WOODWORK

BY DALTON

JUST IN CASE you missed it, from the March issue of Reader's Digest was this story:

A disc jockey took a poll over the air, asking listeners whom they would like to be stranded with on a desert island. A young bride surprised her husband by naming John Wayne.

When her husband asked why she didn't choose him, she replied, "Could you fight off wild animals or build a hut for me from driftwood?"

After thinking it over, the young husband said, "Come to think of it, I guess I would choose John Wayne, too."

FOR SOME reason, this reminds me of the story about the big giveaway contest, where a paid vacation is the prize. First prize is a week in Washington. Second prize is two weeks in Washington.

I've never been to Washington, but from all that I read about it, I haven't missed anything, and I can appreciate the point of gag.

IF YOU ever have worked in a place with more than three other persons, or if you've ever attended any meetings with large groups--and this includes regular church services--then you should know how impossible it is to adjust heating or air conditioning to suit everybody. It just can't be done.

To many persons, 80 degrees is ideal indoor temperature; to others it's too hot unless it is about 70. And just about everybody else falls somewhere in between, with most people having a comfort tolerance of only two or three degrees. Therefore, no matter what the thermostat is set on, someone is going to be uncomfortable. To solve this so far unsolvable problem, scientists need to come up with individually air-conditioned or heated clothing.

Another possibility is for society to come to accept any kind of garb or lack of same in public. At present some persons might be startled to go into an office and find one person sitting nude next to another in a fur coat and earmuffs.

Mr. and Mrs. Tommy C. Rosson of Morton are parents of a daughter, Daphne Carol, 6 lbs. 7 oz., born at Methodist Hospital in Lubbock, April 17 at 6:39 p. m. Paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Claude Rosson, and maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Bill Turner, all of Sudan.

Up, Up And Away

Climbing up, up and away, Los Voladores Flying Indians Spectacular will really be out of sight when HemisFair '68 opens in San Antonio, Texas. In a ceremonial ritual four centuries old, these Flying Indians ascend a 114-foot tubular steel pole, then descend in 22 spellbinding revolutions--secured only by a rope around their waists.

Performing four times daily at the Frito-Lay/Pepsi-Cola Pavilion, the flyers dress in brown costumes decorated with feathers; because their tribe, the Totonacs, believe that after death the spirit comes back to earth as a bird.

Chief José Villanueva de la Cruz, wears red pants and a white shirt plus a small head-dress of colored stones as he performs the most daring risk of all. Climbing to the very top of the pole, he does a dance on a 12-inch disc while playing a reed flute and small drum. Since there are no safety nets or other precautions, the slightest misstep could be hazardous.

This flying ritual is part of the ancient religious beliefs of the Totonacs. The pole is used to bring the flyers closer to the

NEW HEALTH AND BEAUTY PRODUCT

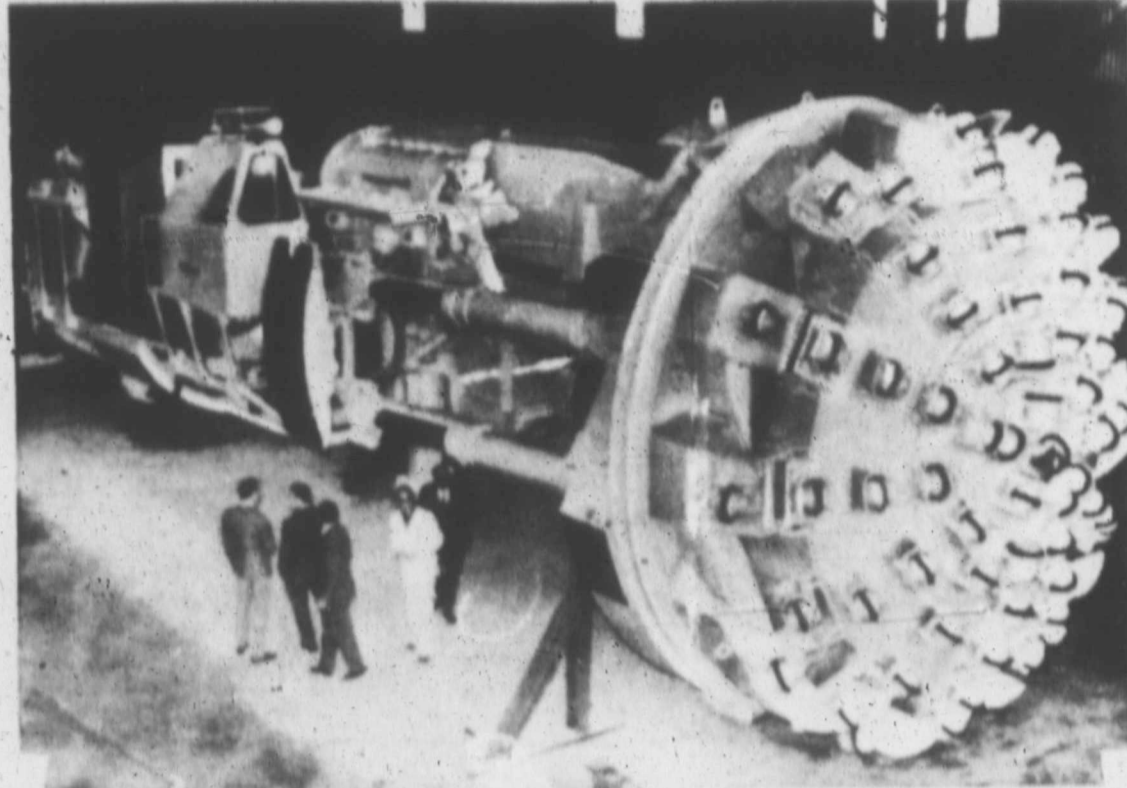

The Invisible Bandage

A new health product is the virtually invisible bandage recently announced by the Kendall Company, makers of the "ouchless" bandage.

Created to avoid the unflattering look which the ordinary bandage gives when it must be placed on the face, or under a nylon stocking, the new bandage is fully transparent and flesh-colored.

The flesh tinting and the transparency, in fact, are the secret of the almost invisible appearance of the new bandage.

In addition, the new bandage is "hypo-allergenic," which means that its adhesive has been made so that it will not create an allergic reaction on even the most sensitive skin.

Postal Law Now In Effect

Mail patrons offended by pandering advertisements can now take steps to curb such mail. Postmaster E. C. Minyard said today in announcing plans for administering a new law which gives each family the right to decide that an ad is "erotically arousing or sexually provocative."

When an advertisement sent through the mails is offensive on these grounds, a postal patron can now ask the post office to direct the mailer to send no more mail to him and to remove immediately the patron's name from all mailing lists he owns, controls or rents.

To assist patrons, the Post Office Department has published a brief pamphlet—HOW YOU CAN CURB PANDERING ADVERTISEMENTS—which is now available at the Sudan post office. In addition to explaining how the law works, the pocket-size leaflet contains a form letter one can use when sending his complaint to the post office.

The pamphlet explains that when a patron receives an advertisement which is, in his opinion, pandering, he must send the ad, its envelope and the form letter, or one which includes its language, to his post office with the words, "Request for prohibitory order" on the face of the envelope.

Postmaster Minyard said: "This new law should give some protection to American families offended by advertisements they believe to be morally harmful, particularly to their children."

"Last year the Post Office Department received some 140,000 complaints from those offended by pandering advertisements. While in most cases the ads were not legally obscene and were therefore mailable, they are often offensive and are usually not the type of material one would want his children to read," the postmaster said.

He added that "because the law gives a mail patron the sole right to decide what is offensive, and does not deny others the right to receive the same mail, the Congress felt it does not violate Constitutional guarantees of freedom of speech."

While the patron's complaint will only be directed to the sender, Postmaster Minyard believes that one or two complaints will provide substantial protection because "the great bulk of this advertising comes from fewer than 20 so-called 'snail dealers' who are frequently wrapping mailing lists."

If a mailer does not strike a complainant's name from his mailing list, and the patron receives a second mailing 30 days after the firm has received the prohibitory order, he may bring the matter to the attention of the postmaster issuing the initial order by writing him and enclosing the second pandering ad with its envelope. If the mailer still fails to respect the order, the Postmaster General may ask the Attorney General to apply for a Federal Court order directing compliance. Failure to observe the order may be punishable by a fine or imprisonment.

Major emphasis in testimony by Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. before the House Agriculture Committee in Washington April 24 was on the urgency of extending the current cotton program during this session of congress, protection for producer income, expansion of export markets and provisions for incentives to produce for those markets.

PCG also urged the Committee to work for revisions in the law that would liberalize the regulations on sale and lease of allotments, return the industry to production from the legal minimum 16 million acre national allotment, correct projected yield inequities and provide producers with a guarantee against individual program benefit limitations.

PCG's efforts to influence cotton legislation this year has a double-barrelled approach. President Don Anderson of Cribbyton outlined to the House Committee the legislative policy adopted by the PCG Board and at the same time endorsed the position of the Texas Association of Cotton Producers Organizations, presented by Joe B. Pate, Jr. of Lubbock, TACPO Chairman.

TACPO is an affiliation of the six chartered cotton producer organizations in the State. Its policy statement was worked out by representatives of all six groups and is an almost exact parallel to PCG policy and that of the other five members.

This fact, for the first time in history presents a united front in Washington from Texas cotton farmers who produce about 1/3 of the Nation's cotton.

On the urgency of passing farm legislation this year it was pointed out to the Committee that farmers need the opportunity to plan as far in advance as possible and that the necessary reorganization of Congress after 1968 elections would delay and make more difficult passage of a farm program in 1969.

Congressman Bob Foage of Waco, House Agriculture Committee Chairman, is conducting the hearings and is known to favor enactment of a farm law this year. Senator Allen Ellender of Louisiana, Chairman of the Senate Committee on Agriculture, which has already completed preliminary hearings, has said he will not push for legislation this year but will not be in opposition if it appears that is what Congress wants.

In calling for an extension of the present program, PCG and TACPO testimony said "Our experience under the program for the past two years has proven the Act (Agriculture Act of 1965) can provide the necessary flexibility to maintain adequate supplies of cotton without burdensome surpluses and can stabilize farm income."

The testimony sought to impress on the Committee the importance of retaining in law the "Ellender Amendment," which in the current program has afforded producers a guarantee of 65 per cent of parity on permissible planted acreage.

"This should be recognized as an absolute minimum income level for cotton producers," Pate said, adding "We cannot make the sizeable investments required in today's farming operations without the expectation of a reasonable net return."

Closely tied to producer income protection is the need for preventing limitations being imposed by Congress on the benefits available to individual producers.

This feature of the current program is known as the "snap-back" provision, and both Anderson and Pate made a strong plea for its retention in future cotton programs.

Repeated efforts have been made for the past several years by some members of Congress to impose limitations. But PCG points out that such attempts are made by people who "do not realize the tremendous and ever-increasing investments required of commercial farmers for advanced technological production inputs that are our only chance for reducing per-unit costs."

"And reducing production costs on this basis is our only hope of reducing our need for government help."

The TACPO statement called attention to the fact that about 20 per cent of the Nation's cotton farmers supply 80 per cent of the needed cotton production.

It said "These are the cotton farmers who fuel the cotton industry. To destroy the efficiency of their operations, as benefit limitations would do, would be to destroy the cotton industry. Without profit they cannot produce, and without production the industry cannot survive."

An increase in cotton exports was presented to the Committee as the only immediately available cure for the economic ills that stem from a low level of production.

Among the means suggested for building greater foreign markets were the use of credit risk guarantees and lower interest rates through the Export-Import Bank, stepped-up use of PL 480 funds for cotton sales, informational and technical services to foreign cotton users, and a continuation and expansion of cotton trade teams.

Frostbite is an important health hazard in many parts of the United States, says the American Medical Association. A part of the body can become frostbitten even when the temperature isn't startlingly low. Wind is important. The chilling effect of air at 20 degrees moving at 45 miles an hour is the same as 40 degrees below zero air on a still day. One of the dangers of frostbite is that the victim often doesn't feel it. It is discovered when an exposed portion of the body turns white, and has no feeling in it. Rapid thawing is the best treatment.

Happiness Is Flowers on Mother's Day

There's a special glint in mother's eye, and a scent of happiness all about her.

She's been remembered on Mother's Day in the nicest way...with flowers. A fresh and fragrant bouquet wired by someone far away has the essence of a personal visit, renewing love and fond memories.

Sending flowers to Mom is easy now with a new intercity service called "Flowers-by-Western Union." You can wire flowers on a charge basis for delivery by local florists in about 12,000 cities and towns, and their surrounding areas.

And all the sender need do is to go in person to the nearest local telegraph office or place an order by telephoning Western Union. The name and address of the recipient, and a description of the floral piece, the sender's name and message and how much he wants to spend are then transmitted by wire to the telegraph office serving the destination city. There, the order is placed with a qualified participating florist, who makes the delivery.

The sender of "Flowers-by-Western Union" pays only for the flowers plus telegraph tolls for transmitting the order. This convenient service is part of a growing number of Western Union special services that is making greeting and gift sending easy and pleasurable.

Do Your Part To Fight Crime

Lawlessness is one of the major problems facing our nation today. The Supreme Court of The United States by its recent rulings has placed more technical requirements on law enforcement officers than ever before. Errors made at the time of arrest or in obtaining evidence in a proper manner can make it almost impossible to get a conviction which will stand up. It is imperative that the Sheriff be well educated and properly trained to meet this challenge. STILWELL RUSSELL meets

THIS requirement, and MORE. He studied law at Texas Tech and has taught courses in government (high school). In addition, he pledges a continuing program of training for himself and all deputies in F.B.I. schools and Texas Department of Public Safety schools.

A major portion of the crimes committed are by young people, twenty years old and younger. Yet most of these young people, if properly handled can become useful citizens. This is a job for men especially trained in working with this age group. STILWELL RUSSELL meets THIS requirement, and MORE. He taught vocational agriculture for seven years working primarily with teen-age boys. He was a high school principal working with both boys and girls both as principal and counselor. He has completed courses above the Masters level in these fields at Texas Tech. In addition, he and Mrs. Russell have reared and education four children of their own.

A major part of the Sheriff's job is one of administration. The sheriff must be able to meet and deal effectively with the public. He must be experienced in selecting and hiring those who work under him. He must be able to give direction with authority and delegate responsibility with confidence. STILWELL RUSSELL meets THIS requirement, and MORE. As high school principal and as coordinator of Lamb County Vocational School he had as many as seventeen people working under his direction at one time.

The sheriff of Lamb County should be a servant of all the people regardless of who they are or where they live. STILWELL RUSSELL will be just that kind of sheriff.

A vote for STILWELL RUSSELL is a vote for honest, fearless, impartial enforcement of the law.

A vote for STILWELL RUSSELL is a vote for the protection of your homes, property, and families.

Cast your vote for STILWELL RUSSELL for sheriff of Lamb County in the Democratic Primary, May 4.

Hon. Joe Rone, Mayor
City of Sudan
P. O. Box 334
Sudan, Texas 79371

Dear Mayor Rone:

Thank you for your letter of March 26, enclosing photostatic copy of the first page of a petition presented to you under Article 1154, Revised Civil Statutes, asking you to call an election to determine whether or not the "commission" form of government shall be adopted in the city.

The City of Sudan now has the commission form of government, with a mayor and 2 commissioners. I called your city attorney, Mr. Willard Street, on the phone, and we agreed that the petitioners probably meant for you to call an election on the question of the adoption of the "aldermanic" form of government, in which the city would have a city council composed of a mayor and 5 aldermen. However, you are not permitted to attempt to read the petitioners' minds or to guess at what they intended to do. Nor may you amend the petition to make it read the way you think they intended, nor may they amend it. Every one who signed the petition, signed it the way it now reads, and no one knows whether they would have signed it if it had read aldermanic form of government." If the petitioners desire to present another petition calling for an election to adopt the aldermanic form of government, they may do so, and if it meets the requirements of the statute, then you must call the special election for that purpose.

But on the basis of the petition presented there is no action you can take, since the petition asks for an election to adopt a form of government which the city already has.

Thank you again for your letter, Mayor Rone; it was good to hear from you.

Sincerely yours,
Riley E. Fletcher

Big Wheels At The Fair

When HemisFair '68 opens, there'll be a lot of exciting exhibits, but the biggest wheels of them all are at the Flying Indians Spectacular. There, the Hua Huas of the Totonac Indian tribe, perform a centuries-old ritual in ancient costumes. Forming human pinwheels on two sides of a 114-foot pole, the Hua Huas revolve by self-propulsion—using two crosses around their waists. As the rope for each flyer unwinds, the four fan out to a radius of thirty feet. The flyers wear costumes of birds' feathers, since the Totonacs believe that the spirit of the dead comes back to earth as a bird. Their chief wears a red and white costume with a small headpiece made of colored stones as he takes the biggest risk of all. Standing at the very top of the pole on a tiny twelve-inch platform, the chief dances as well as plays a flute and a small drum while the flyers spiral downward.

No matter where you look at the Frito-Lay/Peppi-Cola Pavilion there'll be a free-wheeling show.

ROTARY CLUB MEETINGS HELD

The Rotary Club held its regular meeting Wednesday with Gene Duvall, president, presiding. Raymond Nix was in charge of the program and introduced Guy Walden and F. M. Smith, who talked on the money crisis and the gold standard. Their topic was "How Europe Is Trying To Corner The Gold Market." We are facing as great a crisis as in 1931, they stated, and also said we should have a 10% surtax to raise $10 billion for the national budget, and at the same time cut the budget $18 billion dollars. If this is not done, they predicted the United States will go into a 10% inflation. There were 25 members present and four guests for the meeting.

WATER MEETING SET IN HEREFORD TUESDAY

Importing irrigation water from the Missouri River Basin will be featured on a program at the county Bull Barn in Hereford, Texas at 8 p. m. Tuesday, April 30. A new water transfer plan for the Great Plains region has been prepared by the R. W. Beck and Associates engineering firm. The primary purpose of the plan is to supply needed supplemental water—to water-short farming areas of western Nebraska, eastern Colorado, western Kansas, the Oklahoma Panhandle, and the High Plains of Texas.

The program is sponsored by Deaf Smith County Water Association in conjunction with its annual meeting of the membership. A short business session of the association will be followed by presentation of the water resource plan by Paul R. Cunningham, supervising engineer of the Beck company from its Denver branch. The concept calls for the diversion of an annual average of 13,000,000 acre feet of surplus water from the Missouri River below Fort Randall. The primary benefits of the project are irrigation, development of hydro-electric energy, and recreation. At a proposed cost of approximately $3.5 billion, the project would deliver to the cooperating areas some 10,000,000 acre feet of water annually for irrigation. An acre foot of water covers one acre of land one foot deep. By a series of dams and reversible turbine pumps, the diverted water would be pumped 200 miles up the Niobrara River to an elevation of 4,050 feet in the vicinity of Alliance, Nebraska. The main canal would carry the water 940 miles by gravity flow to its termination near Hobbs, New Mexico. Included in the Beck proposal is a pumped-storage project southeast of Amarillo to generate a capacity of 1,200 megawatts of electricity.

A taped interview with State Representative Bill Clayton will be included in the program. Clayton, who is Chairman of the House Interim Water Study Committee, will outline his plans concerning the organization of a water district, which would give the necessary authority in the area to contract for water in an importation project. Rep. Clayton plans to hold public hearings on proposed legislation Scripture: St. Luke 19: 10, 41, St. John 3: 16.

"Jesus Wept!"

When Jesus looked at Jerusalem, at the attitudes of the people and at the situations there, He wept. He cared about you and me...

Is the Christian - is the Church weeping today?

Is the Christian church saying "Hosanna", and then joining "the crowd", in either indifference, passing on by ridiculing, or sitting down and doing nothing. Even in watching sometimes, are we half-hearted or half-asleep?

Or, do we weep, yet serve in joy now. As we look at Jesus, saying "Truly this is the Son of God?"

Are you a doubting Thomas or do you think enough to even care that a man gave His life on a cross for you? God was in that man Jesus to die for your sins and mine.

Did He die for you all for nothing?

If you do believe He is God's Son sent to save you, why not serve Him? Do the work and serve Him by His power.

Sure His power is invisible - He lives within your heart, if you believe and have faith in and love Him. But He does have all power - not only in heaven but in earth. This power is available to us, if we will obediently use it.

The secret of service and power of God is within what the risen Lord said to us about serving as His child in this world and how to obtain the power to follow Him all the way to our eternal home - read it in St. John 21: 1-17.

Jesus said to Peter, who fished all night and caught nothing until the Lord directed and as he obeyed he caught the fish; to Peter who had denied Him three times previously He said "Lovest thou me more than these? Feed my lambs... Feed my sheep... Feed my sheep."

Peter answered "Yes, Lord, thou knowest I love thee." Can you answer the same?

We have the way in Jesus Christ to live eternally in a love so deep that nothing can separate us from the love of God which is in Christ Jesus. He cares, He wants you and me to live in and with Him now and forevermore.

Jesus wept...

Making your ear attentive to wisdom and inclining your heart to understanding.

(Prov. 2:2).

Before trying to get along with others we must try to understand ourselves. Then we can improve the things that need it, so that the more understanding we have of ourselves, the better we will understand others. Prayer is the way to understanding for it gives us patience and enables us to be tolerant.

OUTDOORS IN TEXAS

BY VERN SANFORD

About the only similarity between a tent 20 years ago and one today is the name.

Remember when erecting a tent used to be an arduous, time-consuming task for several men? Well, nowadays one man can erect a large tent in mere minutes, with very little fuss and bother. (Any person praising the "good old days" isn't camping out in a tent.)

There are several reasons for this new look in tents. For one thing, the boom in family camping opened up a vast new market. It is stimulating new manufacturers and creating a healthy atmosphere of competition. Another important motivating factor is the myriad of new lightweight materials.

Back there "when," the tent market was primarily the military, Boy Scouts and a few outdoorsmen who really believed in "roughing it."

Today you are more likely to find men, women and children occupying tents. This market definitely has changed and the industry has had to change with it.

Not only are modern tents more practical and flexible, they are better shaped and better ventilated. Furthermore, with their bright colors they are much more pleasing to the eye. Answer here is that women campers have demanded more fashion and color in tents.

Old tents primarily were constructed of "army duck" canvas that weighed about 12.29 ounces a square yard. Ridge poles were formidable, wooden jobs, bulky and heavy. A typical four-man tent made from army duck weighed about 80 pounds.

A modern type of comparable size, however, weighs as little as nine pounds. It has an outside frame of durable, lightweight aluminum and it is made of silicone-treated nylon. This material is much lighter, more weatherproof and far more rot-resistant than canvas.

Today's tent also is much more comfortable. Even the inexpensive models have floors, windows, screen doors and storm-flaps. A typical floor is vinyl treated, tough, smooth for cleaning, and built tight to keep out all insects and other pests. Once the screened door and windows are zipped, no unwelcome intruder can get inside.

Another nice thing about the modern tent is that it folds into a neat, compact package for easy portage in the family automobile. Its soft, light nylon material folds into a small pack, and its light aluminum framework is constructed of tubular, telescoping frames. These modern frames can be carried conveniently, erected easily, and assembled outside the tent with little effort.

Tents nowadays come in about every shape and size imaginable, from tiny two-man pup tents to huge shelters that will take a family of eight. Old tents were mostly of a standard design, but today the choice includes such shapes as cottage, lean-to, igloo, wing, umbrella and pyramid designs.

If you are thinking about purchasing a tent, don't be hasty. Look around and compare the various models. Most important consideration is your specific needs and budget.

If possible, always get a tent the next size larger than the one you think you'll need. That extra room is a blessing, and with today's materials, even a fairly large tent is compact to carry and easily erected.

Take care of your investment and it will last indefinitely. Tents of today are made to last.

BEAUTIFUL IDEAS

YOUR FACE IS SHOWING

Let's face it, hiding facial blemishes and wrinkles behind a thick layer of pancake make-up is just not the "in" thing to do. Excepting eye makeup, the trend now is toward the natural, healthy, all-American look.

If you don't have that "girl next door" complexion, you're not alone. Millions of women have the same problem, because of unnatural, unhealthy, all-American atmospheric dirt. With the tremendous amount of dirt floating around in the air, it has become increasingly difficult for women to keep their faces clean. And beauty experts are unanimous in stating that strict skin cleanliness does more than anything to enhance complexion beauty.

To remove that ingrained, air-borne grime, the beauty experts recommend more than just surface cleansing - they say that deep-cleaning, such as provided by the Saunda Beauty Facial Machine, is the key to unlocking complexion beauty.

The Saunda appliance provides a warm, penetrating mist that cleanses each individual pore, naturally rinsing away impurities which have infiltrated the face. At the same time, the moist heat stimulates circulation to the skin, producing a healthy glow.

Saunda beauty machines are available at your nearest drug or department store at prices ranging from $9.95 to $29.95. Each appliance comes with an introductory kit of Saunda beauty preparations for a complete home facial. These preparations are a facial scrub, freshener, moisturizer and emollient.

All types of skin - normal, dry and oily - benefit from the mist treatment and application of the special beauty preparations. After a Saunda home facial, your face becomes something you want to show rather than hide. You are really much better looking - that you thought!

STRENGTH FOR THESE DAYS

from The Bible

Thy kingdom come, Thy will be done. —(Matt. 6:10)

God's plan for man is completely good. God made man to experience success, happiness, peace and fulfillment, and placed within us the perfect means to obtain these goals. But we must follow the will of God as he has revealed it through our minds and hearts. As we follow His will, we are inspired to think loving and kind thoughts. And as the day follows the night, good is made manifest in our experience.

THOUGHT FOR PROTECTION

There's ever walking side by side. To be accepted or denied. A right or wrong that will reach day. That never fails to come our way. A task that we're to live, to do. In making choice between the two. We find it's our continuous fight. To always stand for what is right.
