—by dalton

I AM AN OLD FOGEY. I live in the dark ages. I'm a square, out of touch with reality. I'm out of it. Say all these things about me, but you still never will convince me that the permissiveness of today's society, the attitudes of many of our leading (?) citizens toward sex and violence and the swinging way of living are right.

So I'm preaching. What set me off on this was a couple of things which turned up on the coffee table Sunday (the same coffee table the kids use for their books or tennis rackets, that I use to stack newspapers and mail, and that my wife uses for Bibles and Mentholatum—in fact, everything but coffee).

One was the TV guide from the Avalanche-Journal. I would hereby like to give three or more cheers for Naomi Caddell, who wrote that she didn't approve of the themes of some of the movies being shown on TV, namely, the featured ones, not the late late shows. She noted a couple of recent video films with themes of homosexuality. We made it a point not to watch those she mentioned, because we already had read the synopsis.

I quit watching "Love Story" in disgust, too, after several examples of unnecessary language, and I understand this had been cleaned up considerably for the TV screen; that the movie language was a whole lot rougher.

Hollywood (or wherever they make movies nowadays) apparently feels that a movie can't succeed unless it promotes the theme of illicit sex of some kind, along with lots of violence and nudity and cursing.

Television, on the other hand, has some really weird codes, which prohibit Matt Dillon from killing anyone with a nice clean gunshot in the brisket, but permit the hero of a featured movie engaging in homosexual acts.

Since Walt Disney died, there have been almost no good movies fit for anyone under 100 to see. Movies simply don't entertain and give you a lift, anymore. Red Skelton, Danny Kaye and Walt Disney movies used to leave us feeling good; now the movies always leave you feeling depressed, and negative feelings aren't good for anyone.

Since I already have said enough to earn the label of Percy Prude, I may as well go further and mention the other thing on the coffee table which brought this on. It deserves three or more jeers, not cheers. It was a letter from the journalism society of my alma mater, North Texas State University, in regard to homecoming activities Nov. 11. It was from the president of the society, telling about homecoming get-togethers for journalism exes.

The letter was five paragraphs, and two of them were concerned with stressing the fact that there would be plenty of liquor to drink "in eternally dry Denton."

In the first quarter, Sudan's Mark Hanna ran 27 yards for the first Hornet TD, and Pat Hedges carried the ball over for two extra points. Then the Farwell Steers got into the game when M Woods scored from one yard out, and their try for two extra points failed.

The second quarter was Farwell's, when Woods scored another touchdown from the 14, but the try for EP failed and Farwell led Sudan, 12-8 at halftime.

Farwell scored first in the third quarter when Andy Bowery ran 24 yards for a touchdown and Ray Norton received a pass from Kevin Hargrove for two extra points. Then the Hornets came fighting back with a TD by Gary Edwards, with try for point failing, and Farwell was leading Sudan, 20-14.

Then in the fast and furious fourth frame the Hornets Kevin Humphreys blocked a Farwell punt and ran 24 yards for a Sudan touchdown. And with only 29 seconds left on the clock, Edwards again plunged over from the three-yard line, and Kim Ingram kicked the point. When the Farwell Steers took the ball with 12 seconds remaining, Kevin Hargrove returned the kickoff for 90 yards for a Steer TD. But again their try for extra point failed, and when the game ended, it was Sudan Hornets 27, Farwell Steers 26.

The Hornets will travel to Kress Friday night. Game time there is 7:30 p. m., so Back the Hornets to a Victory over the Kress Kangaroos!

The junior varsity won their first game of the year when they defeated Farwell there by a score of 28-14. Tracey Bowling scored three TDs, all on pass plays from Donald Johnson, and Johnson scored the other TD on a plunge up the middle. TDs were made in each of the four quarters with Farwell getting theirs in the first quarter on a 70 yard kick-off return following the first Hornet touchdown. This put the Steers in front after a two point conversion, 8-6.

The Hornets came back really strong, working good together as a unit, and went on to win their first game of the year.

Outstanding on offense were Backs Johnson, and Brian May, Tracey Bowling, and Linemen Craig Harper, Tim Farley, and Mart Davison.

The Hornets received only two penalties during the entire game and fumbled one time.

They will be looking for their second win when they take on Kress here this week.

The game between the Sudan and Farwell eighth graders was a defensive battle all the way as they swapped the ball often when neither team could pick up a first down. Sudan's defense held off the Steers twice near the five yard line of Sudan to prevent Farwell touchdowns. Sudan's loan tally came in the third quarter of play when Sudan's defense opened up a big hole and Webster Johnson blitzed through untouched for the TD. Try for extra point failed, and the score was 6-0.

Farwell dominated the ball in the first quarter. In the second quarter No. 72, Rocky Gore of the Hornets recovered a Farwell fumble. However, Sudan did not retain possession for long as a Steer knocked the ball loose.

In this quarter Webster Johnson knocked down a pass attempt of Farwell.

received a leg injury in the third and was out for the rest of the game. The Hornet team is to be commended for the great work both on offense and defense. This was the ninth win of the year, and no losses, and one game remaining which will be with the Kangaroos from Kress at Hornet Stadium Thursday.

Beginning the second half, the Hornets kicked with Farwell getting possession on their 20 yard line. Sudan held with Farwell having to punt with the Hornets taking over on the 40 yard line,

Varsity and Jr Varsity BB Lose in Scrimmage

The Varsity and Junior Varsity girls basketball teams were defeated last week at Amherst in their first scrimmage of the year.

The varsity team lost by some 22 points as the final score was 33-11. The junior varsity lost by five points, 33-28, after leading 19-9 at halftime.

Both local teams will get a chance to get revenge on Tuesday, Nov. 21, when they will take on the same teams here in the Sudan gym.

Mrs. Gilbert Rites Held

Funeral services for Mrs. Ora Lee Gilbert, 65, a longtime Sudan resident who died Wednesday afternoon at the Lubbock Methodist Hospital, were conducted Friday afternoon at 2 p. m. in the First Baptist Church. Rev. Eddie Freeman, pastor, officiated. He was assisted by Rev. Wayne Perry of Lubbock.

Burial was in the Sudan Cemetery under the direction of Hammons Funeral Home of Littlefield.

Mrs. Gilbert, who died about 1 p. m. Wednesday, Nov. 8, in Methodist Hospital in Lubbock following a lengthy illness, was a native of Sagerton. Survivors include her husband, Henry Gilbert; three sons, Allan of Balmorhea, and Mickey and Ronald, both of Littlefield; two daughters, Mrs. Audry Powell of Hereford, and Mrs. Pat Wilson of Lubbock; three sisters, Mrs. Katie Jones of Morton, Mrs. Lucy Cohorst of Amarillo and Mrs. Luddie Blackley of Arizona; eight grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

The meeting is scheduled in a private club, and one person has been designated to take everyone's money and she will pay the tab, thereby circumventing the law requiring that drinks be served only to members.

Somehow, this does not especially make me eager to go back and get boozed up with all my old journalism pals. But the whole approach is typical of homecomings and conventions. Somehow, they think you have to have a lot of liquor on hand in order for anyone to enjoy the proceedings.

Happily, however, there are increasing numbers of us who don't feel that way.

H.D. REPORT

"If you like to learn new and better ways to do things, then try joining a home demonstration club," said Mrs. Lynn Bowermon, Extension county home demonstration agent in Littlefield.

The agent said that home demonstration clubs offer an opportunity for the homemaker to learn the latest information about home and family life.

Anyone may join a club. Any person interested in improving home and community life is eligible for membership, according to Mrs. Bowermon.

"A home demonstration club is a group of homemakers who learn together," Mrs. Bowermon said. "Members help determine ideas for programs."

Members take part in discussions, participate in club-sponsored community projects and even teach lessons at meetings. The club meets monthly. Elected officers conduct a short business session.

The agent pointed out that it's not necessary to join a club to learn about homemaking: "You can participate in short courses, workshops, special meetings and tours sponsored by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service," she said.

A less formal group is the Extension home economics study group which meets fewer times annually. It often has a series of programs about a single subject matter area. An Extension home economics study group may either have elected officers or only a chairman who directs business that arises.

"There are no required dues for membership," Mrs. Bowermon explained. "Your major investment is your time to learn and share new information. Clubs have fund-raising projects to support special activities. And no charge is made for instruction from the county home demonstration agent."

She said if there's no club in your area, you may form one. A small group with similar interests may either be a regular home demonstration club or an Extension home economics study group.

"If you'd like to form your own club or group, let me know and I'll help you organize one," Mrs. Bowermon said.

Tea Takes the Chill out of Holiday Weather

The house is dressed for Christmas. Wreaths and garlands, mistletoe and brightly wrapped packages under the tree create a festive mood. It's a wonderful time of year to entertain, and with the icy December weather, there's no nicer way to greet friends and neighbors than with a steaming cup of tea.

Like fine wines, there's a variety of tea to suit every mood, every food, every occasion, every preference. So take a tip from the experts at the R. C. Bigelow Company, which blends more than a dozen varieties of premium teas; prepare a "welcome table" for your holiday guests. Provide teacups, spoons, freshly boiled water and a variety of fine teas, and set out some of the holiday treats you baked for Christmas entertaining.

Constant Comment, a unique blend of fine black tea, orange rind and sweet spices, is a sure winner at any party where tea is served. It has fans of all ages. Jasmine tea, an Oriental speciality, is preferred by ladies for its delicate flavor and aroma, while men go for hale and hearty Irish tea, with its bold and distinctive flavor.

To Win a War

War is spiritual. Not only because it demands personal responses to mysteries like the uniqueness of men that separates them from animals and the morality of killing other human beings for the sake of principles. Not only because it re-enacts and extends the conflict in the spiritual world between God and Satan and their angelic followers.

War is spiritual, even if you don't believe in the supernatural. Take for example the Russian revolution. Carl Sandburg satirized the prerevolutionary attitude of the people in part of his poem, "The People, Yes":

"The czar has eight million men with guns and bayonets. Nothing can happen to the czar."

The czar is the voice of God and shall live forever.

Turn and look at the forest of steel and cannon

Where the czar is guarded by eight million soldiers.

Nothing can happen to the czar."

They said that for years, and in the summer of 1914

In the Year of Our Lord Nineteen Hundred and Fourteen

As a portent and an assurance they said with owl faces:

"Nothing can happen to the czar."

Yet the czar and his body-guard of eight million vanished.

The czar and the people thought war was physical and material, a matter of bodies, bayonets, and blood. The Communists, however, by propaganda won the spiritual conflict.

Forty years later, the United States repeated the object lesson in Viet Nam.

King David, while monarch and chief military leader of Israel, observed a similar principle: "The king is not saved by a mighty army." (Psalm 33:16)

Reasoning like this has led some people to favor a United States policy of unilateral disarmament. "Peace comes through mutual trust and cooperation, so why arm? Christian pacifists agree, although they put their trust not in other men, but in God's sovereignty in human affairs. In this belief, our national alliance should not be with NATO, but with the Almighty.

The Bible partially supports the pacifists and isolationists. For example, Isaiah 31:1 says, "Woe to those who go down to Egypt for help . . . but they do not look to the Holy One of Israel, nor seek the Lord!" On the other hand, David (and every king of Israel) kept a standing army, and Solomon made military alliances.

The lesson is that military force without spiritual preparedness is futile. Responsive relations among men and between men and God establish the spiritual strength of the nation.

We've spent billions to protect ourselves but if we've forgotten God, individually and nationally, we are defenseless. Copyright Dave Llewellyn 1972

Sunday School Lesson for November 19, 1972

The problem of maintaining continuously adequate cotton supplies is not a problem peculiar to the United States. And, now more than ever before, the world cotton industry is coming to recognize this fact.

This was one of the conclusions drawn from the recent International Cotton Advisory Committee meeting in Managua, Nicaragua, at which delegates were in attendance from just about every nation in the world.

For many years the U.S. Government has shouldered the responsibility and assumed the cost of carrying cotton stocks at levels high enough to assure the world supply in any given year. But the U.S. Government has now stated, flatly, that it will no longer carry stocks at the high levels of the recent past.

This new U.S. position plus the wide price-supply fluctuations of the last few years has placed an inescapable spotlight on the world industry need for some manner of stabilizing both supplies and prices.

Consequently the ICAC meeting saw considerable time devoted to discussions of the problem of stocks and how they affect prices, marketing and production. On a world basis it was the consensus at the meeting that stocks equivalent to five months consumption would constitute a "reasonable" level.

From there the talk went to the difficulties in financing such stocks, the effect of carry-over stocks on prices and subsequent effects on production.

According to Donald Johnson, Executive Vice President of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., Lubbock, who attended the meeting as a producer-advisor to the official U.S. delegation, "the deliberations were a healthy sign that the supply-price dilemma may be about to get the attention it has long deserved from both cotton consuming and cotton producing countries.

"A solution to the problem was not forthcoming," Johnson said, "but it was encouraging that the problem was clearly recognized and that a few suggestions were made as to how it might be faced."

Among these suggestions were the possibilities for arranging a "buffer stock system" for cotton, perhaps with World Bank financing, and the establishment of an international futures market.

Delegates to the meeting agreed that cotton prices must be stabilized at a level sufficient to assure adequate remuneration to growers. The "Cotton Policy Statement" issued after the meeting stated "Otherwise they will be forced to shift to other crops, and this loss of supplies could, in the long run, have repercussion on the world cotton economy."

Obviously a widely acceptable plan to stabilize cotton prices and supplies will not be easy to come by. While both cotton producing countries and cotton importing countries agree that wild price fluctuations are detrimental to all cotton interests, producing countries will be reluctant to take action which might result in a ceiling on prices and importing countries may balk at anything that might put a floor under prices.

"But if we are to have a progressive cotton industry," Johnson stated, "there simply must be a way to assure the price stability necessary to continued production and the stability of both prices and supplies that is the key to growth in consumption."

"And if this objective is to be reached," he concluded, "not only the U.S. but ever other country with a stake in the world cotton economy will have to accept its responsibilities and meet those responsibilities with a high degree of world statemanship."

FOOTBALL CONTINUED. . . . and scoring early in the third.

Sudan retained possession of the football in most of the last quarter gradually eating up the clock as they managed to move the ball on the ground picking up downs. Farwell then intercepted a pass with 1:10 to go. However, Hornet Jerry Williams then took the ball away on an interception and Sudan kept the ball til the clock ran out.

Steve Richards of the Hornets *****

Hart leads the league in the seventh grade division, with the local team having a 4-2-1 record.

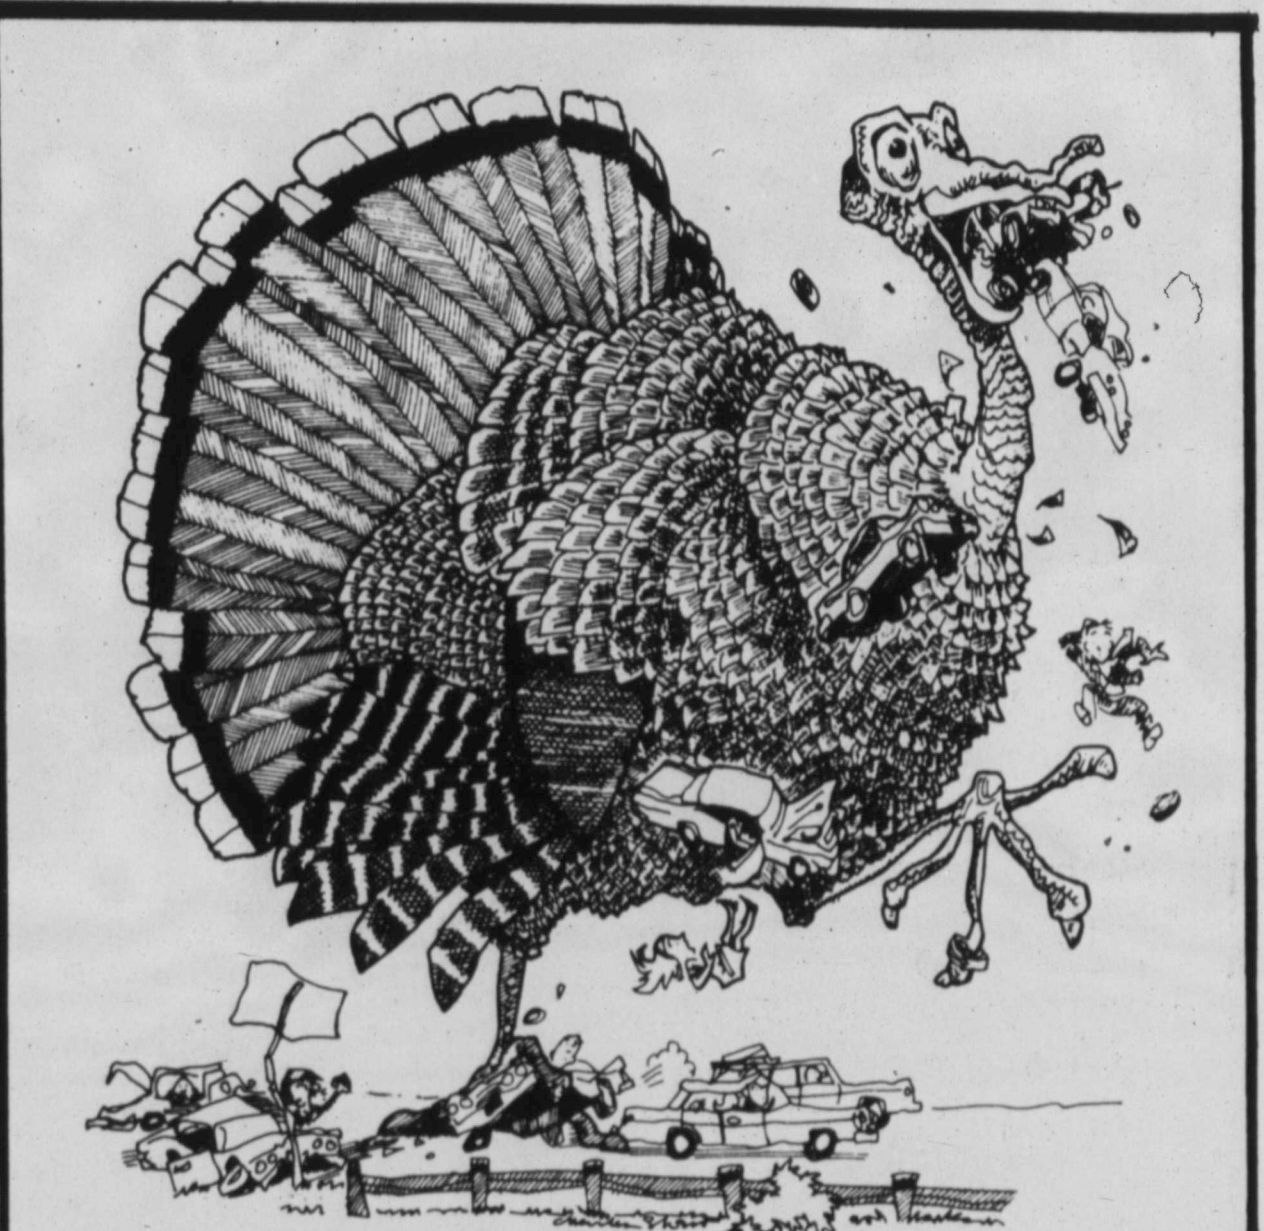

The seventh grade was defeated at Farwell by a score of 8-0. They scored a TD but it was nullified due to a clipping penalty. They will also meet Kress here Thursday.

All teams will have their final game of the season this week.

NOVEMBER IS "TEXAS FOOD AND FIBER" MONTH

Mrs. Lady Clare Phillips, retired Lamb County home demonstration agent, was one of 22 retirees of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service to be honored at a banquet at Texas A&M University, Nov. 2. Mrs. Phillips was presented a plaque by Nueces County Judge Robert Barnes, left, and Dr. Dan Pfannstiel, right, associate director of the Extension Service. The agent retired in August after serving 16 years.

The Gobbler Is Back

The Highway Gobbler is the driver who acts like he's the only one on the road. He always drives a little faster than the speed limit, passes to get a little further ahead or tailgates when he can't pass.

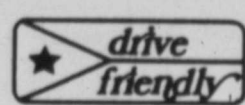

This Thanksgiving weekend, the Highway Gobbler is back. He really hasn't been gone. He's been there all along making his generous contribution to the toll of death and injury and property damage on our highways. But he's recognizable for what he is during the Thanksgiving holiday season.

There's no room for the Highway Gobbler—this Thanksgiving or any time of the year.

Calf Prices Above Parity... Stalk Destruction Deadline Nears... SAD Help Is On The Way... Turkey Time Nears.

Calf prices, the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service notes, are above parity by almost $3 per hundredweight. Effective parity for calves is $44.90; average market price in Texas is $47.70. But only calves are above effective parity levels. All other farm prices remain below parity.

The all-products index of prices received by farmers and ranchers is 15 percent above a year ago; the livestock index is 20 percent above last year while the all crops index is four percent above last year.

Cotton showed the biggest decline in price of all other crops. The average cotton price in the state is 21.6 cents per pound. This compared with 26 cents one year ago. Effective parity for cotton is 56.06 cents per pound.

In other crops, wheat showed a gain of 21 cents compared to a month ago with an average price now at $1.96 per bushel. Corn was up five cents at $1.42 per bushel compared to a month ago. Grain sorghum also showed a nickel increase at $2.16 average per hundredweight.

Hog prices were down slightly in Texas compared to a month ago. Average now is $26.80 per hundred pounds compared to $27.70 a month ago. Effective parity for hogs is $31.10 per hundred pounds. Beef cattle averaged $33.40 per hundredweight, still well below the effective parity of $37.40 per hundred pounds.

Egg producers continue to have pricing problems with a 36 cent per dozen average to 38 cents a month ago. Effective parity for eggs is 56.8 cents per dozen.

COTTON stalk destruction deadline is not far off for 44 north central and east counties. Stalk destruction deadline is Nov. 30. Officials urge farmers in those counties to destroy stalks as soon as possible. Recent rains throughout most of the area will keep farmers from getting into fields in the immediate future.

But when a break in the weather does occur and fields are dry enough to work in, farmers can through early stalk destruction reduce carryover of pink bollworms and other cotton insects. In other areas of the state, regrowth of cotton stalks is a problem, and such regrowth should be destroyed.

SAD but true, help is on the way. SAD is St. Augustine Decline and it has been found in lawns throughout the state. It is a virus disease of the grass, and there is no cure for it.

A new variety of St. Augustine Grass-FLORI-TAM-should be available to the public soon, perhaps next year. The Texas Department of Agriculture is in charge of seed certification in Texas and has certified 17 producers who are now growing out 42 acres of the new variety. The grass is also resistant to chinch bugs and brown patch.

FULL impact of the new pesticide legislation signed into law recently won't be felt for a few years yet, but it will affect every Texan. Rules and regulations as they will apply to states will have to be studied and implemented. States will have a great deal of power in controlling the use of pesticides.

THANKSGIVING time is getting closer, and Texans can be assured of plentiful supplies of the traditional turkey. Special programs promoting and featuring turkeys produced in Texas will be aimed at consumers.

The turkey industry in Texas is cooperating with the Texas Agricultural Products-TAP-program to acquaint Texans with the quality of Texas turkeys.

SANTA FE CITED BY NATIONAL SAFETY COUNCIL

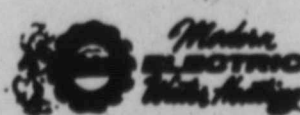

For the second consecutive year Santa Fe Railway has been cited by the National Safety Council for having the best employee safety record among the nation's major railroads, who perform 40 million man-hours or more of work. National Safety Council awards are based on statistics compiled by the Federal Railroad Administration, Department of Transportation.

Santa Fe also received a Golden Spike award, along with 12 other railroads, in recognition of community safety work; an Award of Honor for non-competitive employee safety achievements; and a Certificate of Commendation for 646,089 man-hours without an injury at its Somerville, Tex. tie-treating plant.

In acknowledging the awards, John S. Reed, president, paid tribute to Santa Fe's employees. "The accomplishment of having the best employee safety record for two consecutive years is a substantial one, and I am proud of all the Santa Fe people who made it possible. The leadership position achieved in 1970 wasn't good enough for these men and women, so they improved their record even further during 1971. I salute them for their achievement," he said.

WAYLAND HOMECOMING SET FOR SATURDAY, NOV. 18

Homecoming activities and College Preview Day at Wayland Baptist College are both slated as cooperative efforts on Nov. 18 with a full schedule of events planned.

Homecoming activities are billed around the theme, "It's a Small World After All," and College Preview Day will use the theme "Have We Got a College For You!"

Registration for prospective students and their parents gets underway at 8:30 a. m. in Harrah Memorial Auditorium and Homecoming registration at 9 a. m. in Gates Hall Foyer.

Following registration, prospective students will be entertained by campus groups, welcomed by college officials and given an overview of the day's activities.

A break at 10:30 will provide the group with refreshments and a chance to view the end of the homecoming parade as it ends on the Wayland campus. At 11 a. m. students will choose that division of the college in which they are most interested in securing information on course offerings, requirements and programs. The six divisions are fine arts, physical and biological sciences, social sciences, languages and literatures, religion and philosophy and vocational and professional studies.

The high schoolers will be guests of the college for lunch in Slaughter Center, and then will attend the final performance of "Carousel" in Harrah Auditorium at 1:30 p. m.

Guides will take students on a tour of the campus at 4 p. m. Formation of the tours will take place in the upstairs lobby of Home Life Building.

Visitors will have supper on their own and are free to eat where they choose at 5 p. m. The day's activities will conclude on Saturday evening following the games which match the Flying Queens and Seminole, Okla. Junior College, and the Wayland Pioneers and Lubbock Christian College. COUNTY EXTENSION AGENT TO LEAD TRAINING COURSE

Mrs. Lynn Bowermon, County Extension Agent will be giving leader training for a program entitled "Convenience Foods vs. Home Prepared" at 10:00 a. m. on Wednesday, Nov. 29, at her office in the courthouse. Any club or organization who would like to send a club representative to receive this program training will be welcome.

The objective of the program will be to make homemakers aware of differences in cost of convenience foods versus those prepared at home. A convenience food to a homemaker in years past was buying a pound of butter from a neighbor rather than having to have her own cow, but today convenience food has quite a different meaning in our society. Some new ideas for using convenience foods will be given as well as their cost and how they can fit into a busy family life.

Clubs interested in sending a representative to this training should contact Mrs. Bowermon by November 22 at her office.

They also visited in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Hutton.

Terry Wood, formerly of Sudan, is a freshman at Howard County Junior College, Big Spring, and was at home in Sudan this weekend, visiting with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dalton Wood.
