WOODWORK BY DALTON

SOMEONE who for obvious reasons prefers to be anonymous recently commented that one of the main troubles with a small town is that the citizens have little else to criticize or talk about other than the local schools, churches, city government or newspaper.

Well, of course, people in large towns talk about those institutions, too, but they aren't as close to the situation as they are in a small town.

In a small town, everyone knows everyone. All the people know all the teachers, preachers, city officials and the poor, bumbling, misguided newspaper editor. In the larger towns, they get most of their information second hand, usually from the product of the bumbling, misguided newspaper editor.

There have been instances of parents in small towns sending their youngsters to schools in larger towns because the larger schools have more to offer in the way of specialized training. This is a commendable action in one way, because naturally the larger schools can offer more courses like woodworking, art, journalism, and other things which are offered in the smaller schools naturally would have only two or three students in a class.

But in some ways, the small schools have it all over the larger ones in advantages for growing boys and girls. In the fields of athletic endeavor or even some scholastic channels, the small schools give a student a much better chance of participation.

A boy or girl in either Amherst or Sudan schools who wants to play basketball or some other sport has a better than even chance of staying on the squad, and an almost equal chance to earn a letter. But many of these same youngsters would have no chance at all of making the team in a larger school. And while the idea of being a big fish in a little puddle may not be as appealing, it's much better for the youngsters who participate. Same way with band, student council, annual staffs, etc.

The youngsters who are practicing football in Sudan and Amherst might conceivably in a larger town where they couldn't stay on the squad, be out learning how to steal hubcaps and make zip guns.

And, so far as the local criticism of schools and teachers goes, I'm about as guilty as anybody of finding fault, but let's try to put ourselves in the other guy's place before we criticize too much.

TED WALKER and Jay Home requested that I print the information that while these words were being written, they unloaded 1,776 pounds of newspaper without my help, which they strongly hinted they wanted. I'm sort of like the guy whose small son was telling a playmate: "My daddy is the bravest man in the world. He's not afraid of lions or tigers or anything... there's just one man in the world he's afraid of - a Mexican."

"What's the Mexican's name?" inquired his friend.

"Manuel Labor. I think."

Wreck Fatal To Two Sudan Men

Two Sudan men were among five persons killed in a car-pickup crash late Sunday near the Roundup Community.

Killed were Coney Rudd, 40, and Neal Beene, 54, both of Sudan; and three Anton Negroes, Henderson Person, 19, David Belcher, 18 and James Wheeler. Injured in the wreck on U.S. 84 were two other Negroes, Phillip Griggs of Anton and Marvin Perry of Lubbock, and another Sudan man, Ilea Garcia, 35.

Investigating officers said the head-on crash occurred just inside a construction zone a mile east of Roundup. The Sudan men were traveling northwest in the pickup and the Negro victims from Anton were headed south-east in a car.

Services for Beene were at 2 p.m. Tuesday in Circle Back Baptist Church with Rev. Jimmy Gresham, pastor, officiating. Burial was in Sudan cemetery under direction of Hammons Funeral Home.

Beene is survived by four daughters, Mrs. C. E. Wallace of Lubbock, Mrs. Reba Schwettmann of Big Spring, Mrs. Leon Warren of Sudan and Miss Joe Beene of Big Spring; four brothers W. R. of Hamlin, J. E. of Cleburne, Fred of Needmore and J. B. of Midlothian; a sister, Mrs. Liddie Wood of Clarksburg, Calif., and five grandchildren.

Services for Rudd were at 5 p.m. Tuesday at Sudan First Baptist Church with the Rev. Willie Hazel officiating. Burial was in Sudan Cemetery under direction of Hammons Funeral Home.

A native of Oklahoma, Rudd is survived by his wife, Martha Louise; two sons, Dusty and Woody Rex, both at home; two brothers, Cresty and Denver, both of Sudan; and a sister, Mrs. Alma Faye Adrian of Earth.

The long-expected ultimatum to integrate Sudan public schools or construct equal facilities for Negro students appeared to be an imminent certainty this week following a check of Sudan schools by a three-man committee from the Texas Education Agency. The three-member accreditation committee visited Sudan schools last Wednesday and afterward met with Sudan school officials to tell them verbally what they will recommend officially within the next week or so. The chairman of the group said he would recommend that Sudan be put on a warning list, indicating need for definite and immediate steps to remedy the present situation of Collins School.

Another member of the visiting group, who also is the TEA's consultant on buildings and grounds for the state's schools, said: "I am going to recommend that you find a new site and build a new plant (for the Negro school) if you plan to continue a 12-grade school out there."

This man, a building expert, estimated the cost of such an operation would be around $300,000.

The third member of the committee commented that the present facilities at the Negro school, with some remodeling would be adequate for a six-grade system. At present there are about 125 students at Collins school, with approximately 70 in the seventh and eighth grades total about 23.

It was explained that the alternative to not complying with the recommendations of the accreditation committee, which will return to Sudan next year, would be for Sudan Schools to lose their accreditation. This would mean that any student graduating would not have his transcript accepted for college entrance.

The Sudan School Board has the right to appeal the recommendations of the accreditation committee, but the feeling of board members apparently is that an appeal would be fruitless.

The school board plans to meet next Thursday night to further discuss the Collins school situation and also to discuss finances, particularly in view of the fact that the committee also plans to recommend some remodeling in the present Sudan High School.

After inspecting the white elementary school, the committee made only one recommendation: for more science equipment in the seventh and eighth grades. For the Sudan High School, several remodeling projects were proposed.

On the favorable side, the committee noted that vocational departments at Sudan High School "are excellent." Members also commented that the school has "excellent personnel and examples of good teaching were evident."

COMMUNION SERVICE AT METHODIST CHURCH
Communion Service will be at the Methodist Church Thursday evening during one hour - 7:30 to 8:30. Anyone may come and go at will during this hour.

Fishing at Umbagog Saturday night were Dean Slaughter and Lavone Kamp.
Mr. and Mrs. Brent Wiseman have been fishing at Lake Brownwood.

DEVOTIONAL

By HAZEL
HOUSE

He is Risen! These are the words on that first Easter morning that brought amazed joy to the hearts and minds of the first Disciples of Jesus. These words in their Truth still bring Joy and Hope into the hearts and minds of Christians today. It is an amazing fact 2000 yrs. after Jesus' death that around this great world of ours people in every nation know that it is Easter-Celebration time for Christians-Victory Time! The Cross may look like defeat and shame to the world but, to Christians who know Jesus, what God was doing in the death of Jesus, it means the only victory that ever counts for anything. Victory over Sin and Death and into Life.

Isn't Life what we all really want? The abundant, the beautiful, the happy! Life. Jesus said in St. John 14:6, "I am the Way, the Truth, and the Life." These words of Jesus have been preserved for us through fire, storms, wars, destruction, deterioration of materials, for all these years. Do you believe them? Then Jesus said that what He came for was this: St. John 10:10, "I am come that they might have Life, and that they might have it more abundantly."

We associate Easter with a Garden, a Cross, and a Tomb, but let us not stop there as so many have done. Let us look at what Jesus left us - His peace, the fellowship of intercession for others with Him, the abiding presence of the Holy Ghost, His faith is us to carry on to all the world His message of Love and Life-giving power. Have you supplied the man (or woman) to carry this message? For the Holy Spirit to live and work in and through?

Jesus gave His Life that you and I could also have Eternal Life. Is it not reasonable for us to give our bodies while here to the Father to use - as Jesus gave up His for us? There is nothing you can offer to God except yourself. Jesus made all the sacrifice for our sins and paid all the price for our leaving God's presence in the first place, so, all we do now is say "Lord Jesus, I accept Thee, as my own Savior. Take me just as I am and make me what you will, not as I will."

Be joyful, Christians, be hopeful, this is a time of victory, for His promise is that He shall return for us, and we shall see Him in all His Power and Glory this time! Look for His coming. Watch and pray, and love one another that the world may know we are His children.

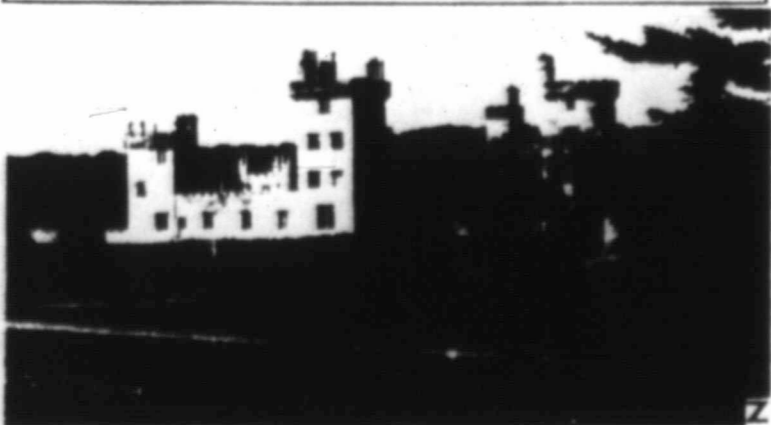

"I go to prepare a place for you, I will come again, and receive you to Myself, that where I am, there you may be also"

Dream Castle Come True

This vacation season, Americans are finding new enchantment in the land of Shamrock and Shannon. Sure 'n begorra, their dream castle has come true, on the banks of the River Rina. And there's no murky, moat to swim or fortress wall to scale.

Dromoland Castle, home of the royal line of O'Briens who descended from Ireland's ancient kings, has been converted into a new international hotel... complete with private lake and hunting grounds.

The 550-acre estate dates back to 1570, but Donough O'Brien, its first occupant, didn't have the benefits of private baths in all 70 bedrooms or Shannon International Airport a mere eight miles away! Nor did Donough imagine others with Him, the abiding presence of the Holy Ghost, His faith is us to carry on to all the world His message of Love and Life-giving power. Have you supplied the man (or woman) to carry this message? For the Holy Spirit to live and work in and through?

Jesus gave His Life that you and I could also have Eternal Life. Is it not reasonable for us to give our bodies while here to the Father to use - as Jesus gave up His for us? There is nothing you can offer to God except yourself. Jesus made all the sacrifice for our sins and paid all the price for our leaving God's presence in the first place, so, all we do now is say "Lord Jesus, I accept Thee, as my own Savior. Thy youth is renewed like the eagle.-(Psalms 103:5).

If we use our time, our energies, our thoughts in constructive and spiritual ways we can be eternally young. The Christ Spirit should never be regarded as old, worn, dull or tired but only as eternally young.

Ye therefore shall be perfect, as your heavenly Father is perfect.-(Matt. 5:28).

We should replace memories of past mistakes with supreme desires to be what God wants all of us to be - God's perfect children.

DOWNSPOUT GUTTERS

A concrete gutter, leading water from downspouts away from the house, will reduce soil erosion. Such a gutter can be formed easily by digging a trench in the soil of the desired gutter length, 12 inches wide and about 6 inches deep. Concrete is then placed in the trench and dip shaped with pointed shovel, tile or similar round item.

Concrete for the gutter need not be a matter of measuring and mixing the proper amounts of sand, gravel and cement. You can save a good deal of time and trouble by using Sakrete Concrete Mix, a ready mixed, ready-to-use product sold by most hardware, lumber and building material dealers. Mix water into the dry material as directed to provide a strong concrete mixture, ready for use.

HOW TO BUILD A PLANTER BOX

There are few do-it-yourself ideas that add quite so much beauty to the entrance way, patio or garden as a planter box. Common brick, stone or concrete brick planters are easy to construct in spare time hours. Here are the directions for construction using 4 x 4 x 8 concrete brick. This material is uniform, easy to handle and builds rapidly.

1. Layout the planter area to determine size and location of foundation. Put in line and level stakes.
2. In clay or compact soil, dig trench for foundation 6" wide and 5" below ground level. Put 2" of gravel in bottom of trench for drainage and level. Finish by placing 3" of Sakrete Concrete Mix on top of gravel. (This pre-mixed material is available at most lumber, building material and hardware stores.)
3. Stretch lines to mark position and level of initial course.

4. After base sets, put down a 1/2" bed of Sakrete Mortar Mix long enough for 3 or 4 bricks, furrow mortar and lay first course. Use level and straight edge frequently.
5. Butter the end of each brick before laying. Squeeze buttered end against the previous brick so that mortar oozes and a 3/8" joint results.
6. As each brick is laid, use trowel handle to tap brick into proper position. Use level and straight edge frequently.
7. Both horizontal and vertical mortar course should be about 3/8" thick, and as you build, check each course with level, both across the bricks and along their length.
8. Cut off excess mortar with upward sweep of trowel. Check vertical alignment.
9. When mortar begins to set, tool joints with jointing tool. One week after completion, scrub bricks with 10% muriatic acid solution to remove spots of mortar on brick.

Green Thumb Tips

A good crop of roses depends on good position. Other things being equal, the distance between the tassels on one corn plant, which are male flowers and the silk on another (which lead to the female flowers) may be the deciding factor of your crop. That's why corn should be planted in several short rows instead of one long row. . .

Soft blue flowers all summer, equally blue when cut and dried for winter use, are those of Salvia farinacea. Blue Bedder or the rarer Salvia patens in mild climates both of these salvias may be considered perennial, patens being less hardy than farinacea. Up north both are grown as annuals. . .

A FAREWELL TO THE FRIENDSHIP CHURCH

By Mrs. Ethel Beale
I
It seems to me, so short a time,
Since the days of the '30
When I came here to find,
This wonderful Friendship,
A place so sublime
Where all men were treated royally kind.
II
'Twas the people so dear,
That made the place,
A welcome spot to come,
And bow in All Grace;
To worship Our Lord
At a farmers rugged pace;
In our humble attire,
Pleasing to God's Holy Face

III
We are all just Farmers,
Way down in our hearts;
I pray we have striven,
To do our own parts.
IV
The echo of our children
Still rings from the doors,
And our hearts are saddened,
As our last gathering outpours.

V
We should all be made glad though,
To surge ahead;
To do more for our God,
And prove Spirits not dead.

VI
It is proven so true,
Time waits for no man,
So let's worship God
Wherever we can.

VII
For He said He'd be with us,
Whether two or three,
So you see we can please Him
Even if it's under a tree.

VIII
Let's please not forget though,
We're still neighbors strong;
We can visit and worship
Even if the house is gone.

IX
May we strengthen the Church,
Wherever we go;
And live more Godly
And really let it show.

X
May I say to "Old Friendship"
You've served us well;
May your converts go forth,
To make God's work swell.

XI
I can find no stopping place,
I could go on forever!
May the love we have found here
Last forever—and a day!

BUSHES FILLED WITH BLOOM

"Bushes filled with bloom" is a good description of the modern annual balsams. The fully double flowers look like miniature roses and are borne on the top of the plant quite unlike the old-time balsams which had flowers underneath the leaves.

Balsams are easy to grow from seeds sown in the soil outdoors after all danger of frost is over. Cover the seeds to a depth of 1/2 inch and walk along one foot in front of the other over the planted row to firm soil to seeds.

After the seedlings grow 4 inches high, transplant them to stand 18 inches apart. You can plant them solidly for a mass of color or group them about a dozen plants to the group in spaces where spring-flowering perennials have bloomed or for colorful accents in front of evergreens.

Wherever you set them for the summer use sufficient plants so that you get the effect of massed bloom. Few other annuals have flowers spaced so closely.

Scarlet flowered balsams look particularly well against evergreens (providing the back of the evergreens is not of red brick). The rose and pink flowered varieties take on a new depth of color when grown in shade which balsams tolerate.

White-flowered balsams stand out particularly well in deep shade, may be grown in large flower pots for a shaded porch or patio.

When buying seeds of balsams remember that there are dwarf sorts for bedding, taller varieties for specimens, and that all double-flowered sorts prefer heavy soil and quite a bit of moisture.

Peanut Butter Goes Glamorous in Clam Bisque

Over two years of consumer and laboratory research went into the development of the new Peter Pan peanut butter just introduced. This new peanut butter has unique moistness and depth of flavor which make it ideal as a recipe ingredient, as well as for sandwiches and snacks. The Home Economists in the Peter Pan kitchens have created many delicious and unusual recipes, among them, this Peanut Clam Bisque... an easy, nutritious main dish the whole family will enjoy for lunch or dinner. Because of the high quality protein in the peanut butter, all you need add to make a balanced meal is crusty bread, salad and fruit dessert.

1 can (1 1/2 ounces) whole kernel corn	1/2 teaspoon salt
1 small onion, sliced	1/2 teaspoon pepper
2 cups light cream	Finely minced pimiento

Force undrained clams, corn and onion through food mill or blend in electric blender 1 minute. Transfer to top of double boiler and stir in the cream, peanut butter, salt and pepper. Cook over boiling water until mixture just reaches boiling point, stirring occasionally.

MOST WINNERS DETERMINED IN JAYCEE TENNIS

Only five matches remained to be played Wednesday in the Sudan Jaycees tennis tournament. In women's doubles, the finals between Zenell Martin-Margaret Smith and Lenda Wood-Lucille Brown still were scheduled, and in high school girls singles, Linda Williams is waiting to play the winner of a match between Glenna Gatewood and Kathy Barnett. In men's novice singles, Kermit Sorrells still is to play the winner of a match between Jimmy Newman and Mike Masten.

Winners determined since last week were: grade school girls singles, Kathy Minyard, winning in the finals over Brenda Drake 6-0, 6-1. Earlier Minyard defeated Vicki Masten 6-3, 6-2.

In men's singles, Dalton Wood won by beating Pudd Wiseman 6-0, 6-3 in the finals. Wiseman advanced to the finals by defeating Jimmy Carpenter 8-6, 5-7, 6-2. In men's singles consolation bracket, Ralph Stewart won by beating Jacky Van Nem 6-1, 6-3.

An Unusual Foliage For Arrangements

A head of flowering or ornamental kale, showing color gradations from green to pink or red.

The most exquisite coloring you can imagine in such a utilitarian plant as kale is present in the type known as "ornamental" or "flowering" kale. In a single plant leaves may be colored various shades of green shading to pale pink then to deeper pink, often with white or cream color in addition.

Or, the leaves may grade from drab to light green, to yellow to cream to white in another head. Do you wonder that this plant is beloved of flower arrangers?

As the weather grows colder in autumn, the colors of the leaves deepen - one reason why arrangements for the fall holidays, Halloween and Thanksgiving, which use leaves of ornamental kale will be particularly beautiful.

When planning or planting your vegetable garden consider its orientation with regards to the sun. Plant the tall-growing vegetables like corn or pole beans where they will not shade the lower-growing sorts.

In addition to planting cornflowers, plant also their close relatives the sweet suitans. These have fragrant flowers, larger than those of cornflowers.

Sweet william, so easy to grow from seeds will produce flowers that scent the garden and the house in June if seeds are sown early enough. The flower really is a biennial, so if you do not get your seeds into the ground early, leave the plants in place and they'll flower next year.
