WOODWORK

BY DALTON

IN WASHINGTON last week, the Treasurer of the United States, Mrs. Dorothy Elston, was married to a man named Walter Kabis of Odessa, Del. I wonder if he married her for money?

HEADLINE in a Sunday supplement: "Let's Make Schools Out of Our Prisons." Or maybe vice versa, if the campus rioting continues.

THERE'S a new water vehicle on the market, price unannounced. It's called a Cubmarine, a two-passenger, private submarine that can be used for scuba diving, underwater photography, or shark hunting. Also good for drowning, I expect.

The mini-sub supposedly can dive to a depth of 100 feet or more, and be parked, allowing passengers to get out and explore a bit. "The driver has only to pull the plug to submerge it," says the proponent. Oddly--and perhaps significantly--it says nothing about how to get it back up on top.

Somehow this doesn't sound like my idea of fun.

WE NOTICED an ad the other day for a "Finnish Steam Belt," a big wide belt you put around your waist and which is supposed to make you look trim. In fact, it is supposed to "trim the waistline fast and easy." I suppose it works on the principle that it is so tight you can't eat much; if you do, you die of apoplexy.

Use of one is guaranteed to make your pocketbook $4 lighter.

Burglary at Bula

Burglar, or burglar, broke in to the Bula Post Office building sometime between closing time Saturday afternoon and Sunday at 4 p. m. when the break-in was discovered.

Mrs. F. L. Simmons, postmistress stated that her husband went over to the post office building Sunday around 4 p. m. and found the lock broken on the door into the post office department. Further investigation showed that entry was made through a back door leading into the Hubbard Insurance office, which adjoins the post office.

The Bailey County Sheriff's office was notified, and the deputy sheriff came out, followed by the Sheriff as soon as he could be informed of the break-in.

Mrs. Simmons called Lubbock and two postal inspectors came to investigate the burglary, and with Mrs. Simmons, to inventory the office.

Some cash was taken from the post office, Mrs. Simmons said, and a small money box from the Insurance Agency, but nothing else was disturbed. No bonds or papers were taken, and no machinery bothered, although two electric adding machines, typewriters, and other items were there.

Visiting Sunday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Read was his mother of Whiteface.

The Sudan Hornets got their second win of the season Friday night when they downed the Amherst Bulldogs, 48-12. This was a hard-hitting and exciting game.

Late in the first quarter, Fullback Steve Edwards scored first for the Hornets from three yards out, after FB David Weaver had intercepted a Bulldog pass. Back Kim Ingram kicked the extra point, and the Hornets led 7-0. Following the kickoff the Bulldogs fumbled on the 10, and Tackle Allen Roberts recovered the fumble on the 5 yard line. On two plays, Weaver scored, Ingram kicked the PAT, and as the first quarter ended, the Hornets led 14-0.

The Hornet drew a 5-yard penalty, after the Bulldogs had been forced to punt on 4th down. Edwards then ran 55 yards for another Hornet TD, only 39 seconds deep in the second quarter. The kick was off to the side, and Sudan led, 20-0. The Hornet defense held, and the Bulldogs punted on 4th down. Starting play on the 10, the Hornets fumbled on the 13 and HB Doug Cummings was there to cover for Amherst. The Bulldog powerful Fullback Bobby Clayton, who played a tremendous game against the Hornets, carried over for the TD, try for point failed, and the score was Sudan over Amherst, 20-6. Then the Hornets scored again just before the half as HB Ingram plunged over from 1-yard out, and booted the extra point. The Hornet defense contained the Bulldogs again, forcing them to give up the ball. Hornet QB Bo Lance passed to Dennis West in a 63 yard play to the Bulldog 13. Moving down to the 5, time ran out, and at the half the Hornets were leading, 27-6.

In the second half, the fired-up Hornets started play on their 41 yard line after the kickoff. FB Edwards dashed through to the 35, and on the next play, HB Ingram ran the 35 yards for another Hornet touchdown, and kicked the PAT. Late in the 3rd quarter, the Bulldogs fumbled on the 15, and T Roberts covered for the Hornets. But out on the 25, the Bulldogs retaliated by covering a Sudan fumble. Passing on 4th down and 7, Cummings to HB Gregg Cruz, the Bulldogs had a first down on the Hornet 3 yard line. Then came another Bulldog fumble, and Guard Gary Edwards recovered for the Hornets. But the Bulldogs were tough, and forced the Hornets to punt on 4th down as the quarter ended.

The Hornet defense held again, and Sudan got the ball on the 21, on the second play, HB Harry Jefferson burned the breeze for a 75 yard touchdown run. Ingram kicked the extra point, with only 31 seconds left in the game. The Bulldogs scored again, with FB Cummings going 7 yards for the TD. Try for two points failed. Only 19 seconds were left on the clock as the Bulldogs kicked off and HB Jefferson returned the kickoff, turning on the speed for an 85 yard Hornet touchdown. Ingram again made the PAT, and the game ended with Sudan over Amherst, 48-12.

Top ground gainer for the Hornets was FB Steve Edwards, with 139 yards on 17 carries. HB Kim Ingram was second, with 93 yards in 13 carries. All the Hornets did a fine job, and the stout defense was led by Gerald Chisholm, Steve Edwards, Gary Edwards and Allen Roberts.

Friday night, it will be the Hornets vs. Seagraves Eagles at Seagraves, 8 p. m. Back the Hornets!

SWPS Names Top Twenty

You always know the top twenty in college football the Tuesday after the last Saturday that the teams have gone to battle. The statistics don't come out quite that fast in the electric utility business, however, and a Federal Power Commission report which was just recently released shows that two of Southwestern Public Service Company's giant electric generating units were in the "top 20" for efficiency in 1968, the latest year for which figures are available.

The Federal Power Commission report on operating expenses and efficiencies rated Unit #2 at Cunningham Station, near Hobbs, N.M., as the 10th most efficient gas-fired generating unit in the nation, insofar as heat rate is concerned, and Unit number 4 at Plant X, near Sudan was selected as the 12th most efficient.

Each of the generating units has a capability of 210,000 kilowatts. The recognition of their efficiency is measured in the amount of gas required to produce a kilowatt-hour of electric energy.

Where this all gets important to the customers is when you get it down to dollars and cents.

Southwestern's cost for gas has increased by 36% in the last ten years, but the unit fuel cost for each kilowatt-hour generated has increased by only 22%. The more efficient units, such as those cited in the FPC report, make this performance possible.

Chester, Toni McWilliams spoke on the importance of the degrees and encouraged everyone to work toward their degrees.

Committees were elected to find jobs for the Slave Day to be held October 10 and also for the overseas candy project.

The FHA Buddy and Beau were selected by the members. The Buddy is Gerald Chisholm and the Beau is Gregory McNabb. Chapter Parents for the next year were also elected, and they are Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lane and Mr. and Mrs. Billy Chester. Cookbooks and Home Decorating books are also being sold by the FHA girls for $3.50 each.

FHA MEMBERS--Shown above are members of the Sudan FHA Chapter, as they display their new cookbooks, which are now being sold by any FHA member.

SCIENTISTS-CLERGYMEN SEMINAR SCHEDULED

Scientists and clergymen will meet in Lubbock September 26 for a one-day seminar to acquaint area residents with evidence that the origin of the world is the same as that recorded in the Book of Genesis.

Challenged in recent years by the theory of evolution, the Biblical record of creation is regaining support in scientific circles as an accurate description of the actual beginning of the world.

Dr. Bolton Davidheiser, eminent zoologist, lecturer, and author of the book Evolution and Christian Faith will be principal speaker at the seminar.

It is scheduled to be held from 10 a. m. to 10 p. m. in the First National-Pioneer Building, Lecture and question-answer sessions, with breaks for meals and relaxation, will be provided during the day-long event.

Area science teachers, students, parents and pastors have been invited to attend the sessions, which are expected to attract 500 persons. An admission charge of $1.00 has been set.

Dr. Davidheiser, who received Ray, Dwayne Powell, J. R. Manning, John Humphreys, and John Williams.

his Ph. D. in genetics from Johns Hopkins, will show throughout the program the consequences of evolutionary teaching on the nation as a whole, with emphasis on the way in which Darwin's theory affects the political and religious life of a nation.

Charles A. Clough, a Bible scholar of Lubbock, says that Dr. Davidheiser is one of the growing number of scientists across the world who are creationists, disbelieving the modern acceptance of science as "neutral."

Examples of the latest creationist literature will be available at the seminar for examination by those attending.

The event, open to the public, will be held in the Flame Room of the First National-Pioneer Building.

TERRIBLE HEADACHES may be caused by pesticides and not tensions, says a toxicity expert at the University of Chicago. Chlorinated hydrocarbons enter the body as residue on fruits and vegetables and collect in body fat. If much body fat is lost through dieting or illness, the level of pesticides can rise dangerously in the blood.

Deaths by Fire
NEW YORK--Every 45 minutes fire claims a life, says the Insurance Information Institute. Of the 12,500 persons who died in fires in 1968, about one-third were children.

The lovely dahlia was developed from a very common flower found in Mexico. There it was a stiff, plain looking flower, but now it has become a garden favorite and is found in almost every size, shape and color.

The stalk of this flower is very brittle and should be tied to strong stakes. After the first frost in the fall the roots should be dug up and stored in a dry place for the winter.

Bible in the News

Continuing on the best-seller lists week after week, The New English Bible is now being reprinted as sales pass the half-million mark—a religious publishing event of the year. The Bible, published jointly by the Oxford University Press and Cambridge University Press, has been lauded for its clarity and its "fresh, living language." Twenty-four years in the making, this completely new translation—from the original languages into modern English—incorporates the results of the latest Biblical scholarship.

Despite its more than 750,000 words and 1,824 pages, the one-volume book is convenient to hold because of the use of a special, strong lightweight paper. Legibility and a contemporary appearance have been achieved by careful attention to type and design.

The New English Bible is available in a single volume, with or without the Apocrypha. It also comes in a library edition in three separate volumes: Old Testament, Apocrypha and New Testament.

The publishers attribute this extraordinary interest in the new Bible to its readily understandable text, presented in a dignified literary style. They also point out that the under-$10 price has made it popular for gift-giving throughout the year.

Vega. Not just another little car, but one little car that does everything well. You get more room, more weight and more power than most little cars give you, yet the gas mileage is right in the same neighborhood with the best of them. Vegas come dressed up, too, not stripped to the bone so you have to add a lot to make them liveable. Drive one. You'll see.

Caprice. There's a double layer of steel in the roof, a steel guard beam in each door, power disc brakes up front, a new power ventilation system inside, a wheelbase two and one-half inches longer. You get the looks and comfort of a six- or seven-thousand-dollar car, but at Chevrolet prices. And that's the kind of change during these tight-money times that all of us can appreciate.

Vanishing tailgate. A big change in our big wagon. The window goes up into the roof, the Glide-Away tailgate vanishes beneath the floor. Out of sight. Out of your way for easy loading even in a closed garage or when you have a trailer hooked on.

See what we mean by putting you first? September 29 at your Chevrolet dealer's.

Damron - Ward Vows Exchanged In Home

Miss Loretta Damron became the bride of Ken Ward in a double ring ceremony at 8:00 p. m. Friday the 28th of August in the home of the bride's parents.

The Rev. D. S. Moore, minister of Castle Avenue Baptist Church of Hobbs and uncle of the bride, performed the ceremony.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Damron of Needmore. The bride is a junior elementary education major at Eastern New Mexico University.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Ward of Hagerman, N.M., and is a junior data processing major at Eastern New Mexico.

Presented in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white bridal gown accented in white brocade.

Mrs. Richard Eddings of Littlefield served as matron of honor. She was attired in blue antique satin.

Serving as best man was Bemy Trujillo of Hagerman, N.M.

Miss Sheryl Moore, cousin of the bride, registered the guests.

Mrs. Jerry Damron and Mrs. Julian Damron served at the reception table, which was decorated with white satin cloth, covered in net, accented with blue. A memory candle formed the centerpiece. A four-tier wedding cake with blue sugar flowers accented with white wedding bells and ribbons decorated the table.

Following a reception at the bride's home, the couple traveled to Ruidoso, N.M., on a wedding trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Ward will be at home in Portales, N.M.

SHOWER HONORS MRS. WARD

Mrs. Ken Ward, the former Loretta Damron, was honored with a bridal shower at the Needmore Community Center.

Guests were registered in the bride's book on a small lace covered table, decorated with a blue flower arrangement.

Gifts were displayed on a large table covered with a white cloth. Mrs. C. G. Damron, mother of the bride, assisted her daughter in opening gifts.

The serving table, covered with a white linen cloth, was centered with an arrangement of white and blue flowers in a white-footed bowl. Candlesticks on either side held blue candles.

The cake, also decorated with white and blue sugar flowers,

My Neighbors

Joe was an immigrant. In his own country he was pretty well off, but here he was trash. People noticed his dark skin, peculiar nose, black hair, and heavy accent.

On top of that, he had a peculiar religion.

He was a country boy — a ranch kid, and here he was in a city — and he was broke. Oh, he had a job, all right, as a domestic servant — live in, meals, no pay. It was slavery, but there was nothing Joe could do about it.

About the only thing that went right for Joe was that he was safe from any of the neighborhood toughs getting out of hand with him. He worked for the chief of police.

Maybe it wasn't all bad. At least, he wasn't in the ghetto. He had enough to eat. He had clothes, and a roof over his head. What more can you expect when you are an unskilled, minority-class, alien kid at 17?

Dreams of Greatness

Remember when you were 17? If you do, you know Joe expected a lot more.

Back home, Joe used to tell his family about his dreams of the future. He was going to be great — a leader equal to anyone in his nation's history. His parents wondered at his visions, but they let it go at that, waiting to see what would happen.

His brothers, however, hated "the dreamer." In fact, they forced him to leave home.

All those hopes he had — yet the fact was that he was a slave to a system that wanted to keep him that way.

Impossible though it may seem, things got worse. The boss's wife got her eye on him.

Joe was an immigrant. In his own country he was pretty well off, but here he was trash. People noticed his dark skin, peculiar nose, black hair, and heavy accent.

On top of that, he had a peculiar religion.

He was a country boy — a ranch kid, and here he was in a city — and he was broke. Oh, he had a job, all right, as a domestic servant — live in, meals, no pay. It was slavery, but there was nothing Joe could do about it.

About the only thing that went right for Joe was that he was safe from any of the neighborhood toughs getting out of hand with him. He worked for the chief of police.

Maybe it wasn't all bad. At least, he wasn't in the ghetto. He had enough to eat. He had clothes, and a roof over his head. What more can you expect when you are an unskilled, minority-class, alien kid at 17?

Dreams of Greatness

Remember when you were 17? If you do, you know Joe expected a lot more.

Back home, Joe used to tell his family about his dreams of the future. He was going to be great — a leader equal to anyone in his nation's history. His parents wondered at his visions, but they let it go at that, waiting to see what would happen.

His brothers, however, hated "the dreamer." In fact, they forced him to leave home.

All those hopes he had — yet the fact was that he was a slave to a system that wanted to keep him that way.

Impossible though it may seem, things got worse. The boss's wife got her eye on him.

How could anyone blame Joe for doing it? After all, life didn't seem to offer anything better, and it could give him some special standing around the house.

But he didn't do it. She was infuriated. Every day, she asked again, and, as she was repeatedly refused, she developed a hatred for Joe that wouldn't quit. Finally, she told her husband that Joe had tried to rape her.

Joe landed in prison — without trial and with no chance to appeal.

Joe's responses to his mistreatment would look peculiar today. He didn't threaten, or riot, or sabotage, to get back at people or the repressive society. He didn't grab pleasure when it was wrongly offered.

The Better Way

Joe was a disciplined man. His discipline did not come from accepting hardship with passive stoicism. It wasn't that Joe thought there was nothing he could do — nor that he masochistically rejected pleasure. He wanted to be free to be a whole person and to enjoy himself.

It's just that Joe found a better way. Joe knew God and knew that God had promised to take care of him all the way. So he let God do it.

Joe always put out his best efforts, wherever God put him — but he left the planning to God.

This Joe was the Joseph of the Bible, who became the prime minister of Egypt. God did a good job for him.

"God can be trusted," Joe said. "He will turn everything for good."
