THERE OUGHT TO be a law against demonstrating. This kick of forming a protest march or organizing a demonstration has reached the point that whenever any group finds things not going the way they want it to, a protest demonstration is organized.

One of the biggest troubles with the situation is that usually the protest works. Officials are giving in to organized mobbery and making concessions; therefore other groups who want something done—or not done—figure rightly that a march may be the quickest and best way of getting what they want.

In Houston recently, this trend was carried to the point that the five youngsters in a family went on strike. The kids, age 4 to 13, wanted more swimming, picnicking, television rights and higher wages.

They posted pickets around the house with crayon-labeled signs that read "More Rights" and "Mother Is Unfair." And mother let them get away with it, although whether or not she gave in to their demands was not mentioned in the Associated Press story.

The entire incident was amusing to many, but we shudder to think that kids of this age already recognize that the louder you holler, the more you get, whether you deserve it or not.

One housewife with whom we are casually acquainted said that if her kids ever did that, they would get a demonstration on the seat of the pants.

This might be a good way to deal with some of the others demonstrating around the nation, too. But the protesters have gained so much already, there seems to be no stopping them now.

There is nobody who has it made anymore quite like a 65-year-old Negro dropout.

WE UNDERSTAND that now on the market are electronic fish-finding devices which tell us lousier fishermen where the fish are. By means of an electronic sound wave, signals are bounced off the bottom and objects in between, with the signals reflected on a calibrated dial which an observer can be trained to interpret.

And the equipment is supposed to cost only about as much as a custom flyrod. Of course, it doesn't catch the fish for you. It just tells you where they are.

So it doesn't offer much help to guys like me, who have seen fish floating insolently around just under the surface, but refusing to bite. I remember once a fish came up beside the boat and stuck his head out to look around.

Did you ever hear a fish snicker?

Nation's 300,000th M.D. To Be A 'Family Doctor'

NORMAN, Okla.—The nation's 300,000th physician was graduated from medical school in June at the University of Oklahoma School of Medicine.

Jerry Dean Leu, 29, of Alva, Okla., plans to become a smalltown "family doctor." First, however, he will go on for four more years of internship and residency training in internal medicine.

Dr. Leu's graduation marks a medical milestone—the first time 300,000 physicians have been available to serve Americans. The number of M.D.'s in the U.S. now is increasing faster than the general population. The ratio is better than one physician for every 680 people, compared to one for every 737 in 1960. By 1975, the AMA estimates, the ratio will be down to one physician for every 638 persons.

Even more physicians are needed to meet an insatiable demand for medical services, the American Medical Association says. The increase in demand for medical services has come about through a growing health consciousness on the part of the public, scientific advances in medicine, new government health programs and the growth in population, the AMA pointed out.

Becoming a doctor wasn't easy for Jerry Leu.

"When I was in high school, I wanted to go to medical school, but I had doubts about my ability and whether I could obtain the necessary funds," he said.

Dr. Leu said his wife's work and loans through the AMA's Education and Research Foundation and the Oklahoma State Medical Association made it possible to obtain his degree.

He was accepted for medical school in 1962 after graduation from Northwestern State College, Alva, and Air Force service as a medical research technician.

"I want to establish a family practice in a small town with 15,000 to 20,000 population," Dr. Leu said. "With a family practice it's hard to explain I want to take my patients—where they are, as individuals and as families."

He plans to take an internship at the University of Oklahoma School of Medicine, Oklahoma City.

FROM THE PSALMS

"What time I am afraid, I will trust in Thee."

Is there anything in the living of these days which disturbs you? Is there anything within you of which you are afraid?

If so, give this thing to God in prayer, and give yourself back to Him, then say "What time I am afraid, I will trust in Thee."

And, also, with the psalmist, you can say, "For Thou hast delivered my soul from death; wilt not Thou deliver my feet from falling, that I may walk before God in the light of the living?"

"Give us help from trouble; for vain is the help of man." "God hath spoken once; twice have I heard this; that power belongeth unto God."

"He ruleth by His power forever; His eyes behold the nations; let not the rebellious exalt themselves."

"O bless our God, ye people, and make the voice of His praise to be heard; which holdeth our soul in life, and suffereth not our feet to be moved."

"Come and hear, all ye that fear God, and I will declare what He hath done for my soul."

"But verily God hath heard me; He hath attended to the

FAMOUS AMERICAN FACTS

THE FIRST MAGAZINE PUBLISHED IN THE UNITED STATES WAS ANDREW BRADFORD'S "AMERICAN MAGAZINE" WHICH APPEARED IN FEBRUARY, 1741, THREE DAYS EARLIER THAN BENJAMIN FRANKLIN'S "GENERAL MAGAZINE".

WITH TODAY'S VARIETY OF MAGAZINES, NO MATTER WHAT YOU MAY BE PLANNING—TRIPS, BUILDING, DECORATING, GARDENING, SURFING, OR STARTING A HOBBY—THERE'S A SPECIALIZED MAGAZINE YOU CAN CHOOSE THAT'S TAILOR-MADE FOR YOUR INTEREST.

MAGAZINES AND NEWS-PAPERS ARE INVITED GUESTS IN YOUR HOME. THEY CAN BE ENJOYED WHEN AND WHERE YOU WISH AND FOR WHATEVER TIME YOU WISH TO SPEND WITH THEM.
