BY DALTON

THE FRITO BANDITO isbeing attacked again. He has done no wrong in eyes of most of us, except to cause a few smiles, but the militant factions of Mexican-Americans just plain don't like him.

They say he is, to quote the American GI Forum, "perverted, racist, bigoted, demeaning and stereotypic and insulting to the brown community. "

About 50 Mexican-Americans gathered at the headquarters of Frito-Lay Inc. Sunday to protest the firm's advertising campaign. Simultaneous demonstrations were supposed to have been held by other groups in various parts of the nation.

I have several friends of Mexican-American ancestry, and I haven't asked them their opinion of the Frito Bandido. But it seems, to me that it's silly to make all those charges, when I doubt seriously that racism, bigotry, perversion, etc., are the intent of those ads.

Also, I can see a parallel between the Frito Bandido ads and those Dodge ads using the funny Southern-type deputy sheriff Joe Whatisname, who speaks with all that accent and gives the impression of being an uneducated clod.

I haven't heard of any police officers protesting this ad, although there may have been some. Also I don't think it portrays all of us southerners as being fat and sloppy and thicktongued and stupid.

I think it's famy. And I think our. Mexican-American friends" should be able-to laugh at the Frito Bandido. Good grief, nobody, seriously thinks the Frito Bandido is an accurate serious portrayal of the typical Mexican-American.

COMMON - acts of courtesy, and attention to trying to do a job right have become so rare any more that they now are noticeable. For example, it used to be a matter of course that when you bought gasoline even just a dollar's worth, that the 'attendant wiped the windshield clean (and in some cases brushed out the floorboards of the car). Now, in many stations, the only way to get a windshield clean is to ask for it or do it. yourself, often eyen after you have bought a full tank of gar. Consequently, I always appress ciate those studens where the attendants perior in this onces. common coursesy engerrally. I noticed this the outer daylar a station in String where I bought just a couple of dollars worth of gas, but the attendant (a pleasant' Mexican-American youth not a bit like the Frito Bandido) was about to wash the wind shield for me when I told him it didn't need it. The rice thing, as I commented to my family . at the time, was that he offered, to do so without being asked.

has chosen April 11 as a begin- Cotton Count

Lamb County ASCS Manager Lamar Aften said all farmers in Lamb County finished certifying this week, allowing the office to make its official 1970 bale

County farmers produced 59, 476, 894 net pounds after. poundage for bagging and ties was subtracted. This lint came off 160,603 acres. Figuring . 500-pound net bales, this is 118,953 bales.

'That's 370 pounds of cotton per acre," Aten said, "and that's not very good. "

Atensaid about 85 per cent of all farms in the county had to be adjusted this year because of the weather situation, "And it certainly lowered the payment HONOR rate," he added.

Farmers who plan to participate in one or more of the 1971 set-aside programs have only until Friday, April 9 at 5 p. m. to get signed up in order to be eligible for program benefits in the wheat, cotton or feed grain

Through closing time Friday, about 2,100 county farms had been signed up, and it is estimated about 400 more will be signed up before the deadline.

All wheat acreages should be reported on all farms having a wheat allotment. These allotments must be reported to the ASCS office by May 1 to certify. This holds whether the farm is participating in the wheat program or not. There are about 6,000 scres of wheat in Lamb County, but because of the weather much of this will probably be destroyed and planted to grain sorghum. Another date farmers are reminded to remember is May 3, the final date for transferring cotton acreage in Lamb County.

The dry dusty weather continues for the area with hopes for rain dashed Monday afternoon by a ferocious sandstorm. The clouds earlier this week was closest that we have come to receiving rain in many

One of the driest years in history is being predicted for the area and if the first three months are any indication, this could prove correct. The dry winter follows an unusually dry year when Lamb County recorded less than 10 inches of moisture with some parts receiving much less than this amount. 1917 is recorded as the driest year when only 8.73 inches of moisture

Farmers are irrigating trying to get enough moisture to plant. Moisture is non-existent in dryland areas.

Fewer cover crops were planted in 1970 due to the lack of moisture, contributing to more blowing fields. Old timers are comparing the recent storms to those in the '30s.

The Lamb County area is not the only place needing rain. Gov. Preston Smith has asked President Nixon to declare 60 counties eligible for draught disaster relief and requested a $5 million federal aid allotment.

Cycling for Cleaner Air

To an increasing number of the younger generation of high school and college students, "doing their own thing" means taking an active part in the nationwide drive for less air and water pollution. The youngsters have taken the lead in the back to the bike movement, riding to classes, riding to work and riding for pleasure, because they know that bikes don't pollute. During American Bike Month in May, cyclists of all ages should get their bikes inspected to make sure they are in good operating condition, and make sure they know the rules of the road for safe cycling. "Safe Bike, Safe Driver" is the goal for Bike Month this May.

Many, many thanks to all our friends and neighbors for every act of kindness, the floral offerings, the visits and prayers; at a time when most needed. Sincerely,

The Gatewood Family

We want to say a special "Thank You" to all for your prayers, cards, visits, phone calls, gifts, flowers, and for the love and concern of the churches and other ministers during our illness and stay in the hospital. Our deep appreciation to Dr. Chatwell, Dr. Burditt, and to all the South Plains Hospital nurses and staff. (Jay to Raymond -- remembering the orange juice).

May the Lord continue to bless

There are sermons found in every flower, They entertain us hour by hour;

We watch the many colors glow, And wonder how each one can grow. An idea we cannot advance. s that a flower might come by chance; The tint, the shade of every flower, Is painted by a higher power.
