WHAT STARTED out as a simple question from one of our youngsters developed into a confusing situation the other day.

One of the kids asked what day she was born on, and we told her Sunday, same as all the rest of the brood. Then she asked what day I was born on. I didn't know, and that's the answer I gave. Then I had to explain that it's not too easy to go back and figure it out, but that I'd try.

First of all, I couldn't remember for sure whether the day of the week goes forward or backward one day every year, but I thought it was forward. In other words, if it is Christmas on Sunday one year, it's Christmas on Monday the next.

Unless it's leap year, I suddenly remembered. Then we either jump two days or stay the same. And if I want to go backwards, I have to reverse the whole thing to figure out when I first made this scene.

I took this problem with me to the office. Maybe I should run an ad in the paper and see if anyone has a 1928 calendar, I suggested. But we generally agreed this was pretty unlikely. Anyway, said one of the office girls, it shouldn't be that difficult; she remembered that the almanac has some kind of table which tells you such things.

We finally found the almanac, and sure enough, it does have a table. The first thing we noticed was this:

"Days of the week can be calculated for 1752 as follows..."

"Who cares about 1752," I asked. "I'm not that old." Then I started looking elsewhere on the imposing chart. There were columns marked Year, Month, Week, and under this the first numbers were 1, 1 and Monday. Best I could figure from that was that in the Year 1 the first day of the week was Monday. Still is, as a matter of fact, which shows how little progress we've made.

We looked elsewhere on the chart; looking for the year 1928. Finally found it in a special group of Leap Years, the first time I ever had known that I was born on Leap Year.

"Leap Year's child is full of woe," quoted the girl helping me, which didn't make me feel any better.

Anyway, by a complicated formula of referring from one part of the table to another, I finally decided I was born on Tuesday.

I'm not sure I read the directions just right, but chances are (one out of seven) that Tuesday is correct.

Another one of the office girls had an even more sensible suggestion:

"Why don't you ask your mother?"

Gee, I never thought of that.

A FEW DAYS after Wall Street went ga-ga over some well-endowed females strolling down the street, Hubert Humphrey made an appearance at the same place. The Associated Press said

ANNOUNCING the Berger-Dumas football game a couple of weeks ago, this Amarillo radioman (who really was quite good, except for the blunder) got his tongue twisted trying to describe the action of the defensive unit of the Dumas Demons.

AT 1968 STATE FAIR IN DALLAS

"We Can Fly" to "Indian Lake" is not a travelog — they are the titles of two of the top record sellers which have made the swinging, singing Cowbills one of the biggest names in today's music. Overall dates of the 1968 exposition, the nation's largest in terms of annual attendance, will be Oct. 5-20.

Jerry Bellar Named Player Of The Week

Sudan halfback Jerry Bellar this week made Amarillo Daily News Player Of The Week. Bellar kicked a field goal and five conversion points, and scored three touchdowns in the game between Sudan and Plains Friday night.

CHILDREN'S PICTURES TO BE TAKEN

It is an undisputed fact that the responsibilities of tomorrow's world our nation and community will rest upon the shoulders of today. Since this is true the publishers of this newspaper would like to give you a good look at these future "World Builders."

The only way we can do this is by publishing pictures of them in a feature series. To assure the latest and best reproduction pictures they must all be of uniform size and quality.

An expert children's photographer with all the necessary equipment for this specialized work will be here Monday, October 28.

Pictures will be taken at the Beacon News Office from 2 p. m. to 6 p. m.

There is no charge to the parents. There are absolutely no strings to this invitation. It is bonafide in every sense of the word. Parents do not have to be subscribers, nor even readers of this newspaper to take advantage of this feature. Neither are they obligated to purchase pictures after they are taken. Those who want some additional prints may obtain a limited number by arrangement with the studio representative when they select the pose they want printed in the paper. It is entirely up to them.

This paper simply wants pictures of all the youngsters and the more, the better. So the mothers and fathers of the community in which this paper circulates should remember the date Monday, Oct. 28, from 2 p. m. to 6 p. m. and bring their children to the photographer.

You will be mighty glad afterwards, if you did and very sorry if you do not permit your children to participate in this event. The kiddies will have fun and both mother and dad and the youngsters too will be very proud to see their pictures in print later.

Appointments may be made by calling 227-3911.

SCOUT NEWS

The Cub Scouts will be meeting Monday, Oct. 21, 7 p. m.

Any boys, ages 8 thru 10 wanting to join Cub Scouts or ages 11 thru 16 contact Lindel Harlin, councilman, or Nano Bishop, scoutmaster.

The Sudan Boy Scouts will sell light bulbs to raise fund for Scout camp-out.

Buy from a scout who will call at your home. It is a worthwhile project, and the scouts are counting on your help.

It was the Sudan Hornets all the way in the football game Friday night at Plains. They flattened the Cowboys, 38-6. The Hornet second string played most of the second half, showing the Sudan fans, and Plains that they have boys who can play in every division.

Halfback Jerry Bellar started the scoring for Sudan early in the first quarter as he dashed through the Cowboys into the end zone for a 30-yard touchdown. He kicked the point, and Sudan took the lead, 7-0. The Cowboys recovered a Hornet fumble on the Sudan 43, and carried on down to the three yard line. Quarterback John Lowe went in for the touchdown. Their try for two extra points was stopped by the Hornets, and the score was 7-6, Sudan, at the end of the quarter.

In the next frame Sudan fumbled, but guard Mickey Gilbert was there to cover the ball on Plains 38 yard line. The Hornets drove on down to the three, where fullback Larry Hanna plunged through the Cowboy line to score. Bellar kicked the point, and Sudan was leading 14-6. The Hornet defense tightened up, forcing the Cowboys to punt, and the Hornets carried to the 2, where Bellar went over the double stripe for a TD. He kicked the point, and extended the Hornet lead to 21-6. Late in the quarter, Sr. End Bobby Brown recovered a Cowboy fumble on their 48. With only 15 seconds remaining on the clock, Bellar ran 31 yards for another TD for Sudan. He kicked the point, and it was Sudan over Plains as the half ended, 28-6.

Scoring in the second half began early with Bellar kicking a field goal from 20 yards out to add three more points for Sudan. Again the Hornet defense was tough, and Plains could not make the first down, even though they tried to make it on 4th down, and Sudan took over the ball on the Hornet 32. Some three plays later, FB Hanna plowed through the Cowboys and ran 47-yds. for a TD. Bellar kicked, and the Hornets were out front 38-6.

The Hornets had a new quarterback, Rex Boyles, and late in the 3rd quarter, Boyles recovered a Cowboy fumble on the Hornet 35 yard line. Bellar came in to execute the first Hornet punt of the game for 45 yards to put the Cowboys back to their 10 yard line. QB Boyles and his teammates did a good job in both the 3rd and 4th quarters in moving the ball. In the 4th quarter, FB David Weaver made a fine effort on a 27 yd. run to put the ball on the Cowboys 40.

Late in the final quarter, the Cowboys had the ball and their QB went back for a pass. But he never had a chance to get rid of the ball, for 181-pound tackle Pat Minyard was on top of him to push the Cowboys back to the 22 yard line on a 4th down play. When the gun sounded, Sudan was leading, 38-6.

Outstanding on defense for Sudan were Brown, Gilbert, Hanna, and "always-in-there" Billy Ford. Bellar had 129 yards rushing, and Hanna had 95 yards rushing.

This Friday the Hornets will start conference play against Bovina there, at 8 p. m. Sudan's win Friday gives them a 4-1 record for the season.

MIKE BELLAR

Mike Bellar, Texas A&M freshman, was notified by head Coach Gene Stallings this week that he had been given a four-year football scholarship at A&M, to be signed at the end of this semester. Mike is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Waymon Bellar, and was No. 30 on the Sudan football team.

AGRICULTURAL CLUB MEET SET THURSDAY

The Sudan Agricultural Club will meet Thursday, Oct. 24, 8:00 p. m. rather than Oct. 22 as formerly planned, Don Ham announced this week.

PTO NEWS

The Sudan Parent Teacher Organization met Monday, Oct. 14 at the school cafeteria. Mrs. Don Ham, president, presided over the business meeting.

Mrs. O. L. Turner's 1st grade room with the highest per cent in attendance received the $2 given this month. Mrs. Turner's class also won a coke party for having the highest per cent join the P. T. O. at the meeting.

Plans were made for the Halloween Queen's Race to be held Oct. 31 at 6:30 p. m. in the High School Auditorium. Contestants will be chosen from the first six grades. An admission of 25¢ will be charged and each person admitted will have one vote for the Queen. The admission money will be divided evenly between the P. T. O. and the individual rooms.

A Spook Parade will be held following the Queen's Race. Everyone is invited to wear a costume and march in the parade.

The "Spook House", held in the Community Center, will be opened immediately after the Queen's Race.

Get-well greetings are cheerfully stated in the language of flowers. This arrangement of pompons and roses designed by Florists' Transworld Delivery experts can be sent anywhere in the country to bring good wishes to convalescents.

Planning to send some flowers to a relative or friend who is in the hospital?

There's a right way and a wrong way of doing it, and if you do it right you'll cheer the hospital staff as well as the patient.

Hospital administrators interviewed in a recent survey by Florists' Transworld Delivery agreed that flowers have a definite therapeutic value, especially for the patient who may not often have visitors.

However, because of the critical help situation in hospitals nationally, a prime concern among the administrators was how to facilitate handling of flowers in their institutions.

To this end, they came up with some general suggestions for floral gifts to hospital patients:

— Long-lasting flower varieties should be selected, and those which are not heavily scented.

— The patient's name should be supplied to the florist so it agrees with the hospital registry (Mrs. Mary Smith, not Mrs. John Smith) and the room number should always be provided.

— The size of the floral arrangement is significant. Hospital rooms are not large enough, or adequately furnished to contain large arrays of flowers. Hospital administrators advise that the outside measurements should be approximately 21 inches wide by 24 inches high.

The FTD researchers said a floral gift, although kept small, can still be given an expensive look by a petite but clever design. They suggested asking the florist to create a design using accessories which pertain to the patient's interest or hobbies. Another way to order an arrangement of less common blossoms.

By HAZEL HOUSE

Scripture: Isaiah 1:18; St. John 10:9-10.

As I begin this writing, the question in my mind is this: WHAT can I say to awaken you who are in such grave danger of losing your life — your eternal life? Some who read thus far may laugh (uneasily?) but one may stop to think, Saith the Lord, "Come now, let us reason together." They may be alerted to the danger and seek to know the Good News of how to live abundantly and eternally.

Recently I made the statement to others that it is not what we say that is most important in doing the Lord's work, but it is how we say it. It is our willingness to follow Jesus, to be the instrument He can use to reveal Himself, and what He can do through us that is important. So in Jesus I find courage to write, for He wants you and He wants you to know how to obtain life.

Jesus — Who is Jesus? I plead with you to never rest until you know the answer to "Who is Jesus?"

"I am the bread of life..." First of all, Jesus is the Son of God, sent to save us, to die for sinners who are separated from God, and who arose from the grave and ascended into heaven — a living Lord! Jesus paid all the price to redeem you from sin and Satan; made a way for you to enter into heaven to live forevermore with the heavenly Father. Jesus is the way for you to have eternal life. He is the only way.

The important question now for you to answer is "What can I do? I want to live and never die, so what must I do to be saved?" Jesus said, "Come unto me... and I will in no wise cast you out." He did not say wait until you can make yourself good before you come to me, but come just as you are and Jesus will change you. He can make the worst sinner clean. He can "mold" you as clay, one step at a time, finally into a likeness of Himself. No one else but Jesus can do that. Give yourself to Him and trust Him. His shed blood blots out your sins (all of them) and then He goes with you to show you all the way Home. If you fall, He helps you up to follow Him anew.

Don't wait. Come to Jesus now. God help us all to hear and to heed or we are lost forevermore. How to tell you... How to say it...?

Jesus saves! He is the one. He wants you, He loves you; will you accept Him? That is what you must answer now, while there is yet time. Then you, like me, will know you are a forgiven sinner, and joy and peace and eternal life are yours now.

from The Bible

A cheerful heart is a good medicine.—(Prov. 17:22).

Happiness is symbolic of a living awareness of God. Trust all your affairs to God, relax, be a happy person free from anxiety. Happiness leads to health. It releases the negative thoughts that hinder our bodily functions. To be happy is to be one with the rhythm and harmony of life. Approach the living presence of God within you with joy and happiness, and your greatest expectations will come to pass.

Some fine Texans are tempted to vote for the 3rd party candidate because they admire his stand and his statements on some of the major campaign issues...

STOP AND THINK WHAT WILL ACTUALLY HAPPEN...

The best that Wallace supporters can hope for is enough strength to throw the election into the turmoil of a Congressional election by the House of Representatives...

THEN WHAT HAPPENS?

The answer is certain and simple. Wallace supporters are at the mercy of Washington Politicians! Every vote for George Wallace automatically becomes a vote for Hubert Humphrey!

He is recognized by his colleagues as being one of the most effective and well informed members of the Texas Legislature on water and soil resource development and conservation. Bill Clayton knows the vital importance of water, not only to your future, but to the future of the entire State. Past accomplishments and effective leadership have made Clayton vital to continued progress in development of water resources for the High Plains.

★ EDUCATION

Child by child we build our nation... tomorrow depends on today's children and young adults. Bill Clayton is ever mindful of the need to raise our standard of excellence in the Texas school systems. This can only be done through the uprating of the Texas schools, and dedicated recruitment of the finest teachers. Clayton co-authored a bill that created the coordinating Board of Texas Colleges and University systems. His voting record shows a continued support of teacher pay-raise and the strengthening of all educational systems in Texas.

★ LAW ENFORCEMENT

Today, law enforcement agencies are facing new problems. Bill Clayton is concerned about the breakdown of law and order. Clayton has been active in seeking higher salaries for law enforcement officials and uniform standard procedures. Bill Clayton served on a special House Committee which will suggest revision of our obsolete liquor laws. Clayton believes that all people must respect the law and that proper enforcement is essential to maintain law and order.

BILL CLAYTON

Representing The 72nd Legislative District

Voting Record & Position

★ INDUSTRIAL DEVELOPMENT

Bill Clayton knows that industrial development helps to stabilize the economy of any given city or area. During his six years in the Legislature, Bill Clayton has worked aggressively for industrial development for our area of the State. Several smaller cities in our 72nd Legislative District now have airports as a result of Clayton's assistance in starting a program of State grants. These State grants are financed with unclaimed gas tax refund on aviation fuel. Bill Clayton knows that airports help encourage industry in less densely populated areas.

★ TOURISM

Bill Clayton has worked hard for tourism during his six years as State Representative. Clayton, House Speaker Ben Barnes and other interested legislators were successful in establishing a National Park in the Big Bend area of West Texas. The water importation program being led by Clayton will develop many new recreational opportunities with huge water reservoirs for fishing and boating. Bill Clayton realizes both the need for more recreational facilities in his district and increased business activity from tourist trade.

★ COUNTY, CITY & LOCAL GOVERNMENT

Bill Clayton has been a strong advocate of local government. He is currently serving as chairman of the Committee on Counties of the Texas House of Representatives. Clayton believes that government at the county and city level are more responsive to the people and whenever possible they should take the lead and the responsibility of many governmental programs and functions. Clayton has authored many bills that benefit the cities and support the idea of allowing cities the option to choose their own method of taxation. Bill Clayton is needed on the job for more effective and responsible county, city, and local government action.

LAMB COUNTY SEPT. ACCIDENT REPORT

The Texas Highway Patrol investigated eight accidents on rural highways in Lamb County during the month of September, according to Sergeant Thurman Keffer, Highway Patrol Supervisor of this area.

These crashes resulted in two persons injured and an estimated property damage of $8,025.

The rural traffic accident summary for this county during the first nine months of 1968 shows a total of 76 accidents resulting in five persons killed, 26 persons injured, and an estimated property damage of $59,860.

"Accidents Go Up When The Sun Goes Down," is a slogan so true. Darkness hides danger, giving the driver a false sense of security. That is the reason traffic accidents increase during October's shorter days and longer nights. Statistics prove that traffic deaths will increase over 40 per cent during this period of shorter days and longer nights.

At sundown, long shadows and fading light make it increasingly difficult for drivers to spot traffic hazards and stop in time. The veteran patrol supervisor said, "Make it a habit to turn on your driving lights at the first sign of fading light and falling shadows."

All outstanding Series E and H Savings Bonds are still earning interest -- now at the increased rate of 4.25 per cent when held to next maturity.

A Sandwich Winner

Autumn's here--and, once again, mothers are elected to fix satisfying sandwiches for lunch-box toters all over the country. But as long as there's a jar of peanut butter around, it's no problem putting together a sandwich that is the popular choice for lunch, day after day, among all age groups. After all, this is a nation of peanut-butter-sandwich lovers.

It should come as no surprise that an unofficial survey reveals there are two kinds of peanut-butter-sandwich lovers. Those who want you to spread the peanut butter on the bottom slice of bread--and those who want you to spread it on the top slice. But when the peanut butter is Peter Pan's--Smooth or Crunchy--you're a winner any way you spread it. And you're a double winner if you top the peanut butter with a blend of cream cheese and raisins. It's a sandwich team that's doubly delicious, doubly nutritious.

PETER PAN CHEESE-NUTTY SANDWICHES

(Makes 4)

- | | |
|-----------------------------------|-----------------------------------------|
| 1 package (3 ounces) cream cheese | 1/4 cup golden or dark seedless raisins |
| 1 tablespoon orange juice | 1/2 cup Peter Pan Crunchy Peanut Butter |
| 1/2 teaspoon grated orange peel | 8 slices whole wheat bread |
| Dash salt | |

Combine cream cheese and orange juice; beat until smooth. Stir in orange peel, salt and raisins. Spread 2 tablespoons peanut butter on each of 4 slices of bread; then spread 1/4 of the cream cheese mixture atop the peanut butter. Top with remaining slices.

GINNS, TECH MAP PROGRAM

Cotton Merchandising Help Seen Through Unique Setup

By DUANE HOWELL, Avalanche-Journal Farm Editor
A merchandising aid for South Plains cotton will be instituted this fall through a unique arrangement between Texas Tech and a group of independent ginners.

The ginners have formed a corporation known as Quality Fiber Control, Inc. and will furnish $50,000 worth of automated fiber testing equipment for the Textile Research Center at Tech.

Cotton samples will be sent to the fiber laboratory for testing. The lab will provide data on length, strength, fineness, color and preparation (ginning).

This information will be returned to the ginners and the cotton then will be marketed in regular channels on the basis of instrumentized classing.

"We believe this will provide producers with a better bale value and will entice more mill customers out here," says Houston Sweatt of Lubbock, president of Quality Fiber Control, Inc.

Pay Premium Price

Mills are inclined to pay a premium for cotton on which they have precise and reliable data on lint quality, Sweatt says. And data provided by the instruments, he says, will give mills more information on fiber properties and a more dependable indication of spinning performance than can be obtained from information based on conventional hand classing.

Tech will use the corporation's fiber testing equipment, which will be on loan to the TRC for a year, in its expanding textile research work.

The setup with the ginners, from Tech's viewpoint, constitutes an experimental research effort, Dr. John R. Bradford, dean of engineering, explained.

"We're not getting into a simple - running business or developing an operation for the purpose of creating a routine fiber analysis service," he stressed.

Several Uses Planned

"This, rather, is an attempt to develop research information that is most important to the industry as a whole. We will use the equipment being loaned to us to study the validity of data coming off the automated line."

Bradford said the automated fiber - testing line also will be used in conjunction with several other TRC research projects. One of these will deal with improvements in the equipment.

If work at the TRC could help to hasten such improvements, it perhaps would bring closer to reality a long - sought goal of total instrumentation of cotton classing on a broad front.

The automated classing line at Tech will be the only one of its kind in any educational institution.

Tech has developed a great amount of data over the years through the use of other fiber testing equipment.

To Study Relationships

The center plans to study varied aspects of relationships between the old equipment and the modern machines, including data on fiber properties provided by each line.

"We'll need to continue operating our present fiber equipment for a two or three - year period, if not longer, in order not to 'lose' the data of the past," Bradford said.

The results of previous studies which utilized the old equipment cannot necessarily be correlated with findings of later projects involving modern instruments until researchers complete analogous evaluations.

Methods of determining such correlations will be useful to many in the cotton industry, especially to mills which are steadily increasing the use of classing instruments in their own operations.

Without the help of the ginners, Bradford said, Tech at this time wouldn't have been able to put in a modern fiber testing line.

Tops $1.5 Million

"Our Textile Research Center expansion program already is exceeding $1.5 million," he said, "and we just wouldn't have had the money to put all this new equipment in our fiber lab."

"By operating this line for the ginners we will have access to the latest automated fiber testing equipment and will be allowed to use, in a generalized way, the data on quality obtained from the samples supplied by the corporation."

At the end of a year's operation, the arrangement with Quality Fiber Control, Inc. will be reviewed and a decision made about the future of the setup.

The new classing line will be capable of handling 140 samples an hour with a staff of five persons.

With the older equipment, Tech's fiber lab can test a maximum average of 25 samples an hour in an operation which also requires five employees.

75,000-Bale Volume Seen

Ginners this year hope to handle about 75,000 to 100,000 bales under the automated classing system.

"A 'green card' classification on grade, staple length and micronaire also will be obtained on this cotton through the Smith-Doxey program operated by the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

About 75 independent West Texas ginners are members of Quality Fiber Control, Inc. Bill Quattlebaum of Lubbock is vice president and Gene Ellis of Dimmitt is secretary - treasurer.

Directors include Hershel Belew of Earth, Gene Morrison of Dimmitt, Wayne Mison of Cone, and Gay Nickels of Sudan.

Conrad Lohoefer of Lubbock is consultant - manager and will serve as a liaison between the gins and Tech. The corporation has offices at 112 N. University.

To Analyze Both Sides

Jack Towery, director of Tech's fiber laboratory, said class data will be provided on both sides of each bale.

Towery said there will be from each side, two length measurements, two strength determinations, and one reading each for micronaire, color and preparation.

All bales in the program will be identifiable as to variety. The USDA this year also is allowing farmers to put the name of the variety on the green card, but the department assumes no responsibility for the accuracy of the identification claim.

Controlled and block ginning will be included in the Quality Fiber Control, Inc. program. Cotton will be grouped as to variety and each strain will be ginned in lots large enough to provide a high degree of uniformity and to curtail "two-sided" bales.

Breeders Cooperate

Sweatt said four cotton breeders - Paymaster Seed Farms of Alken, Lockett Seed Farms of Vernon and Ropesville, Delta and Pine Land Co. of Lubbock, and Rex Dunn Seed Farms of Lamesa - are cooperating in the program.

Many cotton breeders long have used the TRC, which includes a large - pilot spinning plant, on a contract basis in quality improvement work.

Sweatt said the entire industry long has recognized a need in classing for more detailed and exact measurements of fiber properties to give more accurate predictions of processing results before cotton goes to the mills.

And the joint program with Tech, he said, will provide a service for farmers, buyers, millers, seed breeders and others who want more sophisticated measurements of cotton quality.

Women IN THE KNOW

By Jean Kingsley, Women's Consultant, The Travelers Insurance Companies

People Eat Poorly

The trouble with most families in the United States is that they don't know their A's, B's, C's and D's. At least according to a recent statement from the United States Department of Agriculture. By its statistics, 20 percent of the diets in the U.S. households are poor and getting worse. Only about half the households in the nation have a diet the Department rates as good - and the figure is plunging downwards.

Actually, Americans eat enough - they just don't eat well enough. Heavy stresses on fats, sugars, and spices in our diets lure attention away from the all-important vitamins, calcium and nutrients most often found lacking in family diets.

When women in the know plan a balanced diet they include their A's, B's, C's, and D's in plenty of fish (Vitamins A and D), Milk (Vitamins A, B, calcium and phosphorus), citrus fruits and juices (Vitamin C) as well as eggs and butter (Vitamins A and D). To play it nutritionally safe, you should follow these tips:

- Don't stir air into foods while cooking.
- Don't put foods through a sieve while they're hot.
- Don't use baking soda when cooking green vegetables.
- Use as little water as possible when cooking.
- Don't use long cooking processes such as stewing.
- Don't fry foods that are valuable for their Vitamin A, B, or C content.
