, the Jaycees are staging their first Appaloosa show.

Virgil Phipps will be ringmaster for the show. Mrs. Robert Zetzsche will be the secretary.

Not having held an Appaloosa show previously, the club doesn't know how many horses to expect, but judging from the success of the show held at Bovina the past spring, there could be as many as 100 horses Saturday.

Entries are expected from all around the High Plains, including New Mexico and Oklahoma, with possible entries from Kansas and Colorado.

There is a possibility that one of the princesses of the National Appaloosa Show will attend Saturday's show.

A total of 16 classes will be judged in the halter division, similar to last week's quarter horse show. Stallions will be shown from 1963, 1962, 1961, 1960, 1959 and before and grand champion. Mares will be shown along the same line.

Geldings will have four classes; foals of 1961-62-63 making up one class; those of 1959 and 1960 another and 1958 and before as a third. The grand champion judging will account for the fourth class.

Trophies will be awarded to first place winners in each class. Ribbons will be awarded second through sixth place. Performance contests will be held for junior reining, senior reining, western pleasure, pole bending and barrel racing. There will also be a cutting contest.

Horses from Plainview, Hereford and Muleshoe were judged grand champions at the third annual Friona Junior Chamber of Commerce Quarter Horse Show last Saturday.

A record 142 entries made the show the largest in its three-year history.

A stallion owned by A. L. Cobb of Plainview was the grand champion stallion, Jack Renfro of Hereford entered the grand champion mare, and Bob Waide of Muleshoe had the grand champion gelding.

Lubbock horses won reserve championships in two divisions. The Queen Sabe Ranch entry, Bar's Choice, which was second in the 1961 stallion class to Cobb's grand champion, was the reserve champion stallion.

Lady Aledo Bar, owned by Mary Anne Parris of Lubbock, was the reserve champion mare. Taking reserve champion honors in the gelding division was a horse owned by Lee Ross Hammond of Clovis, N.M.

Perhaps the best showing of the day was by another Clovis resident, Heber Stewart, who won the 1963 stallion class trophy, 1959 and older stallions; 1961-62-63 geldings and mare and foal.

Some local entries managed to place against the excellent regional field, both in number and quality. Johnny Hand entered the second-place mare in the 1960 class. A stallion owned by Mrs. Claude Osborn was third in the 1963 class, and N. E. Woods' stallion was fourth. A mare owned by M. C. Osborn was fifth in the 1959 and older class, and Dewayne Ridley's entry in 1959 and 1960 geldings was fourth.

Performance classes and cutting contests were also conducted. Walter Merrick of Crawford, Oklahoma was the judge of the show.

Winners, by class, included: Stallions, 1963 Heber Stewart, Clovis; 1962 -- Cecil Gillispie, Shamrock; 1961 -- A. L. Cobb, Plainview; 1960 --

Jack Strawn, Summerfield; 1959 and before -- Stewart. Mares, 1963--C. C. Jones, Flomot; 1962--Mary Anne Parris, Lubbock; 1961--Miss Parris; 1960--Doyle Knight, Lubbock; 1959 and before--Jack Renfro, Hereford.

Geldings, 1961-1962-1963 -- Heber Stewart, Clovis; 1959 and 1960 -- Lee Ross Hammond, Jr., Clovis; 1958 and before -- Bob Waide, Muleshoe.

Mare and foal -- (1) Heber Stewart, Clovis; (2) Ernie B. Lokey, Amarillo; (3) C. C. Jones, Flomot; (4) A. B. and A. C. Swift, Amarillo; (5) C. C. Jones; (6) Gene Lewis, Muleshoe.

right-of-way for widening the road from Shallowater to Lubbock.

Meanwhile, highway's four-lane section has extended southeast of Littlefield, and is almost completed to Shallowater. Bradley said that the contractor for constructing the three-mile by-pass of Littlefield should be let in the not-too-distant future, and that construction would probably be done next year.

Also, he said a contract was due to be let in December on the re-paving of two lanes of the four-lane portion from Muleshoe east to the Lamb County line. An additional two lanes were constructed for this section several years ago, but the original two lanes were left, until funds for their repaving could be made available.

"This seems to be an awfully slow business, I suppose it is. But when you consider that the state is spending almost a million dollars on the Parmer County project alone, you have to consider that decisions of that proportion are not made overnight," Bradley concluded.

It's time again for that first sunburn of the season. Here's how to do it. Go to the beach or pool on the first hot day. Stay all day in the sun in your swim suit, particularly through the noon hour, when the rays are most penetrating. Don't bother with protective lotions. It really is very easy to get a painful, almost crippling burn. If you stay out long enough, you can even get a deep third-degree burn.

He didn't insure his car through an independent agent

He thought he had enough insurance. But nobody told him how much was enough. Result? He was sued for many thousands of dollars more than his coverage.

Could this happen to you? Not if you insure through an independent insurance agent. He knows what judges and juries frequently award. Also, an independent agent is free to analyze your needs, tell you how much insurance you should carry, which company to use, and why. If you have a claim—or there's a claim against you—he's at your side to help.

We are independent insurance agents. We'll be happy to give you all the facts on complete insurance protection for car, home, or business.

Love
I Cor. 13:13
"The greatest thing," says someone, "a man can do for his heavenly Father is to be kind to some of his other children."
I wonder why it is that we are not all kinder than we are?
How much the world needs it.
How easily it is done.
How instantaneously it acts.
How infallible it is remembered.
How super abundantly it pays itself back, for there is no debtor in the world so honorable so superbly honorable as love.
"Love never falleth."
Love is success.
Love is happiness.
Love is life.
"Love I say," Browning, "is the energy of life."

Frionans Vacation In Mountain Areas

A number of Friona residents are home after vacations in the mountainous areas of Northern New Mexico and Colorado. Mr. and Mrs. Estis Beaton and Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Williams and son, Fred, spent several days at Lake City, South Fork and Creede, Colo.

Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Maynard and son, Don, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Stovall and daughter, Sheryl, of Rochester, spent several days last week camping in the Santa Fe, Taos and Red River area and in Bandelera National Park.

Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Gee, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Truitt and Larry, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Young, Kim and Janet, Mr. and Mrs. James W. Cunningham, Janice and Joe and Mr. and Mrs. Louis Welch and children chose Red River and other points in that area of Northern New Mexico for vacation spots.

THESE FARMER COUNTY 4-H'ers were part of 150 from District 1 who attended 4-H Electric Camp last week, sponsored by Southwestern Public Service Company, at Scott Able, 29 miles southeast of Cloudcroft, N.M., 9,500 feet high in Sacramento mountains. Research Foundation Tells Of Sorghum Midge Danger

"You'll miss dollars if you miss the Poultry Industry Exposition, August 13-15 in Fort Worth," is the word from Exposition officials. The Texas Poultry Improvement Association, Texas Turkey Federation, Texas Broiler Council, Texas Egg Council and 40 commercial exhibitors are working together to make this year's affair the best in its long history of service to the state's poultry industry. Hotel Texas will be Exposition headquarters.

Improperly and handling one skillfully may be as much as $13.50 per bale or more, points out E. G. Reeves, extension ginning and mechanization specialist. Driving the picker off-center on a row, for example, often results in skinning off pieces of bark from the cotton plants and this can result in the loss of a grade. Bark is hard to remove from the cotton at the gin and a "barky" sample will be downgraded, Reeves says.

The difference between operating a mechanical cotton picker

An experimental cotton boll separator, an attachment for stripper harvesters, could mean an improved cotton crop and earlier harvesting for the High Plains, reports the U. S. Department of Agriculture. The attachment was developed by USDA scientists in cooperation with the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station at Lubbock. The attachment has successfully removed immature cotton bolls from the mature bolls, thus solving a problem that has long complicated early harvesting.

Friona Labor Association Growing By Leaps And Bounds

Friona's Golden Spread Labor Association is growing by leaps and bounds, according to officials of the association. Or as manager Pete Davies puts it "These careless weeds in Farmer County are growing, but we're growing faster."

Currently, the Friona labor association has 470 Mexican Nationals on contract. Another 50 is expected by the end of the week, running the total past the 500 mark. This number has steadily increased since the association was opened. At the first of last month, there were 150 hands under contract.

It was estimated that the payroll for the Golden Spread Labor Association for the first week in August would run around $17,000, which has increased from the payroll of $6,000 per week the association reported the first part of July. "Our main problem as a new company is that we have to meet our payroll every week, and the farmers who use the braceros are used to paying their bills monthly," Davies said. He added that it would be a tremendous boost if the farmers would pay their bills weekly as they are received.

Friona, which didn't even have an association of its own before this year, now finds itself an "exporter" of labor, since about half of the braceros under contract are being used in the vegetable harvest around Hereford.

The braceros are used extensively in the harvesting of potatoes, lettuce, carrots and onions. In addition, there are approximately 200 acres of cucumbers.

Also, there is a large demand for hoe-hands this summer, with cotton and grain fields in the area heavily infested with weeds.

The current agreement with Mexico for the use of braceros in the United States expires

December 31, but this isn't worrying the officials of the Golden Spread Labor Association. "From all our contacts with the U. S. Labor Department, they are confident that the program will be extended past the December 31 expiration date," Davies says.

The program was defeated in congress earlier this year, but the House of Representatives has since passed a one-year extension of the bill, and the Senate Agricultural Committee has passed the bill and it awaits further action on the Senate floor.

However, the association is awaiting final outcome in congress before going ahead with its plans for permanent housing for its headquarters in Friona. At present, it is operating out of the old Phillips "66" service station at North Main and 11th Street (Highway 60) in Friona.

"Many farmers in the area are taking the braceros to their farms and providing housing for them," Davies points out.

Europe's "Chicken War" Hurts Texas Producers

Western Europe's Common Market has given a "thumbs down" sign to U. S. poultry and the repercussions are being felt in the broiler producing areas of Texas.

The "chicken war" began when the Common Market inaugurated high tariffs against imported broilers as a protection to its own fledgling broiler industry in West Germany and other countries. When the market outlet in Europe dried up from the excessive tariff, the U. S. broiler industry lost some $50 million worth of trade a year. The big production areas of East and South Texas were immediately caught in the backwash of the tariff decision.

The first effect was a near "glut" of the domestic poultry market since growers were not able to quickly cutback production. But the long range prospect is even more ominous -- not only in poultry but in many other fields of agriculture.

This nation normally exports some $1.2 billion worth of farm commodities to the European member nations. A gradual increase in tariffs could choke off market outlets for other goods the same as has been done against chickens. Although poultry is the first Texas commodity to be affected, our cotton market could also lose in an all-out tariff war. Much of the Texas cotton production leaves the ports of Galveston and Houston each year for Europe. Rice and feed grain also depend on Common Market outlets.

It is hoped that the poultry war is an isolated incident. But agricultural officials are keeping a close watch on the EEC to anticipate any regressive trade measures. The Common Market has been, and still is, one of Texas' major farm goods outlets. It can continue to be a great boon for Texas provided it does not become a "protective society" prohibiting imports from the United States.

Water Depletion Case Is Appealed By Government

Attorneys for the High Plains Underground Water Conservation District have been advised that the water depletion case, styled Marvin Shurbet ET Ux vs. United States of America, was appealed by the government on July 22.

The appeal is from a judgment rendered in May 1963 by Judge Joseph B. Dooley of the U. S. District Court for the Northern District of Texas, sustaining Shurbet's claim for a federal income-tax refund. The case will now go before the 5th Circuit Court of Appeals in New Orleans, Louisiana.

The claim for refund is based on a cost depletion deduction for ground water depleted while irrigating agricultural crops.

The suit is a test case, and is sponsored by the High Plains Water District in an effort to obtain a federal income-tax deduction for all owners of ground water in the southern High Plains of Texas who can show a cost in the ground water that is depleted in the production of income.

There is no indication at this time when the case will be heard by the Court in New Orleans.

Holly Plant Construction Proceeding "On Schedule"

A progress report on construction of Holly Sugar Corporation's new $21,000,000 beet sugar factory at Hereford, was issued in Colorado Springs this week by President Dennis O'Rourke, who indicated that work thus far is proceeding on schedule.

Steel erection on the main building of the sprawling factory complex, which is being built on an 1,800-acre tract of land southwest of the West Texas community of Hereford, started at mid-July and is scheduled for completion in late September.

Meantime, a great deal of less spectacular work has been done. Rail spurs of the Santa Fe Railroad have been completed from the main line onto the Holly property, including an overpass across Highway 60. This enables shipment onto the construction site of heavy materials and equipment.

Several warehouse structures for sugar, dried beet pulp used as a livestock feed, bags and supplies, as well as the office building and laboratory, tare laboratory and the sacking and liquid sugar melting buildings are progressing rapidly toward completion. Foundations for the boiler house and power house are now going in, the company head reported.

Permanent roads and parking areas have been graded and rolled, and the property has been fenced.

"Work on the main building is being pushed so that it can be enclosed before winter and thus provide for continuation of interior work, including installation of equipment, during the winter months," Mr. O'Rourke said.

The Holly chieftain said that the work schedule toward a target completion in time to process the 1964 sugar beet crop, is a tight one.

"It is necessary that every effort be exerted if this new facility is to be in operation in 1964," he said, adding: "This new facility will be an important addition to the nation's productive ability in sugar, and at a time when such expansion is particularly needed to help assure adequate supplies for increasing domestic requirements."

The progress report stated that excavations have been started for the foundations of the concrete bulk sugar storage bins, which will be about 200 feet tall and are designed to contain 60,000,000 pounds of sugar.

Shipments of specialized factory equipment already have begun to reach the plant site, and Mr. O'Rourke said engineers in charge of construction reported that orders have been placed for all major items of equipment, some of which require many months for fabricating to specifications for this big sugar plant, one of the largest in the world.

More than 175 men are now on the job. Four sub-contractors are at work on electrical wiring, foundations, brick work and steel structures.

"Much of the early work is not visible to the casual observer," Mr. O'Rourke said today. "This includes underground piping, electrical conduits, the sewer system, foundations, and so forth. The work is now reaching stages in which day-by-day progress can be noted on many of the structures," he added.

With construction now at a high pace, Holly already is building its local staff at Hereford. D. W. Lillie has been stationed at Hereford as Manager, Hereford District. Wesley S. Fisher has been assigned as Assistant Manager for the district. The Manager has a staff of five Agricultural Fieldmen who are working on plans for the 1964 sugar beet crop. Agricultural Fieldmen include Bill Askman, David H. Eddington, Robert L. Williamson, Robert F. Willmot, and J. F. Cavassa. A sixth Fieldman will be added to the staff in the near future.

Project Engineer in charge of construction for the H. K. Ferguson Company, general contractors on the huge construction project, is Bill Reid, assisted by a staff of Ferguson engineers and other construction specialists.

Holly also has several of its engineers on the site. Representing the company's accounting department at Hereford is Gene Parsley.

The Plant Superintendent will be appointed in the near future and key operating employees will be transferred in from various Holly plants soon after the first of the year.

President O'Rourke said that reports indicate good progress for this year's limited sugar beet crop in the area, including numerous test plots which were planted last spring on several farms in the district.

"It is our full expectation that the Hereford district will become one of the models in the beet sugar industry in the world, agriculturally and in the factory operations," the Holly chieftain stated. "The processing plant will be highly automated and will incorporate the latest and most efficient machinery and equipment available."

Production of sugar at the Hereford facility, when optimum conditions are reached, is expected to be as much as 200,000,000 pounds of sugar annually. Initially, it was pointed out, production is not planned for peak capacity.

There will be a necessary period during which production is limited while the highly complicated facility is adjusted to its full capabilities. The plant will make available to livestock feeders a large quantity of molasses and dried beet pulp. The facility will serve sugar beet growers in West Texas and, to a limited extent, farmers located in the vicinity of Clovis, New Mexico.

Holly also plans, according to Mr. O'Rourke, construction of a livestock feed lot adjacent to the plant which will have a capacity of about 7,500 head of cattle.

The big sugar mill will have a capacity of 6,000 tons of beets per day. This means that quantity of beets can be sliced and processed in a 24-hour period. About two-thirds of the total will go through the full process from beet to sugar, while the remaining one-third will be processed to the thick juice stage, with the juice stored in huge tanks and later processed after the slicing campaign has been completed. This latter system is one designed and developed by Holly and proven in use at the firm's big Carlton plant in the Imperial Valley of California. The storage tanks for the thick juice, along with a number of other structures at the Hereford factory promise to become well-known landmarks in West Texas.

Coinciding with Mr. O'Rourke's progress report, Holly Sugar released the first pictorial evidence of what the factory facilities at Hereford will look like upon completion. An artist's conception showed a surprising complex of buildings, warehouses and other structures.

Asked about visits to the construction site, Mr. O'Rourke said that during construction because of safety factors and the need to press construction forward in order to meet schedules the Company has had to adopt a policy strictly limiting such visits.

"At the appropriate time, we plan to hold open house and later we shall conduct tours for visitors when the plant is in operation," the head of one of America's largest beet sugar producers explained.

The Hereford factory, to be known as the Merrill E. Shoup plant in honor of the Chairman of Holly's Board of Directors, will be the first beet sugar processing facility in Texas and will be the state's only source of home produced sugar, from farm through factory.

Actual construction at the factory site began during April. Mr. O'Rourke recalled, following many months of preparatory work, including engineering studies, design and planning, acquisition of land and work with local farmers and others.

THIS IS AN artist's drawing of Holly Sugar Corporation's Merrill E. Shoup Plant, a $21,000,000 beet sugar processing facility now under construction at Hereford. Painting shows sugar beet piles at extreme left. Main building of plant and six bulk sugar storage bins with capacity of 60,000,000 pounds of sugar are to right of center. Sugar sacking building, sugar warehouse and molasses storage tanks are shown to right of bulk bins. Three structures with steep pitched roofs at center rear are storage warehouses for sugar beet pulp. Tanks behind bulk bins are for thick juice storage, an important part of unique system developed and pioneered by Holly Sugar as means of increasing plant capacity. Factory complex is located on 1,800-acre tract southwest of Hereford.

George W. Cossairt

Hereford Plant Boss Named By Holly Sugar Corporation

Appointment of George W. Cossairt, 45, as Plant Superintendent of Holly Sugar Corporation's Merrill E. Shoup Plant now under construction at Hereford, Texas, was announced here today by President Dennis O'Rourke.

Cossairt is being transferred to Hereford from Brawley, Calif., where he has served as Superintendent of the company's Carlton Plant since Jan. 1, 1957. The new operating chief at Hereford is a native of California, was educated in public schools there, attended Santa Ana Junior College and in 1941 received a B. E. degree in Chemical Engineering at University of Southern California.

Prior to completing his college work, Cossairt had worked part-time at Holly's sugar beet processing plant at Santa Ana, Calif., beginning in 1935. Following graduation from U.S.C., he entered the Army and served for three years as a First Sergeant, Chemical Warfare Service.

From the Army, Cossairt returned to Holly and worked at several assignments in the company's plants at Alvarado and Tracy, Calif., becoming Chief Chemist at the latter plant in 1949. From Tracy, he went to the Holly factory at Hamilton City, Calif., where he spent one year as assistant superintendent, followed by three years in the same position at Alvarado. He was transferred from Alvarado to the Carlton Plant to take charge of operations at Holly's newest and biggest production center.

Agronomist Verifies Early Grain Damage By Weather

Billy C. Gunter, area agronomist with the Extension Service, Lubbock, verified in a letter to County Agent Deryl Coker that early grain sorghum damage reported in the county was environmental rather than midge-infested.

Gunter said in his letter "Several of you have called this past week concerning blasting in newly emerged grain sorghum heads. Dr. Lee Coffey was in the area last week and made the following comments about the blasting:

"The blasting observed last week in Parmer, Hale and Bailey counties was strictly environmental and no midge or sterility damage was noted. "The damage could have been caused by higher than average temperatures during late April and early May. At least these same symptoms can be reproduced by planting in College Station in July in the Rio Grande Valley in early August.

"The blasted heads observed last week did not have glumes or male or female parts. Occasionally heads damaged like this will have glumes but not male and female parts.

"If you will check the heads before they emerge from the boot, you will notice the blasted florets are very small and deformed. They dry up soon after the head emerges.

"Apparently the blasting is brought about during the first three weeks after emergence when the embryo head is being formed. All of the blasted fields observed in these three counties were quite short to be in full bloom. This also indicates high temperatures."

Several people in the county have reported screwworms, but few have sent in a sample. It is very important that a sample be sent in. If we expect to receive any male sterile flies. There has been a great deal of money spent on this program and it is up to all of us to see that it goes over. Connie O'Brien has brought in some worms found in a sheep, and they have been sent off.

If you should find any worms, take out the worms from the deepest part of the wound and bring to my office.

People are still asking a lot of questions on how to locate the sorghum midge.

The best time to see if midge are present is early in the morning. At this time of day, you should see them if they are present in the adult form. It's close to the time for farmers to file refund claims for Federal Excise Tax on gasoline. Filing time is July 1 to September 30, 1963.

Any farmer, owner, tenant, or operator who buys gasoline for use on a farm is eligible to claim the tax refund.

If a farm is operated by a partner, the claim should be made in the name of the partnership and signed by a member. If a farmer dies before filing claim for gasoline tax refund, his refund may be claimed by a legal representative of his estate.

You may also claim a refund on gasoline used on your farm by a neighbor of custom operator who performs services for you, such as cultivating, raising or harvesting a crop, or feeding and caring for livestock. You cannot claim a refund on tax paid for gasoline used by you for custom work on another farm.

Claims should be filed on Internal Revenue Service Form 2240. If you do not have one, a supply is available in the County Extension office.

Wheat Allotments Haven't Changed, Mills Points Out

Prentice Mills, office manager of the Farmer County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) said this week that a number of people have told him that they did not know what the wheat acreage allotment is on their farm for 1964 since marketing quotas were voted down in the referendum May 22.

"Of course, the vote in the referendum had no effect on the 1964 wheat allotment for the farm," Mills said. "Each farm operator was mailed, prior to the referendum date, a notice advising him of the wheat allotment on his farm for 1964. The action taken by those voting in the referendum did not add anything to the wheat acreage allotment for 1964, nor did it take anything from it," he added.

The allotment for 1964 is approximately ten per cent less than it was for 1963.

"Of course, in the absence of marketing quotas, a farm operator may plant as many acres of wheat as he desires to without any cash penalty, however, any overplanting would result in a reduction of history credit for future allotments and wheat produced on a farm having excess acres will not be eligible for price support," Mills warned.

Mills stated that extremely good progress has been made in measuring acreage this summer by the ASCS. "This, we believe, is due primarily to the fact that the people on the farms in the county have been very cooperative and have assisted greatly in expediting this work," he said.

Farmers who have not received a notice of the measurements on their farms will probably get it within the next week, Mills stated. "We suggest that the farmers study the notice very carefully. If there is a question about it, they should contact us within fifteen days from the date of the notice. We hope that someone in the office will be able to explain it," Mills concluded.

Farmers, Ranchers Add Much To State's Economy

Texas farmers and ranchmen are continuing to contribute mightily to the general economic welfare of their state and nation. They are big spenders on main street, points out John McHaney, extension economist, despite the fact their numbers are decreasing. Their purchases of production and consumer items continue to increase and are a determining factor in many counties for business conditions.

On an annual basis, Texas farmers and ranchmen spend about $1,848,000,000 in their operations. Included is 449 million dollars for hired labor and machine hire; 398 million for seed, feed, plants, fertilizer and lime; 310 million for livestock bought and livestock expenses; 301 million for machinery purchased and for repairs and maintenance; 119 million for petroleum products; 67 million for construction materials; 57 million for miscellaneous crop expenses and 147 million for other expenses including interest and insurance.

Emphasizing the importance of agricultural spending, McHaney points out that three-fourths of all the manufacturing in the state is confined to about six percent of the counties. Also, that in 208 counties more workers are hired on farms and ranches than in manufacturing and in 215 counties the value of agricultural production exceeds that of manufacturing.

Many businesses in our towns and cities are existing wholly or in part on agri-business and their employees spend their money for various consumer items which give a multiplying effect on main street.

Farmers and ranchmen, McHaney explains, because of the cost-price squeeze and the need for more efficient production, have used machines to replace high cost labor whenever possible. Tractors, trucks, combines, cotton picking machines and strippers, corn pickers, pick-up hay balers, home freezers, telephones, electrical equipment of many kinds, milking machines and much other machinery have become standard equipment during the past 20 years. Costs of these and other items, along with labor, have kept main street spending on the increase. McHaney says, don't take agriculture for granted for it means too much to the total economy of Texas.

Booklet Describes Feeding Potential In The State

Texas, long known for the production of both feeder cattle and feed grains, may soon begin combining the two into a new industry for the state.

There are many areas of the state that have for some time produced a surplus of feed grain, says MP-626. "Demand for Feed Grain by Livestock in Texas." The new bulletin of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station points out that some of these areas are now becoming centers of feeding operations.

The publication is described as an analysis of production and consumption conditions existing in local areas and should serve as a basis for evaluating feeding potentials in these areas. It explains, however, that a large amount of grain is not the only factor that determines if cattle feeding will be profitable.

Evidence is disclosed in the publication that grain is shipped out of some areas during the harvest season and other feed grain shipped back in when feed demands arise. The unnecessary transportation costs thus created add to the expenses of the buyer and the seller of the feed, it says.

In addition to transportation costs and feed quantities, factors that affect profitable feeding operations are the competitive location to meat processing plants and meat markets, and the manager's capabilities.

MP-626 analyzes the state feed grain situation by districts and indicates that some districts are deficit producers of grain while others produce a surplus. The study covered the years 1949, 1954 and 1959.

Copies of the publication are available from the Agricultural Information Office, College Station, Texas.

Governor Overhaul May Curb Tractor Expenses

Overhauling a tractor's governor may save farmers as much as $48 a year, says Henry O'Neal, extension agricultural engineer, Texas A&M College. In a study of 50 farm tract-ors at Kansas State University, it was found that 40 of these tractors had faulty governors and did not maintain proper engine speeds. Of the 40, only 10 could be corrected by governor adjustment while the other 30 required a complete overhaul of the governor. The 10 tractors with governors that could be corrected showed an overall maximum horsepower increase of 9.1 per cent and a fuel consumption decrease of 4.8 per cent after the adjust-

NEWS FROM THE FARM BUREAU

BY RAYMOND EULER

Directors will have heard Harry Hamilton's report on the annual Farm Bureau training institute by the time you read this. He was to report to the directors in regular session Monday night of this week.

Membership in Farmer County Farm Bureau is just fifteen above the same date a year ago, according to Frank Hinkson, vice president and membership chairman. We don't by any means know why a farmer either joins or quits Farm Bureau in every case. We do know that some have quit, and others have joined this year, because of Farm Bureau's stand on the wheat referendum, which is further proof that all farmers don't have the same ideas about all things affecting their business.

We also know, that officers, directors and others actively interested in FB activities are interested in knowing what makes a man join, and what makes another quit, under the same circumstances; and they appreciate being told by those who leave, so they will have a better insight into the desires of the majority of farmers. Seems that just dropping out abruptly is a little like leaving the home of a friend after a visit without saying "goodbye."

The one thing we are particularly happy about is that membership is completely voluntary. We would not care to be associated with a farm organization that got its dues by any method of check-off from dividends or otherwise. When a man writes a check for membership in any organization, you can be sure he has at least some confidence in it.

It is not believed that subsidies on farm products has much if any effect on the consumer price of processed food stuffs or fibers. It does, however, seem that subsidies, by manipulation of markets, do affect the availability of certain processed products of agriculture.

Seventy per cent of agricultural production (including ranch products) is made without any kind of subsidies, anyway. Some areas of food production spend as much time remaining independent of government control as others spend insisting on necessity for controls.

At Home In Farmer County

By CRICKET B. TAYLOR
County HD Agent

Every homemaker desires a clean, attractive orderly home but the time and energy required to keep it is not always available. Decisions must be made as to what is more important, and this will vary according to each homemaker's situation. Standards become guidelines and most homemakers will be happier if they develop some standards and know why they are where they are.

For instance personal satisfaction involves one's feeling of what the standard should be and there is the scientific standard such as minimum standards for health and decency and again the conventional trial and error pattern - what the "Joneses" are doing or think of us.

Systematic intelligent organization of the work week is the most essential time saver in getting the job of housecleaning done.

A plan of regular care is as closely related to the beauty and durability of carpets and rugs as their basic structure. Their greatest enemy is dirt, most of which home methods can be used, as long as the dirt remains on the surface or near the surface. When it has worked down into the pile, it is beyond reach of all except a professional cleaner.

That daily once-over lightly with the vacuum cleaner using three individual strokes over each area will remove loose dirt, lint and litter.

Thorough cleaning at least once, preferably twice, each week not only brushes and freshens carpets and rugs, but prevents gritty dirt from sifting down into the pile when seven strokes are made over each area. This dirt chops and cuts the fibers and backing. You cannot over-vacuum carpets and rugs.

Even though the vacuum cleaner is used regularly, the surface of carpets and rugs become soiled and dull in color. Two methods of surface cleaning help to correct this condition but cannot replace professional cleaning at regular intervals. One is the dry cleaning method which is a solvent-saturated inert material sprinkled liberally over a large carpet area, brushing it in slightly. Let it remain on as stated on the manufacturer's label and vacuum thoroughly to remove it. Avoid letting the cleaner get down to the backing, if it is latex, since solvents degrade rubber.

The second surface cleaning method is wet cleaning which is suitable for all carpets and rugs. A non-alkaline synthetic detergent with water is a safe cleaning solution: Dissolve two heaping tablespoons of the non-alkaline detergent with one gallon of water. The solution should be applied sparingly with an applicator, sponge or cloth, wetting only the surface with a gentle motion. Then, remove as much of the solution as possible with a shampoo machine, a cloth or sponge rinsed in clear water. Always allow the carpet to dry quickly. Too frequent use of the detergent solution may cause more rapid resoiling since carpets cannot be thoroughly rinsed on the floor.

If you need further information on carpet and rug surface cleaning or spot and stain removal, call or write Cricket B. Taylor, County Home Demonstration Agent, Farwell.

Maize Irrigation Table

DAILY WATER USE from planting to maturity for grain sorghum is shown in this chart, prepared by the Extension Service and published in its bulletin number B-10, "Growing Grain Sorghum."

Playa Lakes Offer Best Irrigation Bet

The High Plains Underground Water Conservation District is urging irrigators to take advantage of the water that fills the many wet-weather lakes which dot the Plains.

Most of the lakes are brim-full with rainfall runoff which will largely evaporate unless utilized in growing a crop. With the days becoming extremely hot, many farmers are cranking up their wells and have begun irrigating. A spokesman for the Water District says, "The best way that we know to conserve ground water is to use lake water as a substitute. In fact, if a fellow has a lake filled with water on his farm and does not put it to work, he is missing a real bet. That's the cheapest water that he can use, and probably the best. You know, it is considerably warmer than ground water and when used should result in less shock to the growing plants."

Tom McFarland, Manager of the High Plains Water District, stated that he had even heard one farmer say that the lake water furnished an amount of "frog-a-lizer" to his crop that is beneficial. The "frog-a-lizer" that he referred to was the tad-poles and other organisms that live in the lake water.

McFarland continued by saying that he was not sure about the value of the "frog-a-lizer" to a man's crop, but that by pumping lake water in lieu of ground water, everyone would benefit. He stated, "The past few weeks we've noticed that several cases of encephalitis have been reported throughout the southern High Plains. The health authorities have told us that certain types of mosquitoes are carriers of the disease and can transmit it to a human being by biting him. One of our major breeding places for mosquitoes is in the wet-weather lakes.

"This is just one more reason for us and everyone else to encourage the use of lake water."

W. L. "Bill" Broadhurst, Water District Chief Hydrologist, made this observation concerning the use of lake water. "Perhaps it's not commonly known, but if rainfall that collects in the playa lakes is not pumped out and used, the greater part will be lost to evaporation. We figure that about 90 per cent of the lake water will evaporate directly into the atmosphere or be taken up by weeds and other vegetative growth which abounds in and around most playas. The water that is saved is that small quantity which percolates through the lake bottom to the underlying ground water table."

McFarland summed up by saying, "When all is said, it's just good business to use lake water and leave the ground water for some future date when there is no lake water available to use."

Watch For Bindweed

BINDWEED CASES in Farmer County are fewer than a few years ago, but recent rainy weather has increased the weed problem. The above drawing shows the leaf and bloom of a bindweed plant, which might aid farmers in watching for this plant pest.

The Happy Homemaker

By JUNE FLOYD

Thanks go to Mrs. Joe Moyer for sending some kraut salad recipes for this column. Each of the three should be pretty as well as tasty. One is a congealed salad and the other two are on the tossed order.

Since she didn't suggest names for the different recipes, guess we can just label them Addie's Kraut Salad numbers 1, 2 and 3.

No. I Dissolve one package lemon jello in two cups hot water. Place in refrigerator to cool. When mixture begins to thicken, add 1 cup drained kraut and 2 green peppers cut in rings.

No. II Mix 1 cup drained kraut with 1/2 cup pimentos and serve with French dressing.

No. III Mix 1 cup drained kraut, 1 cup mayonnaise or Miracle Whip 1 cup grated raw carrots and a few walnuts.

For a number of years anyone who mentioned a "burger" was talking about a hamburger. This isn't true anymore. There are just about as many different kinds of "burgers" as there are people to make them. Until recently I had never heard of beanburgers, but they are delicious. Recipes for them are very flexible. Basic ingredients are beans, meat and onions.

Brown three or four cups ground beef, ham or left over roast with two medium size onions. Add five or six cups cooked pinto beans. Season to taste and simmer until flavors are blended.

This makes an ideal one dish meal. Green pepper, chili powder, garlic salt or other seasonings may be added if desired. Serve over hamburger buns. Add a green salad and dessert and you have an ideal noon or evening meal.

Next time you want to make hot sandwiches, try the following recipe.

Hot Meat Salad Sandwiches
1 cup ground cooked meat
1 tablespoon chopped pickle
1 tablespoon chopped onion
3 tablespoons salad dressing salt and pepper to taste
4 slices bread

softened butter or margarine
Mix meat, pickle, onion, and salad dressing. Add salt and pepper.

Toast bread on one side. Spread untoasted side with butter or margarine and salad mixture. Put sandwiches on broiler rack and broil until meat mixture bubbles and turns brown.

Homemakers who fail to read labels on ready-made garments are missing out on ideas for preserving the life and beauty of the garments. New methods of laundering different types of materials are being developed constantly and manufacturers attach tags explaining preferred methods on each garment.

Let's be very careful to take advantage of scientific developments to prolong the life and beauty of wearing apparel.

The following paragraphs appeared on the Woman's Page of the July Farmer Stockmen. It is being re-printed for the benefit of homemakers who do not read this farm publication. Before you start reading, ask yourself this question, "Could I be one?"

Chronic Griper

New Grain Cars

Good news for grain shippers is coming from Cleburne, Texas, where Santa Fe Railway crews are producing three specially-equipped cars a day on an assembly line. Nearly 450 are being built, featuring a double-plug door with a leak-proof gasket, instead of old-style doors that must be backed with a removable grain door or liner to keep loss to a minimum. The small upper portion of the door is used for loading and provides access for sampling by grain inspectors, while the bottom remains tightly sealed until unloading. The new door expedites loading and virtually eliminates loss in transit, the railroad reports.

morning I'd been murmuring... how the wind did howl and blow... filtering dust upon the table... banging shutters to and fro.

As I watched the screen before me, other faults came into view... Suddenly alert I murmured, "There is something I must do." It took time to overcome this bad habit which had been... but a shadow o'er God's sunshine... hardly could a ray shine in.
