THIRTY-NINTH YEAR

SUDAN, LAMB COUNTY, TEXAS WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 27, 1963

WOODWORK BY DALTON

THE INSANITY of our modern society was underlined during the last week with the senseless killing of President John F. Kennedy, shot through the head by an assassin while he was being cheered by crowds in Dallas, and with the subsequent slaying of the man accused of being the President's killer.

Many applauded the killing of Lee Harvey Oswald, the man whom Dallas officials had already said definitely was the murderer of our young President. I can't applaud the slaying of Oswald, although I cannot, in all honesty, say he didn't deserve it. But I mainly regret his murder because now we may never know the full truth behind his insane action in shooting the President and the Governor. Or perhaps we will learn more; only time will tell.

Like all the rest of the nation, I mourned the killing of President Kennedy. As for President Johnson, I never was one of his admirers, and never felt that he was qualified even for the vice presidency. However, he is our President now, and I hope he proves me wrong. I hope he does a good job, and I do believe that he was sincere when he said he would do his best.

ON A TV SHOW last week, I was all caught up in the story, and feeling the usual kinship with the hero, until he said something to the heroine in which he used the word "neither". He didn't pronounce it the way I do. He said "ny-ther", and I always say "nee-ther".

Webster says either (or eyther) one is correct, but I always feel uncomfortable in the presence of anyone who says ny-ther, the same as when someone says he lives "out on Root 3". Now, Webster doesn't even admit the existence of the pronunciation most of us give to the word route. To me, it's root, rhyming with goat. That's incorrect, though, but I imagine I'll go on saying root for root.

In Virginia, I understand they carry this to extremes, saying, "It's about time we took off on our escape root with the loot," except that they probably pronounce loot "lout", which might be okay, depending on whom you are with.

I shouldn't feel this way, but for some reason I always get the impression that anyone who says root for route, and ny-ther and ey-ther for neither and either is something of a mob.

However, I admit I'm probably wrong about this, and it's not the first time, eyther.

I NOTICED a label on the end of a roll of toilet tissue reading "American Can Company", which caused me to raise an eyebrow until I remembered the old definition of a canopener as the key to the bathroom.

I DIDN'T PICK too many games last week, and correctly chose Ambrosi, Dumas, Nebraska, Arkansas and Wilson to come through with victories, but missed when games were won by Littlefield and Petersburg. For the year I have 52 right, 46 wrong, .637 average. Since Ambrosi has gone this far, I think they can go all the way, and beat

COTTON QUOTAS UP FOR VOTE DEC. 10

The cotton quota vote coming up on Dec. 10 will mark the 11th consecutive year in which growers have voted on marketing quotas for their upland cotton crop, Harvey D. Vann, chairman, County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, said this week.

If at least two-thirds of the growers voting in the referendum approve quotas for the 1964 upland cotton crop, price support at a level within the range of 65 to 90 percent of parity will be available to growers who comply with their farm allotments, and marketing quota penalties will apply to any "excess" cotton produced on a farm.

All farmers who engaged in the production of upland cotton in 1963 are eligible to vote in the Dec. 10 referendum.

Auction To Highlight Second Trades Days

Members of the Sudan Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture this week announced detailed plans for the second monthly Trades Days shopping event and public auction on the square in Sudan.

Merchants participating are offering special prices on various items during the three-day event, which will include tomorrow

(Thanksgiving Day), Friday and Saturday. Some of the merchants will not be open on Thanksgiving Day and their specials will be offered on Friday and Saturday.

The event last month met with fair response and the CCA hopes for even better reception from citizens this time. Particularly, said CCA president Calvin Jordan,

PHONE WITHOUT DIAL WILL BE TESTED

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. — Development of a pushbutton telephone that enables the user to select a telephone number twice as fast as with the traditional rotary dial was announced this week by General Telephone & Electronics Corp., parent company of General of the Southwest.

The new telephone was developed by Automatic Electric Co., a GTE subsidiary, and will be included in a field test installation early next year. In place of a dial, it utilizes 10 button-numbered from zero to nine.

When making a telephone call, the appropriate buttons on the new unit are pressed in sequence — a procedure that is simpler and more accurate as well as faster than rotating a dial finger-wheel.

The pushbutton telephone is being featured at the Automatic Electric display here at the annual convention of the U. S. Independent Telephone Assn.

Mr. and Mrs. Noel Lumpkin were in O'Donnell Sunday to visit her grandmother on the occasion of her 89th birthday.

Ballard-McClellan Ceremony Held

Wedding vows were exchanged in a double ring ceremony for Miss Paula Jo McClellan and Eddy Mack Ballard at 8 p. m. Friday in the home of the bride's aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Fritz Heine in Austin.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert H. McClellan of Austin. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Noel Lumpkin of Sudan.

Rev. John Grant, uncle of the bride, officiated for the services. Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white embroidered street length tulle dress and a white veil. She carried a white orchid atop a white

Bible.

Anita Patton of Austin was maid of honor. Serving as best man was Donnie Shannon of Sudan.

Following the ceremony was a reception in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Heine.

Mrs. Ballard is attending the Capitol Beauty School in Austin. Her husband is a graduate of Sudan High School and served in the Air Force receiving his discharge in July.

They will make their home in Austin where he is employed with the Industrial Instrument Co.

dan, participation of area citizens in the Saturday afternoon auction is invited.

"We'd like to see everyone turn out for the auction," he said. "Last month there were lots of good items for sale, and a number of persons who didn't know about the first auction in advance, said they would bring items to this month's auction to be sold."

Any person may bring any item to the auction trailer on the square in Sudan and have it auctioned off by auctioneer Harvey Grigsby. There is no charge for auctioning off an item, and whoever brings it in gets the full amount. The whole idea of the auction is to provide citizens with bargains, with a place to get rid of some unwanted object which someone else might use, and to influence more persons to come to Sudan where they may take advantage of the special prices offered by the merchants during Trades Days.

Jordan pointed out that most of the participating merchants are offering real bargains in an effort to keep trade at home which has been going out of town.

Anyone with items they would like to sell is urged to contact Jordan, Nolan Parrish or Lester Shanks, or just bring the articles up to the square in Sudan sometime Saturday morning, so it can be tagged by A. A. Pinkerton before the auction actually begins.

Auction time is 2 p. m. and everyone is urged to come by and take a look at all the things offered for sale.

Items like chairs, lamps, beds, tables, toys, auto parts and accessories, motorcycles, griddles, oil wells and buggy whips are needed for the auction, Jordan said, indicating that just about anything imaginable would be accepted.

Other recent activities of the Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture have included the beginning of installation of Christmas lights and a report on the possibility of establishing a commercial alcohol manufacturing plant here.

THE GREAT LOVERS

Rudolph Valentino (left) in his costume for "The Sheik," and Clark Gable (right) as he appeared as Rhett Butler in "Gone With the Wind." are two of the subjects covered in the Purex presentation, "The Great Lovers," a segment of David L. Wolper's "Hollywood and the Stars," aired over NBC-TV on Monday, November 25.

The art of movie love-making, from sweet talk to rough stuff, is investigated in a new television program, "The Great Lovers," which Purex presents as the November 25 segment of the David L. Wolper series, "Hollywood and the Stars." This series, delving into all facets of movieland and its celebrities, is aired every Monday over NBC-TV.

From Rudolph Valentino to Marlon Brando, the subject relates the styles and techniques of movie romance. It reveals that before Valentino introduced the hero who overpowered heroines, the male stars were intensely moral; they battled villains but merely let the maidens fall into their arms. It shows the romancing of pre-Valentino stars like Francis X. Bushman, Milton Sills and Wallace Reid.

The half-hour program moves from the William S. Hart and Charles Ray bashfulness on to the great matinee idol, John Gilbert, whose romancing with Greta Garbo made history.

"The first thoroughly American romantic idol was Clark Gable," explains producer Wolper. "He weathered two full generations as a screen lover."

SHORT AND SWEET

Recent statistics indicate that one in three jobholders in the U.S. is a woman, and among women workers, more than half are married. Southerners talk on the telephone more than other Americans—they average six calls a day while the rest of the nation averages five. The automobile industry consumes 61.6% of all the rubber used in the U.S.

More than 77% of the men and 46.5% of the women in the U.S. now have auto driving licenses. Professions that are predicted to grow fastest in opportunities and income during the 1960's are medicine, dentistry, engineering, nursing, chemistry, physics, teaching, mathematics, accounting and social work. Airplane passenger service was inaugurated in the U.S. on May 2, 1919.

For those who shun elevators, there are 1,860 steps to the top of New York City's Empire State Building. The oldest capital city in North America is Mexico City, which dates to 1325. Chatham Hospital in Silver City, North Carolina, gives nurses caps to little girl patients—the idea is not only to keep the little girls happy, but perhaps plant the seed of interest in the nursing profession.

HUNTING 'EM
Can't find a place to hunt? Then drag out your fishing boat. It can be as helpful as an Irish setter on a covey of quail. While the outdoors is indispensable to most duck hunters, it has not been used in any other phase of hunting, say the folks at Mercury outboards. As a result, sportmen miss many fine hunting opportunities.

Obtain a county map and you'll see why. Observe the location of roads, and you'll have an indication of the regions generally hunted. Since the average man seldom ventures more than a mile off these access routes, shade in this distance on both sides of the marked roads. Invariably you'll find blank spaces along streams which represent sections of prime hunting lands. Such areas exist almost everywhere, even in some of the most heavily populated states where shooting territory is at a premium.

All you need to reach such spots are a boat and motor, enough water to float the rig and a well trained wife to pick you up at the end of the trip. Be careful, caution the Mercury folks, that you use your rig primarily for transportation, not as a shooting platform. Though game laws vary in most states, a boat and motor combination is considered a vehicle and is subject to the same regulations as your auto. Since the real pleasure of hunting is the stalk, break the rule and hunt in the customary manner. Whatever your game, once hunting can be the answer. It's mainly for the guy who likes to get away from the crowd, and if he's lucky, hunt in a heavy boat the easy way. Why not check your maps tonight?

Scripture: Lamentations 3:17-26; II Peter 1:4-11; I Thessalonians 4:13-18; 5:1-11.
Sorrow and anguish are two emotions common this week to all people of the United States, and especially to Texans. Together we face this future, remembering the courage and leadership of our past president and feeling a great loss to the entire world, but looking forward to carrying on the fight for freedom and peace and brotherhood of all mankind, for which President Kennedy lived and died.

Also, we would remind you that the same God who apparently guided him still reigns, and we trust Him to know what is best for us all. For this nation, under God, will "carry on".

We have been reminded anew of the uncertainty of human life, of the suddenness in which we can leave this world and be into eternity. In just such a manner will Christ return for all those of us who believe on His Name, and confess Him here and now as our Redeemer, Savior and Lord.

The dead in Christ shall rise first, rising when they hear "a shout, with the voice of the archangel, and with the trump of God..." and those who are alive will be changed (suddenly, startling suddenness!) and caught up in the clouds, to meet the Lord in the air. "And so shall we ever be with the Lord." (Read St. John 3:16.)

Are you ready? As I read God's Word, we must get ready NOW, for this is the only time we are promised; in the next moment we may leave this world. No time to get ready then. Again I ask you:
Are you ready?

As we have opportunity, let us work that which is good. —(Gal. 6:10).

We should seize every challenge in our lives as an opportunity to grow. As in climbing a mountain, each successful effort in our lives with the problems facing us brings to a higher point than before—until we reach the summit.
