A BUNCH OF US who haven't been students in a long time are likely to get back into the classroom pretty soon, for the simple reason that it will save us money. Texans who complete a new defensive driving course after Sept. 1 can become eligible for a 10 per cent reduction in their annual auto insurance policies. The course will cost about $10 or less per person, and the resulting credit is good for three years. The average person insured will save about $40 over the three-year period.

Drivers who already have had drivers education already get a 10 per cent reduction, so they can't get another 10 per cent by taking this course. But all other principal drivers of each car in families with two or more cars will have to take the course to qualify for credit.

We understand from talking with a local insurance agent that you have to go to class for 8 one-hour periods, and you can't miss any of the classes. You don't have to do any driving, and you take a test at the end of the course.

A girl we know who already has taken the course says you have to sit there and look at "a bunch of dumb films." This sounds terribly exciting, and if it weren't for the money you can save on insurance, it's doubtful that the classrooms would be overly crowded.

The whole idea is to cut down on the number of accidents, a commendable goal. Whether this program actually will do that is open to question, at least in the minds of most of us.

It seems to me that a better way to cut down on accidents might be to require every driver to take a new driving test every seven years or so. The actual driving would be a much better test, if strictly administered.

The test could be administered this way, if the state doesn't have enough examiners to conduct them for everyone: Just turn each driver loose in downtown Dallas for three hours. If you have no accidents, you pass. If you get killed, you fail.

Cattle Truck Hits Tractor

A tractor-cattle truck accident on Hwy. 84 some four miles west of Sudan Saturday morning at 9:15 a. m. has been reported. The accident left one person injured and a patient in the Littlefield Hospital and another person released after examination by a physician.

The tractor which was on the right shoulder of the highway with an eight foot blade attached and driven by Bo Lance, was going east to Sudan when it was struck from the rear by the cattle truck which was driven by Elmer Jones of Breckenridge, Texas. The left rear axle wheel and housing was shredded off even with the tractor seat with Lance still on the tractor. The truck went across the grassy median which divides the four-lane highway, spilling diesel fuel, overturning on its right side in the right hand lane of the west bound highway with the driver still inside the truck cab.

Lance and Jones were taken to the Littlefield Hospital by private car for examination. Jones suffered facial cuts and a bruise on the right hand. He was admitted to the hospital and was expected to be there several days under observation. Lance was released following the examination.

The truck, owned by Carter Fore of Breckenridge, was uprighted by a wrecker truck out of Littlefield and taken to a wrecking yard there. The tractor, owned by Robin Davis of Sudan, was brought to Sudan by a local implement firm employee.

Investigating officers were Patrolman Bill Angel and Homer McLaury, Lamb County Deputy.

Wedding Plans Are Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Mixon are announcing the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Connie Marie, to Kenneth Lynn Fisher, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe A. Fisher, of Sudan.

The couple plan to wed October 14 at 8:00 p. m. in the First Baptist Church of Amherst. Friends and relatives are invited to attend.

Heavy Storms Hit Area

Sudan received a storm warning Monday night from the Lubbock weather service at approximately 10:20 p. m., according to spokesman Phillip Gordon.

The weather service called Pete Phillips home to alert the people of Sudan of the impending storm who in turn called Gordon who was in the radio room at the fire station. The siren was sounded as well as the fire truck sounding its siren as it drove through the residential section of town. Amherst was also warned to be on the alert.

A tornado had been confirmed northwest of Muleshoe and was reported to be headed southeast toward Sudan, with heavy rain, hail, and wind possible.

RECORD ENROLLMENT AT WAYLAND COLLEGE

Summer school at Wayland Baptist College ended on August 18 with a 43% increase in total number of hours registered over last summer under the new innovative calendar change.

For the first time this summer, Wayland employed a four micro-term plan as opposed to the traditional two six weeks summer sessions. Under the old program, a student could earn a maximum of seven hours credit during a six weeks course. Under the new program, a student may earn a maximum of four hours credit per three week micro-term.

Last year, 340 students registered for a total of 1548 hours during the summer. This year, 715 students have registered for a total of 2217 hours.

Following the pattern of the January microterm, lecture courses during the summer microterms met for three hours each morning with laboratory and physical education classes in the afternoon.

The new plan allows Wayland to continue to serve public school teachers who are presently under a new calendar with which the conventional summer calendar conflicts. In addition, the four micro-sessions permits greater flexibility with travel-study courses, provides variety in instruction for faculty and students, and offers greater freedom of choice in course selection.

During the current summer school curriculum, classes pursued travel-study routes to Mississippi, Mexico, and New Mexico.

In speaking of the new program and the increase in enrollment, Mrs. Audrey Boles, registrar, stated, "We evidently met the needs of the students and their desire to be involved for a shorter period of time in study. This is the only reason I can see for the increase."

Approximately the same number of courses were offered this summer as last summer. Faculty members seem to especially favor the short semesters for advanced courses. Students have been more regular in attendance, overall, because of the quantity of materials covered in each class session.

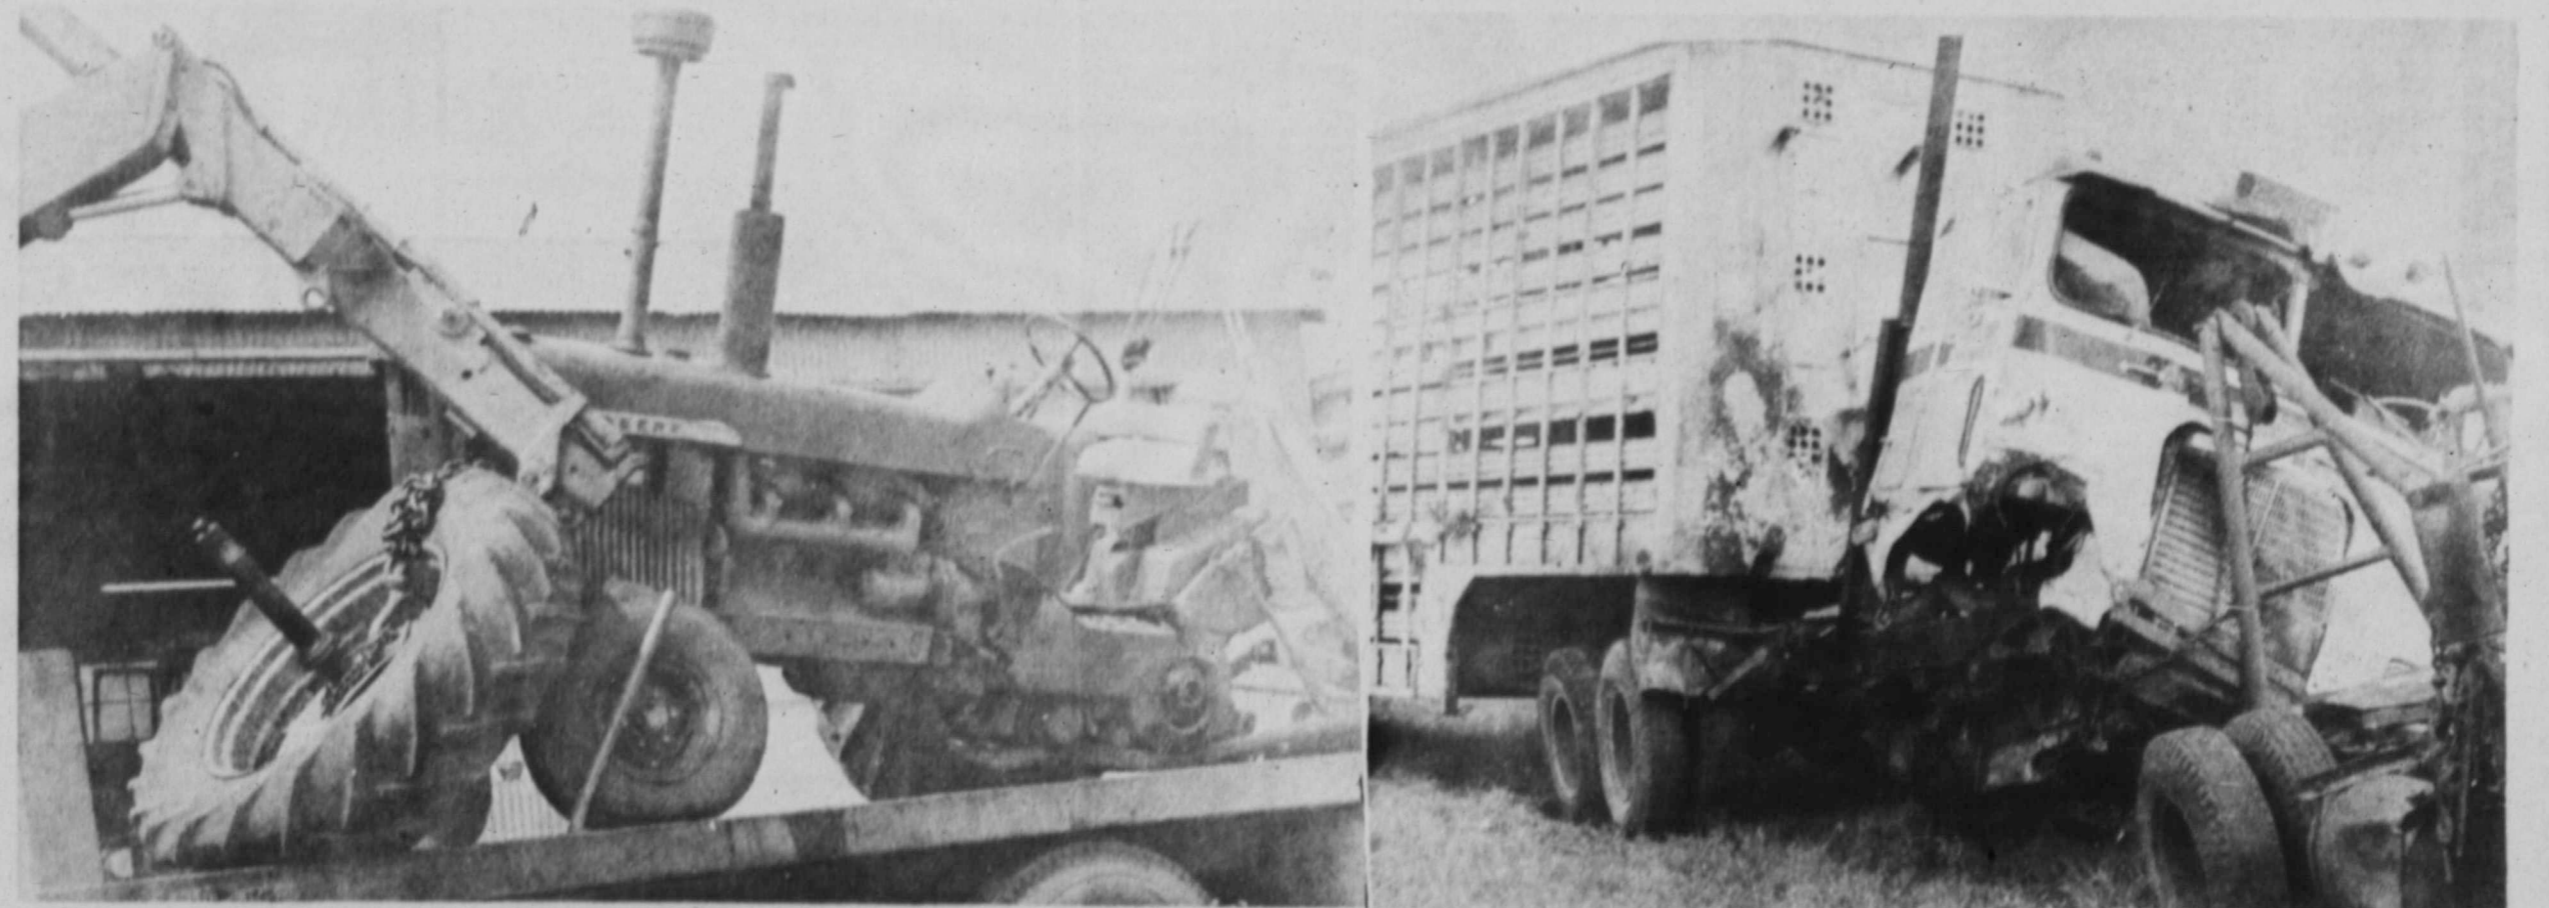

An inch and a half of rain was reported north of Sudan on the Charles Burnett farm, 2.4 on the Noble Dudgeon farm, and three inches on the Sterling Reece farm, with high winds knocking down feed in the area. Water washed across the highway in that area also. Four tenths of an inch of rain was reported in Sudan with a trace south of town near the Bula highway. Winds were also high in that vicinity.

cars during the next few months. Buyers should look for the following items:

1. Check all gauges on the dashboard to make sure they are accurate. Look for signs of water on the gauges. BEWARE: Autos that have had water in them up to the dashboard are likely to be dangerous or matter how thoroughly the car has been reconditioned.

2. Look for signs of corrosion under the hood, inside and under the car on bumpers, behind the hub-caps and around the gas cap. BEWARE: Corrosion on any metal causes weakness in the car.

3. Try the lights, windshield wipers, turn signals, cigarette lighter, radio, heaters, fans and air conditioner several times, to make sure they work repeatedly. Flex some wires under the dash to see if they bend or crack. BEWARE: Wet wire and rubber hoses become brittle upon drying and can crack and fail at any time.

4. Start the car several times. If you see white smoke, this may mean that the engine has just been cleaned out. Drive the car to make certain that it accelerates, shifts, and stops smoothly. BEWARE: Mud or sand in fuel, cooling, and lubrication systems can cause extensive damage any time.

5. Check the interior and trunk for signs of mud and water. The back seat can easily be removed to check the stuffing and upholstery. Check the carpet for any dampness. BEWARE: Musty odors and water marks indicate that the upholstery, stuffing, or carpet has been wet and may begin to rot.

NEW TRENDS IN THE MAKING
One sure way to know which trends in decorating are shaping up is to watch the top designers in department stores. Like interior decorators who work for one client, department store designers have to be creative and imaginative but must appeal to a wide range of taste. Not many can master this in a way that inspires admiration from their colleagues and the public, but Barbara D'Arcy of Bloomingdale's New York is an acknowledged leader of it. Her new model rooms are a case in point.
This talented designer has been showing with great frequency more and more French influences and has picked the Louis XVI style as a current favorite.
This is rather remarkable in itself because it shows a deepening interest in traditional styles. For the last two years there has been a strong revival of English furniture which may ascribe to the fact that television, motion pictures, and the stage have all focused on England as if one giant conspiracy was taking place.
Undoubtedly this English revival will continue, but the first soundings of more classical French are beginning to be heard. This is going to be a boon to the buyer and a problem to the mass manufacturer. The heavy reliance on Mediterranean has invited the manufacturer to substitute plastic parts for genuine hardwood because the intricate carved moldings reduced the buyer's awareness that plastics were being substituted... usually without the customer being told.
With the accent on English and French periods, which

"Section 1-b. (a) Three Thousand Dollars ($3,000) of the assessed taxable value of all residence homesteads as now defined by law shall be exempt from all taxation for all State purposes. (b) From and after January 1, 1973, the governing body of any county, city, town, school district, or other political subdivision of the State may exempt by its own action not less than Three Thousand Dollars ($3,000) of the assessed value of residence homesteads of persons sixty-five (65) years of age or older from all ad valorem taxes thereafter levied by the political subdivision. As an alternative, upon receipt of a petition signed by twenty percent (20%) of the voters who voted in the last preceding election held by the political subdivision, the governing body of the subdivision shall call an election to determine by majority vote whether an amount not less than Three Thousand Dollars ($3,000) as provided in the petition, of the assessed value of residence

Where any ad valorem tax has theretofore been pledged for the payment of any debt, the taxing officers of the political subdivision shall have authority to continue to levy and collect the tax against the homestead property at the same rate as the tax so pledged until the debt is discharged, if the cessation of the levy would impair the obligation of the contract by which the debt was created." CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT

NUMBER 10 ON THE BALLOT (HJR 68)
General Election November 7, 1972

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF TEXAS: Section 1. That Article XVII, Section 1, Constitution of the State of Texas, be amended to read as follows:

"Section 1. The Legislature, at any regular session, or at any special session when the matter is included within the purposes for which the session is convened, may propose amendments revising the Constitution, to be voted upon by the qualified electors for statewide offices and propositions, as defined in the Constitution and statutes of this State. The date of the elections shall be specified by the Legislature. The proposal for submission must be approved by a vote of two-thirds of all the members elected to each House, entered by years and days on the journals. "A brief explanatory statement of the nature of a proposed amendment, together with the date of the election and the wording of the proposition as it is to appear on the ballot, shall be published twice in each newspaper in the State which meets requirements set by the Legislature for the publication of official notices of officers and departments of the state government. The explanatory statement shall be prepared by the Secretary of State and shall be approved by the Attorney General. The Secretary of State shall send a full and complete copy of the proposed amendment or amendments to each county clerk who shall post the same in a public place in the courthouse at least 30 days prior to the election on said amendment. The first notice shall be published not more than 60 days nor less than 50 days before the date of the election, and the second notice shall be published on the same day in the succeeding week. The Legislature shall fix the standards for the rate of charge for the publication, which may not be higher than the newspaper's published national rate for advertising per column inch. "The election shall be held in accordance with procedures prescribed by the Legislature, and the returning officer in each county shall make returns to the Secretary of State of the number of legal votes cast at the election for and against each amendment. If it appears from the returns that a majority of the votes cast have been cast in favor of an amendment, it shall become a part of this Constitution, and proclamation thereof shall be made by the Governor." Sec. 2. The foregoing constitutional amendment shall be submitted to a vote of the qualified electors of this state at an election to be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, 1972, at which election the ballots shall be printed to provide for voting for or against the proposition: "The constitutional amendment revising provisions on the time and method of proposing amendments to the state constitution and the time and method of publishing notice of proposed amendments."
