THE KNOWLEDGE that some people have acquired in certain areas in which I am grossly ignorant never ceases to impress me. On a short trip the other day, we had a couple of people in the car who got to talking about wildlife as they had observed it in this part of the country in years past, and I was astounded by the information they possess. (Well, either they know a lot about these things or they recognized that I knew nothing, and fed me a big line of stuff.)

Anyway, I learned a lot, and I just know they wouldn't put me on about such topics of interest as the reproduction process of snakes and rabbits, dogs chasing coyotes, badgers that don't know their mothers, and the taste of turtles.

R. J. Clark of Slaton, a real oldtime cowboy and horse handler who worked on the Spade and Swenson ranches, gave us most of the information. And many of Clark's observations were corroborated by Morris Sims, a telephone company worker (it's amazing what you can see going on from the top of those poles).

Somebody mentioned eating horse meat, since steak is so high-priced, and Jack (that's R. J.) said he had eaten horse meat. As it turned out, he had tasted about every kind of edible creature there is during his earlier days, and some that most of us wouldn't consider too appetizing.

Mrs. Clark remembered that horse meat, too. "I cooked it, but I sure didn't eat it," she said. R. J. and Morris began comparing all the different things they had eaten, such as venison, duck, snake, turtle, and so forth. Jack said the toughest thing he ever tried to eat was a chaparral—that's one of those things that the more you chew on it, the bigger it gets."

They talked about eating big old soft-shelled turtles, and how they have parts that taste like chicken, turkey, steak and all other kinds of meat. But Morris admitted that he had a hard time eating turtle. "The part I got was just plain old turtle," he said.

Among the other things that were mentioned:

Poisonous snakes give birth to their young, but non-poisonous ones lay eggs. (Personally I don't recommend hanging around any of them long enough to watch the reproductive process to determine whether it will hurt you or not).

It's exciting to tie the tails of a cat and coon together over a clothes line.

Squirrels can bite like the dickens.

Jackrabbits have black tails. They stand up to nurse their young, and when the babies get old enough, the mother rabbit deposits them around here, there and yonder (this was a hare-raising tale, if I ever heard one.)

You can shut a possum (or was it a coon?) in a barn with a cat, and it will kill the cat.

It's quite a thrill to see a bunch of dogs run a coyote. This was accompanied by a demonstration of how you sic the dogs on the

DEAN'S HONOR ROLL

Donna Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Crume of Sudan, has been named to the spring Dean's Honor Roll at Wayland Baptist College in Plainview. She holds a 3.50 grade point average as a junior, and she seeks a B. A. degree with a major in education.

Senior Citizens slate luncheon

The Senior Citizens will meet for a covered dish luncheon at 12 noon in the Community Center on Friday, May 11. A talk will be given by the Jno Milams on their recent trip to Hawaii.

Everyone is invited and urged to attend. Please bring a covered dish.

BLACK BROTHERS HONOR STUDENTS

James Black, a freshman, and Dick Black, a senior, both of the University of Texas at Austin and sons of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Black of Route 1, Sudan, were among the honor students there recognized at the Twenty-Fifth Annual Honors Day Convocation Saturday afternoon, April 28. The event was held at the East Campus Library Auditorium at the University. All families and relatives of the honor students were invited to attend. However, due to conflicting activities, Mr. and Mrs. Black could not attend the convocation.

SUDAN BANDS PRESENT SPRING CONCERT THURSDAY

The Sudan High School Band and the combined Elementary Bands of Sudan Independent School District were presented in a Spring Concert Thursday night, April 26 in the high school auditorium.

The 58 members of the combined Elementary Bands presented the first part of the program with six numbers. They were "The Happy Farmer, Shout Amen!"

coyote—"Go get em, Old Maud, Old Wheeler, Old Blue!" It makes me wonder if anybody ever had a Young Blue.

You can put a raccoon in a barrel and it takes a pretty good dog to get him out.

Cows are dumb critters, and sometimes just won't go where you want them to.

Fascinated by all these, I asked Jack if he actually had seen all these things. And of course, he has. Mrs. Clark explained that R. J. was a youngster raised up in the cedar breaks (or is it cedar brakes?) around Matador, and had plenty of opportunity to observe all these things.

I was reared around Jacksboro, but I guess as a kid I wasn't nearly as observant as R. J. All I ever noticed were blisterbugs. Of course, R. J. lived in wilder, tougher country than I ever did. Thinking about the area he was raised in reminded me of the fellow who said that when he was a kid he lived so far out in the country he had to go toward town to go hunting.

R. J. once raised a silver badger. After it grew up, it thought R. J. was its mother.

(This brings to mind one of Dr. Seuss' books about the duck that thought its mother was a steam-shovel).

FLAG RAISING-- Kenneth Vincent raises the flag at the Post Office in observance of Postal Week while band students, scouts and other interested persons look on.

Jr.-Sr. Banquet Held Saturday

"Hawaiian Nights" was the theme of the annual Junior-Senior Banquet held Saturday night, April 28 at 7 p. m. in the school cafeteria.

Pat Hedges, junior class president, was toastmaster, and Tommy Seymore gave the invocation. The welcome was given by Susan Black with Jerry Price giving the response.

Following the meal, musical entertainment was provided by a band of local residents, two from the senior class, called the "Pink Crystal Prism". The band members were Jerry Price, Kevin May and Brent Wiseman.

The meal of glazed ham, potato boats, green beans, tossed salad, hot rolls, tea and pineapple cake was served by Mitch Chester, Richard Tamplin, Tim Farley, Carroll Legg, Tracy Bowling, Mary Griffith, Nelda Carpenter, Mary Ann Bellar, Phyllis Ray, who wore Hawaiian attire including leis.

Decorations included murals of Hawaiian scenes, a replica of a volcano, a mermaid on the seashore beside a treasure chest of shells, a fountain, coconut trees a straw hut, and a hula girl, all spotlighted with black lights. The tables were covered in bright floral and solid colored cloths with coconut candles and miniature Hawaiian figures, program and name cards.

Following the meal, the Senior Class Will was read by Jerry Price and Kim Engram with the Class Prophecy by Tanya Chester and Cecie Bandy. The benediction was given by Curtis Chester.

every business, on every city street and across the countryside, is dependent upon this vast communications network, available to all our people the year round, at a price everyone can afford.

By law, your Postal Service—and the men and women who operate it—is obligated to serve your community and the nation on a non-profit basis, with courtesy and care, and to keep postal costs in balance with postal revenues.

To do this, the mail service needs the informed understanding, cooperation, support and constructive suggestions of every citizen and community.

POSTAL WEEK is an appropriate occasion for recognition of the vital responsibilities assigned to the mail service and a valid time to take stock of the challenges which must be jointly met by postal people and by the millions of citizens throughout America who depend upon the mail as an essential part of their personal and business lives.

Ken Minyard, local postmaster, states that there will be a special slot in the local post office marked "Sudan Postmark". This slot is to be used for anyone desiring that their mail be post-marked Sudan.

JR. HIGH NEWS

The junior high district tennis tournament was held here last Tuesday with both seventh and eighth grades participating in single and double events.

The seventh grade girls failed to place in the meet. Patsy Williams was in singles and Pam Walker and Debbie Williams in the doubles.

Rick Hill won third place for the seventh grade in singles after downing Kress in the second round 6-0. The doubles team, composed of Steve Ritchie and Edgar Tamplin, won second in the meet after losing to Springlake 6-3.

The eighth grade doubles team of Dennis Flowers and Craig Pickett won first by a score of 6-2 over Kress in the final. Kyle Martin won first in the single match, also defeating Kress, 6-1.

The eighth grade girls didn't fare so well. Sheryl Black did not place in singles, and Terry Chester and Kay Tamplin won second over Vega, 6-1.

SEVENTH GRADE PLACES THIRD IN DISTRICT TRACK

The local seventh grade track team won third place with 79 points in the District Track Meet held Friday at Kress. Springlake won first and Hart second.

Events Sudan placed in with each boy receiving ribbon are as follows:
Sprint Relay—Joel Williams, Steve Ritchie, Harvey Donahue, and Terry Sterling, third, 42 points.

880 Relay—Joel Williams, Edgar Tamplin, Harvey Donahue and Junior Perez, fourth, with 5 points.

POSTAL INSTRUCTION TIME-- Ken Minyard, local postmaster is explaining things to a group of girl scouts and some of the children from the lower grades in the Elementary School, along with their teachers.

Youths Earn and Learn in 4-H Poultry Program

Admiring a future broiler prospect is Col. Harland Sanders of Kentucky Fried Chicken, donor of awards in the national 4-H poultry program, and Karen Auer, a 1972 state poultry winner from Louisiana. The two and the baby chick attended the recent National 4-H Congress held in Chicago.

Each year we consume an average of 244 pounds of meat, says the Cooperative Extension Service, nearly 50 pounds of that are poultry products.

Consumers are turning more and more to poultry as an economical meat staple to provide their families. Of course the 149,000 4-H'ers enrolled in the national 4-H poultry program know how tasty, nutritious, and economical poultry can be. These 4-H poultry producers help provide the nearly 50 pounds of poultry meat we eat each year.

Encouraging these young poultry producers "to make their best better" is Kentucky Fried Chicken, donor of awards in the national 4-H poultry program. Members in the program learn the proper skills needed to raise healthy chickens, turkeys, geese, ducks and other poultry birds. Emphasis is also given to egg production and breeding.

Terry Thompson, a 1972 state winner in the 4-H poultry program, produced over 387,000 broilers in a five year period. A junior leader in the program, the Rogers, Ark. youth has won numerous state and county awards for his poultry work.

Egg production was the specialty of Larry Joe Whorton of Centre, Ala. He and his family have produced more than 18 million eggs in nine years. The 1972 state winner in the 4-H poultry program learned all the skills of operating a poultry farm, from record keeping to health care. Whorton also made contacts with egg purchasers, and suppliers.

"It was important to make personal contacts with our producers and retail outlets," he said. "Meeting new people and trying to make a good impression was very important, and it helped us double our sales, with the same number of birds."

In addition to the learning experiences in the 4-H poultry program, 4-H'ers can also receive incentive and recognition awards, provided by Kentucky Fried Chicken.

Four medals of honor will be given to outstanding members in each county. A $50 U.S. Savings Bond will be awarded to the top 4-H members in the poultry program in each state.

A committee of the Cooperative Extension Service, which supervises 4-H programs, will select 12 sectional winners in the program. They'll receive expense-paid trips to the 52nd National 4-H Congress in Chicago, Nov. 25-29, in Chicago, courtesy of KFC.

Six scholarships of $700 each will be awarded to national winners in the 4-H poultry program, by Kentucky Fried Chicken, during the Congress.

A box supper and boat ride, for all 4-H participants at the Junior Poultry Fact Finding Conference, in New Orleans, will be provided by the company.

And Kentucky Fried Chicken will host a recognition dinner at the 1973 National 4-H Poultry Judging Contest in Chicago.

For further information on the national 4-H poultry program, contact the county extension office.

BAPTIST YOUTH DEPT. TO HOLD SOCIAL FRIDAY

The Young Peoples Department of the First Baptist Church plans an outing at Horse Shoe Bend Friday evening. All members and leaders of the Young Peoples Department are invited to attend.

The Young People and Adult Department will host a noon meal following Sunday morning worship service. They will be serving the Young Adult Department who won in the recent attendance contest. The meal will be held in the Community Park, weather permitting.

Following Sunday night services, the pastor, Rev. Eddie Freeman will outline the mission trip that youth of the church will be taking to Newcastle, Colo. the last part of July and the first part of August. He will also be showing mission slides.

The Associational G. A. Banquet was held Friday night, April 27 at the First Baptist Church in Dimmitt. The theme was "Old Fashioned Flower Garden" with floral and Easter decorations.

Rev. and Mrs. Jerry Smyth, missionaries home on furlough from Brazil, were guest speakers and showed films. The Hazel Quartet from Lubbock brought several vocal numbers during the program.

Some 15 men and 15 boys of the First Baptist Church went to Umbarger Friday and Saturday on a fishing trip. Although not many fish were caught, a good time and fellowship was had by all. Rev. Eddie Freeman, pastor, was chief cook. The group returned home earlier than planned due to cold weather.

FOOTBALL BALLAD WRITTEN BY JERRY PRICE, SENIOR

The following ballad was written by Jerry Price, a senior student at Sudan High School and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Price. The ballad will appear in the August issue of a statewide publication, Texas Coach.

FOOTBALL

By Jerry Price
There once was a game of football,
Many a boy did play.
Some players were big, some were small;
It mattered not anyway.

The game was hard and sometimes rough,
It required a lot of skill.
To be any good, you had to be tough;
And sometimes want to kill.

The games at home were always best;
It seemed to be more fun.
Without a trip, we got more rest
To get our job done.

Without the sport our school is lost
In many more ways than one.
The game is life and what I like most
Is the feeling when you know you've won.

Football requires many things
Not anybody can do.
You have your fun and have your flings;
It's not fun to know you're through.

Members of the Junior Class of Sudan High School wish to thank their sponsors, Mrs. Ann Hedges and Coach Jim Warren, for all their help on the recent class play, and on the Junior-Senior Banquet held Saturday night; and to Mrs. Edith Williams, and all parents, and other school personnel who helped on both events, and to the Reads for the use of their furniture in the play.

We want to thank the Sudan Fire Department for a fine job and anyone else that helped save our home Tuesday.

"Christopher Columbus was responsible for the thinking of modern government. He didn't know where he was going when he started; he didn't know where he was when he got there; and he did it all on a government grant."

If we've the faith
To plant a seed
And know a flower will grow
If we've the faith
That spring will come
To melt the winter's snow,
If we've the faith
To know it's done
As each of us believes—
Like birds that sing
When boughs are bare,
We'll know there'll be new leaves!
