Annual Spookeroo Slated Saturday Fun Carnival

7 p.m. parade thru the afternoon's annual Hallowe'en held Saturday. Goblins, witches and goblins are invited to gather at the football field parking lot prior to 5:00 and take part — along with a number of floats — in the parade. All organizations and school grades are urged to enter floats for which a $10.00 prize will go to the best. Five awards of $1 each will be made to the kids on their costumes.

Judging will take place in front of the Junior High, final destination of the parade after its march up Main Street.

The Carnival proper will begin immediately after the parade at the Bus Barn. It will generally follow the format of previous carnivals and will offer a wide selection of entertainment for the young and old alike.

Those who plan to attend are reminded that a food booth will be in operation and that supper will be available for the entire family. Plenty of good homemade pies and sandwiches will also be available for snacks.

A new ride that will be interesting to the small fry is the pony ride. This, along with about a dozen more offerings, gives promise of a gala evening.

There is no admission charge to the carnival.

IT'S OFFICIAL

Rankin gets Washington Approval for Ten-Unit Low Rent Program

Confirming something that has been of general knowledge for a good while, a letter from Washington was received last week by the Rankin Housing Authority to the effect that the Rankin low rent plan had been approved for 10 units. Full contents of the correspondence appear elsewhere in this issue of the News.

In confirming ten units, the Housing Department in Washington designated that four of these would be for low income families and six would be for elderly.

The units will be contained in five buildings of a duplex-type arrangement and all must be in the same general area. It is believed that the elderly units will be two bedroom affairs while the low rent family units will run in the three-bedroom and upwards category.

Rankin Housing Authority has tentatively selected three sites as required by the Federal Housing Administration. No definite locations will be determined until approval is received from the regional office in Dallas. Telephone conversations were being carried on this week between Rankin and the regional office in an effort to set up a date for a joint meeting in Dallas. Tentatively, that date has been scheduled for November 4, a Friday.

In other actions taken immediately after being notified of the formal approval from Washington was the signing of the necessary forms to secure the first money for operation of the Rankin low rent program. This was in the form of a $500 requisition for incidental expenses such as telephone, advertisements and other office expense.

Still on a tentative planning basis, the present thinking is that the units will be made of brick and will be landscaped.

At this point, there is no way to tell when actual construction will begin but it is estimated to still be six months away. Rankin started work on their program about a year ago.

Members of the Rankin Housing Authority, appointed by the City Council, are L. Porter Johnson, Dunn Lowery, Dell Cooledge, E. Travis Bley and J. B. Hutchens. Bley is general chairman with Hutchens, secretary and temporary general manager of the low rent project.

Boyd Cox Services Slated October 27

Death came Tuesday at 3:45 p.m. to one of Rankin's old timers. Boyd Cox expired in Rankin Hospital at that hour—on his 85th birthday—following an extended illness.

Funeral services are to be held at 1 p.m., today, Thursday, October 27 at Rankin Methodist Church. Burial will be in Cedar Hill Cemetery in Ozona under the direction of Crites Funeral Home of McCamey. Rev. Charles Story, local pastor, will officiate. Nephews of Mr. and Mrs. Cox will serve as pallbearers.

Boyd R. Cox was born October 25, 1881 in Bell County. He had lived in West Texas most of his life and had been a resident of Rankin for the past 38 years. During that time, he was active in ranching and oil and served for a number of years as County Weigher of Upton County. He had been retired for the past several years but had remained in good health until about six months ago. He was a familiar figure about Rankin and had a wide acquaintance of friends. He was a member of the Methodist Church.

Survivors include his wife, Lilly of the home; a brother, X. B. Cox, Sr. of San Angelo; a sister, Mrs. Dove Slaven of San Antonio; and several nephews and a niece.

Absentee Balloting on for Nov. Election

Absentee balloting in the November 8 General Election opened last week at the office of the County Clerk in the courthouse. This phase of voting ends on November 4.

Any eligible voter who will be out of the county on November 8 or who will be physically unable to go to the polls on that date may cast an absentee ballot.

All those who wish to vote in person must do so at the Clerk's Office during regular office hours from 8:00 a.m. until 5:00 p.m., Monday through Friday. The office is closed from 12 noon until 1:00 p.m.

County residents temporarily out of the county, such as eligible servicemen, may make written application for a ballot and cast their vote by mail.

Court Calls for Bids on New Pickup Truck

In their meeting last Monday, the Upton County Commissioners Court had a short session that included only one major action, that of authorizing the county auditor to advertise for bids for the purchase of a new pickup.

Bids are to be opened on Monday, November 14. The successful bidder will be required to take in trade the 1963 model Chevrolet pickup presently in use by the county agent's office.

LOW RENT—

As noted elsewhere in this issue of the News, Rankin has finally received assurance that we will get a low rent program here. It took almost exactly one year to reach this point. If all goes well, it is believed we are still 6 months away from taking bids on construction and probably another 6 months before the first people will occupy a unit.

As has been pointed out previously, low rent programs such as the one for Rankin are not Great Society programs as such. Low rent goes way back to the New Deal times of FDR and is a counterpart of PHA. Great Society programs include the continued expansion of the low rent projects but on a stepped up scale. And that bit about stepped up programs—indicating prompt action—might well explain at least a small part of why there has been violence in large cities in almost all parts of the nation.

Anyone who has ever had the opportunity to thoroughly look over a large city—any large city—will admit that each has a big segment of its people living in housing and under conditions that would be mighty hard for most of us to tolerate.

Now suppose that one day a government field man comes into one of these areas in Big City A and tell the people therein that the government has a program that will improve their lot. He paints a glowing picture of the good this program can do and has done in other places. He raises hopes. Committees are put together and leaders are selected. Applications for this aid is made and things are looking just a little brighter.

ing. Nothing at all. For all apparent indications, the application is bogged down in some Beaucratic file cabinet and no one has any answers to any questions. This situation continues on and on and things don't get better for the people who had been promised much. In fact—as it would naturally seem—they are more aware than ever of their miserable surroundings. Once they had no hope and conditioned themselves to their environment by refusing to look at it. Then came the hope and the promises and they were no longer afraid to face the situation, feeling that improvements were on the way.

But none came. Hope turned to frustration and frustration to anger and anger to action and the action was riot—all because promises were made on which no delivery was apparent—at least not quick enough.

In a book of quotations, we read: "He who is most slow in making promise, is the most faithful in the performance of it."

Maybe what we need is a government that is not so quick on the promise and a little more diligent in its fulfillment once the promise is made.

An oldtimer is one who can remember when they really put pork in pork and beans.

NOT TOO HOT—

Another point of order that has to be learned by those of us who would do business with Uncle is that they do things by the book. Period.

Although it will not be admitted anywhere—officially—it is almost a sure bet that Rankin received only 10 low rent units for the simple reason that official policy holds at the present time that it is of more benefit to spend our money killing people in Vietnam than it is in improving our own lot here at home. The actual truth is that we cannot have guns and butter at the same time. No in quantity. And since it takes lots of guns to kill people properly, we're going to have to get along on less and less butter until the shooting stops.

Rankin's low rent project is going to be something of a disappointment to some of the citizenry—maybe all—but I believe it is the best we can get under the present conditions and further—that we are doggone lucky to get this. It's a start and with enough patience on the part of all concerned, it may be that in time, the thing can be developed into something more in line with our needs.

As it is, we'll just have to live with what we got—unless we want to riot, that is.

THE JINX—

Comes now the ole Ozona Lions and the question of whether or not they actually do have the hex sign on the Red Devils. It is generally well known that the Lions were not particularly upset when they lost earlier in the season to Sonora. Their feeling was: what the heck, Rankin will beat Sonora and then we will beat Rankin and get to go to district.

As things have turned out, no team has come close to beating Sonora and they are a shoo-in for district champs. Nevertheless, Ozona is said to still feel that beating the Red Devils is only a formality. They almost always have won the game—one way or another.

So comes Friday night, Rankin will not only be playing a team that defeated Junction 30-0 while the Red Devils had to come from behind in the 4th quarter to take a 14-8 win; but, there will be the added handicap of Ozona having winning ways when it comes to the Upton County champions.

We shall see what we shall see. Speaking of having the Indian

THIS WEEK—

RANKIN 21-Ozona 12. Hex or no hex, Rankin has the best team and the good guys always win.

ELDORADO 14-Junction 12. All year long Junction has been due to upset someone. They almost did last Friday.

IRAAN a bunch- Sanderson 0 Only two more to go after this one Eagles.

SONORA 38-Menard 0. Sonora can coast the rest of the way with only Iraan as any sort of threat to their unbeaten record.

ALPINE 24-Marfa 18. This is THE game in the district and could well go either way. Alpine has the best winning habit and that makes them the favorite but not necessarily the best.

CRANE 20-Big Lake 14. Crane has been hampered since the Monahans game with injuries but got back on their feet last week against the Badgers.

FABENS 18-McCamey 8! It's not that Fabens has any hex on the Badgers it's just that McCamey's season ended a little sooner than they had anticipated.

LETTERS To The Editor

ED. The following is the letter received by Rankin Housing Authority from the Department of Housing and Urban Development, Washington, D. C., notifying Rankin that their plan for low rent housing had been approved.

October 17, 1966

Mr. E. Travis Bley, Chairman Housing Authority of the City of Rankin
City Hall
Rankin, Texas

Dear Mr. Bley:

It is a pleasure to approve the enclosed program reservation No. TEX-293-Ar, of 10 housing units for the low-income people of Rankin. I want to congratulate you on taking this important step toward meeting low rent housing needs in your area.

The development you are now undertaking will be a part of your community for many years to come. If it contains the ingredients of good site selection, planning, and design it will become an enduring asset.

Our mutual goal is to provide homes that are socially and physically satisfactory and, in accomplishing these objectives, to satisfy the declaration of policy in the U. S. Housing Act that such housing shall be developed economically. The architect who plans your housing should understand the broad social purposes of this program. His imagination and technical skill properly employed should result in the type of housing, at reasonable cost, of which your community will be proud.

Let me assure you that Mr. Thomas H. Callahan, Assistant Regional Administrator for the Housing Assistance, Region V, is anxious to give you every possible assistance.

Sincerely yours,
Marie C. McGuire
Acting Deputy Assistant Sect.

GIVE "USED" BABY EQUIPMENT A NEW LOOK

It's easy to renovate major pieces with suds and paint.

A new baby doesn't necessarily require all new equipment, but everything he uses must be as clean as new. And with a little time and handiwork, it can also look as nice as new. Well-made baby furniture usually outlasts its original owner, so many mothers borrow a crib, carriage, playpen, and highchair—or buy these at the second-hand store. Often a good scrubbing, a coat of non-toxic paint, and perhaps a yard or two of new fabric can give hand-me-downs a new lease on life.

To renovate a crib, scrub every with hot soap or detergent suds.

Rinse-wipe with a clean, damp sponge, then allow the crib to dry thoroughly before any decorating.
Whether it is to be painted or ornamented with decals, the wood or metal must be clean to give the finished job a professional look. While it is generally agreed that a baby should have a new mattress, a borrowed mattress may be in good enough condition and firm enough to be acceptable—if it has a plastic cover which can be sanitized. For this, scrub the top and edges with a brush dipped into hot suds, rinse off with hot water, and wipe dry. Then turn the mattress over and wash the other side the same way. If possible, put it outdoors to dry in the sun and fresh air.

A bassinette or car bed should also be scrubbed with hot suds, inside and out—using a sponge on smooth plastic and a brush on canvas or wicker. Then add a new ruffle or skirt made of a washable plastic or a no-iron fabric—because it will need frequent sudsing to keep it dust-free and sanitary enough to protect the new baby.
