A BLURB IN THE MAIL from (of all people) the Japan Trade Center begins by posing the question, "Did you ever wonder why Texans are tall?"

Their ideas on the topic will be expounded a few paragraphs from now, but just that much opens up a line of thought which touches a nerve among us shorties. Personally, I've always felt there ought to be a law against anyone being over 5-10, and that anybody six feet or taller should be required to have some kind of surgery, like removal of three inches of leg, or maybe off the top someplace.

It's comforting to know that there have been more shorties in history who have achieved a measure of fame than the long, drawn-out types. Napoleon, David Einstein (I think), Billy the Kid, Hank Stram and Carrie Nation all were pretty small people, physically. Hank still is. Someone (probably some tall jerk) has suggested that the reason little people work so hard to accomplish great things is that they're trying to compensate for not being as tall as the next person, and they just want to overcome a complex.

Being short has certain advantages over being tall anyway, and if you'll just give me a minute or two, I'll think of one of them. Oh, yeah. It's when you're in the back seat of a car on a long trip and you want to stretch out and sleep awhile. And when your rich uncle gives you a Volkswagen.

To get back to the question of why Texans are tall, the publicity release says maybe the answer can be found in Japan. "The Japanese people, characteristically small, have suddenly begun blossoming into a larger, and probably sturdier, race. Experts say the new breed of Japanese is developing through improved nutrition."

It goes on to note that while Texas always has been a major beef-producing state, with people eating a lot of beef, Japan has for centuries restricted protein intake primarily to fish and the Japanese stayed short.

That has to be the biggest bunch of hooey I ever read. I eat as much beef as nearly anybody (except for a preacher I used to know in Plainview) and it never did make me any taller. In fact, the more I ate, the shorter I got, according to the proportion figures on most public scales. The last time I checked, the figures showed I was 8 inches too short to weigh what I do.

WITH THE ARRIVAL of cold weather, and undoubtedly more icy weather on the way soon, we believe it's high time to form an "I Hate Winter" club. I feel about temperatures below 50 degrees just like I do about 6-foot-4 characters in cowboy boots—it just shouldn't be allowed. Snow looks fine on TV, but in reality, it messes up the house and the car, causes all the kid's noses to run, and prompts all the women workers in the office to turn

JUST SO SOMEONE won't accuse me of writing a column completely negative, let me say, seriously, that I can live happily with tall people and cold weather, because these are part of God's world, too, just like us little ole shorties.

They moved to Shamrock from Arkansas in 1925, where he was

COTTON HARVEST OFF TO SLOW START

A report from the USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service Classing Office in Lubbock states that the first cotton sample of cotton for the 1972-73 season was classed September 14, 1972 there. W. K. Palmer, Officer-in-Charge, reported that only 1,191 cotton samples from the current crop had been received through Friday, November 3rd.

This compares to a total of 1,757 samples at this time last year.

The first bale of cotton for the Sudan area was brought in the second week in October to the Farmers Coop Gin and to this date have not received any more. However, local ginners report that by the first of next week they expect the cotton harvest to get underway since the freeze last week killed cotton here.

Palmer stated that the seasonal classing offices at Brownfield and Levelland are expected to begin receiving samples for classification on Monday, Nov.

ACCIDENT INVESTIGATED BY PARSONS AND MCLAURY

Highway Patrolman Weldon Parsons and Deputy Sheriff Homer McLaury investigated a two-car accident Monday afternoon which occurred about 4 p. m. on Hwy. 84 adjacent to Nichols Oil Company in the west edge of Sudan.

A 1963 Ford driven by O'Don Bellar of Sudan and a 1972 Chrysler driven by Mrs. Kenneth Pennington of Lake Jackson were involved in the accident. The Chrysler had two other occupants with one being Kenneth Pennington, husband of the driver, and another woman.

It was reported that Bellar pulled onto the highway from Nichols Oil Co. where he is employed after checking to see if there were oncoming cars with a frame portion of the windshield obstructing his view.

No serious injuries reported but one ticket was issued by investigating officers. Damage to the vehicles were unknown.

The W.B. Gages To Celebrate 50th Wedding Anniversary

engaged in the ginning business. They moved to the Bula community in 1933, where he operated the Gage gin until 1947. After retiring, they built their home and moved to Littlefield in 1963.

Gage has been in the ginning business most of his life. He has owned gins at Shamrock, Bula, Pep and Amherst, and at the present time he is associated with his sons, Bill and Jimmy, in gins at Pep and Amherst.

They are the parents of four living children, Betty Medlin of Bula, Bill Gage, Pep, Jimmy Gage of Amherst, and Dorothy Gage of the home. All children and grandchildren plan to be present to honor their parents and grandparents on this occasion.

13. He reports that most of the early cotton harvested was in Dawson, Lynn and Gaines counties and was of the long staple variety which was machine picked and hail damaged and chemically defoliated. Quality of this early cotton varied widely depending on the condition of the fields at the time of harvest.

Grades of these first bales have been predominantly Middling and Strict Low Middling. Staple length has averaged approximately 1-inch and micronaire of most cotton has been in the premium range of 3.5 to 4.9.

Price quotations on the Lubbock market for cotton in the premium micronaire range of 3.5 to 4.9 ranged from the loan for low grade, short staple cotton to $27.50 per bale over the loan for high grade, long-staple cotton. Prices quoted by the Lubbock Cotton Exchange for the most predominant qualities were: Middling 31.32 - 23.05, Middling 1-1/4 - 24.25, Middling 1-1/8 - 27.50, Strict Low Middling 31.32 - 22.30, Strict Low Middling 1-1/4 - 23.50, and Strict Low Middling 1-1/8 16 - 25.00.

Prices paid farmers for cottonseed ranged from $42 to $50 per ton and averaged $46 per ton.

A report from the office of the Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. concerning use of the anniversary-date loan as a marketing mechanism for the 1972 High Plains cotton crop stated that Commodity Credit Corporation loans now bear an interest rate of 3.6 percent and mature ten months from the first day of the month in which the loan is made. Storage charges on cotton, whether in the loan or in private hands, are 60 cents per month per bale.

If market prices are unacceptable at harvest, producers have two practical alternatives under the loan program. They can (1) place their cotton in the loan immediately or (2) hold the cotton at their own expense until sometime between harvest and May 31, the final date for putting cotton in the loan. Either choice will yield a financial advantage only if the cotton's price between harvest and loan maturity rises enough to cover attendant costs.

Using the anniversary loan instead of selling at harvest affords producers the opportunity to take advantage of any upward price movement that may occur well into the 1973 marketing year.

PCG officials say "This is what we had in mind when we spent two years pushing for the anniversary loan program. And, depending on developments in the market over the next couple of months," they add, "our people may need to use it in marketing the 1972 crop."

Prior to 1971 CCC took title to all cotton under loan on July 31, and some producers are not fully aware of how the anniversary loans work. For those who have questions, PCG often provides answers and full information can also be gotten from county ASCS offices over the High Plains area.

Patrolman Angel Resigns

The following articles were sent to us by the Leader News of Littlefield at the request of Mrs. Bill Angel for publication in this paper.

The resignation of Highway Patrolman Bill Angel stationed in Littlefield, became effective Friday, Oct. 27. Patrolman Angel who has lived in Littlefield for the past 12 years said he plans to remain in this area in the ranching business.

The resignation of Patrolman Angel centered around an evaluation reflecting a low number of tickets issued.

In the ensuing course of events, Patrolman Angel told his superiors that in recent months he felt his eyesight at night wasn't as good as it should be when he is involved in high speed chases.

The result was that he was told he would be transferred to another station in Austin or another region, a move Angel refused to make because of his family, ranching interests and personal reasons.

It is our opinion that Patrolman Angel was one of the most highly respected law enforcement officials anywhere.

It was our observation that he was highly professional, regarded in greatest esteem by fellow law enforcement officials, the entire community and everyone he came in contact with.

Regardless of the violation a person was ticketed for, that person always retained his human dignity because of the treatment he received. Because of the respect, courtesy, compassion and humility Patrolman Angel exercised with his duties, violators' feelings for law enforcement from his hands were elevated at a time when the general public's respect for law enforcement is at a low ebb.

It is our opinion that he is the best public relations man the Department of Public Safety will ever have.

It is indeed a shame that Patrolman Angel elected to resign his position just eight months short of the 20 years necessary to be eligible for retirement benefits.

While we're sorry Patrolman Angel's request for a transfer to the drivers license division in this area wasn't granted, we are still hopeful that he will receive the consideration and compensation he deserves.

The loss of this man who has given the best years of his life to a work he was wholly dedicated to and which he served tirelessly will be greatly missed.

We feel that the loss of a person of Patrolman Angel's fairness, warmth and sincerity is a bigger loss to this community and state than to Bill Angel.

We and a host of friends wish him the best of luck in future endeavors.

Letters from Mrs. Billy J. Angel, wife of Patrolman Angel, and Carroll Blackwell follow:

Dear Editor: In the last two weeks I have been asked the question what happened about my husband's resignation from the Department of Public Safety, and now since we are no longer a part of the D. P. S. I feel free to express my opinion. The D. P. S. has been our life for 19 years.

From the day my husband graduated in 1953 to the day of his resignation in 1972, I've had a great pride in his service to the State of Texas.

The day of his graduation was my first time to be in Austin. That day we visited the Capitol. I read all the names of the heroes of Texas on the statues and monuments in the Capitol grounds.

As I stood there in the bright sunlight that afternoon and saw Colonel Garrison shake the hand of each man and present a commission, I thought what a great way to serve. Some would die serving Texas, as did men at the Alamo. Others would go through the years with little recognition for the good job they were doing.

And as I make this statement I feel that many of those good men are having pressure brought on them that should not be.

These men are evaluated each six months, not on the quality of work they have put forth, but on the number of tickets they have given. This evaluation has brought about the conflict we are now involved in.

But what evaluation can you place on a man that takes from a wrecked car a mother whose life has gone, and tries to answer the question from a small child, "Where is my mommie?"

My son, my daughter and I respectfully request the name plate of Bill Angel and the badge number 203 to be returned to us.

To all of our friends who have supported us, let me express my heartfelt thanks.

Sincerely,
/s/ Mrs. Billy J. Angel

Dear Editor:

I've been stopped by Bill Angel in routine checks two or three times and I've never dealt with a nicer man.

I knew Bill Angel's brother, Buff, and Buff's wife, Charlene, when Buff was a highway patrolman here in Littlefield, and Buff was as fine a man as Bill.

I've even visited with Bill Angel's father and mother in their home in Breckenridge, and they were the finest people I've ever known.

Perhaps the Department of Public Safety just doesn't want gentlemen with the qualities of Bill Angel in its department.

Sincerely,
/s/ Carroll Blackwell

Letter from Stanley Doss, JP Prec. 4 to editor of Leader News:

Dear Editor,

I want the people of this area to know that I think Highway Patrolman Bill Angel is the finest man I've ever known. As Justice of Peace of Precinct 4, I've handled all the traffic citations he issued. In doing this I never heard a derogatory remark made, and I've received the finest letters anyone has ever seen concerning this patrolman when receiving mail-in fines.

A man like him is a credit to the community and law enforcement, and if he is out for no more reasons than I have heard, it is a discredit to this community and the Department of Public Safety.

Very sincerely,
/s/ Stanley Doss
Stanley Doss, JP Prec. 4

Many other letters were also received stating their respect for Bill Angel and the injustice they feel has been done to him by forcing him to resign with only eight months remaining until he would have in 20 years and be eligible for retirement benefits, for a condition which is considered temporary by optometrists.

Every Baby a Loved One!

All during the debates over birth control, one fact has remained cool and clear never before have so many medically-approved, reliable and effective methods of help been available to couples who decide to plan their families.

Over the centuries, women had used crude and sometimes dangerous methods to try and prevent pregnancy. For instance, they inserted glass, wood and walnut shells into their bodies. But it remained for modern pharmaceutical research to transform superstitious folklore into scientific fact.

From the world's largest laboratories devoted to birth control—Ortho Research Foundation—has come deeper understanding of the sacred mysteries of reproduction that enables almost every baby born to be a wanted, loved one.

At a time when wonder drugs have made health miracles commonplace, what is not generally realized is that pregnancy can still be a threat to health that women bring forth children not only with pain, but at risk to their well-being, too. In fact, certain scientists, pointing out that every act in life entails some degree of risk, have estimated that bearing a baby can be many, many times more risky than using contraceptives to prevent the pregnancy!

Too often lost in birth control arguments is the all-important fact that with various methods to choose from, many more mothers' lives would be lost on delivery tables than would be endangered by contraception.

For it's not just a simple matter of the woman taking the pill or getting pregnant, she can also plan her family with other methods—the diaphragm or loop, for instance. She can even obtain some of these methods, like Conceptrol Cream or Delfen Foam, without prescription at the drug store. No couple, having chosen to space their children, need be told of the various happy benefits this decision brings to all the members of the family. Parents and children live better, are happier, more relaxed and loving when energy, patience, time and money need not be spread so thinly among the family members.

This is certainly not to suggest that preventing pregnancy is a decision a woman should make lightly. But with the guidance of doctors, today she can choose that scientific method of birth control best suited to her needs and preferences. And she can use it to secure greater peace of mind about child-bearing than has ever before been possible in the history of the human family.

A Weekly Report Of Agri-Business News

Compiled From Sources
Of The Texas Department of Agriculture
John C. White, Commissioner

Food, Fiber Abundance Month... Cotton Stalk Regrowth... VEE Emergency Ends... Grain Stocks Increase.

November is Food and Fiber Abundance Month. Agricultural groups throughout the state are promoting Texas food and fiber and telling all consumers of the efficiencies of agriculture, efficiencies which have made this nation possible.

A major part of the story about agriculture as it relates to the total environment is also being told this month to civic clubs and other organizations in Texas cities.

The farmer is the world's first practicing environmentalist and ecologist. And it is the farmer who daily practices those things which lead to a clean and wholesome environment.

The farmer is not polluting the environment with pesticides. This is proven in reports from random samples taken throughout the state in fields, and in milk samples and even in fish.

Two residue labs at Brenham and Pharr tested a total of 1,823 samples of residues this past fiscal year. Of that number, only 39 were found to be over tolerance levels. Those concerned vegetable operations, and through cooperation of the producers involved they were brought back into tolerance levels.

Thus, Texans are not only getting an abundant supply of food and fiber but can also be assured that it is of the highest quality possible.

Agriculture in Texas is big. It is the state's most basic industry.

COTTON farmers in the southern half of the state have done an excellent job in destroying cotton stalks this season. But recent rains are causing regrowth problems in some areas. Farmers are urged to continually check their fields to make sure that regrowth is destroyed so that it will not become a habitat for cotton insects this winter.

VEE emergency has ended. Venezuelan Equine Encephalomyelitis, a sleeping sickness disease of horses, which created havoc in South Texas last year, is now considered no longer a menace to the Texas horse population. Officials declared the end to the emergency recently.

STOCKS of grains in Texas as of October 1 is estimated at 198,000,000 bushels, almost 50 percent above the levels of 1971.

Increased stocks of wheat contributed to most of the increase. Sorghum, corn and oats also showed increased stock from previous years.

Wheat stocks in all positions are set at 105,000,000 bushels, 56 percent above a year ago.

Old crop grain sorghum stocks in all positions are estimated at 74,000,000 bushels, 44 percent above a year ago.

AN ASSESSMENT of 25 cents per 100 pounds of pecans has been set by the Texas Pecan Producers Board to initiate a program of research, education, promotion and disease and insect control for the Texas pecan industry.

Over 80 percent of the Texas pecan producers voted such a program recently, the assessment was not to exceed 50 cents per 100 pounds.

Texas this year will produce about one-third of the total pecan crop in the nation.

TECH-TCU GAME RESET FOR 11:50 A.M. SATURDAY

The announcement of the new starting time for the Texas Tech University-Texas Christian University football game in Jones Stadium Saturday (Nov. 11) has resulted in rescheduling some of the Texas Tech Homecoming events for the day.

The game will start at 11:50 a. m. so that it may be carried regionally on ABC television. Texas Tech Ex-Students Association Executive Director Wayne James announced Monday (Nov. 6) that the Saturday homecoming luncheon will become a brunch and will be served in the Municipal Coliseum from 10 to 11:30 a. m. so that ex-students and friends can attend then reach the stadium for the kick-off of the traditional homecoming game.

The reception and coffee for ex-students honoring the classes of 1956-60 in the Ex-Students Building has been re-scheduled for 9:30 to 10:30 a. m.

There is no change in times for Friday's activities and for those which will follow the football game, he said.

SHOWN above are the Harvest Festival Queen Shellie Pickereil, and King Mike Read. Runners up are Marilyn May and Dan Messamore, Lee Markham and Janie Brown.
