WOODWORK Scouts Slate Cookie Sale

BY DALTON

NO LONGER WILL I be able to disgust my youngsters with the comment that "carrots are good for your eyes -- did you ever see a rabbit wearing glasses?" A biology professor who has spent 40 years examining eyes says carrots don't help one's vision. But professor, all my life I've heard that eating carrots improves your eye sight. How could everyone be so wrong? Well, he doesn't say. But he does make the rather vague statement that "there still are many unknowns about the eye." I wonder if he's heard the one about the cross-eyed school teacher who couldn't control her pupils. That one's getting pretty worn, too.

EVANGELIST Billy Graham said last week a recent week of personal ministry with top people in Washington convinced him "our government heads may disagree violently on political matters, but they are together in feeling the need for the Lord and for a spiritual emphasis in our country." This is gratifying news, and goes along with a growing feeling among many of us that the nation is having a spiritual reawakening. There are more prayer groups in homes and churches with increasing attendance, a tremendous outbreak of lay witness missions in various churches, and more and more people are turning to God for guidance and answers they can't get anywhere else.

If Christianity can survive in Washington (and I think it can) then it should really be flourishing everywhere else.

IN HUTCHINSON, Kans., recently the art judges learned they had chosen an ape's work as a contest winner. They said they thought D. James Orang's painting was the outstanding entry in the 4-to-8-year-old age group.

D. James Orang, it was later revealed, is a 5-year-old orangutan at the Topeka zoo.

I haven't seen the painting, but I suspect it is an abstract. Such things as this confirm my suspicion that the average person, who doesn't know beans about art, might be a better judge of what's good and what isn't than all these trained "experts".

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Harper are parents of a son, Timothy Christopher, born Thursday, February 18, 7:41 a. m. at Methodist Hospital in Lubbock. He weighed seven pounds.

Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. I. M. Harper of Sudan and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Sager of Littlefield.

The local Girl Scouts will begin their annual cookie sale tomorrow, Friday, at 4 p. m. along with some 6,000 girls throughout the 18-county Caprock Council. The sale will continue through March 6.

The cookies will cost 50 cents per box. Residents will have a choice of five kinds of cookies: mint, assorted sandwich, butter flavored shorties, peanut butter and pecanettes.

Profits from the sale are divided between the troops and council. The local troops will receive five cents per box of cookies sold by them. Council profits will be used for building and improving Camp Rio Blanco, the Girl Scout camp located northeast of Crosbyton.

The cookies, which may be frozen for use later, feature newly decorated wrappers this year although the cookies remain the same recipes as featured in previous years.

DAVE LLEWELLYN

Right Attitude Toward Money

Money has always bothered me. My attitude toward money is ambiguous. Because money represents materialism and self-indulgence, I want to scorn it and remain free. Because money represents opportunities and achievement, I want to invest it and make it produce. Yet at other times because it means self-indulgence, I want to grasp it, and at other times because it means responsibility, I want to spurn it.

My problem, of course, is not so much with money as with myself. So I look for help. When I study what Jesus taught about money I receive some answers while some questions remain. Should I try to earn a surplus of money in order to provide capital for God's purposes? Or should I invest my time directly? Nowhere that I can think of does Jesus encourage anyone to make money. On the contrary, in several places he suggests the opposite.

Treasure in Heaven
Jesus says, "Do not lay up for yourselves treasures upon earth, where moth and rust destroy, and where thieves break in and steal; but lay up for yourselves treasures in heaven... for where your treasure is, there will your heart be also."

Jesus told a rich, young ruler to sell everything he had and give it to the poor. He praised an impoverished widow who gave to the temple treasury all she had to live on. In fact, Jesus settled most of the money-oriented spiritual problems with one unmistakable principle in Luke 14: "No one of you can be My disciple who does not give up all his own possessions." But just a minute, Matthew owned a house in Jerusalem.

Sunday School Lesson for February 26, 1971

Zaccheus was not told to give away everything. Paul laid no such requirement on rich Philemon. "Giving up" possessions apparently is not necessarily relinquishing ownership, but rather giving to God the owner's rights of control.

Jesus told a story about a man who hoarded his wealth for a secure retirement, but God said to him, "You fool! This very night your soul is required of you; and now who will own what you have prepared?" There seems to be no justification for having wealth for security's sake, but neither is there condemnation for having wealth and enjoying its comforts if it is all in God's control.

The slogan "Nothing But the Best for God" has been used to defend lavish life styles for some of God's servants. Authority has been looked for in John 10:10, where Jesus says, "I came that they might have life, and might have it abundantly." The final phrase here may also be correctly translated "and might have abundance." However, Jesus clearly explains elsewhere that "the abundance of a man's life does not consist of the things he possesses."

Beware of Love of Money
Are earning money and enjoying possessions then wrong? Not if the money and things are controlled by God. But beware of falling in love with God's money or the security it seems to promise, and don't become dependent on possessions that God may need elsewhere some time.

Is it right for a Christian to set, as his intention to earn money beyond his needs? God has not given us a clear principle. You will have to ask Him for yourself, and so will I. Copyright Dave Llewellyn 1971

FHA Loans Increase

"Now young people trying to get a start in farming, Vietnam veterans and established farmers interested in expanding their operations, will be able to look to FHA for increased financial assistance. This is of vital importance to agriculture in the Texas Panhandle, the State of Texas and other farming areas of the country," Price said.

Price stated that raising FHA loan limits for farm land purchases is an absolute necessity. "Inflation is a cancer eating

Easter Seal Appeal Opens Here

The 1971 Easter Seal Appeal will open in Lamb County Monday, March 1, according to Doyle Patton, Jr., who serves as Easter Seal Representative for the county.

Patton said that Easter Seal Appeal letters would begin arriving at homes in the county about March 1.

As Easter Seal Representative, he is the person to contact to request rehabilitation services from the Easter Seal Society for Crippled Children and Adults of Texas. These services include physical and occupational therapy, speech and hearing programs and special information services to help solve the many problems faced by the families of handicapped children and adults.

Last year more than 21,000 handicapped people received help from the Texas Easter Seal Society. With the costs of providing expert professional care rising, more money than ever will be needed.

Funds help support 20 centers in Texas, where crippled children and adults are treated, regardless of their ability to pay. Walkers, wheelchairs, and related services are provided to those who cannot provide for themselves.

"The people of Texas have always responded generously to helping the handicapped, and I feel certain they will make it possible to increase Easter Seal services to crippled Texans throughout the coming year," Patton said.

THE PERSONALITIES OF THE CROSS

By DAVID JOHNSON

When a man is put to death, there are many people involved in the unfortunate incident. So it was in the tragedy of the execution of our Lord and Saviour, Jesus Christ. Many people were involved in the steps that led to the crucifixion and many people played a role in the cruel act itself.

There were various groups of people that had an effect on our Master's death and also there were several individual personalities that were a part of this tragic drama. To mention a few of the groups, there were His closest followers, the twelve disciples. There was the crowd carrying swords and clubs that placed Jesus under arrest. There were the teachers of the Law and the elders that made up the first Council that placed Christ on trial. There were involved in the path that led to a cross the high priests who also held a so-called trial. Also present was the angry crowd that chose to set a known criminal free and demanded that Jesus be nailed to a cross. To mention others, The Sanhedran and the soldiers who marked Him and made fun of Him were the actual executioners. Some of the individuals present during these events include the High Priest's slave, whose ear was cut off and restored at the arrest; the High Priest's servant girl, who questioned Peter about his affiliation with The Christ; Caiaphas, the High Priest who presided over the first trial in his own home; Simon the Cyrene, who was compelled to carry the Lord's cross when He weakened on the road to Calvary, to mention a few.

Yes, there were many who witnessed the death of Christ. In the midst of these were six key personalities that seem to stand out in the events of the crucifixion story. These are:

Judas, Pilate, Barabbas, Peter, The Repentant Thief, and, of course, Jesus, Himself. It is about these six that the Easter series has been written this year. As one examines the personality of each of these individuals, he gets a real insight into the actual meaning of the crucifixion and the resurrection. Through this series of personality studies, one is also able to learn lessons of a nature that will be meaningful in his own personal relationship with God.

We will take a long deep look into the inward and outward personality of these six individuals, seeking, in so doing, to find out what kind of man each was, what kind of character he had, and, most important, what motivated him to do what he did in his particular part of the first Easter. Each was a real man. Each had a strong personality in his own way of expressing it and each experienced the real emotions of life like you and I.

First, we look at Judas Ischariot, Judas, one of the chosen twelve, that spent so much time with the Master. The one who betrayed Him, the one who sold His Lord for a mere thirty pieces of silver.

The next to be studied is Pilate, a man put on the spot. A man who tried to save Jesus, but a man who did not have the courage to try hard enough. The fact that it was tradition to release a prisoner without punishment is an interesting one. Barabbas, the guilty one released.

Peter, denying Christ at the hour of trial. Later preaching the sermon at Pentecost and going on to die for His Lord.

The Repentant Thief, making a last minute decision, the most important decision of his entire life.

And finally, Jesus, Himself, dying that you might have eternal life.

Happy Home Environment
WHAT'S THE IDEAL?

Most people would agree that the ideal happy home environment must take into consideration the environmental aspects as well as the spiritual and human relationships.

In the present state of technology, electricity does its job well when it comes to environmental aspects of conditioning the air in your home.

The ideal system, now available, not only does its job of comfort heating in winter and comfort cooling in summer but also refines the air itself. Electric humidifiers control the amount of moisture in the air and electrostatic air cleaners remove undesirable dust particles.

So then, 4 things to give you a happier home environment... electric heating, electric cooling, electric humidification and electric air cleaning... and all of it automatically. Ask your Public Service manager for complete information.

ELECTRICITY - IT DOES SO MUCH GOOD FOR SO MANY PEOPLE!

We ought to watch the words we choose,
The type of speech we daily use,
Because my friends we really owe
More kindly words for friend or foe,
And we should be much more alert
In what we say that tends to hurt,
When saying what we really should,
Then what we say is always good.
