VOTING—

Despite the fact that it will come as a surprise to many—as it already has even to some county officials—we are going to have an election next month.

Up for voting on November 11 will be six proposed Amendments to the state constitution. Sadly enough, amendment voting is one of the more neglected duties of citizenship in Texas—despite the fact that it gives we, the people, a say so in how we are to be governed. And the November 11 vote will not likely be any different in that respect than have those of the past. Here in Upton County, probably less than a third of the voters will go to the polls—a trend that pretty well fits the state-wide voting.

For this batch of amendments, there could be even less enthusiasm and for that reason, this corner will not discuss them in detail as has been the practice in the past. There is, however, one that certainly deserves consideration. No. 5 on the ballot is called "State Park Development Bonds" and briefly would authorize Texas to issue $75,000,000 in general obligation bonds to acquire and develop state park sites. This money, along with $7,000,000 in federal funds, would provide some twenty-six new state recreation parks—being no more than two hours time from most Texans.

It is estimated that these new parks would be self-supporting, financed by a nominal entrance fee.

Your support of this amendment would be of benefit, not only to me and you, but to those who are to come later. By the year 2000, it is anticipated that advance what to expect. You can turn to the Weather Bureau's long range forecast and get a reasonably educated guess — provided your turn it around backwards. A second choice is to turn to "The Farmers Almanac," one of the old, long-time favorites. It, however, is primarily interested with forecasting the weather in the Eastern part of the nation and the more populated sections in general and is likely to dismiss an area such as ours with: "Take a wild guess".

A third and sure-fire method and one that is tuned strictly and scientifically to our area, is to ask Ed Guy Branch. Now Ed Guy isn't one of those weather-forecasters who shoots from the hip—nor does he have to rely on a bunch of little computer gadgets. He goes into the thing more in depth and considers such advanced meteorological scientific computations as how a blackbird sits on the cow lot fence, how the smoke curls up from a campfire and what time of the year Archie McDonald digs out his long handles.

And like all good scientific minds, Ed Guy tries to advance with the times and this year has added still another demention to his studies of the weather. He studies cockleburs.

Cockleburs, according to Ed Guy, are about the smartest critters yet when it comes to really telling what lies ahead in the way of weather. Branch says that a cocklebur will never put on young burr pods unless they can fully mature before a hard freeze comes — something like 90 days.

Well, by now you have guessed the worst. The cockleburs did not "put on" after the September rains and that's a sure sign that we're in for an early and a hard winter.

So don't say you wasn't forewarned.

RISD Board Minutes Note New Employee

In its regular October meeting, the Rankin School Board accepted with regret the resignation as a cafeteria employee of Mrs. Verna Sigman and approved the employment of Mrs. Noah Stacy to fill the vacated position. The Sigmons have been transferred to Big Spring. Mrs. Stacy was a substitute cafeteria employee last year.

A new professional growth policy was adopted by the Board, replacing the present one which had been in use a number of years. Briefly, the new policy requires certified teachers to earn at least six hours college credit each three years for holders of Bachelor degrees and each five years for holders of Master degrees, workshops may be substituted for the above.

The Board decided to continue the present school policy of purchasing locally.

well; others have trouble throwing or running. Some are very active, and just cannot sit still. Many cannot concentrate on one thing for very long. Some cannot speak clearly; some become quite upset over the slightest thing. Some have poor memories and have to work hard to make things stick in their minds. There are other troubles that brain injured children can have, but these are the most common.

In many ways it is difficult to conceive of a child being handicapped and having specific needs, when the handicap is not an obvious one. In a democracy, all people, including the brain-injured, have the right to develop their potential to the maximum. No one lives in isolation. We depend on those around us for social growth. To be one's "brother's keeper" is not just old-fashioned, which no one takes seriously. It is a way of life, perhaps the only way by which democracy can flourish and continue to exist. All people needing help should be helped regardless of prognosis. In the case of the brain-injured child, whose chances are generally favorable, is it even more meaningful to

Career Exploration Offered at Schools with 4-H Program

The Upton County 4-H Club, with the cooperation of the Rankin School system, is sponsoring a "Career Exploration" program for students in Rankin Schools. It was revealed today by W. M. Day, Jr., county agent.

In the initial meeting with the student body, questionnaires were given out to see if the student had done any career planning. From these questionnaires, a good deal of information was obtained relating to the definite kinds of careers in which students are interested, Day has explained.

The next six or eight meetings will be devoted primarily to discussions on these fields that were most frequently mentioned by the students. A leading authority in each of the occupations will be in Rankin and will discuss with the student body the advantages and disadvantages of these areas of occupation.

First speaker in the series will be Mr. Curley Hayes, Public Relations representative from the Abilene offices of West Texas Utilities Company. Mr. Hayes is to speak Tuesday, October 24 at the high school auditorium beginning at 9:00 a.m. All interested parents are invited to attend this lecture as well as any of the forthcoming ones.

"I would like to express my appreciation to Superintendent Pete Bateman and school counselor Mr. Glenn Cornwell," said Day. "They have been most cooperative and helpful in getting this type of program set up within the framework of the school system."

underdogs apparently had a field day all the way from high school up through the pros. Unfortunately the Red Devils did not get in on the upsetting business but their time is coming—yet.

Ole Crane just managed to get by Alpine, a team that hasn't done much thus far. Menard get the best of Sanderson and that didn't figure. Another of the surprises came when Big Lake shut out Wink. Texas lucked out on Oklahoma and the Vikings beat the mighty Packers while the Dallas Cowboys did their best to give away their game.

So what else is new?

For those of faint heart—who think the Red Devils are in for a long dry spell—we recommend that they take time out and go down Thursday and watch the B team play the Badgers. Now the Badgers will have some pretty strong lads themselves, but any fan who knows much about the game will be able to see that Rankin has some pretty good prospects for the future to go with a fine group now playing on the A squad.

Next year—sometime this year probably—the new arrangements for districts will be drawn up and in all probability, Rankin is going to have some new faces on their schedule next year but it would be good if we could keep some of our old faithfuls for a couple of more years, say like Ozona and Sonora, and maybe Big Lake and McCamey.

We owe those folk a few return matches.

THIS WEEK—

But to the business at hand—that being this week's game here with the Junction Eagles. Junction and Rankin have played some fine games in the past and this one figures to be no different. The two teams stack up about even with Junction having good size but not much depth. One of their big guns is a 205 pound fullback and that could mean trouble to anybody.

Junction has never defeated a Rankin team so that will be the lead for this week.

RANKIN 14, Junction 12. The Eagles are tough but Rankin ought to be a bit more versatile—despite the fact that they will be the underdogs in most pickings.

IRAAN 28, Menard 6. Braverville has another week of joy—shortly to come to an end.

Midkiff and A. A. Behringer. Members voted to help with the Multiple Sclerosis drive which is Bronchos just about sewed up district when they got past the Red Devils.

OZONA 49, Sanderson 0. The Lions make big noises but it's a bit too late.

BIG LAKE 22, Parkland 6. The Owls look better each week and unless Crane comes alive, they are going to win it.

CRANE 18, McCamey 12. The Badgers can't seem to pull off the big ones and the Crane-McCamey thing is the biggest.

MARFA 25, Van Horn 6. Those Shorthorns would have gone a long way in any other district but their league—like Rankin's—is a tough one.

ALPINE 20, Fabens 10. The Bucks may be coming on late—as in other cases—it's too late as far as district is concerned.

BY W. M. (DUB) DAY
County Agent, Upton County

KOUNTY AGENT'S KORNER

Animal health officials and the Texas Livestock Producers are expressing grave concern over the rapidly rising number of screw-worm cases being confirmed in the state.

Sixty-eight cases have been confirmed in the past 10 days, and the 66 the previous week upped the Texas tally for the year to 300 cases.

Last year at this time 291 Texas cases had been confirmed. Cases continue to mushroom in the fall months of 1966, with more than 1000 cases literally exploding in the state by mid-December.

Dolph Briscoe, Jr. of Uvalde, president of the Southwest Animal Health Research Foundation, today cautioned that recent big floods in South Texas and good rainfall through Central and West Texas serve to pose the greatest threat to the screwworm program since eradication was achieved in 1964.

He points out that numerous cases have been reported throughout the Hill Country and the southward in the overwintering area.

"We are most fortunate that the Southwest Screwworm Eradication plant at Moore Field, near Mission, came through Beulah and resulting in out any serious damage particularly indebted to personnel at the plant, whom stayed there and three days straight with the plant in order to maintain fly production at levels. Their devotion and radiation program deserves eternal gratitude." Briscoe added, that winds from the Gulf could have blown massive fertile screwworm flies from Texas from below the border in Mexico.

"The danger now is a build-up of native flies in any part of Texas unreported, could cause a worm case situation of control rapidly. I urge all livestock producers to be particularly vigilant in their stock, and send worm samples to the Moore Field for diagnosis immediately." Briscoe adds.
