Assistance Ready For Ranchmen

A program of emergency conservation measures has been approved to assist ranchmen in the restoration of fences and other structures which were damaged by flooding where excessive rain and run-off occurred in September 1974. S.D.
Harrison, chairman, said the Terrell County ASC Service
has received an initial allocation of $25,000.00 to provide up to 80% cost-shares to eligible participants.

Unlike the regular conservation programs administered by ASCS, the emergency cost-shares may be paid for eligible practices even though the work has already been completed.

Persons who have completed restoration work and want to make application, have until February 6, 1975, to do so.

Persons who have not done
the work should apply by February 28, 1975, and should not begin the work until application is made. Soil Conservation Service has technical responsibility in all cases except fences.

The program closes June 30, 1975. For further information, interesting producers may contact the ASCS Office, Box 397, 211 W. Holland, Alpine, Texas 79830, or each Wednesday
in Sanderson at the Soil Conservation Service Office. The Alpine telephone number is 837-2325.

Simmental Sale Planned In March

W.F. (Bill) Roden, owner of the Oasis Ranch in Terrell County, has announced a sale

Hicks place on Independence Creek in the eastern part of the county.

Roden said guest consignors
to the sale will include Jack Riggs of Sanderson and W.J.
"Dub" Waldrip of Lubbock.

Simmental cattle is a very expensive exotic breed of cattle imported from France, according to information given
The Times.

According to a brochure advertising the sale, a 5300-foot long runway, 60-foot wide,
and paved, can accomodate small jet aircraft bringing interested people to the sale.

Repair Work At Courthouse

Much repair and remodeling work has been going on at the courthouse recently.

Sheriff Dalton Hogg explained details of the work last weekend and revealed results
of much of the work.

In the jail area on the top floor, all of the iron work has been painted with aluminum paint, and walls, ceilings, and floors repainted. Repair work has been done to the beds,
toilets, and drinking facilities
to try to assure more and greater prevention of water leaks.

A shower and water heater
has been installed in the jail area to permit prisoners to bathe. Some additional security measures have also been taken to permit safer passage of food and trays to and from those who are being held in the jail.

On the second floor, work is being done to refinish the table and chairs in the grand jury room; an office has been established in the former library area. The office is for the Texas Highway Department officers, as well as the sheriff and deputy to use in making out reports and keeping certain records and files, as well as a room for interrogation. Plans are to do some painting on the second floor walls and ceiling
as soon as possible, Hogg stated.

The proposed hike in the price of crude oil is having a real affect on heating in other parts of our nation, according to what we see on the tube, and we all should be reminded that some precautionary measures should maybe be taken by some of us. We think that it can't happen to us. But we should know that it can happen. The liklihood is somebody's guess.

But there are things that all of us can do that would conserve more energy - and we don't mean our personal energy.

Whatever those little things are, it would behoove all of us to try to find them and then do them. It could be very helpful.

One of the absolutely most disappointing statements out of any seat of government was attributed to ours and was to the effect that if we were strangled from the oil reserves of the current leaders in production, that we would resort to strength to supply our needs. And once we called someone else aggressive!

 TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN, Tex. — The 64th Legislature started with a bang and a burst of activity last week. State Senators set new records for speed in organizing while the House named Bill Clayton of Springdale its new speaker and adopted rules. Gov. Bill Hobby, as promised, named a complete slate of Senate standing committees on the first day of the session, January 14. Changes in chairmanships were Sens. Don Adams and Jasper moving up to head the housekeeping appropriations panel and Sen. Pete Nelson of Midland taking over the intergovernmental relations committee. The Senate went to work almost immediately on a proposed emergency pay raise for state employees, while the House advanced a measure to extend unemployment compensation benefits four weeks and gain $5 million in federal funds. Clayton, who defeated Rep. Earl Parker of Port Arthur for the speakership, delayed naming of his committees until this week, while he concentrated on getting rules changes he wants. Gov. Dolph Briscoe submitted lawmakers a long list of emergency measures for immediate consideration, including the pay raise for state workers and $80 million to stop gap aid for schools. Other than the emergency measures, and rules adoption, little action is expected on the floor of either house until after the inauguration of Briscoe and Hobby to second terms Tuesday (January 21). Briscoe prepared long-range recommendations for delivery to a joint session of the House and Senate Wednesday (January 22).

PRODUCTION STILL WIDE OPEN—February is the 35th straight month of wide open statewide oil allowable. Texas Railroad Commission once again set a 100 per cent production order. Meanwhile, independent oilmen said the decline in Texas oil production has begun a "big turnaround." Frank Pitts of Dallas said 30,000 to 70,000 wells can be drilled a year instead of the present 30,000. There are lots of places to drill oil wells, but the cost is going to be high, said Pitts. Crude prices should average $90 to $100 per barrel to encourage drilling the maximum number of wells, said the Dallas oilman.

INVESTIGATION FUNDED—A Senate sub-committee was given a budget to begin an investigation of questioned Southwestern Bell Telephone Company operations in Texas. The Senate Administration Committee approved a $27,832 allowance to hire utility rate experts and two investigators to look into allegations of wire-tapping, campaign slush fund contributions and keeping of dual sets of books (one for rate cases). Sen. Ron Clower of Garland, chairman of the Senate Sub-Committee on Consumer Affairs, said the panel already has an extensive file of leads. Clower said he hopes to have the investigation completed before the state boards and agencies were sent to the State Senate for confirmation.

Among the more recent appointments were Walter Sterling of Houston, Tom Law of Fort Worth and Dan C. Williams of Dallas (reappointment) to the University of Texas board of regents; Alfred I. Davies of Dallas, Ross C. Watkins of Uvalde and Joe H. Reynolds of Houston (reappointment) to the A&M University board of directors;

Gerald Clayton Puckett of Fort Stockton and Jack Henry McCreary of Austin to Texas Aeronautics Commission (succeeding Paul M. Fulks Sr. of Wolfe City and James L. Luther of Killeen); and Jimmy Charles Payton of Euleus to succeed Amon G. Carter Jr. of Fort Worth on the Trinity River Authority of Texas board of directors.

AG OPINIONS—Atty. Gen. John Hill held a requirement for reports of child abuse is applicable to the Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation, without regard to conflicting provisions.

In other recent opinions, Hill concluded:

- Development of parks and recreational facilities by municipal utility districts is constitutionally permissible.

- Confidentiality of faculty performance evaluation cannot be maintained against an individual's right to access to information which is the basis for government action affecting him.

- Private clubs and fraternal and veterans organizations claiming they are private places for defense against gambling prosecution must prove the public has no access to them.

BOARD CLAIMS SAVING—A State Insurance Board report claims the board last fiscal year "saved" Texans $5.7 million in benefits or returned premiums.

Insurance Commissioner Don Odum cited administrative action against 36 agents and 18 companies and 1,900 field investigations by the board license division.

Planned board reorganization will save $250,000 in annual operating costs, the report stated. There were 1,705 insurance companies licensed to sell policies in Texas at the start of the current fiscal year.

1974—SAFER?—Vehicle accidents dropped six per cent last year below 1973, and 1974 may have been the safest year on record considering the traffic death rate per 100-million miles, according to the Department of Public Safety.

The traffic toll for the year may reach 3,042 when all reports are in. That would represent a saving of 650 lives from 1973. In 1964, 3,006 were killed in Texas traffic accidents.

DPS Director Wilson Speir speculated that the reduction in driving and reduced speed limit brought about the improved safety record.

SHORT SNORTS

Governor Briscoe expressed concern that President Ford's energy proposals, including excise taxes on domestic oil and gas production, may take $3.4 billion out of the Texas economy in the form of higher utility and gasoline bills.

The winter tourist season is blossoming, and heading toward a near record, according to Texas Tourist Development Agency.

Governor Briscoe asked Secretary of Agriculture Earl L. Butz to declare Limestone County a disaster area due to drought and other adverse weather.

Rep. Krueger Offers Report

Bob Krueger, Member of Congress, 21st Dist. House of Representatives Washington, D.C. 20515

In this my first report to the District since it honored me by electing me its Representative, I want to comment on two things: the state of Congress and the state of the Union.

First, the state of the Congress. Some press reports have suggested that the large number of new members means that the new Congress will be "liberal". I disagree. Most of the new members come from basically conservative districts, like ours, and I doubt that those members campaigned in favor of big new spending programs. Further, I doubt that they will vote for such programs. Certainly I do not intend to.

What the new Congress has done, however, is to bring reforms and procedures that altered the seniority system. Now district with new congressmen have a chance of a more equal voice, so that they can be represented as effectively as the districts of long-time senior members. This change reflects democracy: all congressional districts should be equal and their need be no apology for these reforms. They will help the 21st District and the American system.

Second, the state of the Union. The President, in his address, said that the state of the Union "is not good". I disagree. Yes, we have problems: high inflation, deepening recession, uncertainty about our national direction. But improvement lies within our power. We can work to control federal spending, and I will do so. We can give short-term, immediate tax relief to those most in need, as the President suggests, but we must always recognize that money spent today must be paid tomorrow, and I have strong reservations about the massive deficits that the President is asking for and that some in Congress will be willing to provide. The only way that I know to restore government to sound financial footing and to control inflation is to have the government live within its income. I will work for that, and I will work to find others to join me.

I hope to use these columns to give you a first-hand report from your Representative on events in Washington and I hope you will call on me for help with any particular problem.

Mr. and Mrs. Buck Moore of Weldon are on the Joe Neal Brown ranch to help him for a while. Mrs. Moore is a sister of Mrs. Brown.

Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Weigand of Ennis visited relatives for four days last week, including her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R.V. Winn of Alpine; her sister, Mrs. G.C. Eggleston and family and her brother, Milby Winn, and family and his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Weigand, all of Sanderson. They were on vacation and went from here to Enterprise, Ala., to visit his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Weigand.

West Texas Cattle 100 Years Ago

from the Alpine Avalanche
The cattle industry came to the Trans-Pecos country in the late 1870s and early 1880s when the overcrowding of areas in eastern Texas forced cattlemen to drive their herds west. In 1880, the Department of the Army became interested in the cattle in West Texas, and requested the Post Surgeon at Fort Davis to furnish a report on the health of the cattle in and near the Post. The following edited excerpts were taken from the report of Post Surgeon Harvey Brown dated July 1881.

"There are very few cattle here - and all or nearly all are young, having been driven here from elsewhere. The average age of the animals slaughtered at this post is 3-2/3 years. The oldest animal slaughtered was 5 years and the youngest 2 years. Of the animals slaughtered, the average weight of the liver was 10-1.5 lbs., and the average weight of the spleen was 2-1/4 lbs. The disease the cattle are most susceptible to is a curious disease produced by eating the 'astragulia mollisimus'. The plant, called the yerba loca or mad weed is one of the first to make its appearance in the spring. If the animals once get a taste of it, they acquire an inordinate fondness for it and will neglect all other food to obtain it. The animals will eventually lose all of their hair, and grow weaker and weaker and finally die emaciated to an extreme."

The surgeon also stated that the milk of the cows in the spring was extremely offensive and often unfit to drink. Surgeon Brown reported that after he had "carefully investigated this phenomenon", he came to the conclusion "that it was due to the injection of the cucurbita", a species of gourd which is very common in the area. The surgeon regretted that he was unable to obtain any pertinent information relative to annual mortality of the animals, but that the herds were too small to furnish any such data.

It is not known to what extent the Army made use of Surgeon Brown's report or whether it actually had an effect on the purchase of local beef by the Army. With the steady influx of cattlemen to the area, beef became more readily available to the troops stationed at Fort Davis, and as a result competition developed among local ranchers for the government contract to supply fresh beef to the Fort. In 1889, one such contractor, in order to insure his covered position, "provided himself with a patent refrigerator in which meat could be kept fresh and sweet for any reasonable time".

By 1891, the year Fort Davis was abandoned, the cattle industry had become firmly rooted in West Texas, and the quality and quantity of beef was far superior to what it has been just a decade earlier.

Teacher Group Asks For More Money

Texas State Teachers Association's executive committee voted to ask the organization's legislative committee to reconsider its request for $8,200 a year starting pay for teachers.

The panel narrowly defeated a motion to direct the legislative committee to ask the legislature for a starting $12,000 salary base. The beginning minimum is now $6,000.

Texas Federation of Teachers, an AFL-CIO affiliate with growing membership in major cities, has offered a legislative program calling for a $10,000 minimum.

The TSTA executive committee further endorsed a change in the constitution which would unify TSTA with National Education Association, subject to ratification in a statewide referendum.

Personals . . .

Mr. and Mrs. Florentino Ochoa and their daughter, Miss Chepi Ochoa, visited relatives in Del Rio last week and Mrs. Ochoa had a medical check-up.

Mrs. Dalton Hogg took her mother, Mrs. Sarah Abbott, of Hamilton to Fort Stockton Sunday for a visit with her daughter, Mrs. Lee Harris, and family.

Word was received this week from Mrs. Cy Mussey that her father-in-law, Ruben Mussey, a former resident of Sanderson, was in room 202 at Odessa Medical Center Hospital. He is there recuperating from a broken hip when he fell on ice at his home in Pecos about Christmas time. She said that he appreciated word from his friends in Sanderson, including reading The Times each week.

Mrs. T.O. Moore and her daughter-in-law, Mrs. T.O. Moore Jr., and daughter, Angela, went to San Angelo Saturday to visit relatives. The latter two remained to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Early this week, the former returning home Sunday.

Mrs. O.J. Cresswell returned home last Tuesday from Del Rio where she had visited in recent weeks with Mrs. W.E. Stavley and her father, O.T. Schupbach, who brought her home. They went by Mr. Schupbach's ranch near Dryden enroute back to Del Rio as he had been away while recuperating from an illness.
