appointed hour next teacher will step to the little red school building the bell with the children calling the children of their three R's—another era? the annual business called the first day of school is upon us and the days of easy living are over for school aged children—and, perhaps, a teacher here and there. A full day's work is called for Monday and indications are that enrollment in all three Rankin Schools will be up from what it was at the close of the 1963-64 term. RHS registrations have already reached the 140 and better mark with still a few more expected.

New Rates Effective After August 31 --

Reductions in Rates Announced by WTU Firm

A company-wide $1,100,000 annual reduction in electric rates was announced today by West Texas Utilities Company. One hundred and sixty three towns and communities served by the Utilities Company will benefit from the rate reduction.

The revised schedule of electric rates was filed with the City by E. L. Edgar, WTU Local Manager. The new rates will be effective with meter reading made after August 31, 1964.

These new rate schedules result from a reduction in the Company's income taxes due to recent changes in the federal income tax rates and the increased usage of electricity by present customers, together with greater company operating efficiencies and economies.

"These rate reductions," Silas Phillips, WTU President said, "are evidence of our policy of reducing the cost of service to customers whenever we can. The $490,000 direct reduction in our federal income taxes, plus the improved operating efficiencies of new generating equipment we have recently put into service, as well as the new facilities now under construction, make it possible for us to pass on again real savings to our customers. Based on 1963 sales, the new rate schedules will represent a reduction of about 3½ percent company-wide."

Approximately $390,000 of the annual savings from the reduced rates will go to residential customers. Phillips said that with the new rates the average residential customer will get about one-third more electric service for his money than he did at the end of World War II.

In addition, the new rates will mean a saving of $274,000 for the commercial lighting customers. The cost of service to combination general power and commercial service customers will be reduced another $221,000. Phillips said that churches, schools and smaller commercial customers will particularly benefit from this rate change.

Large light and power customers will have a saving of $140,000. "All customers," Phillips has pointed out, "will share in the $75,000 saving resulting from the lowering of fuel clause adjustment factor made possible by improved power plant efficiencies."

In addition to the general reduction which affects virtually all customers, the new rate schedules provides an extension of the residential and commercial electric space heating rate from four to six months. Presently WTU electric space heating customers buy electric heat at a base rate of 1c per KWH.

Competition Keen --

Red Devil Workouts Prove Tough Grind

With head knocking that had the spectators giving out with assorted moans and groans, the Rankin Red Devils were showing some heated competition this week for starting slots on the varsity. Few if any positions appeared to be secured and even the veteran ball players were being pressed.

"They've got more fire than they had last year," seems to be the general opinion of the bench warming crew—and in that department, also, there has been a steady attendance at night practice sessions and even some in the morning drills.

The Red Devil coaching staff was doing a good bit of experimenting with player placements and has several combinations that look promising. A move of senior center David Brown to the fullback position appears to be giving the team power while sophomore Gerry Upham working at center hasn't seemed to weaken the forward wall to any extent.

Defense was getting more attention this week as the team looked forward to its first scrimmage game—a setto with Robert Lee at 6:30 Saturday afternoon. Robert Lee is rated one of the (Continued to back page)

MONEY BOYS—

Ranching in West Texas has seen some mighty big changes over the past thirty years or so. Time was when this area made up some of the largest cattle ranches in Texas and it was not too long ago when a ranch employing 25-30 cowboys was not uncommon. But, now, for all practical purposes, the cow is a thing of the past on area ranches and sheep have taken over—or had.

Now, most of the sheep are gone—not only from the county but from the state. They may or may not be returned depending on a lot of things—the weather, livestock prices and whether or not there will be an ranchers about to “farm” them if condition should improve.

It's interesting to note what some of the ranchers are doing—now that they're at least temporarily out of the sheep business.

Ed Guy Branch has taken up goat farming and says that he finds it about the same as the sheep business—a lot of work and not much pay. With all the bootennannies one hears about now—a days, you would think the goat business would boom.

Louis Smith and Shirley Little have turned their talents to other fields. At the present time, they are side-line quarterbacking football practice.

Jay Lane, never very imaginative, could think of nothing better to do than drill a few more oil wells. At the rate the stuff is flowing on his place, it won't be a fit pasture for sheep for a good twenty years.

Shank Bloxom also has a plan. He heard that monkeys sell for as much as $50 each and is in the process of trying to get lined out there. He has one monkey already and as soon as he figures out that it takes two to Tango, I look for great things to develop in this department.

THE FLY BOYS—

Not too many people know about it but Rankin does have an aircraft landing strip. It is located north of the rodeo arena and is a pretty fair strip as far as surface condition goes. It is, however, so situated that two aircraft have recently piled up while trying to land. One cratered in the arena itself and the other—last Saturday evening—was a bit more fortunate. After clipping a power line that shut off electricity in Rankin for a short while, the pilot managed to pancake the craft and came out of the scrape with a few more gray hairs and only minor damage.

In both incidents, the folk in the planes could have been killed

As one local resident has noted, "We'd better either plow the thing up or fix it right."

THE HEADACHE MAKER—

For those of you who have an abundant supply of headache pills on hand and who can face more than one government form a year, I call your attention to a little diddy—required by the Postal Department—printed on Page 7 of this issue of the News. Of particular interest to those who get a kick out of a dizzy head, will be paragraph 9 which refers to paragraphs 7 and 8 under certain cases and circumstances, etc.

Ordinarilly, I don't bother to publish all this gook but I did so this time just to see how much it would have cost an individual and find that it comes to $17.55. Of course no mention is made by the P.O. department about payment and none will be made. It's just one of those little niceties that one performs—gratis from time to time for Uncle.

Oscar Lee at Party

Members of the Rankin Rebekah and Oddfellow Lodges honored Mr. J. O. "Oscar" Lee with a going-away party last Thursday night at the Oddfellow Hall. A salad dish supper was served

A gift of cash was presented to Mr. Lee who was to have gone to the Terrace Gardens nursing home in Midland last Sunday. His plans for this move were temporarily altered when he was sidelined with an asthma attack that put him in the Rankin hospital.

PATTERNS FOR PROGRESS

Community Development planning requires ANALYSIS of the Community Survey

Making a Community Survey of factors which influence community and economic development is the starting point for a soundly planned program.

What is done with and about such a survey is the next crucial step. We must assess and evaluate all the facts in microscopic detail, for results can come only from a thorough and realistic analysis.

We should ask ourselves . . . what are our advantages for economic and civic growth? How can we utilize them for community and economic development? Are there civic factors which need improvement to compete with our neighboring towns? How can we best make such improvements? And, is the entire citizenship cooperating with community organizations whose initiative and aggressive leadership can accomplish our objectives?

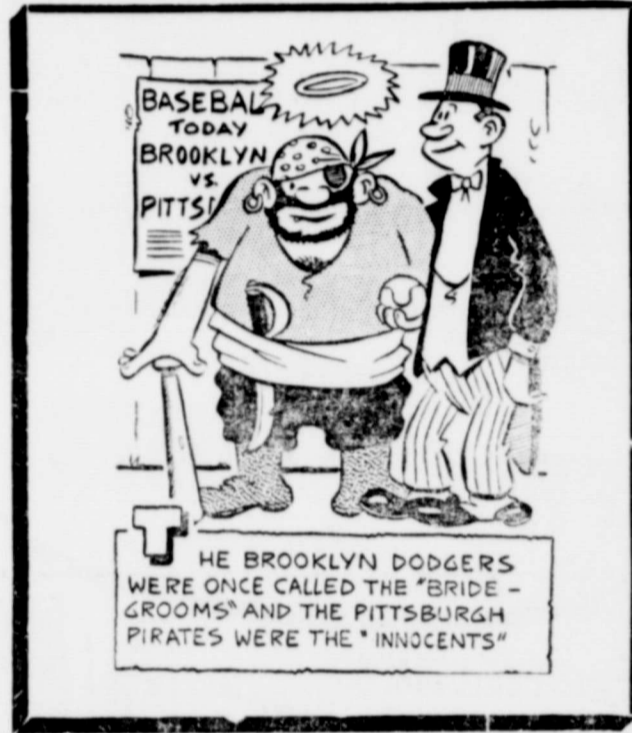

Analysis of a Community Survey is another PATTERN FOR PROGRESS.

WTU's area development representatives will assist growth-conscious communities in planning a thorough analysis of its Community Survey for economic development. This service is available on request through your local WTU manager.

HINTS for the HOMEMAKER

By Mrs. Louie S. Jeffers, County Home Demo. Agent

CONCERNED ABOUT YOUR TEENAGER'S EATING ?

Are you concerned about the eating habits of your teenagers as they go back to school? You want them to be alert and able to do their best. Some ideas for parents and physicians who treat adolescents were presented at one of the Nutrition and Diet Conferences moderated by Jessie Bier-man, M. D., of the School of Public Health, University of California, Berkeley, at the recent meeting of the American Medical Association in San Francisco. He was joined by a number of noted men and women in the field.

Miss Leona Shapiro, University of California, School of Public Health, Berkeley, a nutritionist who studied food diaries kept by a large number of teenagers, found that many of them ate very well. She suggests that before you get too concerned about your child, or too complacent, make a complete daily food record. If it does not seem adequate by the Daily Food Guide or other standard, do something about it.

When talking with teenagers about their food, the speaker suggested:

1. Dialogue, not monologue. Let the kids do half of the talking. The food they want to eat may be nutritionally sound and practical. If not, it may sound foolish to the teenager, too, when he hears it in his own words.

2. Listen for feeling as well as words when a teenager talks.

3. Approach a teenager with respect but authority. We find that boys and girls take themselves seriously but welcome thoughtful authority.

4. Recognize that some people don't work effectively with the teenagers. Let the parent who does it best, do it. The physician may be of help too. He has high status with teenagers as a source of information on health and diet.

5. Keep in mind that a teenager's strongest motivation is to be attractive and accepted by others of his age group, and in boys, athletic prowess.

6. Keep the refrigerator and the table well stocked with foods that are nutritious and pleasant to eat. You may be surprised to see how readily teenagers will down fresh oranges and apples from convenient fruit bowls and consume a fresh salad at dinner.

With our two seasons—Winter and Summer—it's not a bad idea to look over your things now and get them ready for cooler days. A coat that you thought would need replacing just might look pretty good after it is dry cleaned. And any garment will look nicer and wear longer when given proper care.

Mr. Brown had been at home but returned to the center for further treatments. He and his family hope to be back in Rankin in about two weeks.

This was the first year for the Upton Club to enter the big-time horse show competition.

It was quite an experience according to the girls and everyone enjoyed the trip.

SCHOOL DAYS

So you are going to educate that child of yours. Fine! But you should remember that you owe your child more than "reading, writing, and arithmetic." Someone has said: "An uneducated thief will steal a piece of coal; an educated thief will steal a railroad."

To train a child's mind without changing his heart is as dangerous as putting a loaded gun in his hands. You are increasing his capacity for evil.

The primary duty of Christian parenthood is to insure that we give back to God the children He has given us. Our children are also His children. We can be sure all is well with our children if we have brought them to God in Baptism and by faith in Christ Jesus their Savior.

Are you setting a Christian example for your child? Have you taught him that "the fear of the Lord is the beginning of wisdom"? Have you spoken to him about Christ and His forgiveness?

If not, our church—its pastor and people and educational agencies—stand ready to help you. "Come thou with us and we will do thee good."
