BY DALTON

MR. FARMER: I don't know how many thousands of ads have started out like that (Mr. Farmer), but I guess if you want to get a farmer's attention, that's as good a way as any, short of setting off a firecracker in one of the local coffee shops.

Anyway, before I got sidetracked, I was going to point out that you guys raising cotton need look no further for a new kind of crop that will make you a potful of money. Now farmers in this area are being urged to take up catfish farming.

If this doesn't make you rich, it at least oughta bring you a few fins.

There was a meeting at Plainview the other day regarding the possibilities of raising catfish. This expert pointed out that you actually can figure on so many pounds to the acre of ponds, and told all about "harvesting" the crop and such stuff as that. Some raise catfish for a definite market; others make a big profit by stocking the lakes, then charging so much a pound to those who want to fish out of them, like they do up at Red River and some other resorts.

The expert who spoke to a group at the Plainview Chamber of Commerce building warned, though, that often farmers who don't know anything about the business try to start out on too big a scale (that's not a pun, or is it?) and can't make a go of it.

Anyone seriously interested probably could get more information from the Plainview C-C, or I could send you a clipping on the entire newspaper story of the meeting.

There seems to be a pretty good opportunity for profit, and more and more farmers are getting hooked on the fish business, you might say.

IT HAS BEEN more than 10 years since Ed Sullivan edited Elvis' pelvis out of his variety show. How things have changed -- what seemed "lowed and soiled" then is milder than milk in the face of today's sickening monstrosities masquerading as musicians. Elvis, though, is still going strong. He has 38 singles that have topped the million mark and a total record sale of more than 100 million.

MEASLES VACCINE TO BE GIVEN

The Lamb County Medical Society and the Sudan schools are sponsoring a measles immunization day for "Measles Must Go" for those children who need measles vaccine.

These shots will be given free. We encourage all children from 12 months (1 year) to 10 years of age who have not had 10-day measles or the vaccine, to take advantage of this. The shots will be given Feb. 7, 1969, at 9:30 a. m. in the Sudan School Nurse's office.

STATE PRISONERS PRESENT PROGRAM

Sudan Junior High and High School students were hosts for the Amherst school students and teachers Wednesday morning at a combined assembly program when "Operation Teenager" was presented by inmates of the Texas State Penitentiary at Huntsville.

Dick Black, president of the Sudan School council, was master of ceremonies and Sharon Wilson gave the invocation. The moderator, Mr. Williams, gave a brief introduction stating that the program was designed and begun by the inmates themselves to enlighten the youth of Texas on the seriousness of crimes, even minor ones.

The three inmates, who were introduced as One, Two and Three, each told their life stories, stressing that all they ever wanted was to be a "big shot". They also pointed out that one out of every five prisoners at Huntsville today are under 21 years of age. They said that crimes are not committed on the spur of the moment, but are a result of a steady pattern of misbehavior.

The inmates were accompanied by their moderator and a State Guard.

LUMBERYARD CLOSES HERE

The Foxworth-Galbraith Lumber Company officially closed its doors Friday when an action conducted by St. Clair Auctioneers of Amarillo completed the disposition of company merchandise and property.

Foxworth-Galbraith opened here in August, 1927, after purchasing the original Panhandle Lumber Company, one of Sudan's oldest businesses. Huland Bush was the first manager and Reed Markham became manager in Dec. 1932 and remained in this position until 1966. George Pigg was manager at the time of the closing.

Olin Nix of Nix Implement was purchaser of the lumberyard property and stated that at this time it will be used for storage purposes only.

Mrs. Paul Mathews returned home this week after being confined in Methodist Hospital.

STATE REPRESENTATIVE BILL CLAYTON

REP. BILL CLAYTON TO SPEAK HERE

State Representative Bill Clayton will be featured speaker Saturday, Feb. 8, at 7:30 p. m. in the Sudan High School auditorium during a special meeting sponsored by the Sudan Parent-Teacher Organization.

Clayton will be discussing the report made by the Governors Committee on Education, including two items of special interest, school consolidation and tax re-valuation.

Clayton has repeatedly stated his opposition to this proposal. He was recently named as Chairman of the Livestock Committee for this legislative term. He was also named to the following committees: Conservation and Reclamation, State Affairs, Urban Affairs and Elections, The livestock industry and feedlot development could be affected by the legislation considered by the Livestock Committee and places Clayton in a position to be helpful to this area. The appointment to the Conservation and Reclamation Committee will provide an avenue for Clayton to continue his work in water development.

Clayton also stated that Representative Hinson of Mineola and Representative Rayford Price of Palestine were named Chairman of the Public Education Committee and State Affairs Committee, which will probably consider the Governor's Committee Report on Education.

He feels that both these men are opposed to the report in its present form.

Clayton said that he has received lots of mail opposing the consolidation of schools and only one letter supporting the measure.

Mrs. Don Ham, president of the PTO, said that baby sitters will be provided at the school during the program, and urges all interested persons to attend.

Howdy Neighbor

By BOYD PIERCE
Of Burleson

One young fellow in our town explained it to me this way: "My girl and I are only half serious about getting married. She is and I'm not."

No man has ever lived who had a good enough memory to be successful as a liar.

The wonder drugs of years ago was mustard plaster and good old castor oil.

Grandpa was a fellow who sat down at the dinner table to count his blessings instead of his calories.

A boy today doesn't marry a girl on $35 a week. She has to be making a lot more than that.

The self-made man is lucky compared to the fellow who is the revised work of his wife and daughters.

Today, prosperity means means that you are not quite as broke this month as you were last month.

The real boss of the family is the one who can spill or break something without being scolded.

Fewer men are tied to their wives' apron strings these days because fewer wives have time to wear aprons.

It is hard to make a true friend in a year, but he can be lost in an hour.

Perhaps there are just too many $100 suits today and not enough overalls.

Nor do we have to give a man four legs to make a monkey out of him.

When something runs into one ear and out of many mouths, it's just plain gossip.

Perhaps the honeymoon is over when the little woman begins to complain about all the noise her husband makes while he is cooking breakfast.

Mrs. John Dean visited friends in Littlefield Thursday.

Devotional

By HAZEL HOUSE

Scripture: James 4: 5-10

Submission is a word that is seldom used today and is beginning to be a despised word. Most persons think of submission as meaning one man's slavery to another; and that has caused this word to be used less and less.

But submission is a word which Christians should know and think about. It is a word which non-Christians should learn also, if they want a Savior from sin and death, who can give them the gift of eternal life. And what person does not want to live an abundant life forever? You can but you must want to and make a choice of Jesus' way instead of your own sinful way; Submission!

Once a person has given himself to God, just as he (or she) is, God begins the process of mercy, of love, of kindness, molding and making that person into what He wants him to be—His child, witnessing to His power of forgiveness of sin, of mercy, of love, of kindness. And a child who witnesses to His coming again to gather and to take all His children home to live with Him forevermore!

"Submit yourselves therefore to God. Resist the devil, and he will flee from you."

How does one resist the devil? Like Jesus did, when the devil entices a person to "do this again, it is not so bad, everybody's doing it, it can't hurt you just one more time, it really will be fun, think of the bright lights and excitement..." don't be deceived by such thoughts, but say "Get thee behind me, Satan" and pray. The Lord always hears and answers every prayer of every child of His. Read the Bible, get busy for God, "draw nigh to Him," and the promise which He has made is that He will draw nigh to you. His word has been given, and because He is God, His word, even His promises, will endure forever. Do you believe Him?

Submission is the key to finding salvation through Christ, yet it is also the key to working out our salvation and growing in the grace and knowledge of God. We can cleanse our hands and our mind only by seeking Jesus in repentance and submission, becoming humble, giving our self, our will, to God, then "He shall lift you up."

So, try submission to God and His way for you. Rely on His goodness and mercy to forgive and love you as a father. Then peace, security, delight and joy in His love will be yours, now and eternally.

Try Submission!

Ves Terry was confined to the Methodist Hospital in Lubbock the first of the week to undergo a check-up.

Is Sex Education Desirable?

Sex education is being widely hailed as an answer to the alarming increase in sex-related problems among our young people.

The problems are real and so well known that it is not necessary to detail them here.

It is a sad fact that hardly anybody was shocked when one county in a southern state reported recently that 20 per cent of the births there during the past year were illegitimate.

But is sex education the way to solve the problem? Will the morals of young people improve because they understand more about the physical aspects of human reproduction?

Morals Left Out

One of the principles of sex education programs is, as stated by those who conduct them, "We don't try to impose moral standards."

But the question is — aren't moral standards what we really need? Is it enough to discuss the anatomical and physiological, and leave out the moral?

In one highly regarded program, in California, a motion picture is shown to ninth-grade students — boys and girls separately — telling in graphic detail how a senior boy seduces a girl classmate who was a virgin before the incident occurred.

Giving all involved in the educational program credit for the highest motives, one may ask, "Do available facts indicate that high school boys need to be shown how to seduce their girl classmates?"

"A Long Way"

In an editorial on the subject recently, the Saturday Evening Post stated, "We have all come a long way since those quaint days when legs were called limbs. We have come a long way even from those quaint days when an obscene look or movie was banned as obscene."

Yes, we have come a long way — and some of us are wondering how much farther we must go along this road. We don't want to return to prudery, but must we continue to travel the downward way which leads to ruin?

There was a Teacher, some years ago who declared, "Waste is the gate and broad is the way that leadeth to destruction, and many there be which go in theretofore. Narrow is the way which leadeth unto life and few there be that find it."

Is This Best?

All of us, of course, want the best for our children.

But is it best to give them information about human reproduction and withhold from them the moral aspects of this subject?

Sex education may be needed. But sexual conduct cannot be separated from moral standards.

Haven't we gone far enough down the road to Sodom? Why hasten our pace in this direction?

Sex education programs which fail to emphasize morality should be summarily rejected.
