cept their own. Statistics say that 55,000 Americans are killed and more than two million injured in highway accidents each year, indicating that most drivers obviously are not quite as good as they would like to think.

Liberty Mutual Insurance Co., which modestly describes itself as "one of the nation's leading automobile insurers," has developed a quiz which a person can take to get a pretty good idea of just how much of a driving expert he really is.

The following excerpts cannot be considered as the full test, since we have omitted some of the items they listed and added a few of our own just to make it interesting, but here it is:

1. A flashing red light means: A. slow down; B. stop; C. yield right of way; D. caution; E. there's a cop trying to get your attention.

2. The most frequent cause of head-on collisions is:

A. improper passing; B. tire blowouts; Cf two people trying to drive through the same space in opposite directions at the same time; D. steering control failure; D. intoxication.

3. In any type of vehicle skid, the skidding wheels tend to:

A: move sideways; B. lead; C. trail; D. fold under; E. none of these.

4. During a snowstorm, one should use low beams as snow reflects light and makes it difficult to see the road ahead. A. true; B. false; C. that depends on whether or not it is. 5. The average motorist makes how many driving decisions each mile?

A. two; B., ten; C. twenty; D. fifty.

6. Driver error is responsible for what percentage of automobile accidents? A. 25 per cent; B. 50 per cent; C. 75 per cent; D. 90 per cent.

7. A good indication that a parked car is about to pull out in front of you can be:

A. Wheels turned toward the road; B. the driver is a farmer in a pickup; C. you just bought a brand new car and it doesn't have a scratch on it yet; D. exhaust emission; E. signal blinker; . F. all of the above.

The answers to the above questions, according to the insurance company, are: 1-B, 2-A, 3-B, 4-A, 5-C, 6-D, 7-F.

Mrs. William L. Patterson, the former Dorothy May Watkins and graduate of Sudan High School, was named First Lady of Knoxville, Tenn. for 1973 recently . by Beta Sigma Phi during its annual banquet at Ramada-Inn. Mrs. Patterson is the daughter of Mrs. Drew Watkins and the late Mr. Watkins of Sudan. Mrs. Patterson's husband is an orthopedic surgeon and is now serving in his second year s chairman of the society. He and his wife have made talks to various civic clubs and groups Civic and professional leadership is not new to Mrs. Patterson or her husband. Her father was involved in a lot of civic work. "I sort of cut my teeth on it," she said. Dr. Patterson's father, Dr. Robert F. Patterson, was the first orthopedist in Knoxville, Mrs. Patterson said.

She received a zoology degree as a pre-medical student at Texas Technological University in Lubbock. Instead of going on to medical school, however, she became a surgical secretary at Baylor University Hospital in The Pattersons have two children, Mary Drew, 13, and Robert, 15. Most of the Patterson interests and hobbies involve the entire family including hiking, floating the Little Tennessee River, and hunting for artifacts along Ft. Loudoun Lake during the winter months, as well as her work with Knoxville Municipal Zoo and the Appalachian Zoological Society.

Mrs. Patterson is acting curator of education of the zoo, is chairman of the visitor program.

She played the piano in Sunday School for some 15 years, is treasurer of the Women of the Church at First Presbyterian, and treasurer of the board of Mount Rest Home for Aged Ladies. Why sift through a heap of information about heating? An accurate, easily understood estimate of what it would cost to heat the electric way makes the decision easy. It makes any ideas about electric heating costing too much come apart at the seams. It's the moment of truth when customers decide to switch to the total comfort of electric heat. Let us make a believer out of you. Call us. The estimate is free, accurate and a real eye-opener.

AUNT ELIZA HAD A LOVELY GARDEN

By Bettye Givens

The memorial service for Eliza Damron was in the church at Circle Back. Circle Back is about a half mile from where she and Walter lived most of their married life, where their three children grew up. The little church was packed, not even standing room. The mon-. ument she built for herself was daily caring about little things. Aunt Eliza's life style was free and simple. She cared for her short red hair when she was a young woman and she continued the habit when her hair turned white. The style of her dresses didn't change much or the length. She had more important things to think about.

In her younger days the yard took most of her time and later she devoted more of her time to sewing. The yard was the main source of her work. Frank, the handy man, helped with the work from cleaning out the hen house to washing the dishes.

The first thing every morning Aunt Eliza put on her bonnet and out to the garden she went to hoe the rhubarb.

Lily ponds and rock slined walks made an adventure of a stroll in Aunt Eliza's yard. Out the back door, if you followed the walk and the flower beds, you came upon the Gazebo. Here Aunt Eliza often paused and untied her bonnet and looked about the garden. Green grapes hung from the white walls of the small white latticed structure. Behind the Gazebo you could see the milk house and behind the cool clean structive of the milk house was the hen house and nearby was a pen that contained a baby colt.

A rock lined path took you all the way to the pen of the baby colt and all the way grew flowers and trees. There were little pools of water and big pools of water. Huge rhubarb plants grew next to the hen house fence. Aunt Eliza talked to the rhubarb as she fed the chickens. In the winter a hot house held tiny plants' ready to be transplanted the minute the weather turned warm. Tucked in the corner of the garden was the cellar. It wore a ginger bread cover made of tiny white rocks. You never saw a snake or a mouse in the cellar, although it did have an odor of old quilts. The quilts were clean. The cellar was an excellent place for children to hide because no one thought of looking there. Aunt Eliza was buried on the same day as Harry S. Truman. Would you call Aunt Eliza great? Maybe, if greatness is taking care of daily tasks in a happy unselfish way.

MOSCOW TO MOSCOW

America's wheat is making a historic turnaround

1,000 additional, 100-ton covered hoppers are now being completed to give Santa Fe 11,000 of these giant cars to help move export wheat to Russia extending the length of car roof permit

ransloading wheat o elevator and ship

The history of wheat on the Santa Fe started back in the 1870's. At that time, the railway sent representatives to Europe with a view in mind of winning settlers to Kansas. Through their efforts, the Mennonites emigrated from Russia in 1874 and brought with them a few sacks of wheat-red wheat-that-thrived and transformed the Midwest and parts of the Southwest into the breadbasket of the world. Today, one of the cities not far from the center of the wheat belt on the Santa Fe, carries the name of Moscow, Kansas. Now, the same type of wheat brought to America by the Mennonites from Russia is going back. It is part of the 400 million bushels of wheat being sold to the Soviet Union. Santa Fe's giant hopper cars are moving it. The company that helped bring wheat to this From Moscow and all across Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas to Moscow and the vast áreas of Russia. Quite a historic turnsround.

Moving huge volumes of wheat requires coordination and cooperation

"Export movements require the greatest teamwork between railroads, port authorities and exporters in the scheduling of railroad shipments to coordinate with the movement of sea-going vessels. The current wheat export program pyts this teamwork to the test, and the Santa Fe is prepared to work closely with its customers to handle this transportation challenge successfully-
