FORMOSA'S farming methods are still primitive. Here a Formosan woman performs the back-breaking task of hand-pumping water from an irrigation ditch to a rice paddy. The scoop is made of bamboo, so is the tripod. She does this all day long, day after day, to keep that big field watered.

DON'T PARK HERE!

There is a fire hydrant placed at the corner of Sixth and Main, at the corner of Crawford's store, and it is usually surrounded by parked cars, so the city had the hydrant and the curb painted a bright red as a warning not to park there, but it seemed not to have the effect, so a red sign with the words, "No Parking Here!" has been placed there.

DIAMOND SPARKLES

At the game here last Sunday afternoon, Hereford vs. Friona, Friona won over Hereford in a one-sided score of 16 to 4, but Friona did some real slugging to win by the large score.

Lawson did some fine pitching during the four innings, which he pitched, allowing only one hit, an error and base on balls, but the one hit cost him two runs. Smith and Carson were hitting stars of the game. Friona will play at Nazareth Sunday, and may be without the service of Smith and Carson and they sure will be missed. The locals boys hope to have their new uniforms by that date.

We now have our home outfit in good condition, due to the kindness, due to the good will of Bill Flippin, as he had the large road grader to shape it up.

Game summary: Earned runs, Hereford 2, Friona 7. Double-play, Lawson to Martin to Smith. Left on Bases, Hereford 9, Friona 6. First Base on error, Hereford 2, Friona 5. Base on balls, Lawson 2, Smith 2, Black 2, Barrett 4. Hit by pitched ball, Knox. Two-base hits, Wilkins, Schlenker, Sylvester, Smith. Stolen base, Sylvester. Three-base hit, Carson 2. Lawson. Those flights were made in an unarmored C-47 type airplane and were conducted behind enemy lines at night without escort or navigational aid. During these flights Sgt. Reiser served as assistant engineer.

He was 22 years of age at the time of his death and has served in the Air Corps almost four years. He was a Junior at Plainview High Schools when he enlisted. A native of Walters, Okla., and had spent a great portion of his boyhood at Friona, while his parents operated what is now known as the Cashway store. His parents received the Air Medal a few days ago, and the Purple Heart three weeks ago.

COGITATIONS and APHORISMS of Jodok

A man, who has been a life-long Democrat—a good and honest Democrat, just as he has been a good and honest neighbor and citizen—was heard to say last week, that he plans to vote the Republican ticket straight through this fall. He also said that there will be a great Republican land-slide in this fall's election, that everything will go Republican.

Well, I cannot say that I am so pessimistic as to agree with him on that matter, though I have a very large respect for his judgment. I do believe, however, that the Republicans will gain a few seats in congress, probably enough to give them control of the lower house of that body. I have arrived at this conclusion from consideration of the fact that there are a good many congressional districts scattered over the country, which were formerly normally Republican, and I couple this fact with the fact that the New Deal theories are rapidly losing faith with a very large number of the voters, who have, since the New Deal's establishment by Mr. Roosevelt, been supporting it with their votes, and many of them were former Republicans.

Carrying these two facts to their logical conclusion, there will, in all probability, be enough of these renegade Republicans, who have seen the folly of their ways, and return to their original ways of thinking, to again place their districts in the Republican columns.

But, I am only supposing this to be the case, and there are many sinister influences at work with the purpose of preventing such a change in the votes of the people, and the most sinister of these, as it occurs to me, are the CIO, PAC and the OPA, both of which are putting on an immense pressure to make the vote go their way, the CIO, PAC, to bind its Communistic doctrines upon the people of the United States, and rivet them so securely that it will require many generations of voters to free themselves from such bonds. The OPA, which is regimentary in principle, to maintain itself in office and power, by deforming the true American form of government and substituting therefor a form of government, that will be enforced by bureaucratic edict.

Whether these two powerful political forces will be able to counteract, by their pressure and influence, the number of voters, who will return to their original political faith, not even a seer can tell. But all thinking people know that those are great forces to be contended with.

I am not offering this script as a political guide for any free American voter. I have never advocated such action. Every man's vote is his own, and he should be allowed to cast it as he thinks best for welfare of the country at large, and not for any selfish or malicious interest. It is the only cudgel which the free American voter has with which to battle and baffle oppressive and unjust government.

Neither have I ever had any sympathy for the New Deal and I have never hesitated to say so, whenever I thought it necessary, or that I could do any good by doing so; and I have been, in the past, practically ostracized by men with whom I have come in contact with professionally, for expressing myself, when ever I have deemed it necessary to do in order that I might not be misunderstood. I could never understand how the New Deal principles could be made to work in a free government, nor in any sort of a government other than a monarchy, a dictatorship or a regimentary or bureaucratic form

They Just Can't Raise Enough This Way

Spring planting with bullock power and an old-fashioned hand plow is one reason food lack for Europe's war-ravaged millions is so serious. This German woman is breaking ground for the 1946 crop—but it can't possibly be enough!

The two foregoing paragraphs are introduced simply as explanatory matter, but being an ardent admirer of Peter Molyneux and Lynn Landrum, I am taking the privilege of quoting a few paragraphs from the writing of each. Mr. Molyneux is editor of the very important periodical, "The Southern Weekly," and Mr. Landrum is a columnist who writes for the "Dallas Morning News." Both are lifelong Democrats and both well versed and posted in the line of their callings of editor and columnist.

In its issue of April 24, the "Southern Weekly" has this to say editorially, relative to the OPA:

"Like a midnight alarm to all Americans who sincerely believe in representative government! That's how the outrageous attempt of the administration and its henchmen to frighten the people over the House OPA bill should be viewed. Never before has such a deluge of gross misrepresentation and brazen misstatement of facts been showered upon the people as Federal officials and radio commentators have poured upon them during the past week. The Winchells, the LaGuardias, and the rest, not to overlook the CIO spellbinders, have been turned loose and permitted to let their imaginations run riot in picturing dire calamity they allege will come upon the country if the House OPA bill should be enacted into law. In consequence, United States Senators are receiving frantic telegrams from frightened constituents, demanding that the OPA be extended without restrictions. If this amazing campaign succeeds it will be a blow to representative government and a long step toward permanently establishing a dictatorial bureaucracy in this country."

The editorial from which the above is quoted is rather long, covering about a page and a half of the magazine, and goes into detail concerning the motives, the practices and the power of the OPA. It occurs to me that it is a misfortune that the "Southern Weekly" is not received and read in every home in, not only Texas, but the entire south, for it is, as its name suggests, a "Southern Weekly." Well, so much for the power of the OPA to control votes. Now a paragraph from Lynn W. Landrum's writings concerning the vote controlling power of Sidney Hillman's CIO and PAC, which is also taken from the Southern Weekly, but reprinted from the Dallas Morning News:

"If the CIO takes $6,000,000 out of the pay envelopes of American workers to have a monetary say about who goes to congress, what have you to say about it here in the Dallas congressional district? If Sidney Hillman, who probably never saw Dallas, decides to send $60,000 to $100,000 here to assure the election of a man who agrees to vote in congress as Sidney Hillman and his PAC say to vote on each of seventeen stated matters, he can do it and he will do it. What Mr. Hillman is doing, is in effect, if not in fact, practically this: He gets together a committee who lay down seventeen planks, which they—the committee—favor. Then the CIO take the $6,000,000 out of the pay envelopes of men who cannot veto a single one of those planks—who, in most cases, never heard of those planks, and finally Mr. Hillman says where that $6,000,000 shall be sent to elect 100 congressmen.

"The money Mr. Hillman will spend in Dallas district will not be bribe money. Not a penny of it will be paid to a voter for voting for the CIO man. Not a penny of it will go into the pocket of the man who, for and in

Social Security Board Asks Help From Employers

According to the statement of J. R. Sanderson, manager of the Amarillo Field Office of the Social Security Board, there has been an increase in recent months in the number of employees in this area for whom wages have been reported without a record of the employee's social security number being shown. "No employee," Sanderson said, "can receive credit for wages reported for him until his correct account number is ascertained."

Each employee, therefore, especially if he changes jobs frequently, is urged to see that each employer for whom he works of the local Chamber of Commerce, have created a pressing need for adequate building space for the organization.

"I want to express appreciation to the city officials, past consideration of the support of CIO, agrees openly or otherwise to carry out the platform. There will be no bribery."

Thus the free American voter may see the force he will have to contend with to get what HE wants in the coming national election.

and present, on behalf of myself and the Chamber of Commerce," Posey said, "for their cooperation and consideration in providing office space for the Chamber of Commerce activities in the already overcrowded City Hall. The City has showed us every consideration."

"The Chamber has long since outgrown the small office at the City Hall," he pointed out, "and the office space is needed by the City administration for its own expanding operations."

Secretary Posey said that the Chamber of Commerce needs space for reception rooms and offices, preferable on street level and near the center of the business district.

A meeting of all farmers interested in growing produce for the new canning plant now under construction in Hereford has been called by Worth Ware, manager of the project, at the county courtroom in Hereford Friday night, May 17, at 8:30 o'clock.

Construction of the new plant, which according to Ware will represent an investment of between a quarter and a half million dollars within three years, was started Wednesday when concrete foundations for the first building were poured.

R. B. (Rip) Archer of Houston is the contractor. Only one unit of the plant is being constructed at the present time, Ware said, and work is being rushed to get the factory in operation in time for the canning season this summer.

The plant will be located on a 15 acre tract 3 miles west of town on the south side of the highway. It will be known as the Deaf Smith County Food Products Company.

The first kitchen unit, now under construction, will be an air-conditioned building walled with glass brick. Plans are being rushed for a boiler room, rest room, welfare building, and warehouse to complete the initial unit.

"We expect to be able to handle a thousand acres of black-eyed peas, 100 acres of carrots, as well as green beans, beets, and potatoes," Ware said.

"At least for the first year of operation, because of the labor shortage," he said, "we expect to have a full-time field man who will work in cooperation with County Agent Hugh Clearman in assisting farmers with problems in connection with growing crops, and will organize harvest crews to be carried around to various fields as crops are ready to be harvested."

This is a radical departure from the methods employed by most canning plants, which buy crops on a contract basis delivered to the factory, Ware pointed out, but the "flying squad" idea of harvest labor is expected to relieve the shortage of farm labor during the summer harvest.

A & M College has pledged cooperation in setting up a vegetable growing industry here, Ware said. Knox Parr, district superintendent of Extension Service, has offered his support and aid. The plant will furnish vegetable seed for planting and provide for harvest crews this year, Ware has announced. Of considerable interest to local growers is a plan to can "pee-wee" potatoes, which, prior to this time, have been a loss on the market.

Ware, who will manage the local plant, is a recently discharged Navy lieutenant (sg) who hails from Austin and Houston. He served during the war with the Naval Air Corps as an instructor at the Naval Air Station at Dallas and at New Orleans. In a Navy hospital for 19 months as a result of a plane crash, he saw no service overseas.

Mrs. Ware and their 8-months old son have joined him here.

Airhart Is Named General Manager Of Elevators

Lloyd Airhart, who has been manager of the Dawn Elevator for the past year, was named General Manager of the Farmers Associated Elevators at a meeting of the board of directors Tuesday.

Airhart succeeds F. H. Oberthier, who has headed the Associated Elevators since the company was organized in 1929. During Oberthier's Administration, the company has increased its capital stock from an initial issue of $12,500 to a present total of $60,000.

Started with one elevator at Dawn, Associated now owns two elevators at Dawn and one at Black.

Deaf Smith Farmers Answer Pleas for Stored Wheat; 7,656 Bushels Monday

Local Mills Are Feeling Pinch; Packard Closed

A plea for stored wheat, backed by an offer of a 30-cent per bushel bonus, brought 7,656 bushels of stored grain in to the elevators Monday, F. C. Collier, local ACA secretary, reports.

"That's more wheat than we thought there was in this country," Collier said, adding that he couldn't make a guess as to how much might be left still in farm granaries.

The urgent plea, and the bonus, are the result of critical food situation in Europe and in Asia which is threatening millions of people in those countries with starvation.

To get the wheat out of storage bins and into the elevators, a 30-cent bonus over and above OPA ceiling prices has been offered by the government. Forms for claiming the bonus are now available at the local ACA office.

The United States has been unable to meet its commitments for grain export through the UNRRA, and with the situation growing more critical daily overseas, urgent pleas are being made through the Department of Agriculture for all available grain.

Texas Quota Half Million
Texas quota this month is 500,000 bushels of wheat.

"It is going to be very difficult to reach our assigned goal of 500,000 bushels for Texas," B. F. Vance, state director of the Agriculture Extension service, says, "and we are depending on the loyalty of the wheat producers and the sincere effort of the county and community committeemen to get as much wheat as possible delivered under this program prior to May 25. Every possible means should be used to inform wheat producers of the program as soon as possible."

Deadline for collecting the 30 cent per bushel bonus is the 25th of this month.

In cooperation with the program, C. A. Purcell, city sanitarian, has circulated all local

Sniper 'Eye' That Sees at Night

The "Sniperscope," one of the war's carefully guarded secret weapons, gets a lot of credit for helping our boys outscore the Japs so heavily in the casualty department. The gadget directs an invisible beam of light into the night enabling the sniper to see his target when his target can't see him. Nearly a third of the Jap casualties on Okinawa were the result of the "Sniperscope." It is shown being operated at the War Relocation Authority at New York.

Wedding Featured Formal Opening Of Hospital

The Deaf Smith County Sanitarium, which will hold open house next Sunday in observance of National Hospital Day, was formally opened on January 22, 1925.

The opening was celebrated with an open house, a banquet, and an unscheduled wedding. The wedding, which was not on the program, was solemnized by County Judge Earl W. Wilson restaurants asking the owners to cooperate by cutting down on the amount of bread served. Open-face sandwiches and other cuts, are being urged on the restaurants in an effort to conserve grain food.

Local Mills Feel Pinch
Local flour mills are already feeling the pinch of the grain shortage. Packard Mills have been shut down for more than a week, and report that, except for the possibility that some grain may be milled for the government for export, there is little likelihood that any more will be milled for local consumption until the wheat harvest begins to send more grain to the elevators.

Fraser Mills were still in production this week, and, though grain supplies are low, are still milling a small quantity of flour for local sale. Fraser, however, reports that government orders for export flour will probably keep the mill in operation until wheat harvest.

on the steps of the new hospital on the afternoon of opening day. The principals were Paul Rudd and Miss Fannie Little, both of Friona.

Plans for the hospital were approved by the county early in 1924, and in March of that year, the present site was selected by the Commissioners Court.

J. C. Chisum, the original architect, resigned on April 15, and ten days later the court employed the firm of Sangulien, Staats, and Hedrick of Fort Worth, designers of then-building Texas Technological College, to prepare plans for the new building.

The reconstruction contract was let on May 26, 1924, to Christy Dolph Construction Company of Dallas on a low bid of $34,624. Final cost of the completed building was $46,708.

The cornerstone was laid without fanfare on June 30, 1924, only members of the Commissioners Court attending the ceremony. From the files of The Brand of that date comes a list of items placed in the cornerstone: clippings of stories from The Brand about the hospital, business cards and a list of Hereford business firms; Chamber of Commerce literature and current editions of The Hereford Brand. The collection of miscellany was sealed in a copper box and placed inside the cornerstone.

John Jacobsen Jr. were among the more seriously ill, and were taken to the Northwest Texas Hospital following a luncheon served at the Herring Tuesday noon. Mrs. Liston Wilson and Mrs. Homer Brumley were also ill, but were able to return home. Mrs. W. S. Kerr was the only member of the local delegation not stricken.

Mrs. Fluit and Mrs. Jacobsen were able to be brought home Wednesday morning, but were still suffering from the effects of the poisoning yesterday.

Thirty-six women attended the luncheon, and at least fifteen were stricken less than an hour later. A green salad was believed to have been responsible for the poisoning, which broke up the closing session of the two-day school.

The five Hereford Garden Club members were taking an advanced course in Horticulture, flower show practice, and floral arrangement held at Amarillo Monday and Tuesday, with members of the Amarillo Garden Club as hostesses.

Instructors from the National Council of Garden Clubs taught the courses.

$2 Wheat May Be Realized by Few

A 15-cent boost in the OPA ceiling price for wheat was announced in Washington today, effective on May 13, applying to grain now in the hands of producers and grain which will be harvested this year.

The boost in the ceiling will bring ceiling price paid to the farmer in this area to about $1.70 per bushel, and for the few remaining days until the May 25 deadline, the 30-cent bonus will boost the price of wheat to the farmer's dream-level—$2 a bushel!

Few farmers will realize that goal, however, as there is little or no wheat from the 1945 crop left in this area.

Food Poisoning Breaks Up Class Of Garden Clubs

Four Hereford Garden Club members were among the fifteen or more women attending a Garden Club school at the Herring Hotel in Amarillo Tuesday who were stricken with food poisoning.

Mrs. W. S. Fluit and Mrs. Jacobsen were among the more seriously ill, and were taken to the Northwest Texas Hospital following a luncheon served at the Herring Tuesday noon.

A. & M. College Withdraws Bid for POW Camp; Experiment Station Is Doubtful

A & M College has withdrawn all applications for the Hereford Prisoner of War Camp property, though holding open a slight possibility that an experiment station may be established in this area, Gibb Gilchrist, president of the College, informed Wayne Evans, president of the Hereford Chamber of Commerce, in a letter last week.

A & M, earlier in the year, had expressed interest in acquiring the POW camp site for use as an agricultural experiment station, and several delegations of professors and officials from the college had been sent to Hereford to canvass the situation.

The City of Hereford, after delaying action in deference to a decision from the College, finally made application for the camp site last week for the three-fold purpose of establishing a camp for transient labor, solving the veteran's housing problem, and making provision for a potential municipal airport; but gave a nod to A&M in the application by offering to provide whatever facilities the college might desire at the campsite.

Gilchrist, however, in his letter to Evans, cleared the decks as far as the college might be involved in the bidding for the property.

"We have gone into great detail with reference to the advisability of the college taking over the POW camp at Hereford," he said. "We do not find a practical justification for taking over the camp, hence we wish to release you completely from any obligations to us concerning it."

Gilchrist still held open the possibility that an experiment station might be established in the future.

"We are of the opinion," he stated, "that you have some research problems in that area, particularly as they refer to vegetable crops, on which no experimental work is being done under conditions typical of your own."

"If there is general interest in such work covering a large area in your section of the state, we want to do what we can in helping answer such problems."

"About 160 acres of land would be needed for such work, together of course with water and housing for personnel."

"If there is interest in a

Liberation Is Bitter Tea in Formosa

STILL loyal to China after 51 years of Jap rule, Formosans view with bewilderment their new freedom—for it is bringing worse hardships than war! But they're rebuilding, as the picture above, of Kilun, shows. It's one of the first pictures taken in Formosa by an Occidental since the western world was barred by the Japs in 1936. It shows rubble being cleared away from buildings blasted by our bombers. Corn and other grains supply the power. But while rebuilding, Formosans, remnants of ancient Chinese pioneers, are bitter about the way things are going under the new Chinese rule: the island's rice, sugar, coal carted away, black markets and a crime wave flourishing, famine and unemployment. So Formosans don't look on liberation as a blessing—they resent it, and blame the United Nations for letting such conditions exist.

Wheat Prospects in Santa Fe Area Dim, Says Railroad's Last Survey

On account of continued dry weather, the general condition of wheat in Northwest Texas is gradually declining, according to the latest Santa Fe Railway estimates based on reports received up to April 27.

Very little moisture has fallen in this region since last September, the Amarillo weather bureau reporting only 3.4 inches of rainfall between October 1 and April 26.

Wheat on summer fallow is still holding its own fairly well, but that on other land is becoming spotted and badly burned. With the summer fallow is approximately 75,000 acres of irrigated wheat that is in fair condition and quite promising.

Oklahoma Area
Shows that covered most of the Oklahoma wheat belt less than a week ago were not sufficient to stop the inroads which a combination of dry weather and green bugs have made in the crop outlook during the last 30 days. A general rain could still revive hope of a normal crop, but there has been a marked decline from the first official estimate of 71,126,000 bushels. This is particularly true along the western border of the state and in the Panhandle region.

Kansas Prospects
Prospects of another bumper wheat crop in the Kansas area have gone glimmering right at the time when it was most needed to feed a starving world. While immediate rains could still result in a normal or better crop, dry weather has knocked a serious dent in the first official estimate of 212,175,000 bushels.

New Mexico
Wheat in eastern New Mexico is suffering from dry weather. Considerable acreage is being plowed under. Summer fallow, comprising about 25 percent of branch experiment station," Gilchrist advised, "someone should sponsor the idea, getting expressions from the area which would indicate that the physical facilities and support for the project would be forthcoming. The establishment of such a station would then be a matter which would be passed on eventually by the legislature."

With this academic double-talk, President Gilchrist completely ignored the fact that, early this year at the request of A & M, a number of cities over the Panhandle and Eastern New Mexico, including a few in the Oklahoma Panhandle, prepared briefs and resolutions supporting the proposed experiment station and A & M's application for the POW campsite. These were sent to members of Congress and officials in the War Department and Surplus Commodities administration.

"My opinion is," Gilchrist added in his letter to Evans, "that the POW camp should be disposed of, and it seemed to me that the labor camp idea was an excellent one."

Gilchrist's letter was dated from College Station on April 30.

In preparing the city's application for the campsite a few days earlier, Mayor E. S. Ireland had notified A & M of the decision and reasons for same, and had expressed the opinion that, should the college decide to establish the proposed experiment station, the city, if it succeeds in securing the campsite, would be able to provide the necessary facilities.

total acreage, is holding up fairly well. It will take a normal rainfall, starting right away, for this area to produce 50 percent of a normal crop.

April 1 Estimates
First of April estimates by the U. S. Department of Agriculture placed the U. S. total crop at 830,636,000 bushels, slightly higher than last year, and a new record crop. However, the Santa Fe report indicates, dry weather has taken a great chunk out of these figures.

Harvest will be at least two weeks early.

Vets Can Renew G. I. Insurance Without Exam

The contact service of the Veterans Administration today was seeking every veteran who has let his G. I. Insurance lapse to offer reinstatement without a medical examination.

Robert W. Sisson, Lubbock Veterans Administration Regional Manager, said success of the campaign would result in invaluable service to thousands of veterans.

Ex-GIs can now reinstate policies without a medical examination, regardless of how long they have been out of the service, provided their health has grown no worse during the lapsed period, Sisson said.

"This liberalization is only effective until January 1, 1947," he pointed out. "Time is running out for many of these veterans and we must use every means to inform them of this priceless opportunity."

"Its importance cannot be over-emphasized. It will not only be simpler to reinstate policies, but many veterans are now able to reinstate who would not be able to pass a rigid physical examination."

"These uninsurable veterans may never again have the opportunity to provide adequate life insurance protection for their present and future dependents."

Term insurance carried on service people during the war can be reinstated by payment of only two monthly premiums. Veterans can reinstate all or a part of the government policy.

Sisson urged veterans to see their local V. A. representatives immediately. Local veterans service organizations, the county service officer or the Red Cross can also supply information about insurance reinstatement.

County Sanitarium Will Hold Open House Here on Sunday

In observance of National Hospital Day, on the 216th anniversary of the birth of Florence Nightingale, the Smith County Sanitarium will hold Open House next Sunday afternoon, May 12.

Visitors will be welcomed between three and five o'clock Sunday afternoon, and the public is invited to visit the hospital and make an inspection of the entire building, Bob Wilson, manager announced this week.

This will be the first open house to be held at the hospital since it was formally opened in January, 1925, Wilson believes.

Special invitations are being mailed to recently discharged patients, and to local business men, but an invitation is being extended by the staff to all the public to visit the sanitarium Sunday afternoon.

Architects are now working on plans for greatly expanding the county hospital plant. Proposed plans will call for remodeling of the present building, and addition of wings which will more than quadruple the present bed capacity.

Plans are nearing completion and should be ready to be made public within a short time. Guy Carlander of Amarillo, designer of the Northwest Texas Hospital in that city, is the architect. Plans for the re-modeling were announced by the board of directors in February, and would increase the capacity of the hospital from 14 beds to 64.

Members of the staff who will welcome visitors Sunday are Miss Nellie Peeps, Supervisor; Mrs. V. O. Hennen, Helen Gallagher, Mabel T. Shaw, and Zeta Franz, Registered Nurses; Frankie Livingston, Viola Griswald, Ruth K. Service, Ada Murphy, Minnie Vaughn, and Mrs. A. A. Hare, Nurses Aides; Lester Funk, Custodian; Agnes Hellman and Mrs. Ella Funk, cooks; Henry Stahl, laboratory Technician; and Bob Wilson, business manager.

Members of the Board of Directors are Sylvester Slagle, president; James W. Witherpoon, secretary; Jim Clark, vice-president; and Homer Henkle, T. E. Seigler, and Dr. R. R. Wills.
