FORTY-SECOND YEAR

THURSDAY, MARCH 10, 1966

WOODWORK BY DALTON

JAPAN had more than its share of air tragedies recently. Three airliners have crashed, killing a total of somewhere around 250 persons. One crash killed 124 persons, including 89 Americans.

This was shocking news, and it made headlines all over the world.

However, on the same day in which the 124 persons died in a plane crash, probably five or six times as many persons were killed in automobile accidents in the United States, and most of these fatal accidents rated only varying amounts of publicity in the different area in which they occurred.

The difference, of course, in the amount of notice is that the airliner crashes kill a large number at one time, which makes it seem more horrible. But the traffic accidents are just as horrible.

One difference is that after a lot of plane crashes, many persons either vow never to ride an airplane again or, when they do, have the premonition that they are about to be killed.

A person's chances of being killed are greater in an automobile, but hardly anyone ever vows to give up riding in a car, or feels that he may not make the next trip safely.

ALTHOUGH the U.S. Mint is about to come out with a new 40-per-cent silver half dollar any day now, there has been a shortage of half dollars for a few years which has puzzled officials.

Maybe I can help them understand it: You see, fellows, there are more half dollars than there quarters around. If you will just take note, you will find silver dollars even more scarce. Yet there are more silver dollars in circulation than there are $20 gold pieces. And probably more $20 gold pieces than $1,000 bills, although I admit I'm not too sure about this.

The point is, the larger the denomination, the bigger the chunk of money is, the more scarce it is.

Especially around my house.

WHILE MOST of us parents are still far from convinced that the "new math" is anywhere near as good as the old, the new math isn't nearly new enough to suit some.

We read (in the Christian Science "Monster") that many mathematical innovators frown on "the watered-down versions of modern math that are parading under the new-math mantle."

They want something farther removed from the old system, bolder forays into informal logic, matrices, computer math, and a bunch of stuff not keyed to algebra, geometry, calculus and such old-fashioned junk.

If this comes about, we who learned the old way and now feel confused and hurt by the new system (if we have kids in school) will no longer feel that we are the product of a lot of misguided educational era.

Instead, we'll be dropped to complete idiots. But we'll still be able to add two and two and get four, instead of a 32nd factor of zero, or something.

BAPTIST YOUTH WEEK TO BE HELD HERE

Dr. Caradine R. Hooton Dies In Washington D.C.

Dr. Caradine R. Hooton, first General Secretary of the Methodist Board of Christian Social Concerns and Executive Director of the American Council on Alcohol Problems, died Feb. 23 in Washington D. C. after a brief illness. He was 70 years of age.

A national church leader for many years, Dr. Hooton was known in this country and abroad for his work in the field of alcohol problems as well as his many other humanitarian concerns. As the first General Secretary of the Methodist Board of Christian Social Concerns with headquarters in Washington, he helped bring into being a major church agency whose sizeable professional staff worked in more than 30 social problem areas.

Dr. Hooton's first pastorate was the Methodist churches of Sudan and Amherst, during 1927-30.

He was pastor at Polk Street Methodist Church of Amarillo. He was District Superintendent of the Stamford District, and later pastor of the First Methodist Church of Oklahoma City.

From this post he was invited to become General Secretary of the Board of Temperance of the Methodist Church with headquarters in Washington D. C. where he lived from 1949 until the time of his death.

Surviving are his widow, the former Lila Maud Eberhart and two daughters, Mrs. Donald Dodd of Springfield, Virginia and Mrs. Robert Melvin of Dallas. There are four grandchildren. A son, William E. Hooton gave his life as a World War II bomber pilot

SCHOOL OBSERVED OPEN HOUSE HERE

The Sudan Public Schools observed Open House Tuesday night when teachers displayed the academic and art works of their students.

W. E. Hancock, school superintendent, reported a good attendance in all rooms.

At the conclusion of the event all faculty members and school workers were presented cakes by PTA president and vice president, Mrs. Jack Riley and Mrs. Lavene Kamp.

Hancock pointed out during his speech that in order to qualify under the new Title I program, more funds will be needed for school improvements including desperately needed classrooms, a sports stadium, and athletic dressing rooms.

He said that the school board has discussed these projects and will present several plans to the public in the near future.

Government funds, according to Hancock, have been tentatively approved for additional books for the school library.

Funds have also been approved for materials to be used in the Guidance program under the direction of the school counselor, Mr. Smith.

Refreshments of cookies, coffee and punch were served during the open house by the lunch room workers in the cafeteria.

PTA NEWS

Wiley Mudgett, candidate re-election to the school board, appeared on the program Tuesday afternoon at the meeting of PTA and spoke on his "Views of A School Board Candidate", the program topic.

The Rev. Jack Riley gave the devotional from Romans 10:6. Mrs. Jack Riley, president, called the meeting to order, and the presentation of the flag was made by Tracy Bowling and Carol Legg, members of the Cub Scouts.

Mrs. Noble Dudgeon gave a report on the inoculations program being planned March 16 at 1:30 and asked for three volunteers to help with the program.

Mrs. Richard Black presented a resolution that the PTA ask that the mobile library be continued in Sudan.

Mrs. Riley commented on the fact that it was Public School week and reminded teachers of the $300.00 PTA scholarship available to a teacher.

In the election of officers Mrs. Riley was re-elected president with others being renamed to the following positions: Mrs. R. L. Kamp, vice president; Mrs. Wayne Swartz, secretary; Mrs. Billy Cheiter, treasurer.

It was disclosed that the district PTA Spring Conference will be held in Lubbock, April 26.

The third grade class of Mrs. Calvin Vernon received first place award for having the best parent attendance, and the first grade class of Miss Hardy was second.

The next regular meeting of the PTA will be Tuesday, April 5, when the Rev. Willie Hazel will bring the devotional and a symposium "Promoting Opportunities for Children and Youth" will be given by Mrs. Doyle Watkins and the Rev. Jack Riley.

Preceding the program Tuesday an executive committee meeting was held when those present were officers Mrs. Riley, Mrs. Swartz, Mrs. Noble Dudgeon, Mrs. Richard Black, Mrs. Tom King Jr., Mrs. Marvyn Bowling, Mrs. Bob Drake and grade school principal Bernard Wilson.

Mrs. Dudgeon reported the response to the planned inoculation program had been well received. Also Mrs. Richard Black gave a report on the planned purchase of a screen to be used by the Student Council in showing movies.

Taylor-Masten Vows Exchanged

Wedding vows were exchanged by Miss Cynthia Ann Taylor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Taylor and Bobby Michael Masten, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Masten, all of Sudan, at 7:30 p. m., Saturday, March 5, in the First Methodist Church of Sudan. The double ring ceremony was read by the Rev. Harvey W. Hulse, pastor of the Second Baptist Church in Harlingen, Texas.

Presented in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal length gown of peau de soie with a fitted bodice with long sleeves ending in petal points. Lace appliques re-embroidered with seed pearls outlined the neckline, sleeves and hemline. A lace mantilla extended the length of the chapel train. She carried a bouquet of tiny white roses surrounding a white orchid atop a white Bible.

Miss Vicki Masten of Sudan, sister of the groom, attended the bride as maid of honor. She wore a formal length gown of aqua dotted Swiss over aqua accented with turquoise velvet bows and ribbons. She carried a colonial nosegay of aqua cornations surrounding a lighted candle. Miss Susann Erwin of Roswell and Miss Susie Masten of Morton were flower girls. They were attired in gowns similar to the maid of honor's and carried baskets of love knots.

Best man was Dale Masten of Sudan, cousin of the groom. Ushers were Joe Bellar of Dumas and Tommy Taylor of Lubbock, who also served as candlelighters.

Traditional wedding music was presented by Mrs. Curtis Casey of Trucoat, Texas, and Mrs. Judy Taylor of Lubbock, soloist, sang "Because", "The Lord's Prayer" and "Whither Thou Goest".

Following a reception held in the fellowship hall of the church, the couple left for a honeymoon trip to Clovis and Carlsbad, N. M. For traveling the bride chose a three-piece beige tweed suit embroidered in aqua, with beige accessories.

Mr. and Mrs. Mike Masten will reside in Sudan, where she will continue her schooling. The groom is a graduate of Sudan High School, attended McMurry College and Texas Tech.

Slate and Mrs. S. D. Hay, Mr. and Mrs. Lester LaGrange attended from Amherst. From Littlefield were Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Matthews, Mrs. Roy McQuatters, Mrs. Arvie Joplin, Mrs. W. H. Rutledge. From Olton were Mrs. Roy Burrus and Mrs. Stella Cowart.

4-H NEWS

The annual 4-H Food Show was held in the Community Center in Littlefield, Saturday.

Twenty-one girls entered the contest with entries in the four food groups.

Winners, including Barbara Black of Sudan in the junior division, will represent Lamb County in the district show to be held in Lubbock, April 2.

Williams-Foust Ceremony Read

Miss Nancy Jane Williams and Rex Wayne Foust were united in marriage at 8 p. m. Saturday, Feb. 26, in the First Baptist Church, Littlefield.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Williams of Sudan and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Cloise Foust of Littlefield.

Mickey Blake, minister of the Sudan Church of Christ officiated at the double ring ceremony before an arch adorned with greenery. White candles highlighted the baskets filled with chrysanthemums and palms.

Miss Dyame Curry presented the traditional organ selections and accompanied the soloist, Miss Janie Young of Amherst as she sang, "Whether Thou Goest" and "I Love You Truly".

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor length gown of white Peau de Sole styled with a chapel train flowing from her walk away bell skirt. The fitted bodice featured a portrait neckline and long sleeves which pointed at the wrist. Tiny covered buttons closed the fitted bodice in the back. Her fingertip veil of silk tulle was caught to a white self-material headpiece. Her bouquet was created of white feathered comatons accented with pearls and centered with a white orchid.

For "good luck" she carried a 1900 Indian head penny; something old was a necklace that had belonged to her mother; something new was her wedding gown; something borrowed was the white Bible that she carried her bouquet on which belonged to her niece; she completed the tradition with an accent of blue about her knee.

Miss Kathy Barnett of Sudan assisted the bride as maid of honor. Miss Rhogene Elam of Canyon served as bridesmaid with Alane Weaver of Amherst, niece of the bride and Debbie Foust of Littlefield, sister of the groom, as junior bridesmaids. They wore identical floor-length gowns of American beauty satin and carried long stemmed pink roses.

Gaye Weaver of Amherst and Cheryl Williams of House, N. M. nieces of the bride, were flower-girls and were dressed similar to the bridesmaids.

Kevin Williams of House, nephew of the bride, was the ring bearer.

Serving the groom as best man was Jerry Foust of Big Springs, brother of the groom. Groomsman was Tommy Davis of Lubbock and Donny Shannon of Sudan and Billy Webb of Lubbock served as ushers and candle-lighters.

A reception followed in the church parlor with the serving table laid with a lace cloth over pink. Highlighting the table, along with the traditional tiered wedding cake, was pink punch and an arrangement of pink carnations.

Presiding at the serving table were Barbara Young of Sudan, Anita Chambers of Slaton, and Linda Flood of Floral Park, N. Y. Others assisting with hospitalities were Rita Munger, La Quita Weaver and LaVayne Williams.

Presiding at the registry were Miss Carol Keener of Amarillo and Mrs. Sharon Roberts of Canyon.

For traveling the bride chose a white knit suit with red accessories.

The couple are at home in Littlefield following a wedding trip. The bride is a 1964 graduate of Sudan High School and has attended West Texas State University in Canyon.

Foust is a 1960 graduate of Littlefield High School. He attended the Schriners Institute in Kerrville, has served three years
