VOLUME 68, NUMBER 20

SANDERSON, TERRELL COUNTY, TEXAS 79848

MAY 15, 1975

It Depends on How You Look At It!

We got a news release from Governor Dolph Briscoe this week giving his version of the proposed state aid to public schools.

All committees and individuals working on all the various proposals for financing the schools of the state are presenting their own infallible versions and it is interesting to read and hear and see what all is being proposed.

Governor Briscoe's proposal and his news release says "One of the main thrusts of my program is to equalize tax payer effort. With limited state dollars, some districts of average or better than average wealth or taxing ability would not receive increased state aid, but would not be penalized in reduced state aid."

And Terrell County is shown to presently be receiving $53,000, and under the Governor's new plan would receive $110,000.

The Governor's news release continues: "No school district in Texas would be required to increase local taxes to pay for any part of my plan except those wealthier districts which would need to increase their effort to provide for any teacher salary increase approved by the legislature.

"The time has come to substantially equalize educational opportunities and taxpayer efforts in the state system of public education. If we do not, I can assure you that the courts will. We have as choices a legislative solution or a court-ordered solution. I prefer -- and think the vast majority of Texans prefer -- legislative action now. It can be done in this regular session of the legislature, within available state revenues and without new taxes."

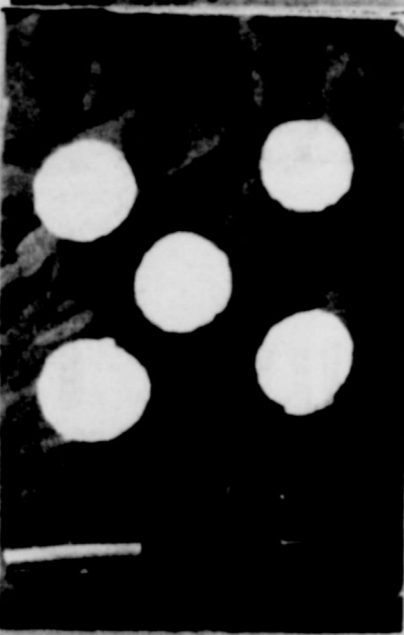

Personally, we think that some of the proposals have more merit than that presented by the Governor, but we do agree with his statement: "We have as choices a legislative solution or a court-ordered solution."

The odd thing is, that if the individual counties of the state had done what they should have done, the need for legislative or court action would not have been necessary.

At least that's the way that it looks to us!

There were reports of heavier and larger hail in the Dryden area than locally last Thursday, but about the same amount of hail. From what we have seen, there was more damage there proportionately than in Sanderson, too. Several glass panes were broken out of windows and hail stacked up on the top of the building housing the Dryden Mercantile and postoffice caused water to come into the building through damage done by hail to the roof causing some inconvenience and a little damage to those facilities.

A view of the top of the Dryden Mercantile Co. and Post-office Building shows the extent of hail damage there Thursday afternoon late, also a picture of some of the hail stones that fell in Sanderson the same day. There was some melting evidenced by the hailstones prior to the picture. The hail stripped many local trees and shrubs of much of their foliage and fruit trees' harvest was diminished considerably. Some damage was reported to local windshields and local glass, and there was also extensive damage to glass windows in Dryden. About one-half inch of rainfall came with the hail.

The second picture shows five hailstones that fell in Sanderson Thursday of last week. The pen is for comparison of size.

Reg Monroe, 54, Area Rancher, Dies In Angelo

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon at 3:00 o'clock from the First Presbyterian Church for Herbert Reginald Monroe, 54, who died Sunday afternoon in a San Angelo hospital. He had major surgery there Tuesday morning and his condition was regarded as critical until his death. Funeral arrangements were under the supervision of the Janes Funeral Home of Ozona.

Mr. Monroe was born April 27, 1921 in Fort Stockton. He attended Sanderson schools and after graduation was a full-time rancher in the eastern part of Terrell County. In recent years he also had employment with Lo Vaca Gathering Co. He served five years in the U.S. Marine Corps during World War II, four years of which were spent overseas.

Mr. Monroe married Reba Nell Sutton February 23, 1949, in Sanderson. Born to that union were Marsha Monroe, a graduate student at AGM University, and Jimmy Monroe, who preceded him in death in 1973.

Survivors include his widow, the daughter; two brothers, Son Monroe of Iraan and M.G. Northcut of Fort Stockton; and a sister, Mrs. J.A. Mansfield of Sanderson.

Burial was in Cedar Grove Cemetery following services at the church conducted by Rev. David C. Marx, pastor.

Pallbearers included: David Winters of Del Rio, Sid Harkins, Dudley Harrison, Jack Riggs, Jack Hayre, Austin Chriesman, Gilbert Bell, and Troy Druse.

It's time to pay for The Times! $3 in county, $3.50 elsewhere.

County Agent Is Approved By Commissioners

A county agent was approved by the Terrell County Commissioners' Court at their regular meeting on Monday. Several visitors voiced approval of the proposal and following several opinions being expressed a vote of the group approved the proposal by a 3-1 vote. Austin Chriesman was the commissioner casting the dissenting vote.

Other action of the commissioners included the following:

- Approved the minutes of the preceding meetings;
- Approved and allowed the bills presented;
- Tabled the retirement and/or hospitalization insurance program, and the tax attorney proposal;
- Approved enforcing dog registration law, authorized the county treasurer to order tags to be given to dog owners at the time of registration, and made plans to have a rabies vaccination clinic, if possible in the near future;

- No bids were received on the Gaines County School Land mineral lease which has expired;
- Awarded contract to Cassel Roofing Co. of Pecos for new roof for the courthouse;
- Agreed to pay balance of flood memorials not to exceed $1,100;
- Granted the use of the southwest room of the ground floor of the court house to the Terrell County Historical Survey Committee;
- Authorized "outreach" worker to accompany food stamp man for 2 days a month at no cost to the county;
- Heard letter of recommendation from Deputy Sheriff Harvey Glenn;
- Named Graham Childress as representative from the Terrell County Commissioners Court to the RC&D program;
- Sent opposition of Texas HB-463 to state representative and senator - the bill would authorize the state comptroller to assess and levy taxes in the county;
- Authorized a four-way stop sign at the intersection of Hackberry and 2nd St., between St. James Catholic Church, court house block, and junior high and high school blocks.

Pap Test Clinic Is Saturday

Marquez Wins State Mile Run; Holds 2 Records

Ricky Marquez won the mile race at the state track meet for the fourth consecutive year Saturday afternoon. The three previous wins were in Class A and this year Sanderson was reduced to Class B. Marquez' time was the fastest ever for him - 4:15.3 - which also established a new record.

Accounts of the race in papers and by Coach George Black were that Marquez was pushed hard by Kalith Brown of Dawson throughout the race and the lead was exchanged between the two lads several times. It was in the last lap that Marquez took the lead and refused to be overtaken by Brown during the rest of the race even though the runners were shoulder-to-shoulder. Brown's time was given at 4:15.5.

State SCS Crew Here for Surveys

The first on-site detailed survey work of the Soil Conservation Service engineering crew in preparation of the beginning of the Sanderson Canyon Watershed Flood Control Project began this week. The crew arrived in Sanderson on Monday.

It was learned that the crew would begin working on details of Site 8 - just west of U.S. 285 and the W.H. Goldwire ranch house, and on channel deepening and clearing work on the 3-mile Canyon.

Mr. and Mrs. Hollis Haley of Marathon were Sunday visitors with her mother, Mrs. Lizzie Billings, and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Grigsby made a business trip to Fort Stockton Saturday and then went to McCamey to visit his bother, L.R. Grigsby, and family.

One of Sanderson's young men in 1916 - Carl Cochran - in the front yard of the J.W. McKee home on Oak St. The toys belonged to Sybil and Myrl McKee (Mmes. W.H. Savage of Sanderson and Mrs. T.Maxe Hart of San Antonio) and Mrs. McKee loaned us the picture.

The moisture was welcome, but the hailstorm was a frightening thing for residents of both Sanderson and Dryden. We have not heard of any extensive damage to rangeland, but would not be surprised to hear of some, as large as the hailstones were!

Our personal - and we hope that we can speak for all of the residents of the county - and voice on their behalf congratulations to Ricky Marquez for having earned the distinguished record of winning the state mile run in his class for four consecutive years and holding the state records in that event in both Class A and Class B. A very unusual accomplishment - but he's an unusual young man!

Sanderson High School and Terrell County are proud of the student.

Aging insulation may be costing you money

Even though your home was properly insulated when it was built, the attic insulation may have settled. This can waste money and energy. Settling and deterioration of insulation may be caused by age or by dampness entering the attic through cracks, louvers or leaks. Measure the insulation. If it isn't up to the six inch level recommended by heating and cooling specialists... it's time to add more. Also check weather stripping around doors. Have someone shine a flashlight around the edges of each closed door. If light shines through, the weather stripping is insufficient and should be replaced.

COMMUNITY PUBLIC SERVICE

National Shrine Hospital Day - May 18

HISTORY

The Shriners Hospitals for crippled children and its wholly-owned Shriners Burns Institutes...the world's greatest philanthropy...continues its vital role of returning crippled and burned children to their rightful place in society.

Since the first Shrine Hospital opened in 1922, more than 200,000 children have been cured or materially helped. This achievement represents a significant investment in the future of our country.

Since the first hospital was opened, 18 more have been added for crippled children plus three Shriners Burns Institutes. Today these 19 Shrine Hospitals and three Burns Institutes form a chain of defense against illness and death that spans the continental United States, Hawaii, Canada and Mexico.

Nation's 1st Burns Trauma Center

The first federally-recognized Burns Trauma Center in the United States is being established at the Boston Unit, Shriners Burns Institute, and adjacent Massachusetts General Hospital.

The National Institute of Health has awarded the Burn Trauma Center a three-year grant of $789,504 to try to lift some of the shrouds of obscuring medical knowledge about burns and thus bring innovations in treatment.

Project Director of the Burn Trauma Center is Dr. John F. Burke, the Boston Unit's Chief Surgeon and Chief of Staff. Involved heavily in the research will be Dr. James B. Caulfield, pathologist at the Shriners Burns Institute. Some 25 researchers will be used and facilities of the Shriners Burns Institute will be used for every study. The Shriners Burns Institute and MGH will join in all of the investigations.

Main thrust of the study will be investigations into lung damage, wound healing and disturbances in metabolism, the body's basic energy and tissue producing mechanism. Another major burn problem, post-injury pain, is expected to be researched.

Why a patient can remain critical for three or four months and the causes for delayed damage in a burn wound will be the job of Dr. Caulfield and fellow researchers.

Heated gasses can cause lung damage, but some burned persons without injury involving the lungs also develop lung difficulties.

The lungs may also process certain chemicals and Dr. Caulfield wants to find out if burns cause an overproduction of these chemicals, thus overloading the lungs and interfering with breathing.

Burns mysteriously cause body metabolism to speed up. Nutritional difficulties weaken the patient and if the process is not checked protein tissue, and muscles, break down in the ability to feed itself.

Researchers feel that the Center's work and study may continue for decades.

AVERAGE 38 DAYS

During the first 10 months of 1974 the average length of stay in orthopedic Units of Shriners Hospitals was 38 days. The cost per inpatient averaged $2,047.94.

The 19 Units processed 5,259 new applications for admission, and permanently discharged 3,957 patients. A total of 7,363 were admitted to orthopedic Units.

SHRINERS HOSPITALS FOR CRIPPLED CHILDREN

Shriners Hospitals are open to any crippled or burned child, regardless of race or creed, from infancy to 15 years of age, whose parents or guardians are unable to pay for the necessary medical care.

Children afflicted with congenital deformities, diseases of the bone, joints or muscles, and where there is a reasonable possibility that treatment can benefit the child, are eligible. Both in-patients and out-patients are treated.

All medical costs, including clothing, toilet articles, laundry, linen, barbering, dental care, braces, crutches, and any other necessary appliances are provided without cost to parent or guardian.

Each Shriners Orthopedic Hospital offers complete diagnostic services, surgical procedures, application of casts, provides for braces and artificial limbs, X-ray, physical therapy and recreational therapy. At each hospital, medical care is blended with love, so that physical handicaps never need to be an insurmountable barrier.

THE SHRINERS BURNS INSTITUTES

The idea for the first Shriners Burns Institute was proposed in 1962, and the first seven-bed wing of John Sealy Hospital on the University of Texas campus, Medical Branch, opened at Galveston on November 1, 1963. Since then, wholly-owned Shriners Burns Institutes have been opened in Boston and Cincinnati.

The Burns Institutes have a three-fold purpose -- (1) to save children's lives and restore their bodies through intensive care to prevent the crippling effects of severe burns, (2) to undertake research in burns therapy and to advance medicine's ability to care for and treat children with violent burns, and (3) to instruct medical personnel in the care and treatment of burned children.

Severely burned infants and children through the age of 15, whose parents or guardians are unable to pay for the needed surgical, medical and hospital facilities, are accepted without cost to parent or guardian. Burns cause one of the greatest shocks to the human body, and no injury produces such great pain. The Shriners Burns Institutes have helped more than 4,000 children return to a normal and healthy full life.

EDITORIAL WITHOUT WORDS

The Shrine Nobles throughout North America firmly believe that "never does a Shriner stand so tall as when he stoops to help a crippled child". This little girl is only one of the more than 160,000 crippled and burned children who have been cured or materially helped by the 22 Shriners Hospitals for Crippled Children -- the world's greatest philanthropy.

Our country's children are the most important asset we possess. This achievement represents a significant investment in them, and in insurance in their future and the future of America.

University of Texas Joins Shrine Clinic

Early in November the new Clinical Genetics Center was opened at the Houston Unit, Shriners Hospitals for Crippled Children, in cooperation with the University of Texas Medical School.

The affiliation agreement was effected in May 1972, and the November 5 open house marked the fulfillment and implementation of the agreement.

Among those attending were P. L.P. George A. Mattison Jr. and P. I.P.C. Victor Thornton, both members of the Board of Trustees, Shriners Hospitals for Crippled Children.

Fifty-five years ago the first patient under the sponsorship of Arabia Temple of Houston was admitted to Baptist Hospital. For a number of years Arabia Temple continued to foot the bills of numerous patients admitted to various Houston hospitals.

In 1932 the Blue Bird Circle of Methodist Church erected a frame Building on the grounds of the old Methodist hospital and all Shrine patients were transferred to the new building.

Supplemental Income Recipients To Be Queried

Persons who receive Supplemental Security Income monthly payments from the Federal Government are now receiving requests for information from representatives of the Social Security Administration, according to Ervin L. Fisher Jr., District Manager of the Odessa Social Security office.

"The representatives will be requesting information that will determine the person's continued right to receive Supplemental Security Income," Fisher said. He noted that Congress, in writing the Supplemental Security Income program into law, made a provision for the periodic review of the recipient's eligibility to the benefit as well as to the amount of the benefit he should receive. This review is necessary because the status of persons eligible for Supplemental Security Income will change from time to time. Fisher pointed out that the Social Security Administration representatives would be reviewing the requirements for Supplemental Security Income benefits with the recipients. Included in the review will be the person's income, resources, residence, marital status, and living arrangements.

Persons who are receiving Supplemental Security Income should be prepared to give the above information at the interview that will be arranged for them by the Social Security Administration, Fisher concluded.

Snake Season Calls for Caution

Like it or not, snakes are a part of springtime!

The presence of snakes should not dampen your enjoyment of the outdoors since snake safety is largely a matter of preventing poisonous bites.

Officials at the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department say that a significant number of snakebites occur around the home. At home, it is a matter of making the environment less attractive for snakes.

Vacant lots should be kept mowed, trash piles picked up and lumber and wood stacked off the ground.

Rattlesnakes depend on rodents for food. Rid your home site of rats and mice and you will make it less attractive for snakes.

Most people are bitten on the hands and feet. Keep your hands out of gopher holes or tree hollows. Use a stick or other lever to turn over a rock rather than your hands. Don't gather firewood at night.

As much as possible, keep to open ground. Avoid dense grass and weeds.

High-top shoes worn with long trousers will protect against most copperhead bites and strikes from small rattlesnakes.

Ten-inch hunting boots and trousers will protect against many rattlesnakes, but if you frequent notoriously snake-infested areas such as the South Texas brush country, consider wearing snake boots and leggings.

During the mild days of early spring, snakes may be found sunning themselves in direct sunlight. But after the weather grows hot, snakes will retreat to cool shady areas.

Don't panic if you encounter a snake. Stop, look back over the trail you have covered to make sure you haven't missed stepping on another reptile and then slowly back away.

There are four types of poisonous snakes in Texas: rattlers, copperheads, cottonmouths, and coral snakes.

Cottonmouths are found near water and are most abundant in the eastern part of the state.

Wooded areas with leafy ground cover are a favorite area for copperheads.

Rattlesnakes like the same areas preferred by rabbits and

Report of BOB KRUEGER U.S. Representative

Sometimes with the many large questions that a congressman has to address, there may be a temptation to overlook the seemingly small questions. But sometimes these small questions can have a large impact for a particular region. I encountered one example of this last week.

The energy committee on which I serve is preparing a major comprehensive energy bill. One part of the bill would establish average fuel efficiency for car manufacturers by 1980. The total production of a manufacturer in that year would have to average 20.5 miles per gallon or else the manufacturer would have to pay a penalty. Thus, for example, if one car averaging 17.5 mpg is produced, another car averaging 23.5 mpg would have to be made.

Under the original proposal, trucks under 5 tons would have to meet the same standards as cars. This seemed to me grossly unfair and unwise. Trucks are intended to haul heavy loads, to cover rough terrain, and to be service vehicles that primarily move goods rather than people. Therefore, the engines and axle ratios of trucks are geared for power rather than simply for fuel economy. Trucks might have to have engines too small to move the loads for which they are required if they had to meet the same fuel economy standards as cars.

Therefore, I offered an amendment exempting all trucks from the specified standards for cars. The amendment passed unanimously in committee and I am confident that pick-up trucks can now be designed and manufactured to carry loads rather than just transport people. Since there are 227,564 pick-ups driven by rural Texans compared with only 162,343 cars, this amendment, minor as it might seem in the national scheme of things, could have a major impact for our district. I believe that with this amendment, Americans can expect both more economical cars and trucks that fit their needs.

Mr. and Mrs. Austin Nance made a business trip to Odessa Wednesday.

Last week Mr. and Mrs. S.C. Harrell went to San Angelo and their cousin, Mrs. Julia Graham, accompanied them on a trip over the Bluebonnet Trails in the Central Texas area.

Willis Harrell is scheduled to be dismissed from the El Paso hospital today and will return home after being there for five weeks for treatments following surgery.

rodents. Many of the serious diamondback bites which occur in Texas are inflicted on berry hunters.

More than 7,000 people are bitten by venomous snakes each year in the United States but less than 20 die from the bites. In Texas, which has the highest mortality figure for snake bites, during a 10-year period the average number of deaths per year is four.

While seldom fatal, the bite of a poisonous snake is painful and can often cripple. Poisonous snakes deserve respect, but an awareness of how to avoid their bite will make spring in the Texas outdoors a richer experience.

The best treatment for a snakebite, according to some sources, is the quickest possible treatment by a physician. Other treatments are recommended, such as ice packs, sucking out poison and constrictive binding above the wound, but persons should familiarize themselves with a specific treatment if they are the outdoors type and subject to being bitten by a snake out in the country and away from quick treatment by a physician.

Report of Mrs. Susan Gurley McBee Texas Representative

As we begin the last month of the legislative session, major issues that have been pending are coming rapidly to a head. School finance will be the first of the important items to be taken up by the House. There will be lengthy floor debate, and various substitute measures are expected to be offered. Many observers anticipate final details of the plan will be hammered out in a Senate-House Conference Committee. Utility regulation will follow and is expected to be a volatile subject. The utility regulation bill passed by the Senate differs markedly from the one passed out of the House State Affairs Committee. The House version will be up for debate first. Again, there will be many floor amendments offered; and then it will again be a question of if the Senate and the House agree on them. The appropriations bill will then be the next order of business.

The resolution to rescind the Equal Rights Amendment is still in a sub-committee in the House.

The proposed new state constitution will be up for approval by the voters in November. Before that time, every registered voter in the state will receive a copy of the draft of the constitution. In addition, my office will mail out an analysis of the new constitution and also a comparison of it with the present constitution. Target date for mailing the material is late summer and early fall.

My recent trip to Washington was most interesting and worthwhile. Meeting with the President and Secretary of State was informative, not to mention exciting. It was also very enlightening to have a chance to exchange ideas with the leaders of the other 49 states who attended the conference. I was pleasantly surprised to find that, as inefficient and ineffective as we often criticize our state government of being, Texas seems to be dealing with our problems in a more progressive and successful manner than many of the other states. It might seem hard to believe, but it's true!

AUSTIN — The Legislature is racing toward its closing date with most of its major assignments unfinished but with reasonable hopes of finishing many of them.

School finance debate began this week in the House, while the Senate Education Committee wrestled with its version of how to help equalize educational opportunity.

When all is said and done, a bill in the $600 million range seems likely to emerge, with school teachers assured of a starting pay of $7,600 to $8,000 a year.

The Senate has passed a bill to establish a three-member statewide utilities regulatory commission, and the action this week switches to the House where a rival measure is pending.

Conference committees will get the job of working out differences between the two houses over both school finance and utilities regulation. Final agreement on a utilities bill is a reasonable expectation.

Two-year budgets have now been drawn by both the Senate Finance and House Appropriations Committees. Both are expected to leave close to $600 million in unobligated revenues—most of which will go into the schools.

Some expect Comptroller Bob Bullock to revise his income forecasts to show $677 million in unspent revenues over and above the budget.

REDISTRICTING APPROVED

A prolonged fight over single-member House of Representatives districts has been settled in the House — but with minority groups still unhappy.

The House agreed on an omnibus redistricting measure for Travis, Jefferson, McLennan, Tarrant, Lubbock, Nueces, El Paso, Galveston and Hidalgo counties. Senate approval is still required. Jefferson, Tarrant and Nueces county spokesmen threatened a challenge in federal court.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Last week The Times received three letters we thought were interesting from readers out of town. One was from Mrs. Carl Davis who sent her regards to local friends and gave us some interesting ideas for future possible use, and she also gave some verbal bouquets to a local friend. We showed the friend the letter and were asked not to publish the letter. Modesty got the better of the friend. We are complying with those wishes.

The other letter follows: "Herewith my check for $3.50 to cover my subscription to The Times for one year.

"I enjoy reading your paper and your article "It depends on how you look at it" is always interesting. It is always full of news items and the old pictures are especially interesting to me. Many of those in the pictures are old friends and school mates of mine and they bring back fond memories of my boyhood days in Sanderson which I enjoyed immensely.

"Yours very truly, "Arthur Murray" Ed. Note: If the author of the letter has any pictures of his boyhood days in Sanderson, we would be grateful for the privilege of helping to share them with our readers.

And this one from another reader:

"I look forward every week to getting The Sanderson Times. I read every word. There will always be a warm spot in my heart for Sanderson and its wonderful people. You are doing a great job. Keep it up.

"Best wishes ever "Lillian O'Neill".

Gun Demonstration Given Saturday

Inclement weather probably reduced the attendance at the gun demonstration Saturday evening at the rifle range southwest of town. The exhibition was sponsored by the Rio Grande Rifle and Pistol Club and the Terrell County Historical Survey Committee. There were 30 present.

Former Fort Stockton City Judge Ernest Resley, one of the state's and nation's foremost authorities on muzzle-loading rifles, gave a demonstration using his hand-made muzzle-loader with a beautiful stock of quilted maple in which were inset several insignias and emblems.

Garland Williams of Fort Stockton gave a demonstration of his flint-lock rifle. Much interest was manifested in the rifles and demonstrations with numerous questions asked of the two men.

Mrs. Resley and Mrs. Williams came with their husbands and everyone who had brought a sack lunch to the demonstration was invited to the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Hinkle to join the visitors for supper with iced tea and coffee being provided by the Historical Survey Committee.
