It Depends onHow You Look At It!

We had several nice comments from readers about our column last week on Lake Amistad and fishing. And then we had some comments from some who are not fishermen or water lovers that were not so complimentary! C'est la vie!

Our readers who send us notes along with their subscription renewals are pleasing us greatly. It is good to hear from our out-of-town friends and we are glad to pass along their news to other friends who are interested. We are not publishing all of the notes received, because some of them are just brief "howdies", or personal notes, but we appreciate all of them!

Clouds have teased parts of Terrell County for several days, putting some moisture in some places, but generally skipping most of the county. The same is true of the severe weather that has visited so many areas of West Texas particularly. We had some high winds and hail in the county, both of which did some damage, but none really severe.

And while all of the clouds come and go and the severe weather alerts keeps us watchful, we remain without much rain to benefit the ground and help to insure a good crop of weeds and grass for summer grazing of livestock.

It still rains on the just and unjust, but we wonder at times why the hands of the Almighty select the way they do and we also wonder why! There is a strong indication that, as usual, there has to be damaging rains to some areas before those same clouds bring very refreshing and beneficial moisture to this part of the state.

Maybe this paragraph should follow the first one, but what the heck? I was asked the other day if I was also going to take up golf. I had been an avid hunter, a former fisherman rejuvenated, and it was time now for golf. In case I do, it will be a rejuvenation there, too! My golfing days go back to golf club in high school, and when clubs were called mid-iron, niblick, spoon, etc. The trouble with that game is that you are always trying to beat yourself. And besides after I shot a golf, I didn't ever learn how to prepare it properly!

Our colleague Kitty Montgomery, who writes "Kitty's Korner" column in the Ozona Stockman -- she's also editor and publisher of that paper -- had a classic comment in last week's paper: "I'm damn-tired of our public officials acting like I'm a nosey old biddy when I ask for information with which to inform the public."

This kind of determination and the expression of it in

Construction of Flood Dams Awaits
Complete Acquisition of Easements

The Terrell County Commissioners Court, Judge Charles Stavley, and Commissioners W.W. Sudduth, Austin Chriesman, David Mitchell, and Graham Childress, and County Attorney Jack Hayre went to Temple Friday of last week to talk to officials of the Soil Conservation Service.

The purpose of the trip was to seek appropriations for the beginning of construction on the flood control dams in the Sanderson Canyon Watershed project.

The group was told that it was impossible to designate funds for the beginning of the construction of the flood control dams or channel clearance until the court processes of securing easements has been completed, according to County Judge Stavley.

Judge Stavley explained further that even though the decision to condemn the W.G. Downie property had been reached by the commissioners and the necessity for the "friendly suit" to secure the Lee McCue Estate property was necessary, existing policies, rules, and laws prohibited the beginning of construction until everything had been cleared and the sponsors had possession of all rights and titles to the land involved.

Judge Stavley stated that some preliminary work could be done by the Soil Conservation Service, such as on-site surveys, which would locate physically the design and plan for the dam construction, etc., preparatory to the beginning of construction.

Judge Stavley estimated that it would be 15-18 months before the court processes could be completed, but added that this was only a guess.

The 53rd birthday of the organization The Presbyterian Women of the Church was observed by the local group when 15 members met in the fellowship hall Monday afternoon. Mrs. Gilbert Bell, vice-president, presided and gave a devotional on "Joy" taken from "Leaves of Gold".

The recommendation from the Council that the group make a cash donation to the White Cross project for Korea in lieu of making things was adopted. The all-day meeting planned for the recent sewing project had to be cancelled on account of a funeral.

Work of SANYO Is Explained By Julian Rodriguez

Julian Rodriguez, son of Mr. and Mrs. Santiago Rodriguez of Sanderson, is executive director of the San Antonio Youth Organization, which services about 12,000 youths yearly through remedial education, job training, counseling, placement, recreation, and career and college planning. He is also a graduate of Sanderson High School and received his higher education at Texas Tech University in Lubbock.

SANYO became a 10-year-old operation last week and Rodriguez said he was proud of the positive role that has been played in the areas of youth development and juvenile delinquency, two of the prime areas of operation of the organization. The organization has a $4-million budget, and in service to the 12,000 San Antonio youngsters, Rodriguez stated that there was still more to do for juveniles. Most of the funding is by the U.S. Department of Labor through the City of San Antonio.

SANYO's Manpower Out-of-School Program, servicing some 600 school dropouts from September through May each school year, gets $75,000 of the budget, according to Rodriguez. Training areas under the school dropout setup include clerical, automotive, electrical, carpentry, radio and television, and nursing assistance. A special feature of the out-of-school program is a $1,000 scholarship awarded annually to one of its participants.

Another job-oriented project, the Manpower In-School Program, has been expanded in recent summers to handle approximately 5,000 students, helping them find jobs to work 30 to 40 hours weekly.

Federal funds for the mass summer-student hiring project amount to $2.4 million this year, Rodriguez said.

SANYO officials also take pride in its Juvenile Halfway House Program, started just three years ago. Rehabilitation services are provided delinquent males between 16 and 21. The residential program operates out of the original SANYO facility at 1000 Harriman Place.

SANYO, founded April 6, 1965, by Roman Catholic priest John W. Yanta, now occupies offices, class rooms, and shops of the sprawling old La Salle High School on the South Side of San Antonio.

Mrs. Bernard Kerr of San Antonio left May 18 with a guided tour for a two-weeks' trip to Europe.

Mrs. Jack Wood of San Angelo, F.M. Wood's mother, fractured her hip last Saturday when she fell from her bed in a San Angelo hospital. She underwent orthopedic surgery Monday and is reported to be in satisfactory condition. Mr. and Mrs. Wood had been with her but he returned home the last of the week.

James Druse, son of Mr. and Mrs. Troy Druse, returned home last week from Texas Tech after completing his sophomore year. Hudson Kerr, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Kerr, was at home for a few days and will attend the summer session of the university. Miss Sheryl Stewart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T.J. Stewart, has remained in Lubbock and will be employed this summer. Miss Jackie Bob Riggs will return to Texas Tech for the summer term. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Riggs.

TYPICAL CROSS SECTION OF CHANNEL IMPROVEMENT

Immediately Above Railroad Bridge No. 516.23

The improvement of the channel in Sanderson Canyon for a distance of 1,800 feet is the first scheduled work to be accomplished on the Sanderson Canyon Watershed Flood Control Project, according to the Watershed Workplan book published by the Soil Conservation Service. The project is expected to be completed in one year and is the only phase of the project expected to be completed in the first year of construction, according to the work plan.

The proposed cost of the channel improvement work was estimated to be $9,868 when the plan was devised in November of 1969, but is expected to be much higher at the presently inflated costs.

The planned channel improvement will not significantly change the regimen of Sanderson Canyon. Channel improvement will consist of a trainer dike, excavation, and modification of exit and approach sections to Southern Pacific Company railroad bridge number 516.23. An apurtenance to channel improvement will be a 90-foot prestressed concrete bridge extension.

Alteration of the exit and approach reaches to the railroad bridge will extend approximately 1,000 feet upstream and 800 feet downstream from the bridge. The depth of excavation will range from 0.5 to 3.0 feet. The material through which the channel will be excavated consists of moderately well graded gravel containing scattered cobbles and boulders. The present channel contains extensive gravel bars and the lowest portion is armor-plated. The planned channel improvement will have a 200-foot bottom, 3:1 side slopes, and a slightly depressed center to prevent low flows from meandering.

The dike will be set on the edge of the channel excavation and have side slopes of 3:1 with a 12-foot top. Material to be excavated from the channel is suitable for use as a mass fill for the dike. Sufficient quantities of course-grained material are available to interface rock riprap.

Rock riprap is planned for the inside and outside curves of channel improvement upstream from the railroad bridge. Riprap for the inside curve is planned to extend approximately 70 feet upstream from the bridge. The outside curve will have riprap for approximately 370 feet upstream from the bridge.

The planned dike will be built to prevent floodwaters from leaving the improved channel and flowing eastward along Downie Street in Sanderson. The dike will be constructed approximately three feet above the natural ground and will extend about 600 feet upstream from the bridge in the east side of the improved channel.

The 90-foot bridge extension to be added to the present twelve 10x9-foot box culverts will be three 30-foot spans of prestressed concrete.

Two side inlets enter the segment of planned channel improvement above the planned dike. Inlet structures will be reinforced concrete drops or chutes.

Excavation of channel material not used in construction of the trainer dike will be disposed of by placement or spoiling within the rights-of-way.

The present railroad bridge and the planned 90-foot extension have a skewness of 17 degrees. This small angle of skewness will create some turbulence in the upstream entrance to the bridge. The planned rock riprap and armor-plated channel bottom will tolerate this turbulence. However, the sponsors have been made aware of the possible maintenance problem in this portion of channel improvement.

The 100-year frequency flood will be contained within the section of channel improvement, according to the work plan book, the source of all of the above information concerning the channel improvement project.

Mr. and Mrs. J.T. Williams of Fort Davis, former residents of Sanderson, visited with Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Brown and family the first of the week.

Mr. and Mrs. T.J. Stewart and Ronnie went to Roswell, N.M., to attend the high school graduation of her niece, Lori Whittaker. Miss Sheryl Stewart met them there and they went back to Lubbock with her and spent the weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Clifford returned home Monday night from Sierra Blanca where they had visited his mother, Mrs. Mary Clifford, for three days.

Cutberto Gonzales went to Soledad, Calif., by plane from Midland to attend the funeral services Tuesday for his uncle, Florentino Rodriguez, who had been found dead at his home after an apparent heart attack. He rode Amtrak home Saturday.

Lindsey Paul Hicks, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lin Hicks of Sonora, is a graduate of high school in that city. The family formerly lived in Terrell County and he was reared on the ranch now owned by W.F. Roden. Young Hicks plans to attend Southern Methodist University in the fall and major in pre-dentistry.

Rev. and Mrs. Richard Treat and Tricia left Sunday night for Portales, N.M., and will go to Glorieta to attend the annual conference of the Methodist Churches of the New Mexico Conference which opened Monday afternoon. He is pastor of the Dryden-Sanderson charge. Appointments will be read Thursday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Carlton White left Sunday afternoon for Brownfield to spend the night with Rev. and Mrs. M.A. Walker, former residents, before going to Glorieta Monday. Mrs. White, who is chairman of the administrative board of the First United Methodist Church here, is the lay delegate to the conference.

record appropriations bill for 1976-77. There is really little controversy, and the budget will be ready for final approval by adjournment deadline Tuesday.

— Public school finance reform. There is plenty of controversy here, with the outcome likely to remain in doubt until near the final gavel. Gov. Dolph Briscoe shows every sign of being determined to veto any measure which overspends revenue in sight.

— Utility regulation through a state commission. Again, there are strong differences between the House and the Senate majority. House leaders insist they have compromised enough in getting their bill passed and want nothing weaker. They are backed by a well-organized citizens group which has served notice it will have the House bill or nothing.

Conference reports can be passed by a bare majority, and they are subject to no amendments.

Oil Increasing

For the 39th straight month, the Texas Railroad Commission has set a wide-open 100 per cent statewide oil production allowable.

Commission Chairman Ben Ramsey said indications are Texas production is "beginning to stabilize and possibly show a slight increase."

The big East Texas field, a deviation from the all-out production pattern, will be held to 86 per cent.

Industries Slow

Only 15 new industries located in Texas during April, compared with a 25-per-month average in 1974.

Jim Harwell, executive director of Texas Industrial Commission, said the 15 will have an annual impact of $137 million on the Texas economy and create nearly 4,000 new jobs.
