WOODWORK FFA-FHA

MORE AND MORE we seem to be getting involved in some sort of crisis at the place called Laos, and where that is, I sure couldn't tell you. I do know that somebody is fighting somebody else, violently, and that we have troops in the vicinity.

Like I say, I don't know where Laos is, and right now don't care much. But I didn't know where Korea was either, until we got mixed up in it. I just hope we're not fixing to get into another Laosy war.

SOMEONE said recently that the older a man gets, the farther he had to walk to school as a boy. Well, the older I get, the more I appreciate the nostalg c recollections of oldtimers, and sometimes find myself musing about the incidents and entertainers of the past in the same sort of way I used to sneer

For example, I'm fully convinced there'll never be another male singer and entertainer who can even come within miles of Bing Crosby. He compares not In All-Star Game at all with the likes of Fabian. Elvis and Little Richard.

Not all the good comedians are gone, yet, but the best have been around a long time. Will Hope, Skelton, Danny Kaye and Jack Benny be amply replaced by such horrors as Jonathan Winters and Jack Parr?

A few nights ago, I saw another old Judy Garland picture, and although she's still a good singer, she was great back in those days, I thought to myself, "What new young singer can put over a song like that?" For my money, Brenda Lee hasn't a prayer of a chance, and I even said that nobody could touch the style of such singers as Judy. But then I remembered a few more recent good ones, like Teresa Brewer, and just the next night! heard Judy Garland's own daughter, and she sounds just like Judy did at that age.

So no longer do I sneer at the little old lady who sighs at the

Master To Play

Mike Masten, 150-pound alldistrict and all-regional guard on the Sudan Hornets football team last fall, has been invited to play in the Greenbelt Bowl, a football game held in the summer each year at Childress.

Masten, a fierce competitor, was a bulwark in the Sudan defenses last fall, and has been described by coaches as "one of the finest little guards" ever seen in these parts.

This was one of the more serious comments made Priday night by John Blaine, former athletic director of Plainview mitt, where he had several state champions and runners-up in football and basketball. Blaine was featured speaker at the annual Sudan High School athletic banquet honoring high school athletes here in all sports.

Blaine, who coached at Dimmitt back when the school played Sudan annuall/ in football and basketball, smilingly commented earlier that "I've made 40 trips to Sudan and I believe this is my first friendly trip. "

High School Principal Ralph Stewart was master of ceremonies, introducing Blaine and the Sudan Coaches. On behalf of the girls athletes, Glenna Gatewood presented gifts to Coach Hank Brown, to manager Son Qualls and to girls basketball sweetheart Mike Masten. Brown earlier had announced that two Sudan girls, Miss Gatewood and Nancy Hayes, were named to the all-district basketball team.

'Straw Vote' By 22 Favors Integration

Some 31 persons met at the Sudan school cafetorium last Thursday night and after discussing the issue for a couple of hours came to the unanimous but in several cases obviouslyreluctant - agreement that the school probably will be better served by integrating the top six grades than by spending $275,000 or more for a new Negro school

Representatives of various organizations in the district were invited to the meeting with members of the school board and administration, and their questions and views on the problems facing the board were invited.

A straw vote taken at the end of the meeting found ever one who voted at all, in favor of bringing the Negro students from Collins School into the white school from grade seven on up. starting this fall.

The meeting was called primarily because of the recommendations of the state accreditation committee which vis ited local ichools April 3 and said they would recommend, among other things, that a new site and new building be provided for colored children if a 12grade school is continued for Ne-

As soon as the recommendations become official, when the committee's written report is received here, the board said it plans to have a general meeting. with all the public envited, to explain the alternatives.

It was noted that remodeling projects estimated at $15,000 were recommended for the school

But it was pointed out that although they may be perfectly satisfied with the current arrangement, and the white patrons of the district may be satisfied, the state still is insisting on an "integrate or build" course

Ignoring the state's recommendations would mean loss of as reditation for the entire school system, meaning Sudan graduates' high school record would " not be accepted by colleges.

Tennis Teams Go Down Swinging

The Sudan girls doubles team won one match before being beaten, but all other Sudan players who won district were ousted in the first round of tennis play at the regional in Lubbock last weekend.

Kathy Barnett and Linda Williams, making the regional trip for the third straight year, started out by defeating Tillotson and McKinney of Rotan, 7-5, 6-0. In the second round, however, they lost to Shannon and Howard of Marfa, 6-0, 6-2.

In boys singles, D. W. Muller was downed 6-0, 6-0 by Webb of Marfa, and in boys doubles, Robert Williamson and Tommy King were ousted by the Eldora do team of Donalson and Lowe,

Also in tennis, but not in the scholastic playoff, Mike Masten last week closed out the Sudan Jaycees tennis tournament by winning the men's novice singles crown with a 6-2, 7-5 victory over Kormit Sorrells.

Evaporated Milk for Healthier Babies

When formula days are over, medical authorities suggest you continue to feed your baby evaporated milk to avoid di gestive upsets. Simply mix with an equal amount of water for him to drink from a cup. Begin feeding to foods, combined with evaporated milk in delicious Pear-Banana Whip developed by the home economists of Car-nation Company. Like our "most happy fella" above, he'll enjoy its pleasant-tasting flavor and creamy-smooth texture

Remember that Carnation Evaporated Milk is the leader for infant feeding. It's good, whole milk with half the water removed. Nothing is added except Vitamin D the food nutrient so essential in the building of sound bones and teeth No other form of milk is so safe for your baby, or so digestible

> BANANA-PEAR WHIP (Makes 6 servings)

2 cup undiluted evaporated l tablespoon lemon juice

2 tablespoons confectioners'

egg white jar (434) ounces strained l jar (434 ounces) strained

Chill evaporated milk in refrigerator tray until soft ice erystals form around edge of tray (about 15 to 20 minutes). Whip until stiff (about 1 minute). Add lemon juice and whip until very stiff (about 2 minutes longer). Whip in sugar Whip egg white until stiff but not dry, fold into whipped evaporated milk; fold in strained fruit and serve.
