THE SANDERSON TIMES

VOLUME 68, NUMBER 41 SANDERSON, TERRELL COUNTY, TEXAS 79848 OCTOBER 9, 1975

It Depends on How You Look At It!

We had occasion the other day to be reminded of something that to us is peculiar, if not downright funny! Maybe you have noticed it, maybe you haven't!

The way different people eat eggs ---

We have been on outings and on occasion we have also been a breakfast cook and supper salad maker on outings, and listened to "customers" orders of eggs and then watched as they ate them. These are some of those observances.

Some people like their eggs "once over easy" and some say "blindfolded", and others "don't care -- just cooked done".

The first two like the cook to "caress" the eggs with the grease that is "just right hot", and gently fold the egg over in the skillet so as not to bruise the tender parts of the egg, and then take it up at the precise moment of "done". The egg is taken out tenderly and eased onto the plate for the "customer" in an effort to escape his early-morning ire.

Then when he sits down to eat the egg, that is something else!

With knife in one hand and a fork in the other, he attacks the egg as though it were a thousand scorpions attempting to run off the plate and sting him. Not until the egg is a mass of yellow-white goo that has lost its identity as a delicacy, is he satisfied to stop his onslaught. Then the mass is literally slopped onto a piece of toast, biscuit, then consumed, or hastily mixed with bacon and eaten.

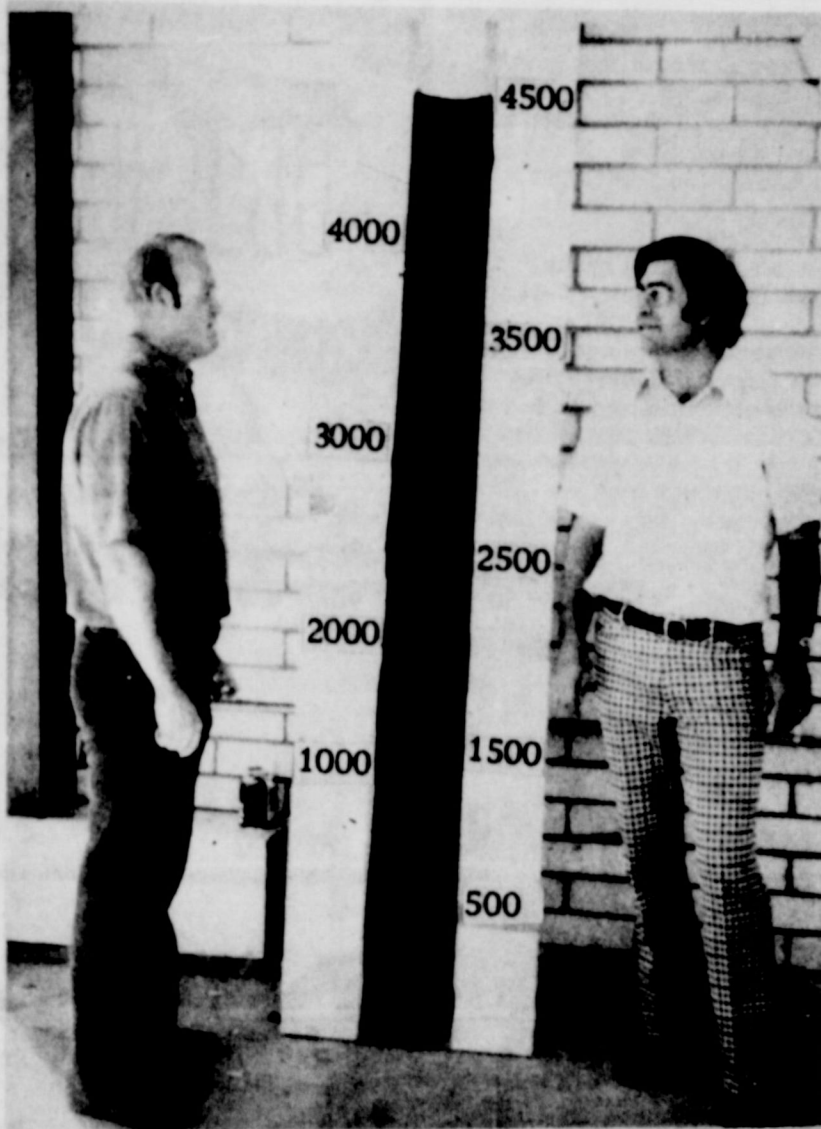

We like the scrambled egg eaters, personally. They seem to relish the flavor of the food and the "fighting" has already been accomplished by the cook in the preparation of the eggs for cooking.

And boiled or poached egg eaters know how to enjoy eating an egg, too! They don't have to "fight" the egg before they eat it, either; but some of them are rather touchy about how long the egg is cooked, if boiled.

All of which is to say that each of us has his own peculiarities, and we just have to tolerate them!

 The Times has been asked to relay to readers a plea from residents near Eagle Field. The plea is to please not park off the streets in yards and not block driveways of residents. Since the construction of the track north of the football field, parking inside the enclosed area of the field is even more restricted than previously, causing many fans to have to park on the streets some distance from the field. Out-of-town fans, at times, unwittingly park in driveways of local residents, which at times causes some inconven-

George Eggleston and County Judge Charles Stavley watch the thermometer register the receipts of contributions for the needed $5,000 to complete the park-pool project funding. More to the story is at the right.

Park-Pool Project Nears Goal of $5,000 Needed To Complete Matching Fund

County Judge Charles Stavley reported just before noon Tuesday that about $4,500 had been contributed toward the total of $5,000 needed by residents of the county to assure the park-pool project that has been planned for the Clark property just west of the courthouse. Stavley stated that he felt very confident that the balance would be raised in the next few days as there were many local residents that were out of town Saturday when the fund-drive concentration was carried out.

Judge Stavley asked that anyone who had been missed in the door-to-door campaign to please see him to hand in their contribution or to leave it at The Times office.

A thermometer built especially for the project, kept track of the receipts toward the total fund, marking off $500 denominations in the rise of the red line of the thermometer.

The bake sale held in connection with the fund drive, netted $226.00 toward the total goal.

Local volunteers made the house-to-house canvass Saturday to collect the funds.

The $5,000 needed was to complete a $20,000 fund-matching demand of the Texas Parks and Recreation Board for the purchase of the property and improvements. The Terrell County Commissioners Court agreed to $15,000 of the total $20,000 needed by Terrell County to assure the grant from the state agency.

The property is that half of the block east of the Church of Christ and contains a swimming pool that needs additional work, many large and small pecan trees, a water well, etc., an ideal site for a public park, according to many local citizens.

If you were missed in asking for contributions to the park-pool project - you still may give! See Judge Stavley.

One Killed In Wreck Near Here

Miss Linda Sue Smith, 22, of Del Rio was pronounced dead on arrival at Big Bend Memorial Hospital in Alpine Saturday morning from injuries sustained in a one-car accident about four miles west of Sanderson, according to Tom Lowrance, Texas Highway Patrolman stationed here. Lowrance stated that the young man driving the car said that he attempted to dodge a deer and the station wagon roll-over occurred, resulting in the fatality. Another man in the vehicle and the driver received only minor injuries, and Miss Smith received massive head injuries, Lowrance reported.

Miss Smith was born June 19, 1953, in Andrews and had lived in Phoenix, Ariz., prior to moving to Del Rio three weeks ago. She was a cosmetologist.

Geeslin Funeral Home of Alpine was in charge of the body and local arrangements. Burial was Tuesday in Phoenix.

Deer Season Dates Told Sportsmen

Saturday, November 29, is the opening day of deer season in the Trans-Pecos area of Texas. Hunters who have questions about the harvesting of deer should consult a game department to obtain details of hunting.

The season will run through December 14 for blacktail deer west of the Pecos, and there will be some additional days allotted to whitetail deer hunting west of the Pecos.

Also, October 18 is the opening day for goose season in the Trans-Pecos area.

October 25 is the opening day for sandhill crane season in the Trans-Pecos part of the state.

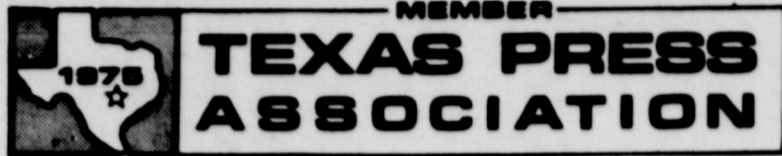

November 15 is the opening day for quail season in all of the Trans-Pecos counties.

Junior High Wins Over Iraan 20-6

The Sanderson Junior High School Eagles won their second game of the season over Iraan 8th graders here Thursday afternoon. The final score was 20-6.

Coach Carlos Garza stated that the 8th graders played most of the game, but he used the 7th graders in the final period for about four minutes. The 7th graders were able to move the ball against Iraan, and they were also able to contain the Iraan offense, even causing the Braves to fumble and recovering the ball for their offense. Garza stated that there was an improvement in the 8th graders over the first meeting with Iraan and their team work was much better in Thursday's game.

Rudy Licon ran 20 yards on a sweep and a touchdown in the first period. In the second period, Milby Winn ran 40 yards on a wingback reverse for a touchdown. Both efforts for extra points failed and the half-time score was 12-0.

In the third frame, Licon returned a punt 55 yards and a touchdown and Scott McDonald ran over center for two extra points.

Iraan's score was in the fourth frame and on a 4-yard play.

The junior high Eagles will go to Imperial Thursday for their second meeting with that team. Their first meeting was in Sanderson with the Eagles winning.

The Class A Rankin Red Devils took advantage of the Class B Sanderson Eagles there Friday night and ran up 38 points for an impressive win.

Rankin made 23 first downs to six for Sanderson and compiled 258 yards on the ground and 68 in the air, compared with 53 and 12 for the Eagles.

Rankin completed five of nine passes and Sanderson had two of four in the pass department. The Red Devils were penalized eight times for 90 yards, lost the ball three times on fumbles, and punted three times.

Sanderson was penalized four times for 40 yards, lost the ball once on a fumble, and punted 10 times.

The first quarter was scoreless, and most of the second period passed without a score.

A 40-yard pass from Clarke Turner to Doug McAnough resulted in the first score for Rankin.

In the third period, another pass from Turner to McAnough for three yards accounted for the second score. The third touchdown was on an off-tackle play from the 2-yard mark. Donnie Cole made the third TD. Hilton Luckie scored from five yards out, all in the third period.

The final touchdown for the hosts was in the fourth frame when Bryan Taylor ran over from the 10.

Sanderson's loss in Rankin was before a homecoming crowd.

We ran across something the other day that bears out the name of this column real well -- Cordell Tackle, Inc., puts out a plastic worm for bass fishing that is called Chameleon Brown and Chameleon Green. These colors change depending on the light levels. Fishing enthusiasts can readily translate this as a change in color depending on water and bottom conditions. Anyone looking at the plastic worm calls it brown until it is held up to the light, then it changes colors.

If you're a bass fisherman and want to try some exciting winter-time sport, you'll want to try Cordell's plastic worms. They've got a lot of life, lots of floatability, and tough.

We read this week an opinion by the Attorney General of Texas - Opinion No. H-671: "A justice of the peace may hold court for any other justice whose precinct is in the same county. He may hold court in his own precinct or in the precinct of the second justice."

If this is interpreted correctly, there could be some savings possibly by our county in the rent, upkeep, etc., for the office of the justice of the Peace W.G. Shoemaker, which is a house in Precinct 4, and he could move back to the courthouse for office space, if it were agreeable for all parties concerned.

Renditions Mailed Property Owners By School District

The office of the school district tax assessor and collector has mailed rendition blanks to all property owning taxpayers along with their statement for taxes for 1975.

This is the first mailing of rendition blanks to all property owners in Terrell County in several years.

A letter accompanying the school's tax statement and rendition blank explains that every property owner is supposed to list their personal and real estate property and return it to the school tax office prior to April 30, 1976.

If a person is in business, either retail, service, professional, or agriculture, he is supposed to list the inventory of merchandise, stock, equipment, fixtures, etc., that are a part of the business.

Property owners who fail to render their property are not penalized in any way, according to E.E. Harkins Jr., school tax assessor-collector. But failure of the property owner to render his property gives the tax assessor-collector the obligation to assess the un-rendered property and to place every piece of known property on the tax rolls along with an evaluation.

The letter sent by the school tax office states that the tax rate is $1.60 per $100 value, with the statement reflecting valuations at 24.5% of actual value. Thus, a piece of property with a true market value of $20,000 and so rendered, will be taxed at approximately 1/4 of that figure and taxed at $1.60 x 50 (approximately).

The letter also shows that 70.2% of the tax value of the county is in oil properties, utilities, and railroads, etc., with the balance being made up of real and personal property in the county.

There is no discount for the early payment of school taxes.

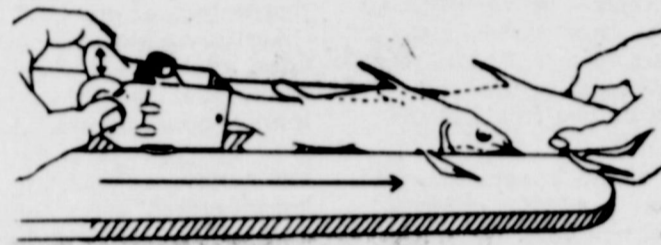

Mr. and Mrs. H.E. Fletcher of Fort Worth, former residents, visited here the first of the week with his brother, L. H. Fletcher, and family, his nephew, Harvey Rogers, and Mrs. Rogers, and with friends. They left Tuesday for Fort Davis to visit his sister, Mrs. Dave Medley, and family.

All new patented skinning board from Normark. Ideal for catfish, bullheads, and other similar type fresh and saltwater fish. A practical fisherman with the help of this board can clean a bullhead or catfish in seconds. Exclusive new clamp and design make skinning the toughest of fish a real breeze.

1 Place skin-type fish (catfish or bullhead) on board placing tail in clamp. Adjust for length of fish by loosening knurled nut on top of clamp and slide in slot until head of fish hangs over the end of the board and front fins (pectoral) are even with end of board. Then tighten knurled nut.

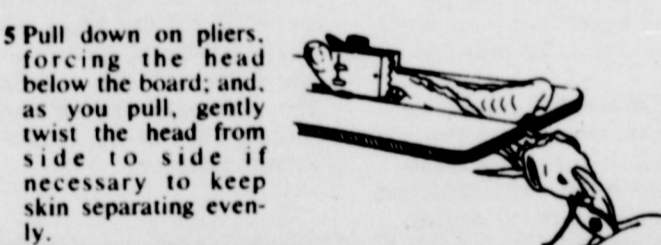

2 Start cut just behind rear dorsal fin at clamp and continue a shallow cut along the top of the fish to the back of the head.

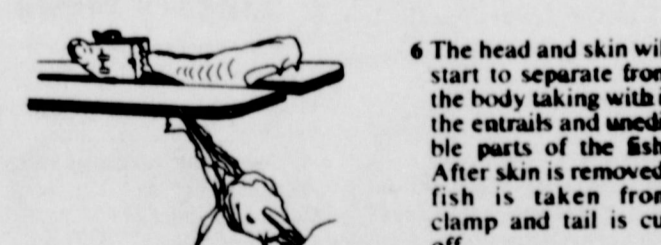

3 Turn the blade and cut downwards to the backbone being careful not to cut through it.

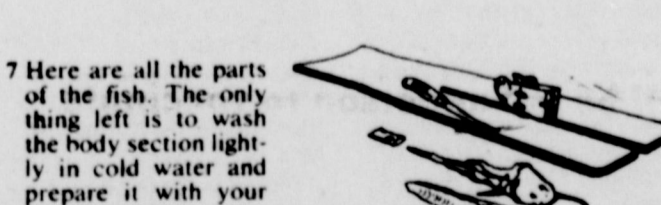

4 Place the board over the edge of table. Use a plier and grip the outside of the head. With the other hand, hold the board firmly.

5 Pull down on pliers, forcing the head below the board; and, as you pull, gently twist the head from side to side if necessary to keep skin separating evenly.

6 The head and skin will start to separate from the body taking with it the entrails and inedible parts of the fish. After skin is removed, fish is taken from clamp and tail is cut off.

7 Here are all the parts of the fish. The only thing left is to wash the body section lightly in cold water and prepare it with your favorite recipe.

The skin on catfish and bullheads will vary in thickness. This could cause the skin to tear prematurely. If this happens, it can be removed with pliers.

Amendment Deals With Powers Of Two Branches

Proposition Number 1 on the November 4 election ballot is an amendment to the Texas Constitution which would make some change in Article III, which deals with the legislature and Article IV, which deals with the executive branch of Texas government.

It begins by confirming Article II without change, which is a continuance of the doctrine of separation of powers between the executive, legislative and judicial branches of the government of Texas.

In case the voter wonders what happened to Article I, it is the Bill of Rights to the Constitution of the United States, which is left intact.

Article II provides for the three branches of government mentioned, and the separation of their powers. Any one branch is specifically prohibited from exercising powers properly attached to the others except as authorized by the constitution.

ARTICLE III:

THE LEGISLATURE

Size of the legislature will continue to be 31 senators and 150 representatives.

Procedures are also unchanged, except that closed sessions of the senate are no longer allowed.

Also retained are the present restrictions on conflict of interest by the members of the legislature and the governor's right to veto any bill, as well as his right to veto individual items ("line" items) in appropriation bills.

The new provisions include single-member districts, annual sessions, organizational sessions, and a new compensation commission which would recommend the amount of pay and allowances to be received by the members of the legislature.

Single member districts would divide all cities which have more than one senator or representative into specific zones, and the voters of each zone of the city would elect one senator and/or representative, and only one.

In the past, Texas cities have been multi-member districts, with all the people of the city voting for all its members of each house.

This single-member concept would also become mandatory for electing congressmen from cities. (Several of the larger cities already have single-member districts.)

The annual sessions provision calls for annual sessions of 140 days in odd-numbered years (as at present) and 90-day sessions in even-numbered years.

Also added by this amendment are special "veto sessions" of 15 days, held upon request of three-fifths of the membership of each house. Presumably the purpose of the veto sessions would be to allow the legislature to vote on the question of over-riding vetoes by the governor of bills passed in the regular session.

Another new feature would be the above-mentioned organizational sessions prior to the convening of regular sessions.

The new salary commission would recommend the level of pay for members to the legislature, and it could not exceed the amount recommended when it then sets the salaries by law. The recommendations made would not take effect until after the next general election.

ARTICLE IV:

THE EXECUTIVE BRANCH

Under this article, the status of the governor, lieutenant governor, attorney general, comptroller of public accounts, treasurer, commissioner of the general land office, and secretary of state are continued as executive department offices. All these officials are elected except the secretary of state who is appointed by the governor.

It also provides four-year terms (as at present) for all the above. Other retained items are a board of pardons and paroles and the Railroad Commission.

New provisions include the addition of the secretary of agriculture to the list of executive department officers. Another new item is the power given to the governor to appoint chairmen of state boards and to remove them for cause unless removal is vetoed by the senate.

A new provision is a mandate to the legislature to appropriate money to allow a newly-elected governor to organize his office.

The governor would also be required to make periodic review of state agencies and limits the life of all but a few government agencies to 10 years, unless the legislature extends their existence by law.

The governor would also be limited to two consecutive four-year terms by this article.

New Control Found For Mosquitoes

A new way to control mosquitoes has been discovered by a scientist with the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station. It disrupts mosquito development and offers hope we can regain control of the biting pest that carries many dread diseases.

Encephalitis, yellow fever, elephantiasis and malaria, feared diseases throughout most of the world, are all transmitted by the ever-present mosquito.

Mosquito-borne encephalitis is a current problem in the U. S. with cases and deaths reported by health officials in 13 states. St. Louis encephalitis has reached epidemic levels in several states.

Malaria, transmitted by the mosquito, is the number-one health problem in the world and is a major cause of the poverty and lack of development in many third-world countries.

So, mosquitoes are a dangerous problem to most of the countries of the world, rich and poor alike. And effective control, which we were confident of a few years ago, has seemed to be slipping from our grasp.

This control, which offered such hope, was based for the most part on insecticides. But such chemical control has been hit on two fronts in the last decade.

Many of the insecticides we used were persistent chlorinated hydrocarbons that have been banned from further use because of their serious contamination of the environment and their toxic effect on non-target organisms. (They killed not only mosquitoes, but also other life.)

In addition, mosquitoes developed resistance to chemicals. Chemicals that had killed or controlled these pests would no longer do the job. So scientists the world over have been searching for new methods of control.

The new approach to mosquito control is based on studies of the regulation of mitochondria development in insect cells. (The mitochondria are the par of plant or animal cells that serve as the power house of the cell and supply 98% of the energy for life processes).

This fundamental research project is headed by Dr. Larry Keeley, an insect biochemist in the department of Entomology of Texas A&M University. His research was supported by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station and aided by a research grant from the National Science Foundation.

Keeley says his studies showed that many insect tissues synchronously develop new cellular mitochondria at the time of molting. His method inhibits the formation of the new mitochondria. If you do this, you disrupt further growth of the target insect due to lack of energy.

Acriflavin has these advantages, according to Keeley: water solubility, low environmental contamination (degradation in several days), low vertebrate toxicity, well-known effect, and a long history of use in man and domestic animals.

Costs are expected to be reasonable if usage stimulates mass production. Methods of application are being studied, especially ones involving timed release.

Report of BOB KRUEGER U.S. Representative

Citizens everywhere recognize and rightly complain of waste in their government. One type of waste derives from unnecessary regulation. A second type, however, comes from the unwillingness of government agencies to abide by the laws they are to administer.

In recent weeks, the Subcommittee on Oversight and Investigation on which I serve has been studying the question of whether some few physicians paid by Medicaid funds have practiced unnecessary surgery. In studying this, our committee discovered that the administrators within the department of Health, Education, and Welfare lack basic data and have not required adequate reporting from the state recipients of federal funds.

An HEW-funded report reveals that two states have never turned in cost statements Medicaid funds expended and yet received federal dollars. In other words, the states have never turned in an itemized bill to the federal government and yet have had millions of dollars paid to them for their disbursement. Further, there are documented instances of hospitals that have been paid by state funds (which are matched by federal funds in the Medicaid program) without submitting their costs. There are 10 states that have been found (after two reviews) not to be complying with utilization standards, and yet they have received full federal funding, contrary to specific instructions of the law passed by Congress.

Certainly the people have a fundamental right to see that their money is being spent wisely and frugally as possible. When the administrator responsible for the Medicaid Program pointed out to the new Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare that the Department was in violation of the law and should not be spending money without adequate accounting for it, the Secretary refused to reduce the federal matching contribution as the law requires. Instead, he ordered a "study", familiar words to us all.

Last year, expenditures in the Medicaid program increased 16% over the previous year. We expect a greater increase in 1975. To find that a federal agency acts in knowing violation of its mandate is hard to justify, as is the expenditure of the peoples' money without adequate accounting. This type of action is one reason that so many citizens are alarmed by the growth, complexity, and apparent imperviousness of some federal agencies. We must restore the basic principle of public servants, those who are appointed as well as those who are elected. And we must assure that executive agencies of the government faithfully execute the laws which they are charged to administer. Our subcommittee's oversight of the Medicaid program is a good example of the potential effectiveness of our system of checks and balances, but our job is obviously not finished.

Much History Has Already Been Lost!

Many are already gone that could tell about events of 50 or 75 years ago. And we are so busy living our everyday lives we sometimes fail to realize how interesting our "doings" will be to someone 50 or 75 years from now!

The Terrell County Bicentennial Heritage Committee is compiling a family history book. We need each family's story, telling of early day Terrell County residents. We also need your story, even if you are not so "early day", if you are living here now or have lived here in the past.

Families living here now, with children living elsewhere should include the names of these children, their spouses, if any, names of grandchildren and where these children now live. Every family is asked to write a story and submit pictures. Each article should be signed: "Submitted by _____" and each page numbered and signed in upper left hand corner. All stories typed if possible. A special section of the book will be made up of memorial pages honoring pioneers. A single memorial page will be $100, half or quarter pages will also be available. The pioneer, so honored by their families, will also have a story and other pictures in the regular section of the book. There is no charge for any story except the memorial pages.

If you know of someone who used to live here, or had relatives who used to live here, won't you please get in touch with them and tell them of this project?

Send in your story and order a book TODAY. Story deadline is October 31.

AUSTIN—Auto insurance rates almost certainly are going up—and rather steeply.

The State Insurance Board staff recommended an average statewide increase of 17 per cent at an October 1 hearing on proposed new rates.

Even that didn't satisfy insurance industry spokesmen who asked a 24.9 per cent overall increase.

Figures proposed by Board staff actuaries would increase company revenues $112.8 million a year. The companies sought a $165.4 million hike.

New rates outlined by the Board staff would raise premiums of so-called typical or average motorists over 25 years of age driving late-model medium-priced cars to work in the range of $8 to $43 a year.

Smallest increase would be in the Sherman-Denison area and the largest in Houston.

Figures refer to standard liability, $100 deductible collision and full coverage comprehensive.

Young drivers in Houston may face a $130 increase, to $746 a year, for their regular coverage, while older drivers in that city pay about $296 for the same insurance.

The Board will make its decision by October 15. Chairman Joe Christie indicated. New rates would take effect January 1. A raise of 8.8 per cent was ordered last year.

Spending At Record

State government spending hit an all-time monthly high of $962,154,535 last May, Treasurer Jesse James has reported.

James' report for the fiscal year ending August 31 said average monthly spending totalled $712,750,000 during the period.

The Treasurer said the state earned more than $78.9 million during the last fiscal year of $1.33 billion worth of time account deposits in 1,240 Texas banks. He said cigarette tax collections totalled $247.6 million, interest and dividends on investments held by the treasury bond division $315 million and escheat and other taxes collected by treasury $2.97 million.

Commission Gets Case

The new Texas Public Utilities Commission got its first case last week—a controversy over telephone equipment rates.

Its authority to act before January 1 is expected to be challenged, since the law creating the agency gave it regulatory duties starting next year.

Fisk Telephone Systems Inc. of Houston accused Southwestern Bell Telephone Company of offering "fictitious" low prices on special PBX telephone equipment in an effort to drive out competitors.

The case was accepted by the Commission for filing and turned over to the attorney general's office for where-do-we-go-from-here advice.

AG Opinions

A school district can't charge for supplies, lab fees and band uniforms without legislative authority, Atty. Gen. John Hill said in an opinion.

Hill concluded the Texas Open Records Act on confidentiality of personnel records does not keep Alvin Independent School District from disclosing employment applications to the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission.

Hill also found hospital districts liable for medical care of indigent prisoners.

Firms specializing in fitting executive-level personnel into jobs are still private employment agencies for regulatory purposes if a significant portion of their activity involves providing employees for employers Hill said.

The Attorney General said a state employee who exhausts accrued sick leave becomes eligible for workmen's compensation benefits.

He classified crew leaders, day labor contractors and operators of temporary labor pools as "labor agents."

Two hundred and fifty Texas liberals met here recently to talk 1976 presidential political strategy and threatened to challenge the new presidential primary bill.

The group, led by Democratic National Committeewoman Billie Carr, said winner-take-all provisions of the primary law—designed to help presidential aspirations of U. S. Sen. Lloyd Bentsen—may tend to deprive minorities of delegate strength.

Ms. Carr indicated the primary act would be challenged under the Federal Voting Rights Act, designed to protect minorities.

Liberals, determined to make things tough for Bentsen and Alabama Gov. George Wallace in the 1976 primary, remained undecided what course of action to follow.

They will meet again October 25 and November 22.

Ms. Carr urges filing of uncommitted delegate slates for national nominating convention seats from all 31 senatorial districts.

Others prefer lining up behind one of the serious liberal presidential contenders, and still others want to file delegates for a "favorite person" like former U. S. Sen. Ralph Yarborough or Ms. Carr.

Meanwhile, the liberals heard sales talks from representatives of six potential presidential candidates.

Trial Postponed

Impeachment trial of District Judge O. P. Carrillo by the Senate has been postponed until October 6—perhaps later.

The trial had been scheduled to resume Sept. 29, but Carrillo's trial in tendance at tourist attractions climbed five per cent.

Courts Speak

Texas Court of Criminal Appeals reversed conviction of three for the murder of a Houston service station attendant because their statements to police incriminated each other.

The same Court affirmed the life sentence of a Lewisville former airline pilot for killing an aged woman cousin from whom he was due to inherit $400,000 worth of land.

Galvestonian Shearn Moody Jr. lost an appeal to the State Supreme Court to get back money from a trust fund he signed over to an insurance firm.

A longer sentence cannot be given on retrial than on initial trial even where the second is probated, the Court of Criminal Appeals held in throwing out a five-year probated sentence of a Terry County man retried on check fraud charges.

The Supreme Court said a life insurance firm cannot deny benefits due to misrepresentation after it has required a physical examination.

Vote Unmonitored

The U. S. Justice Department won't monitor the November 4 Texas constitutional revision election under terms of an agreement between state and federal officials.

The Federal Voting Rights Act extension makes all Texas elections, election law changes and redistricting matters bearing on voting rights subject to federal supervision.

Texas has sought unsuccessfully to delay implementation of the law, but the November vote will escape supervision.

In exchange for the exemption, the state will distribute more than 100,000 Spanish-language copies of the proposed new Texas constitution at supermarkets, courthouses, libraries, churches and meeting places of Spanish-speaking organizations.

Corpus Christi on income tax charges lasted longer than expected.

Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby said he consulted with attorneys for all parties and the Senate's legal counsel and concluded that the "wisest course of action" is to put off the impeachment hearing for at least another week.

Appointments

Sidney E. McKinney of Abilene has been named to the Industrial Accident Board by Gov. Dolph Briscoe.

Briscoe also selected these members for the Motor Vehicle Commission: Robert Lee Ragsdale of Austin, John N. Cleveland of San Angelo and James M. Carnes of San Antonio.

The Governor reappointed to the Texas Judicial Council Dr. Abner V. McCall of Waco, W. St. John Garwood of Austin and Hugh M. Patterson of Houston. He appointed to the Texas Historical Commission Katharyn Duff of Abilene, Joe J. Fisher of Beaumont and Mrs. Mary Moody Northern of Galveston (reappointment).

George F. Dillman of Richardson was re-elected Texas Tourist Development Board chairman.

George Works, Wichita Falls newspaperman, was appointed House Speaker Bill Clayton's press secretary.

Tourist Trade Booms

The state's $4.8 billion tourist industry rushed toward new records in spite of inflation during the first eight months of 1975.

Response to travel advertising rose 80 per cent January-August, and at-

Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Grigsby returned home Tuesday after visiting in Sedona and Cottonwood, Ar., for a week. They visited with Mrs. Fred Black, the former Mrs. Sue B. Moseley, in Socorro and she is moving back to Jefferson, her former home.
