It Depends on How You Look At It!

We heard a comment Tuesday of last week - following the news of the death of Mrs. Louise Causey - that we feel compelled to repeat. There was no sacrilege or disrespect intended in the remark - only facts. It was: "Well, St. Peter has a helper now like he has never had before!"

A lot of young people over a lot of years of the past came under the influence of Louise, and the impact she had on them will be felt for a long time, indeed!

Her ability to force, persuade, coerce, or whatever means was necessary to get things done for "her little people" not only was effective, she also retained the love and respect of the young people; and if her ire was vented in behalf of the good of the "little people", then the fact that she was not "most admired" by anyone, was not a consideration. All of the young people during her "rule" and all of us who loved young people loved Louise!

We were handed a clipping last week by an interested citizen telling about efforts to control the use and/or distribution of hand guns. The group petitioned the Federal Consumer Products Protection Commission, a fairly new U.S. Government agency, to ban all manufacture and sale of handgun ammunition under the premise that it was a "hazardous substance".

The CPSC (now we're doing it!) is primarily concerned with toys, rocks in cereal, and dresses, shirts, etc., that go up in smoke if touched by a cigarette (which are not being considered as hazardous substances so far as we know).

The CPSC, in their wisdom, returned the petition, stating that handgun ammunition, sale and ownership of handguns was not in their jurisdiction. This may have ended it, but the group came right back with strong counsel, sued the CPSC to force them to take action, and obtained sympathetic rulings by a federal judge, according to the information we have.

If you have an opinion, and if you want to voice it where it will be heard, write Handgun Petition, Consumer Products Safety Commission, Washington, D.C. 20207.

You have only 30 days more or less to have a voice in this decision.

And your decision in this - just depends on how you look at it.

We wonder if next, the CPSC will consider, say, automobiles as hazardous substances.

There is quite a hassle going on in Austin concerning ways and means to finance Texas' schools in the future. There are those who are content to let the "poorer" districts struggle the best they can, and those who are trying to equalize the

Mrs. Williams recognized Sanderson's former "first ladies": Mesdames E.E. Farley, Carlton White, and W.H. Savage, all of whom were present.

Commissioners Have Long Agenda

The Terrell County Commissioner's Court met Monday in regular meeting.

Following the reading and correction of the minutes, they were approved, and the bills were allowed.

Troy Druse appeared before the court to explain the fact that there was an anaesthesia machine that was not being used by the Trans-Terrell Medical Center, Inc., and the court authorized the directors of that organization to dispose of the machine in any manner they saw fit. There was a unanimous vote on that proposition.

Mmes. E.E. Farley, Irvin Robbins, and Dick Sullivan explained to the court the requirements for obtaining accreditation for the Terrell County Public Library and asked the court to approve a maximum budget of $5,000 for the library - a requirement of accreditation. The court tabled the request and asked the group to submit a detailed budget to the court at their next meeting. The court's action was unanimous on this request.

The subject of approval of placing an information and referral clerk in Terrell County, the salary of the clerk to be paid by a grant from the State of Texas rather than by the county, was presented again, and following a rather lengthy discussion, there was a motion by W.W. Sudduth and a second by County Judge Charles Stavley that the county seek the referral clerk. Sudduth voted for the motion and Commissioners Austin Chriesman, David Mit-educational institutions in the state at least as far as financing goes. The upholders of "productivity potential" in setting valuations on taxes seems to be having an uphill climb, since it has been pointed out repeatedly that this keeps the valuation figures within the segment. On the other hand, a valuation "on the market value" places a figure of valuation by a tangible realistic means that leaves little room for argument. Even speculative purchases affect only portions of an area, and all bases for figuring either a percentage or a tax rate can be lowered or raised, according to the needs of the governing body.

Maybe the most equitable way for the state to come up with some kind of figure that is realistic is to get the valuation setting out of the hands of that segment directly involved. Another case of depending on how you look at it is to whether or not you agree!

chell, and Graham Childress voted against it. Sanderson State Bank was designated as depository for Terrell County funds and for Terrell County Permanent School Funds by a unanimous vote.

A letter was read from the Texas State Department of Health explaining the requirements to operate a solid waste disposal site after April 1, 1975, a law passed September 8, 1974, effective September 16, 1974. The application for the permit will be mailed within the next few days, according to County Judge Stavley.

Commissioner Chriesman will clean the weeds, etc., off of the run-ways of the Dryden air strip to remove hazards for airplanes landing and taking off.

A report was given on the status of the watershed flood control project and it was stated that easements were needed from the Lee McCue Estate, H. C. Goldwire, and from Terrell County - to close Wilborn St., a public thoroughfare affected by the project.

Judge Stavley stated that Audrey Baker, an official with the Soil Conservation Service in Pecos, would be in Sanderson Tuesday to discuss the flood control project with him, and it was his understanding that Mr. Baker had stated that if all easements were not secured prior to July 1, 1975, that funds would not be available for two more years for

ENERGY IS VALUABLE
—USE IT WISELY

ONE WAY IS: Examine the filters of your central heating unit once a month. Replace or clean them at least every three months. Clogged filters make your heating system work harder than necessary and use extra energy. Clean filters increase your family's personal comfort, conserve energy, and save you money. At the beginning of the season have a qualified serviceman inspect the entire heating system to be sure that it is operating at top efficiency. This can help you avoid costly repairs and inconvenience during cold weather. Remember... it's up to everyone to use energy efficiently and wisely.

Korean Veterans To Get Dividends From GI Insurance

The Veterans Administration on January 1 begins paying for the first time dividends to about 600,000 Korean Conflict veterans who carry "RS" and "W" prefixed National Service Life Insurance policies.

A.A. Hunter, VA Regional Office Director, noted the dividends will be paid on anniversary dates of policies, but pointed out they will be small in comparison to those normally paid on other policies carried by veterans of World War I and II. The dividends were authorized last May under PL 93-289.

VA mailed dividend option selection forms in October which allow acceptance of dividends in cash, or leaving them with the agency as a dividend credit or dividend deposit, both at interest.

Dividends also may be used to pay insurance premiums in advance, buy additional paid-up insurance, or to reduce debt on policy loans. Dividends left on credit are used automatically to pay premiums should the policyholder fail to do so.

Hunter explained that the amount of dividend a veteran receives depends on the face value of the policy, his age at time of policy was issued and the number of months in force during 1975 dividend year.

Veterans with "RS" and "W" policies were urged to complete dividend option selection forms and mail them or inquiries to the VA insurance center which maintains the veterans' insurance records. Centers are located in St. Paul, Minn., and Philadelphia, Pa., Hunter added.

HELP GIVE HEALTH

This Cambodian baby may be crying, but he's a lucky youngster all the same. He's lucky because he is being treated by a doctor.

Until recently, there were only 400 trained physicians to care for the needs of the seven million inhabitants of the southeast Asia country.

But something new has happened. While Catholic Relief Services (CRS) was establishing its extensive relief and resettlement program in Cambodia, it became acutely aware of the health needs of more than a million civilian war victims. It was an almost impossible challenge, but CRS has made a beginning. It has put together medical teams of doctor and nurse volunteers from many countries to treat the patient refugees who think nothing of waiting in line all day to be examined.

This baby — and many like him — can be helped by contributing to the American Catholic Overseas Aid Appeal at any Catholic Church or send to ACOAA, 1011 First Avenue, New York, N. Y. 10022.

Hiking is Good For Your Health

Walking or hiking is an excellent exercise that involves many of the body's muscles. One of its big advantages is that walking is universally available as an exercise nearly every day of the year. The strain of the activity depends on the pace and distance. The Texas Medical Association suggests that any sort of walking is good, but a brisk pace is better.

Walking can have mental health values, as well as aid physical health, if we learn to enjoy the exercise and the open air. Pleasant physical activity can help relieve emotional tension. Exercise is most likely to be enjoyable when the activity is performed with ease and skill.

Like any form of exercise, walking requires a period of gradual conditioning before all-out effort. If you walk very little, start slowly with short hikes and gradually build up the time and distance.

The feet take quite a beating in walking. Be sure that shoes fit properly, are well broken in, and have no rough spots inside. Wearing two pairs of socks helps. The feet function best when the toes point straight ahead in walking. Walking with toes turned in or out distributes the body's weight unequally on the feet.

The Texas Medical Association cautions the untrained person against an exercise orgy in hiking or any other vigorous physical activity. The enthusiast who tries to do it all at once often ends up with stiff muscles and a stiffer resolve to avoid exercise in the future.

Especially for those over 40, a medical checkup before beginning an exercise program is a wise precaution. The level of activity should be built up slowly with consideration for age, condition, and general response to exercise.

AUSTIN, Tex.—Texas voters will decide April 22 in a statewide constitutional amendments election whether they want to increase retirement benefits for school teachers and state employees.

Both houses of the legislature have agreed on the proposal to lift the present six per cent ceiling on matching state contributions to the pension funds (replacing it with a 10 per cent limit).

If voters approve, retired teachers will get boosts in their benefits ranging from five to 18 per cent, and pensioned state employees will get an additional 12 per cent.

Cost of the teacher benefits' raise is estimated at about $98 million and the state employees' pension improvements at $21.8 million.

Meanwhile, the House of Representatives also approved for the April 22 ballot a proposed constitutional change to raise legislators' pay from $400 to $600 a month and expense allowances from $12 to $30 a day for length of a lawmaking session.

Senators may balk at the pay raise proposal which has been advanced in more than half a dozen forms over the last 15 years, without convincing voters.

Gov. Dolph Briscoe said he will actively support the legislative pay raise proposition if the Senate goes along with submitting it on the April 22 ballot.

A quick recapitulation on emergency spending matters already before the legislature (or finally passed) indicates about $310 million in outlays have been committed during the first month of the 64th lawmaking session.

And Governor Briscoe submitted $672,000 more in recommended quickie appropriations late last week.

FLOOD AID VOTED

A legislative resolution will allow the state to spend money already appropriated to the governor as matching funds to aid victims of natural disasters.

Immediately, funds can be used to provide the state's 25 per cent share of aid to residents of flood-hit Anderson, Bell, Cooke, Denton, El Paso, Hopkins, McLennan, Parker, Williamson, Falls and Nacogdoches counties.

The federal government will match state dollars three to one. The federal disaster act of 1974 provides for financial aid up to $5,000 per individual or family.

PAY RAISES SET

One hundred and twenty-five thousand state employees were assured a $93 million pay raise effective February 1.

Governor Briscoe signed the legislation into law to provide the raises over a seven-months' period.

Most state employees in the low-to-medium pay bracket will receive a 13 per cent raise, and most of those in the middle-to-top category will get a nine per cent increase. Additional raises are expected to be voted on a permanent basis after September 1.

LANDS LEASED

Leases of 88,506 acres of state land for oil and gas drilling brought the state $4,199,099.

Land Commissioner Bob Armstrong termed results of the sale better than expected.

Submerged tract bids totaled $2.26 million.

Highest bidder was Texas Oil and Gas Corp.—$708,400 for 642 acres in Ward County.

The School Land Board leased 4,317 acres of uplands for more than $1 million in bonus payments; 28,761 in Texas bays for $901,664 and 925 acres in Texas rivers, creeks, lakes and bayous for $27,114.

AG OPINIONS—Atty. Gen. John Hill held the legislature is limited in the amount of its appropriations to state employees and teacher retirement programs by a constitutional ceiling of six per cent of salaries paid participants.

In other recent opinions, Hill concluded:

- A school board may meet in closed session to discuss salaries of individual employees, but not to discuss salaries of a class.

- A commissioners court must pay reasonable attorneys' fees for lawyers named to represent indigent defendants.

- The Department of Public Safety must supply on request a magnetic tape containing data on Texas drivers over age 64.

- Class A and B misdemeanor complaints may be lodged before a justice of the peace.

- The Jefferson County Commissioners Court has no authority to prepare, approve or amend Jefferson County drainage district budgets.

- The Texas State Board of Landscape Architects may not authorize its licensees to perform plumbing acts without a plumbing license.

A state university can permit religious-oriented groups to use its meeting room on a non-discretionary, first-come-first-served basis, Atty. Gen. John Hill held.

In other recent opinions, Hill concluded:

- Value of a mobile home should be included with value of land it rests on for tax purposes.

- Residence of a liquor licensee does not have to be disclosed.

- Neither does a school district employee's letter of resignation.

- A dry portion of a justice precinct does not lose its status due to redistricting.

- A person who owns enough stock to insure election to a bank board of directors is not eligible to serve as a member of the State Banking Board.

- A state college has no authority to withhold faculty salary payments on grounds of neglect of duty such as tardiness in submitting grades.

- Governmental bodies should reveal the educational background and work experiences of its employees.

- The Legislature can limit the amount of funds that the State Board of Education can set aside out of the Available School Fund for use in providing free textbooks for public school students, Atty. Gen. John Hill held.

In other recent opinions, Hill concluded:

- The Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation can allocate unexpended balances as state grants-in-aid to community centers for mental health and retardation services.

- Counties can accept a vendor's lien note as partial payment for county school land and sell the notes at not less than current fair market value.

- A lawyer's correspondence addressed to a grand jury in behalf of a client is not prohibited as long as it contains no threat.

- Alcoholic Beverage Commission is not supposed to reveal the home addresses of liquor licensees.

- Employees of a licensed structural pest control specialist do not have to pay a license fee themselves.

- A county clerk is neither obligated nor permitted to accept a court-ordered waiver of the furnishing of the information concerning age, identification of the applicant or identification of the parent required on marriage license applications.

- Mental patients and the retarded doing institution-maintaining labor are not state employees for fringe benefit purposes.

Emergency Medical Care Plans Made By P.B.R.P.C.

Area elected officials, residents and Permian Basin Regional Planning Commission staff members are currently beginning a comprehensive study of existing emergency medical care in the Permian Basin. Beginning with an authorization by the PBRPC Board of Directors, the project is currently at the public meeting stage with various presentations before area city councils, county commissioners, and civic organizations to explain the study and receive vital input. Harley Reeves, Comprehensive Health Planner for the Commission, is directing the project with assistance from various medical and professional persons, elected officials and local government staffs.

The fundamental objective of the proposed E.M.S. program is to design, implement and begin operation of an Emergency Medical System, which has the necessary features and characteristics including overall unified management and operations approaches, for providing excellent and easily accessible EMS to all individuals within the Permian Basin on a 24 hour basis. The system would include the development of an efficient central dispatch communications network as a dominant part of the system.

Many of the goals of the proposed system provide for regional cooperation among entities in delivering medical care. Implementation of trauma centers to provide emergency treatment on a 24-hour basis from any accessible location in the region is a fundamental part of the program study. Along with treatment, there is also a priority on developing easy access to important medical data on individual cases. Training capabilities for persons working on EMS projects is also needed and will be an important part of any proposal.

The study is financed by a contract from the State Department of Health to undertake the massive study for $6000.00. The cost is less expensive than most projects of a similar nature due to the immense amount of data and information about the region already available to PBRPC.

A significant part of the study is being conducted by NASA. This effort is being managed by Dr. Sam Lee Pool and Norman Belasco of the NASA Johnson Space Center, Houston, Tx. Earl Cravens from NASA has been in the region for the past three weeks working with PBRPC staff and area elected officials in surveying the needs of the region. NASA has also provided a vast amount of information and medical expertise in providing for the study of Emergency Medical Care. Richard Sinder-son and John Miller of NASA are concurrently conducting in-depth studies of the required regional communications networks.

The EMS Committee, is the beginning effort in setting up advisory groups in each area, which will eventually include 200 to 300 persons from the public sector. The initial committee approved by the PBRPC Board of Directors, consists of officials in the member counties and includes Sheriff Dalton Hogg of Sanderson.

This important project for the Permian Basin, undertaken on behalf of the area local government officials attempts to study the development of the necessary methods and techniques for insuring that all individuals in the Permian Basin Region, both residents and visitors, are adequately aware of the most effective approaches for obtaining emergency medical services.

Give Up Meat Once A Week?

In one year, if you're an average American, you probably eat about 175 pounds of meat, including 109 pounds of beef. In a lifetime, some experts have figured out, you'll devour the equivalent of 33 hogs, 10 lambs, 8 steers and 4 calves.

Although this may indicate your affluence, the trouble is that your taste for animal protein is using up an amazing amount of grain. In effect, "the rich man's meat takes away the poor man's bread." Basic foods that could help overcome malnutrition and starvation are fed instead to livestock to satisfy our luxurious eating habits.

If we were to give up eating meat one day a week, think how much grain it would save for the starving people of the world, suggests Catholic Relief Services (CRS), which gives assistance each year to more than 75 countries around the globe.

How much would it save? Look at these figures. It takes a pound of grain to make a pound of bread. It takes two pounds of grain to produce a chicken, four pounds of grain to make a pound of pork and eight pounds of grain to produce a pound of beef.

Beef consumption exceeded pork consumption in this country for the first time in 1954; the average American ate 56 pounds of beef that year. Now with the United States population much bigger and beef prices much higher, the per capita consumption of beef is 109 pounds a year.

Commodity experts say that most grain and soybeans grown in the United States are consumed by animals, along with an ever-increasing amount elsewhere in the world.

Another point to consider is that there will be 72 million more humans for the world to feed one year from today. They will require 30 million tons of grain, which represents 40 percent of America's present grain exports.

One good way to beat these statistics nutritionally is to develop a taste for other forms of protein, such as fish. The average American eats about 12 pounds of fish a year, compared with the 117 pounds consumed by the Norwegians and the 100 pounds eaten by the Japanese.

And many people are finding that a good way to help the world's hungry peoples is by contributing to the work of CRS through the American Catholic Overseas Aid Appeal at your local Catholic Church or mail to ACOAA, 1011 First Avenue, New York, N. Y. 10022.
