LISTEN TO LUKE

By Albert:
Monday of this week was dad's birthday--his 76th--and the second one he has observed in the nursing home at Fort Stockton. His condition might be termed static. His mind still permits recognition of us on our visits, but he can no longer sustain conversation, just respond to a question or remark. We still do and always will appreciate the many expressions of interest and concern for him.

In case some of our local readers have not heard, they should be aware of the fact that there have been many reports recently of prowlers and/or window peepers in the area from Oak St. north to the Church of Christ. This is not to determine that the activity is restricted to this area, but just to note whence come most of the reports we have heard.

People should be aware of this fact so that they may be alert and careful, and so that all may also know that night-time prowlers certainly are all some kind of suspects.

Winter jumped in big on the tail-end of fall. One day it was autumnly hot, probably in the mid-80s, and the next day we all had on jackets! The rains that came with the cold front added some chill to the weather by the humidity and added greatly to the conditions of the rangelands with the general downfall of upwards of .75-inch.

Time is drawing nearer for the general election, and we have and probably will refrain from much comment along the lines of candidates. We feel that most people have had their minds made up for a long time and nothing short of new and astounding information will change many.

One of the big questions that has plagued us for the length of the campaign since the big conventions is: How can a person say he's a conservative and be for Sen. McGovern? To each his own, but diabolical opposition, yet complete agreement is something else.

According to an item in the Fort Stockton Pioneer this week, that newspaper is going to begin publishing a newspaper for general distribution in this area - except Fort Stockton - in an effort to lure shoppers to that city. The news will be of area interest, or historic, according to The Pioneer.

We believe that if the Fort Stockton businesses were to try to keep all of the business of the residents of that town, they would not need to hurt the businesses of surrounding towns by trying to get business from them.

Whatever else may be involved, there is still a disregard for the business welfare of Sanderson, and all they want from us in Fort Stockton is our business.

They contribute nothing to the betterment of our town,

Absentee Ballots Cast By 23 Voters

Absentee voting for the general election on Tuesday, November 7, started last Wednesday and will continue through Friday, November 3. County Clerk Ruel Adams reported Monday afternoon that 23 ballots had been mailed or voted up to that time. A voter must be registered at least 30 days prior to an election to be eligible to vote. Anyone voting in an election is automatically registered thereafter for three succeeding years.

The ballot this year shows a full slate of officers from the Democratic Party. Some candidates for national and state offices are listed for the Republican party. The Socialist Workers Party and the Raza Unida Party list candidates for a limited number of offices.

There are also 14 proposed amendments to the state constitution to be voted on.

Veterans' Day Observed at School

Veterans Day was observed here Monday with a program in the high school auditorium at 8:30 a.m.

Mrs. E.E. Farley arranged the program with the assistance of the Student Council and citizens of Girls State and Boys State. Principal Wayne Mitchell was Master of Ceremonies and Skipper Harris was the narrator.

The color bearers, Emma Silvas, Roger Sanchez, Hudson Kerr and Juan Lomas, presented the colors as the Eagle Band, directed by Joe Blatchford, played the National Anthem. The invocation was given by Rev. Richard White, pastor of the First United Methodist Church.

"The Meaning of Veterans Day" was given by Sheryl Stewart, president of the student council. Hudson Kerr's speech was on "Peace With Honor".

Marshall Cooke, commander of the American Legion, and Mrs. Dalton Hogg, president of the Legion Auxiliary, were introduced.

As the veterans present stood a poppy was pinned on each by a high school girl.

The band played the Battle Hymn of the Republic when the colors were retired and Rev. White gave the benediction.

Besides the high school teachers and students, a large crowd of citizens attended the ceremony.

The only other observation made of the day was the closing of the post office and offices at the courthouse. The members of the Legion Auxiliary sold poppies on the streets and also served coffee and doughnuts at the Community Public Service office under the direction of Mrs. Zane McDonald, poppy chairman. They realized $130.00 from the Poppy sales.

.75-Inch of Rain Falls On Weekend

About 3/4 of an inch of rain fell in Sanderson over the weekend and there was a report of equal and larger amounts from all parts of the county, indicating a very general fall of moisture for this area.

There was no run-off of any moisture reported as all of the rain was slow-falling in a mist or light shower.

The temperatures were in the 40s on Friday and Saturday with a warming trend for Sunday and at this writing on Monday, the balmy weather continued.

Jr. Eagles Blank Balmorhea 14-0

The Junior High School Eagles won their game here on Thursday of last week with the Jr. Bears from Balmorhea by a score of 14-0.

Frankie Flores scored on a 70-yard run; Benny Castro on a 59-yard pass play.

Coach Larry DeVasto gave credit to the defensive effort of the team and especially to Andy Falcon, William Corbett, and Clay Mitchell.

The Junior High School Marfa Shorthorns will come to Sanderson Thursday for a tilt that will begin at 4:30 p.m.

All local fans are urged to come out to the game.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Brown were in San Angelo the first of last week and he had surgery.

Rankin Whops Eagles 53-0; Strong Marfa Coming Here Friday

Sanderson played Rankin to a 0-0 tie in the first half of their ball game there Friday night of last week, then lost 53-0 in the second half of play, with all the points being made by Rankin in 12 minutes of play, according to Coach Willie Myers. Sanderson led in first downs 6-4 at half-time, but 13 turnovers by the Eagles in the second half marked the difference in the two teams' play and added something to the scoring ability of the Red Devils.

It was sprinkling, showering, or raining during all of the ball game, Coach Myers stated, which took a lot away from the ability of both teams and made a duller game for the fans, but he stated that he felt the boys played a much better game than the score indicated, and some of the breaks that may have gone to the Eagles in another game were all in favor of Rankin in this one. He stated that he did not want to take away from the ability of probably the best team in the district this year -- the Rankin Red Devils -- but he felt that there was a good effort and a good game played by his team and that probably two or three touchdowns should have been the margin of difference under other conditions.

Mrs. Bob Spence attended the annual meeting of the Grand Chapter of Texas, Order of Easter Star, which convened in Fort Worth October 16-19. Mrs. Spence, a past matron of the local chapter, was assistant grand warden during the meeting.

Sanderson trailed in first downs 7-13; total yards 57-188; passing 10 and 37. The Eagles completed 5 of 10 passes and Rankin completed 2 of 12 tries. Sanderson and Rankin each had two interceptions; Sanderson 10 fumbles and Rankin 2; and the penalties were 5 for 65 yards for the Eagles, and 7 for 65 yards for the Red Devils.

The Eagles will host the Marfa Shorthorns Friday night in what is expected to be another tough foe. The margin of difference in common foes this season shows the Shorthorns to have the higher scoring team than the Eagles, who will be trying to gain back some of their prestige lost last week in the defeat by Rankin. Game time is 7:30.

This picture and the next two, while the photographs themselves are not so old, they represent an era long past. This view is of old buildings at the old fort that was located at Myers Springs in far eastern Terrell County and north of Dryden. There was no permanent compliment of troops at the old fort, but it was used as temporary quarters for groups passing through or for short periods. The picture was loaned to us by C.J. McAughan of Houston.

schools, churches, tax expense, neighborly deeds, or anything else. It is a lecherous existence, to say the least!

From all that we are able to read, we gather that there is inevitably going to be a jump in taxes over the state.

The "revenue-sharing" program, for example, seems to be one of the programs that will necessitate an additional tax from the people. And if the school taxes within the individual districts go out and some sort of state-wide financing will be called for, it would seem, to bring the level of the poorer districts up to what the richer districts term necessary, or have already spent themselves into.

Plus the fact that there are more and more people on the state and national payrolls, and there are more and more people who are thinking of ways to spend more and more government money. And the reason that there are more people working on ways to spend more money is because there are more people whose jobs depend upon their own advancement of their own causes.

It looks like a vicious circle to us. -- But it was when there was only the small fraction of government spending that there is now!

by MARY LEE THOMPSON

Arnold Toynbee once stated that 19 out of 21 civilizations had died from within and not by conquest from without. There were no bands playing or flags waving when they died. They decayed slowly, with little awareness, because people had ceased to care.

Sometime ago in an address, Robert Miller, the executive director of the White House Conference on the Industrial World Ahead, said, "As we look to the future, I am confident the greatest threat to our nation will not be from bombs or guided missiles. We will be as great as our desire for greatness and our private enterprise system permits us to be. Our civilization probably will not die from military might—it will die when we no longer care, when we no longer want a heritage for our offspring."

He then went on to point out that we can change negative attitudes if we bind ourselves together in a renewed national purpose. He suggested forming a coalition between government and private industry which, by good planning, could mesh our technological capability with our social goals and aspirations as individuals.

We have two choices, he says: To listen to the orchestras of our national destiny and human progress playing loud and clear for all the world to hear; or we can wait in apathy and watch the decay of our national pride and world leadership.

A public opinion study in 1971 by Gallup showed a new and urgent concern over national unity, political stability, and law and order. The general feeling of uneasiness noted in the report indicates that many Americans do care. In the future, we would do well to do as we have done in the past—take the advice of Thomas Jefferson to "unite in common efforts for the common good."

Hallowe'en Carnival To Be Tuesday

The carnival is sponsored by the Young People's Chamber of Commerce, handling all of the publicity and being general co-ordinators of all of the activities. Different organizations and clubs will have booths at the carnival site, arranging and decorating the booths and getting all of the proceeds from the things sold.

A parade will precede the carnival, forming at the corner of the bank on School Street proceeding east down Oak Street and ending at the carnival site.

Elementary school children will "trick or treat" from 8:00 to 9:00 p.m., according to Mrs. Louise Causey, chief ghost in charge of all their activities.

The YPCC committee has advised that the fixing of the booths may begin on Tuesday morning with the locations to be on a "first come" basis.

THE REAL CAMPAIGN ISSUES

MONEY ALONE IS NOT THE ANSWER

Big-spending politicians should have been given a fatal blow by a distinguished group of Brookings Institution economists.

In a searching analysis they concluded that dollars multiplied by millions do not bring about solutions to many of our socio-economic problems such as welfare, education, and urban blight, but instead threaten to become paralyzing.

They argue the critical lack has not been money. Federal social spending has soared from $30 billion to $110 billion in ten years. The underlying shortage has been attainment of constructive results, the Brookings authors contend. They do endorse open-minded experimentation on a long-range basis.

This impartial scrutiny of our spending efforts should be given careful consideration by voters and by those in charge of the public purse strings at all levels of government.

Appropriation of money alone is not a cure-all. It takes sound research, planning, and effective programs to achieve the goal of a better society in which to live.

Social Security Benefits Change With Earnings

The earnings limitation for those who draw social security benefits remain $1680 for 1972, according to H.P. Thomas manager of the Odessa social security office. The recent changes in the social security law did not change the retirement test for 1972.

This earnings restriction applies to almost everyone who draws social security monthly benefits, continued Thomas. Exceptions are workers who draw disability benefits and persons who are over 72 years of age for the entire year. The general rule allows a social security beneficiary who earns $1680 or less in a calendar to draw all social security payments due for that year. If the individual's earned income exceeds $1680 in a year, $1 in social security payments will be withheld for each $2 earned between $1680 and $2880, one social security dollar will be withheld for each dollar earned.

Thomas said there were exceptions to this general rule. First, a beneficiary who earned $140 or less in wages during a month and who did not render substantial services as a self-employed person would be due the payment for that month regardless of the total for the year. For example, if a person works in a seasonal job, such as pipeline construction, nine months out of the year, payments could be made for three months regardless of the total earnings. This could occur if the worker did not earn over $140 in wages or do substantial work in self-employment during these months. Another rule allows the person who becomes 72 during the year to draw benefits for the month he reaches that age and all following months regardless of the total earnings for the year.

Beneficiaries should remember, Thomas stressed, that only earned income, such as wages, salary, or net income from self-employment is considered. Income from rents, royalties, interest, etc., is not counted. Also, the person who draws disability benefits should report when he returns to work, regardless of the amount of earnings.

Present laws allow the social security beneficiary to earn a considerable amount and still draw some monthly payments. People who have questions about their earnings may call 332-9423 in Odessa.
