LISTEN TO LUKE

By Albert: ---
The fire at the Continental Ranch Sunday night brought home another fact to us another time. And we think that something should be done about it!

We think that there should be some young men enlisted to that chore. And we think that they should have as much dedication to their duty as firemen have had in past years in Sanderson. And we think that this recruitment should be done real soon!

Why? Because men of this age group (Pardon me, Dudley!) do not have any business with this kind of responsibility any more. There were four who made that 43-mile run after 10:00 p.m. Sunday night who had worked with local equipment, and who were laying it on the line to do whatever was necessary to try to extinguish or control a fire and whatever else might be necessary. It turned out there was little to do; but there were three of the four past 50, and that's enough.

This is not to try to speak for anyone else, we are not going to get involved with their wishes or their ego, or their stamina, or anything else. It's just a statement of what seems to be common sense to us. My efforts are not to try to goof off of any obligations, but to just be aware and try to make others aware of something they should now be concerned with!

The list is long of men that have served their community well for a bunch of years as volunteer firemen. Many on the list have passed on from death, others have been forced to quit that duty because of physical reasons, and the rest of us should quit for reasons of common sense, and we know of some that will if there were some who would take our place. Think about it, and tell W.W. Sudduth that you would like a free job with nothing but work and satisfaction for having done something worthwhile as payment.

The Young People's Chamber of Commerce might even start a recruiting drive and training schedule for young men as one of their worthwhile projects. Just a suggestion!

We have another list this week for honor students in our schools. We cannot conceive any of them putting forth this effort ONLY to have their names in the local paper, or it being even a consideration. We recognize their accomplishments so that they and others may know that we are proud that they put forth the effort to gain this list. And we are also proud of those who put forth the effort to make the list and didn't. It's the effort that we like and acknowledge.

We liked the little cartoon-like poem that we used last week and will continue to use about giving joy. We think that this is part of the Christ- continued to second page

Fire Sunday Razes Ranch Outbuildings

A fire at the headquarters of the Continental Ranch northeast of Sanderson Sunday night destroyed a row of outbuildings near the house. The fire is thought to have started in the kitchen portion of the building. Also included were rooms for ranch hands, equipment room, workshop, etc.

Lee Weathersbee, who is in the process of moving from the ranch, was asleep, as were two hands in separate rooms in the building that burned. One of them, who had a radio on, was awakened by static on the radio caused by the fire, and he aroused the others. The blaze was too far gone for Weathersbee to save anything except his saddles and a welding machine.

The Sanderson Volunteer Fire Department went to the blaze to assist in controlling the fire and preventing damage to other buildings, if possible.

W.A. Cochran has something in the sack that baffles us. We have looked with a magnifying glass and determined that he is holding a bottle with a goat nipple on it in his right hand, but cannot figure what hermitage have had in the sack when the picture was made in 1916. The steel stirrups, unlaced shoes, and the mystery parcel all help to make the picture interesting. It was loaned by his granddaughter, Mrs. Ernest Harkins.
