Jaycee Rodeo Starts Friday

We're off to the races in Friona!

About 800 people gathered from Texas and Eastern New Mexico were expected to enjoy the festivities associated with the 18th annual Jaycee Rodeo.

Tours of the rodeo will take place at 2 p.m. in the non-construed rodeo arena west of town. The arena is located between Friona and the highway.

Other activities include a write-up on rodeo action and a feature article on the rodeo and how it is organized. In addition, the rodeo will be covered by the local Jaycee Rodeo.""

Twin Colts Born

On Mother's Day

A rarity in the annual Kenny, the birth of twins, helped to make Mother's Day extra special to the family of M. M. Hussell, who resides north of Friona.

One of Hussell's horses gave birth to two little colts early Saturday morning. Hussell told his wife to go in and see the new arrivals as soon as she had been sorted out by the colt, and he stayed until midnight.

The colts were sired by a half thoroughbred stallion, and the mother was a quarter horse. The colts were born in the horse barn, and the mother was able to stand and nurse the colts.

The two colts were named after the owners, as they were both named after the owners. The colts were born healthy and strong, and the mother was able to feed them.

Mrs. Hussell has been hired for the summer to conduct classes and serve as a lifeguard.

The pool was filled with water Tuesday, and Hussell hopes that the water will be warm enough for people to swim in it.

The public, however, is invited to visit the pool at any time during the day or evening Saturday, and on Sunday afternoon.

For the grand opening, Hussell is planning some special exhibits, including a beauty pageant and a rodeo performance.

Swimming Pool Opens This Week

The long-awaited opening of Friona’s new indoor swimming pool is one of the highlights of the week for this area, as planned for the 4th week end, announces Truman Johnson, owner of the $50,000 recreational facility.

Workers were busy finishing touches, painting the walls, placing the carpet, and completing the final touches on the pool.

There will still be a final touch to be added to this week, but the pool will be ready for use on this weekend, Johnson says. There will be a ribbon cutting this week.

The pool was filled with water Thursday, and Johnson hopes that it will be warm enough for use by late next week (Thursday). If the water is warm enough, the pool will be open by next Wednesday.

In the near future, certain nights of the week will be set aside for teenagers, families, ladies, and gentlemen.

The public, however, is invited to use the pool during the day or evening Saturday, and on Sunday afternoon.

For the grand opening, Johnson is planning some special activities, entertainment and another by a Red Cross group.

Swimming is also being sponsored by the Jaycees.

Open house is slated for this Saturday and Sunday, but the grand opening will be postponed until an opening is received for the public, and everything is complete, Johnson says.

A trophy will be presented to the winner of each of the three rodeo performances.

Ten weeks in the making, the 81,000-gallon, 40-foot-long pool is the talk of the community.

With completion of the pool, Friona is the only small city in the state (excluding Fort Worth) having such a facility.

School Drawing to Close

It’s just about wrapped up for another year.

That’s the story as far as届毕业生s of Friona School are concerned, as they engage preparing for final exams and the “big day” next Wednesday when school is dismissed for the summer.

Wednesday will be the last full day of school and junior and senior high and elementary students will return Friday to receive their report cards, says Raymond Cook, high school principal.

A special awards program for grades one through six is scheduled in the school auditorium Wednesday morning, and the annual high school awards program is slated for 2:30 Wednesday afternoon.

At these two programs, awards will be presented to the top students for various accomplishments. The public is invited to attend the two awards programs.

Baccalaureate Sunday Night

The Friona FFA Charters, in conjunction with the First Baptist Church of Friona, will be sponsoring a baccalaureate Sunday night on 8:30 p.m., in the school auditorium.

Regular services in most churches will be cancelled Sunday night.

Special feature of the evening will be the naming of several future cowboys and cowgirls who have made special contributions in FFA work during the year.

The food is being served by Farmer’s Luck Company, and the menu includes barbeque, berry cobbler, and potato salad.

No Such Thing As Temporary Tax

The gasoline tax that was established in 1925, at the post office in Priona, Texas, is the one-cent a gallon federal tax. The tax was supposed to have ended July 1, but congress is currently in the process of reauthorizing the tax for the future. Ideally, the tax would be extended for only a part of the cost of the gasoline. While we pay our share with the gasoline tax, which was adopted last year to help finance a nationwide federal highway program.

The federal tax is now four cents per gallon, and added to the two-cent tax in Texas, it makes the total tax paid to the Texan people greater than the federal tax. The citizens of Texas are paying the federal tax for goods that are not being used in Texas. When a motorist pulls up to a gas pump, we have to pay for the gas that we are not using.

Quite likely there are multiples of tax-exempt people who receipt the benefits of the federal tax. By the same token, many of those same people are strong supporters of the federal government. The citizens who support the federal government have no regard for the people who are paying the federal tax.

1. JESUS CALLED HIS DISCIPLES TO THINK MANY IDEAS

The Unseen Value

Across the street or across the nation... your telephone may be a valuable, indeed, a vital asset to you... a telephone can help you get to where you want to go without draining your purse. A telephone can call the police in an emergency. A telephone can save your life. And when you're talking to a friend, a telephone is a convenient way to get in touch with him or her.

The NEW JOHN DEERE MODEL 105

Model 105 Hi-Lo Self Propelled Combine

During the fall of 1987, we introduced the John Deere Model 95. At that time, John Deere Model 95 was described as the BIG combine in the John Deere line. The soundness of the John Deere concept of a big combine is evidenced by the acceptance of the Model 95. As stated at the time the Model 95 was introduced, combines do not come big. DEMONSTRATED CAPACITY HAS BEEN AND WILL CONTINUE TO BE FINAL PROOF OF A COMBINE SIZE.

The model 105 has demonstrated in the field that it delivers approximately 25 percent more capacity than the Model 95, and that's BIG.

Plans for serving at the Vesper Service the following Sunday were made by the business meeting, and a welcome message from "Profitable Work" was read.
Ridge-Planting Getting Popular With Farmers

A farming practice that has been growing in popularity with Parmer County farmers is called ridge-planting, rather than the planting of seeds in the furrow. Ridge planting, as the name states, is planting in a ridge or furrow where the soil temperature is more consistent, higher than it is in the furrow. Farmers, being a weather-wise crew, rely on a high soil temperature before they will plant cotton. Since planting on the ridge, the farmers who have been planting this way for several years, states that there really is no disadvantage to ridge planting.

Checking a stand of cotton on his farm is Wendol Christian, left, and Melvin Terry. Ridge planting has many advantages over normal planting, Christian believes, and says he hopes more farmers will try it. While Terry is new to the method, he is a solid stand of cotton, higher than it was down in the furrow. While many farmers are still little skeptical about planting their seed on the ridge, the practice is becoming more popular each year.

There are several reasons for this planting method, one of which is that it's much easier to get a good stand of cotton. While it's true that when the soil temperature is consistently higher than it is in the furrow. Farmers who have been planting this way for several years, that there really is no disadvantage to ridge planting.

In this method of planting, the seed is planted deeper in the furrow, so that it is more obscured. As soon as the seed sprouts, most of the weeds can be removed, with a single treatment. The cotton sprouts, rather than the weeds, and the seedlings are easier to keep in the ridge or furrow. While many farmers are still little skeptical about planting their seed on the ridge, the practice is becoming more popular each year.

SEEDING ON THE RIDGE

Cotton is not a recommended method in this type of soil, where the soil temperature is consistently higher than it is in the furrow. Farmers, being a weather-wise crew, rely on a high soil temperature before they will plant cotton. Since planting on the ridge, the farmers who have been planting this way for several years, states that there really is no disadvantage to ridge planting.

This type of planting has several advantages. One of which is that it's more economical to use less labor, with the farmer being able to plant a wider area at one time. This practice is becoming more popular each year. While many farmers are still little skeptical about planting their seed on the ridge, the practice is becoming more popular each year.

Christian cites the soil temperature as an important factor, and he also lists several problems which make this type of planting more desirable. One of these problems is that the cotton is not recommended for the furrow soil. While many farmers are still little skeptical about planting their seed on the ridge, the practice is becoming more popular each year.
