THE TWISTERS which struck in the Midwest last week underlined with tragic clarity that the nation once more is in the tornado season. Of course, Lamb Countians already were pretty much aware of this after the story which ripped the roof of the Littlefield Methodist Church and then, quite democratically, damaged the Baptist Church.

A few years ago it seemed that there was at least a tornado a day sighted in the Sudan-Amherst region, and some of them did considerable damage. Fortunately no one was killed.

Folks who have lived around these parts for a long time have noticed that frequency of tornadoes seems to come in cycles (sort of a cycle-clone).

Some years it seems there are lots of storms and those who are st cowardly, or prudent, depending on one's point of view, spend half their time in the cellar, and another fourth of it looking warily at the sky.

When I was younger I disdained the thought of going to a cellar or even paying any attention to storm clouds. The older [get, the chickener I get, as life seems to be more precious. ***

I HAVE quite a few hobbies and pastimes which some of you know all about, but one thing I am working toward probably is little known to those who never have visited my garage.

I am collecting junk and odds and ends. I have countless wonders of articles strewn around my garage, in my dresser drawer and in the attic.

When I retire to join the millions living on federal relief, 1 am going to open a store and flood the market with such items as lawn mower control levers, rubber gaskets, split water hoses from 1962 Pontiacs, bent nails, stripped screws, twisted allen wrenches, busted screwdrivers, pieces of wire, washing machine inspection plates, oil can spouts, battered croquet balls, Jerry Todd books and torn plastic dishpans.

I will ask exorbitant prices for all of these rare items, on the theory that the more useless a thing is, the more people seem to want it.

JAYCEES SPONSOR WORK NIGHT

The Sudan Jaycees will sponsor a "Work Night" Thursday, April 27, at the Little League Park beginning at 7:30 p. m.

The "paint-up, fix-up, clean up" campaign is designed to put the park in operational condition for the up-coming season. Jaycees, Little League parents, and interested parties are asked to bring their tools, including shovels, hammers, nails, and whatever material that can be used to ready the park. A huff will be on hand to move

For more information concerning needs of the park, con tact Philip Gordon.

MAN FOUND DEAD IN MOTOR VEHICLE

J. C. Perkins was found dead in his pick-up Monday morning in the Flats section of Sudan. The negro man was an employee of R.B. Wright of Bula, He is survived by the wife and seven children of El Campo.

According to Justice of Peace Tobe Vereen and Deputy Sheriff HomerMcLaury, Perkins apparantly died from natural causes.

Services are pending at Carty Funeral Home in Littlefield.

Susan Jones, Mike Bellar and Larry Morgan were named as outstanding athletes Monday night at the annual Sudan Athletic banquet. The selections are made by the coaches, must be a senior and must participate in all major sports of the school. Another highlight of the banquet was the crowning of the football queen Susan Jones by Mike Bellar. Other candidates and their escorts were Loretta Damron by Robin Davis, Jeannie Baker by Billy Ford, Sharon Wilson by Larry Hanna. "Pep King", selected by the pep squad for the best spirit during football season, was named with Harry Williamson receiving the honor. Eight names were added to the plaque honoring outstanding athletes. They included the students named to all district teams in football and basketball.

They are Eddie Boyles, Robin

Time Change Due Sunday

Local residents are reminded of the time change to take place Smiday, April 90, at 2:30 a, m. when the state of Texas goes on Daylight Savings Time.

Officials state that a good method of carrying this out is for residents to set their clocks ahead one hour before retiring Saturday night.

Church services will be held locally as scheduled with the new time being observed.

All Sudan businesses will observe DST and Superintendent W.E. Hancock stated that the school will operate according to schedule with clocks set according to Daylight Savings
